CONGRESS OBEYS WILSON'S WISHES

Foreign Affairs Committee Has Been Called to Meet This Afternoon.

IS READY FOR ACTION

Senators Stone and Kern With Representative Flood at White House Pledge Support in Present International Crisis.

Washington, March 1.—A meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee has been called for this afternoon to consider the question of redrafting the McLemore resolution in accordance with the President's wishes.

Leaders at White House.

Senators Stone and Kern and Representative Flood went into conference with President Wilson in the White House shortly after 9 o'clock today. It was explained that the President wanted to thoroughly canvass, with them, the international situation and urge them to get prompt action from Congress which will demonstrate that the Administration's present foreign policy, so far as the submarine issue is concerned, has the backing of the majority of the members of both branches.

Fitzgerald is Defiant.

Discussing the foreign situation, Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, said: "My position is clear. Regardless of abstract rights, I do not believe that Americans should jeopardize the peace of the country by insisting on traveling on armed merchant vessels."

The crisis finds Wilson calm and confident, while members of Congress who oppose his wishes are alarmed at his courageous demand for a "showdown." There is little doubt of a vote in the Senate in favor of Wilson and against the McLemore resolution or any similar one, and the White House has no fear of the result in Congress.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS FROM DISTRICT MEETING

Encouraging reports and the election of officers comprised the principal business at the annual meeting of the Plainfield Auxiliary of the McAll Association held at the Young Men's Christian Association this morning. The reports showed that about $1,236 was raised during the past year for the work. Instead of using this to support the mission at Limoges, France, as formerly, the money is now sent to the Philadelphia headquarters to be used as needed. Most of the money is being applied for relief in France.

The association halls throughout France are still kept open and meetings are held there, but in addition relief work is also carried on by the missionaries. Reports of this work stirred the hearts of the members this morning.

Mrs. Edward S. Ralston was elected president to succeed Mrs. Samuel T. Carter, Jr., who felt compelled to give up the office because of many other duties. The other officers chosen were: Vice-president, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller; secretary, Mrs. Howard H. Craig; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray Foster; secretary of literature, Mrs. Isaac Field. The local auxiliary has a membership of about 300.

BRITISH STEAMER IS HELPLESS IN ATLANTIC

Halifax, March 1.—The British steamer San Onofre, helpless in the Atlantic today, sent out wireless calls for assistance. The S. O. S. messages were picked up by the British steamer Ashtabula, which reported to the Maine Fisheries Agency here that it was proceeding to the aid of the San Onofre, but would be unable to reach that vessel before Thursday morning. Shortly afterward the Ashtabula reported that the radiograms from the San Onofe had ceased probably owing to exhaustion of its power.

SEIGEL ARRESTED AS HE STEPS FROM PENITENTIARY

Rochester, N. Y., March 1.—Henry Seigel, who has just completed a prison term for grand larceny in connection with the failure of his chain of stores and private banks in New York city, was rearrested today. The fresh charges against him are based upon eleven indictments which were found at the time of the failure of the stores.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS.

John Cooper, of North Plainfield, will today conduct a stock sale at the home of Adam Betzold, between Mt. Bethel and Liberty Corner, the latter deciding to retire from the dairy business. Yesterday Mr. Cooper sold the farming implements and stock owned by A. S. Romain on the Washington Rock road, the sale netting about $300 for Mr. Romain.

FIND RUNAWAY BOYS AT ATLANTIC CITY

Trio Which Disappeared From Vineland School Are Back in the Institution.

William S. England, of Somerset street, the borough, whose son Harold, aged 15, disappeared from the Vineland Training School last Wednesday in company with two other boys from the school, received word last night from the school that the trio was found at Atlantic City on Monday, and taken back to the institution.

When found, the boys had a total of $1.50. They said that they had walked from Vineland to Atlantic City, and according to information received by Mr. England, the boys were exhausted from their long tramp. Another one of the boys was Tony Barillo, of this city, who is about the same age as England. The other boy comes from Jersey City.

In a letter which Mr. England received this morning from his son, the latter carefully omitted to mention the fact that he had been away from the school. He wrote that he was getting along all right. Where the boys slept nights during their absence from the school has not been learned, but it is the opinion that they stopped at farmhouses. Through newspaper publicity the police of Atlantic City were on the lookout for the trio, believing that they might come to that city.

Y. W. C. A. WILL HOLD SERVICE OF REJOICING

Miss Harriet Taylor to Address Gathering at First Baptist Church Friday.

Joining with similar associations throughout the United States, the Plainfield Young Women's Christian Association will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding in this country by gathering at a "service of rejoicing" to be held in the First Baptist church, Friday night. At that time, Miss Harriet Taylor, national secretary of Young Women's Christian Associations, will address the gathering. A local minister will also make an address and a chorus of over 100 voices, members of the association, will take part in the service. Miss Leontine de Ahna, soloist of the First Baptist church, will sing solo selections.

At this service, as at every similar observance throughout the country, a collection will be taken, which will go to the Grace H. Dodge Memorial Endowment Fund of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association. The final rehearsal for the chorus will be held in the association tomorrow night. All members wishing to take part in this service are requested to report at the association at 8 o'clock.

MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB CONCERT OPEN TO PUBLIC

The concert to be given at the Plainfield High School Monday afternoon by Mme. Nina Dimitrief and the string quartet from the Russian Symphony orchestra, of New York, will be open to the public upon the payment of a nominal admission fee. The doors will be opened at 3 o'clock and the concert will begin at 3:45.

One of the officers of the club, in speaking of the concert, said: "As the music is to be of the highest order, the people of Plainfield should not fail to avail themselves of this opportunity. Russia is much before our eyes at the present time. Her art has but lately come to be widely known, and of all her arts, music has reached the highest development. Mme. Dimitrief, who sings Russian songs in Russian costume, can interpret the music of Russia, her own country, as no outsider can. It is earnestly hoped that all music lovers and all who wish to learn to appreciate the music of Russia, which is so peculiarly her own, will surely attend the concert on Monday."

BOROUGH SCHOOL BOARD WANT ADDITIONAL ROOM

The annual school meeting will be held in North Plainfield on Monday night, March 20, at which time three trustees will be elected to succeed Dr. J. H. Cooley, J. A. VanMater and F. O. Dunning. Another important matter to come up at the meeting will be that in reference to providing increased accommodations for school purposes. The present schools are occupied to the limit and either an addition or a new building is required.

The question will be presented to the taxpayers at the annual meeting for a decision. Should it be decided to erect a new building, it is likely that it will be located on the east side of the borough, which section is growing rapidly.

AUTO APPARATUS FOR NETHERWOOD

Councilmanic Fire Committee Decides to Advertise for Bids at March Meeting.

PURCHASE A PULMOTOR

Gasolene Tank of 550 Gallon Capacity Will Be Installed at Headquarters for the Use of All City Departments.

The Councilmanic fire committee, at its meeting last night, decided to advertise for bids for a triple combination automobile fire engine for Netherwood section of the city. The matter will be presented at the March meeting of te City Council on Monday night, when arrangements will be made to receive bids at a special meeting later in the month. The committee feels that no time should now be lost in providing the Netherwood section with ample fire protection, and the engine will be purchased as soon as possible.

Mr. Driscoll, of the Bureau of Municipal Research, New York, who, with other experts, is engaged in making a survey of city departments, made a partial report to the committee recommending a triple combination type of engine. It is the opinion of the committee that such an apparatus as is desired can be secured for about $8,000.

The committee has further increased the efficiency of the department's equipment by purchasing a pulmotor, which will be kept at fire headquarters, in readiness for use. The need of a pulmotor was demonstrated at the fire which destroyed the home of J. Irvine Lyle, on West Front street, when the one owned by the Public Service Corporation was loaned to resuscitate Miss Mary Kowalski, a servant, who was overcome with smoke.

The committee also decided last night to install a 550-gallon gasoline tank at fire headquarters, where a supply of gasoline will be maintained for the use of the police, fire and street departments and the Board of Health. It is believed that this arrangement will prove more satisfactory, and beside, the city will be able to purchase its gasoline at a cheaper price by getting it in a large quantity.

MUSICAL FOR BENEFIT OF WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

"Gems" to Be Given at High School Under Direction of Miss Colladay.

A unique musical production under the supervision of Miss Edna E. Colladay, a director of amateur dramatics and operettas, is to be given in the Plainfield High School Auditorium on Friday evening, March 24, under the auspices and for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange. The affair, which is given the title of "Gems," will be a musical panorama.

The commitee in charge of the entertainment, which will be the initial effort of the Woman's Exchange in this direction, comprises the following officers and members: President, Mrs. Noah C. Barnhart; chairman, Mrs. Frederick W. Goddard; Mrs. Arthur L. Otterson, Mrs. Horace N. Stevens, Mrs. Frank D. Warren and Mrs. George P. Mellick.

Rehearsals for the presentation will begin tomorrow afternoon in the Franklin School Auditorium at 3:30 and thereafter every day except Sunday. Girls and boys will alternate each day for rehearsals, while the adult participants will meet in the evening. The director and committee assure the parents of children included in the cast that the "Gems" rehearsals will not interfere with studies and no night attendance is required. Practices will be held for one hour and a half each afternoon after school. Tickets for the affair will be on sale soon and announcement of the program will be given later.

COURT PLAINFIELD REPORTS INCREASE OF MEMBERSHIP

Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order Foresters, at last night's meeting accepted three applicants and initiated two. A large sum was paid out for funeral claims and relief of sick members.

The finance committee reported the court to be in a good financial condition, having over $6,000 in cash assets and a membership of 358 members in good standing. After the business session, a smoker was enjoyed and arrangements were made to increase the court's membership during the coming year to 400.

LOCAL GOLFER COMPETES.

W. M. Alling, of his city, had a score of 191 for the thirty-six holes of qualifying play in the spring golf tournament at Pinehurst, the last eighteen holes of which were played yesterday. He gained a place in the third sixteen.

DEATH ENDS RUN AFTER 20 CENTS

William H. White Killed While Trying to Collect for a Breakfast.

TRAIN STRIKES HIM

Commuters Enroute to New York Witness Early Morning Tragedy on Tracks Over Park Avenue—Wm. Sullivan Cause of Fatality.

William H. White, colored, proprietor of a restaurant on North avenue, was struck and instantly killed by a freight train near the depot this morning. White sacrificed his life in an attempt to collect twenty cents from a customer who enjoyed a breakfast and then ran.

William A. Sullivan, aged 19, out of work and hungry, was the direct cause of the death of the restaurant man. Sullivan was without money this morning and had been without food so long that he decided to eat a fairly good breakfast and leave in a hurry when he had finished. He selected White's restaurant as the most suitable place to carry out his plans and walked in shortly after 8 a. m.

Sullivan ordered corned beef hash, rolls and coffee. He finished this ill-selected repast leisurely, and then ordered pie, which the accommodating White brought. There were others in the place, mostly colored, and when Sullivan had enjoyed his pie he waited until the proprietor was busily engaged in attending to the wants of another customer and departed. He ran down North avenue to Park, and turned toward the railroad tracks on Park avenue, with White in close pursuit. A good sized crowd of early workers watched the chase down North avenue and cheered laughingly, little thinking of the imminent fatality.

Sullivan ran up the stone steps leading from Park avenue to the station, and when he reached the top he turned back and started across the railroad tracks. He reached the other side in safety, but White, who was gaining, was caught on the north track. He was so intent on watching the fugitive breakfast fee that he did not notice a west-bound coal train bearing down at a fast rate. The engineer screamed a warning with his whistle, but White did not hear. The whistle attracted the attention of many commuters standing on the platform, and they caught a glimpse of White just before he was hidden by the black bulk of the engine. Some part of the locomotive struck the man in the back of the head, and he was knocked several feet from the tracks. The train was stopped within a short distance and its crew, aided by workers around the local depot, put White on a stretcher. An ambulance was called, but he died before he could reach Muhlenberg Hospital.

Sullivan was later arrested and is now locked up at the local police station on a charge of disorderly conduct. He is extremely penitent.

"I was hungry," he said this morning. "I am willing to work but cannot find anything to do. I would not have hurt White for anything, and had no idea the chase would lead up to his death."

White was about fifty years of age. He was an industrious and well liked citizen. He is survived by a wife, who lives at Clinton. She was notified of his death, but had not reached this city at noon.

ADMITS HIS PART IN THE ROBBERY

Edward Parsons Tells of Trying to Burglarize Life Insurance Office.

Edward Parsons, a young man of South Plainfield, was arrested this morning as a suspect in the attempted robbery of the Metropolitan Life Insurance office and he confessed his part in the crime when put through a modified "third degree" at police headquarters. Parsons said that he and another young man heard there was money in the office in the Woodhull-Martin building. They are not safe blowers, but they decided to make an attempt.

The other man is known to the police and will probably be arrested sometime today. He has been in hiding since the attempted burglary, but several times officers have been directly behind him. This morning he was heard of in Plainfield but managed to get away before officers could land him. His arrest is but a question of hours.

PREPARATORY SERVICE.

Preparatory services will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock this evening, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. Postal cards announcing this service have been sent to every member of the church. The regular communion service will be held Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

A Stitch In Time.

CONVENTION FUND NEEDS BIG BOOST

Committee in Charge of Letter Carriers Meeting Are Short About $1,000.

PROGRAM IS ELABORATE

Affair Will Bring Thousands of Outsiders to the City on May 30—Metropolitan Carriers Will Be Out in Full Force With Two Bands.

To date but 33 per cent. of the money necessary to carry out the proposed plans for the annual meeting of the New Jersey Letter Carriers' Association, which will be held in Plainfield on May 30, has been collected and Treasurer William M. Floersch is exhausting evvery fund-gathering idea in an effort to bring the total up to $1,500, so that the committee will feel justified in going ahead with the outlined details. Although the citizens in charge of the preliminary arrangements have attempted to inform the public in general of the nature of the affair, it is safe to conclude that the major part of Plainfield's residents who possess a sense of civic pride in anything undertaken in the community have not been approached. Voluntary contributions are what the committee is after, and no amount is too small or too large. Dollar subscriptions to the fund are particularly acceptable, as it is hoped to have as many interested contributors as possible by the time the total reaches $1,500.

Owing to a Federal law the letter carriers are prohibited from participating in money collecting schemes, and the project has been undertaken entirely by a group of public spirited citizens, who have the best interests of Uncle Sam's employes at heart, and at the same time realize that the convention will prove a valuable undertaking for the municipality.

Numerous meetings have been held by the finance committee with a view to devising ways and means to liven up the collections, but their work will be greatly lightened if voluntary offerings are sent in.

The convention will bring approximately 4,000 visitors to Plainfield on that date, and all will be entertained by the committee. Many bands will be brought to the city to participate in the parade, which will be the biggest fete of its kind ever attempted locally. Not only will every city in New Jersey be represented, but carriers of New York city have accepted an invitation and will come here with two bands of forty pieces each. Elaborate plans have been tentatively laid for the reception and entertainment of all guests, and it is necessary that the committee know just how much money is available before anything definite is carried out.

DISTRICT HEADS FOR REVIVAL WORK

Devotional Committee Names Various District Superintendents.

Rev. P. B. Strong, chairman of the Devotional Committee in the Biederwolf campaign, has named superintendents in fifteen of the seventeen districts, as follows:

1, Mrs. Edward S. Ralston, 222 Leland avenue; 2 (not secured); 3, Mrs. Phillip S. Suffern, 955 Kensington avenue; 4, Mrs. John H. Doane, 423 East Seventh street; 5, Mrs. Thomas C. Bodine, 549 East Second street; 6, Miss Mabel Stevens, 65 Grandview avenue; 7, Mrs. John H. Snyder, 109 Manning avenue; 8, Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, 234 East Ninth street; 9, Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, 524 Stelle avenue; 10, Mrs. I. H. Marvin, 207 West Sixth street; 11, Mrs. Duncan W. Taylor, 455 West Seventh street; 12, Mrs. J. H. Buchanan, 33 Duer street; 13, Mrs. F. W. Jones, 16 Mountain avenue; 14, Mrs. R. E. Van Arsdale, 670 Essex street; 15, Miss Daisy Brouard, 1003 West Seventh street; 16, Mrs. B. E. Randolph, 35 Albert street; 17 (not secured).

All superintendents are urged to go to the Y. M. C. A. headuarters and get the white flag to be displayed in front of the homes where prayer meetings are to be held Friday evening. Many of the superintendents have failed to get these flags.

Seventeen meetings were held last night and all reported a good attendance and the indications are that by next week these cottage prayer meetings will develop a great deal of spiritual interest and the results will be far-reaching in the community.

LOCAL MAN ARCHITECT.

The architectural work for a home for graduate nurses to be erected in New York city by Vincent Astor has been given to the firm of Tracy, Swartout & Co. A chance remark of a nurse, made in a half jest, expressing a wish that Mr. Astor would build the nurses a new home was carried to the young multi-millionaire, and resulted in Mr. Astor calling in Evarts Tracy, of this city, a member of the firm of Tracy, Swartout, & Co.

MASQUERADE WILL FEATURE K. C. BAZAAR

Attendants at Tonight's Affair Will Appear in Elaborate Costumes.

A beneficent carnival spirit was evidenced by all who attended the Knights of Columbus bazaar, last night, the younger folks as well as their elders enjoying the many pleasures. The booths again offered attractive articles for mammas, papas, aunties and uncles, while the younger sisters danced with their beaux. The music was provided by Squier's orchestra. The entertainment committee arranged a pleasing program, one of the features being an electric club swinging exhibition by Mr. Clawson to the accompaniment of a piano solo, played by Assemblyman William N. Runyon. Mr. Clawson was accorded much applause and responded to several encores. Another feature which proved quite popular among the men especially was the bowling and billiard playing in the basement of the clubhouse.

Tonight will be masquerade night. It is the plan to have everybody don a mask of some kind. Many of the committee men and their friends have already arranged attractive and unique disguises. Tomorrow night the Knights have arranged an entertainment for the Elks who have been invited to attend, the night being set apart as "Elk Night" for them and their friends. There is a prevailing friendliness and spirit of fraternalism between these two organizations, and this gathering will no doubt be an enjoyable one. There is dancing every night under competent management and direction. The bazaar will close Saturday night, a children's matinee being held Saturday afternoon.

GOLDEN CROOK STARS VISIT ELKS' CLUB

Brothers in Show Troupe Entertained at Watchung Avenue Home.

Following the performance of the Golden Crook Extravaganza company at the Plainfield theatre last night, five of the leading members of the troupe were given a reception by Plainfield lodge of Elks at the Watchung avenue clubhouse. More than two hundred members and friends were in the gathering, and it also included a delegation from New Brunswick which came to this city to witness the bowling game between Plainfield and New Brunswick in the Elks' Junior League.

The guests of honor from the Golden Crook company were Frank Dobson and Joe Golden, who are members of Newark lodge, No. 21, B. P. O. E., and Edward Hennessy, Wally La Foye and Dad Taylor, of Rochester lodge, No. 24. The quintette entertained the gathering with a delightful repertoire of songs, recitations, instrumental numbers and dances. Selections by a trio composed of Messrs. Hennessy, Golden and LaFoye were especially good. A piano and violin supplied the musical accompaniments.

"Sammy" Tavernor, of Plainfield lodge, acted as master of ceremonies, and interspersed the numbers given by the show people with contributions from members of 885. These included quartet selections by Joseph C. Martin, William G. Smith, Elmer D. Cutting and Edward Harding, Jr. Mr. Tavernor also danced the sailor's hornpipe and gave his famous Rutgers College song, "On the Banks of the Old Raritan," the entire audience joining in the chorus. Refreshments were served all evening by the lodge caterer, Erwin Y. Neighbor. Altogether the affair was one of the most enjoyable the Elks have held this season. The Newark Elks gave a reception to the same five last Sunday, as all are very popular in that city.

The performances of the Golden Crook company at the Plainfield theatre yesterday afternoon and evening were in the nature of a testimonial of Dave Rogers, the house treasurer. The popularity and esteem in which Dave is held was clearly demonstrated by capacity audiences at both shows. The company is one of the best of the kind on the road and the performances gave entire satisfaction.

STETSON HAT WORKERS WALK OUT ON STRIKE

Philadelphia, March 1.—About 950 employes in the plant of the John B. Stetson Co. struck today. The strikers seek to force the re-instatement of an employe for an alleged effort to organize the workers. Other grievances also are announced.

SESAME CLUB MEETING.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. P. S. Suffern, 955 Kensington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Ball, of Myrtle avenue, left yesterday for Atlantic City, where they will spend some time.

NIGHT OF QUIET BEFORE VERDUN

Germans Have Apparently Stopped to Cover Plans for New Assaults.

FRENCH GUNS ARE BUSY

Keep up Heavy Artillery Fire in Retaliation for Gains of Enemy—Many Ships Are Reported Sunk in Past 24 Hours.

London, March 1.—There was comparative quiet before Verdun during last night and this morning. Big guns kept up an incessant artillery bombardment that was deafening, but the massive shells fell on protected positions, and the curtains of fire were not followed by infantry charges that have characterized the German offensive recently.

Germany seems to be resting preparatory to a new and unexpected move. Military experts, even of the French, know that her strength is not yet spent, and there is no hope that the advantage already gained at horrible sacrifice of life will be given up. The calm is but a few hours given over to shifting of foot soldiers for newer and more desperate attacks is the belief here, and a renewal of the battle with former fierceness may be expected at any hour.

German Guns Silent.

Berlin, March 1.—German war statement:

Western theatre—"Artillery activity yesterday was lively on various parts of the front, especially on the part of the enemy. At various points the enemy carried out a bombardment which was apparently in retaliation for German gains and to cover their own disappointment. On the other hand, in the region of the Yser, in West Flanders, in Champagne, and between the Meuse and Moselle Rivers, the Woevre district, it seems that they were endeavoring to damage our works. However, they failed to achieve this object."

French Check New Assault.

Paris, March 1.—French war statement:

"In the region to the north of Verdun, as well as in the Woevre, no important developments were reported during the night. There was an intermittent bombardment at different points on our front between Regnieville and Remenaville. West of Pont au Mousson we bombarded the second and third lines of the enemy, where his forces appeared to be preparing for activity.

La Provence Was Armed.

London, March 1.—The Ministry of Marine stated today that La Provence carried eleven guns and four of 47 millimetres.

British Steamer Sunk.

London, March 1.—The British steamer Malvina has been torpedoed sinking off the coast of Kent.

Crew Sinks With Thornaby.

London, March 1.—The British steamer Thornaby has been sunk. All on board were killed by the explosion or drowned.

Tank Steamer Burns.

Manchester, England, March 1.—The British tank steamer Spirea was burned to the water's edge in the Manchester ship canal today.

Austrian Submarine Sinks Boat.

Stockholm, March 1.—An Austrian submarine has sunk the Swedish steamship Torborg in the Mediterranean. The crew escaped in their boats and were landed today at Leghorn, Italy. The Torberg registered 1,222 tons.

Kaiser Angry at Portugal.

Amsterdam, March 1.—Germany is expected to recall her minister from Lisbon. There is much feeling in Berlin owing to the recent seizure of German steamships in Portuguese ports.

CULVER M'WILLIAMS TO WED MISS ELEANOR NASH

Announcement was made yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Edmund S. Nash, of Rye, N. Y., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Arnett Nash, to Culver McWilliam, formerly of Somerville, but now of New York city. Miss Nash is a member of a well-known Southern family, from which Nashville, Tenn., received its name. She is a grand-daughter of Sir Hugh Owen, of Wales. Her sister is Mrs. Douglas Gormaan, of Baltimore, Md. Mr. McWilliam is connected with the firm of Hoyt & McWilliam, bankers and brokers, and lives at 15 East Fifth-third street, New York.

RECOVERING FROM INJURIES.

Mrs. Robert Skinner, of Orchard place, is able to be about the house again after three weeks disability with three fractured ribs. The injury was received by a fall downstairs at her home. Mrs. Skinner's son, William Skinner, of West Second street, has been seriously ill with pneumonia, but is now on the way to recover.

$20,000 ADDITIONAL NEEDED FOR SEWERS

Council to Call a Special Election to Vote on Another Bond Issue.

At the monthly meeting of the Borough Council Monday night that body will call a special election for the boroughites to vote upon the proposition of authorizing the issuance of $20,000 additional sewer bonds to provide funds to complete the sewers. It was thought when the sewer work was started that $110,000 would cover the cost of the system, but now it is estimated that it will take $130,000.

The miscalculation in the estimated cost of the work is explained, firstly, by the fact that an unusual amount of rock was encountered south of Walnut street, which it cost $6,000 to blast, and secondly, because of the fact that it has been found necessary to leave sheathing and lumber in the entire stretch of sewer trench along the main thoroughfare from Gallagher's corner to Lincoln avenue thus far. This sheathing and lumber is costing the borough about $5 a running foot, or $3,750 per block. North Plainfield neglected to leave sheathing in certain stretches of trenches, where it should have been left, and it has proven very dear economy. An illustration of that is on Grove street. The sheathing was pulled out there, and all manner of trouble has been the result.

MANY ENJOY PARENT TEACHER ASS'N PROGRAM

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association, held yesterday afternoon in the Whittier School, was largely attended. The business session was followed by a program of entertainment. Mrs. Mahlon R. Dayton, the corresponding secretary, presided over the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. George W. Van Derveer, who was ill.

A letter was received from Mrs. Van Derveer urging the association to take more interest in "Baby Week," March 4-11. The annual election of officers takes place at the next meeting of the association, and Mrs. William P. Deering, Mrs. Philip Eder and Mrs. Theodore Apgar were appointed a nominating committee.

The entertainment which followed the business session was excellent. It consisted of vocal and instrumental music and recitations. Those who took part were: Mrs. E. H. Dunn, Mildred Mattis, Margaret Fuller, Deveral Apgar, Anna Wiedenhaupt, Adelaide Ramsey and Winifred Schenck. Mrs. George T. Schenck waschairman of the committee in charge of arranging the program. Following the entertainment a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

TEAM OF HORSES PLUNGE INTO A TROLLEY CAR

A team of horses pulling one of the wagons of the Gulf Refining Company were frightened opposite Lincoln avenue yesterday afternoon by the "traveler," which runs back and forth on rails over the North avenue sewer trench, and plunged against a trolley car headed toward Plainfield. Two of the windows of the trolley were broken by one of the wrifletrees. The car was filled with working men, but there was no panic. It took the driver some little time to quiet his horses. It was ten minutes before the trolley continued on its way.

GET FREE BATHS.

Playing "tickly bender" on Kepler's Pond yesterday afternoon, Archie Munn, Paul Nelson, Daniel Sullivan and Johnny Doyle, all received baths when the ice broke under their weight. Kepler's popnd is a small body of water located in the Equator tract. Its deepest spot is only three feet, and the boys had no trouble in getting out.

Mrs. John McHugh has been quite ill since Friday, suffering from congestion of the lungs.

Marion Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alfred Wilson, who has been suffering from a strained heart, is better.

Mrs. DeWitt Giles will open her home tomorrow afternoon to a working party, which will make surgical dressings for the wounded soldiers of Europe.

Whitehouse

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church at Whitehouse Station will be entertained this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Jennie Van Syckle. The midweek prayer meeting tomorrow night will be omitted, because of the preparatory services Friday evening in the lecture room of the church.

An all-day apron sewing bee will be held at the residence of Mrs. Charles P. Oliver in East Whitehouse today, by the Wishbone Improvement Society.

Mrs. William Dee, of Chester, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ralph W. Carlisle, at Lebanon.

Under the auspices of the Senior Bible Class of the Methodist Church of Lebanon, a supper and entertainment will be held in Odd Fellows' Hall there March 9, for the benefit of the chapel fund.

Owing to the bad condition of the roads, the evening services on Sundays in the Presbyterian Church at Lamington have been discontinued for the remainder of the winter.

Aaron J. Reed, of East Whitehouse, who is employed in the steel plant at High Bridge, has been ill at his home, but is improved and expects to resume work Thursday.

Irving Cox, jr., of Lebanon, is suffering from a fractured arm, which he sustained by falling on ice near his home.

Mrs. George W. Dilley, of Whitehouse Station, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Martha Trimmer, who is ill at her home in Quakertown.

The meeting of the Young People's Union of the Methodist Church in East Whitehouse, was held last night at the residence of R. F. W. McCann.

New Providence.

The preliminary meet in the declamation contest among students of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Lincoln School was held Monday afternoon. The winners will be announced late today.

Mrs. Christian Blatt, of Springfield avenue, is ill at her home from pleurisy.

Mrs. Ernest B. Rubsamen, of Mountain avenue, Murray Hill, left Monday for Cleveland to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Cutler.

The entertainment by the Literary Club of Summit, which was to have been given last Friday night in the chapel of the Presbyterian church, but which was postponed because of the bad weather, will be given tomorrow night. The entertainment is for the benefit of the Murray Hill Children's Home.

William J. Kauffman, president of the New Providence Lyceum, who is organizing the band of this community, is consulting individually with the thirty applicants for membership in that organization.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The firs tmeeting of the Jr. O. U. A. M. for March will be held in the lodge rooms tomorrow night.

Paul Phillips, of LaGrande avenue, has resumed his position with the A. L. Thompson Scenic Railway Company at its Coney Island plant. The company, of which Walter E. Sames, of Fourth street, is superintendent, is planning for the opening of the summer season.

Nearly all of the members of the Bible Training Class of Scotch Plains and Fanwood will attend a banquet and entertainment at the New York Bible Training School tomorrow. Miss Elizabeth Hopkins, a member of the school, teaches the local class.

A meeting of the Sub Rosa Club was held last night at the home of Mrs. Claude Sorenson, of Bartle avenue. It is probable that the name of the club will be changed in the near future to one more appropriate to the purpose of it. The organization, which is composed entirely of young women, is also anticipating certain forms of athletics, and a committee to take charge of activities in that line will be appoined.

The regular meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, which was scheduled for yesterday, was held Monday afternoon instead, at the home of Mrs. Robert Thomas, of North avenue, when the lives and works of a number of English authors and divines were discussed. Papers about them were read by several members.

Mrs. George Kyte, of Martine avenue, has received notice of the death of her sister, Mrs. Wilcox, in Northern New York State.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Owing to the request that people remain in their homes on Sunday afternoon, March 5, to receive the representatives of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and the Biederwolf campaign, there will be no service at the association.

The last "open house" tea will be held at the association tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. This feature of the jubilee month has proved very successful, and it is hoped that all members of the association will call tomorrow and bring their friends.

FEAR SPREAD OF FREIGHT STRIKE

1,000 Men Quit Work In Jersey City.

PLACES RAPIDLY FILLED.

Mounted Police Guard Piers and Railroad Yards, but No Violence Is Shown — Between 2,000 and 3,000 American Sugar Refinery Workers Demand More Wages.

Jersey City, March 1.—With nearly a thousand freight handlers on strike and with a possibility that 2,000 or 3,000 more workers will quit this city is fearful of one of the largest labor disputes in years. About a score of mounted policemen are guarding the piers, but thus far there has been no evidence of violence.

Nearly a thousand freight handlers of the Lackawanna railroad employed at its piers and yards demanded an increase in pay from 20 cents to 25 cents an hour. The men quit work suddenly after receiving their pay envelopes. The men are Poles.

The police kept the strikers out of the yards, so they could not influence the men remaining on duty or get at strike breakers brought from New York. Yard Foreman Grimes said that he had several hundred men from New York working in place of the strikers.

Freight was being moved regularly, and he anticipated no trouble. Seventy-five of the men who went out, he said, returned and wanted to go to work, but some of the strikers arrived at the scene and argued with the men, who went home.

The Lackawanna is handling vast quantities of freight at present, but only one large ship is moored at the company's pier. This is the Dutch steamship Turbinia at pier 7 in Jersey City.

The Hoboken police have not been called on for strike duty, but should an outbreak occur among the strikers the railroad company would undoubtedly ask their assistance, as its terminal is located in Hoboken and its yards and piers are within the police zone.

Employees of the American Sugar Refining company at its plant at the foot of Washington street demanded, through a committee, an increase of wages. The officials of the company are considering the demand, and it is expected that a compromise will be effected. The employees, numbering between 2,000 and 3,000, have been receiving about $1.75 a day. The exact amount of increase demanded has not been made public.

QUEEN CITY MINSTRELS MAKE DEBUT AT CRANFORD

The Queen City minstrel troupe, a tabloid organization of local artists, made its professional debut at Cranford last night, under the auspices of Cranford Council, Royal Arcanum. The affair was in the nature of a "ladies' night" reception and the Plainfielders were continuously applauded by an audience of more than 200. The program presented was made up of choruses, quartet numbers, end songs, and comedy by the end men.

All the members of the Queen City troupe are well known locally, having appeared in numerous amateur minstrel shows for the past ten years. They are Joseph C. Martin, William G. Smith, Elmer D. Cutting, Edward Harding, Jr., Thomas M. Muir and Harry Blimm. At the performance last night, Miss Hazel Todd acted as accompanist. The troupe has a number of bookings for similar entertainments at Elizabeth, Newark and New York.

RECREATION NOTES

There will be roller skating in the Washington School gymnasium tomorrow night. Wooden and fiber rollers only are allowed on the floor.

The needlecraft class will meet on the upper floor under the direction of Miss Scarborough. The game room will be opened. The pool tables are becoming very popular. The Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Edgar, will meet in the kindergarten room. Dancing will be held in the school auditorium.

North Branch

Miss Anna du Mont returned to North Branch depot Monday, after a visit of a week to Miss Alberta Dunn, at Pittstown.

Mrs. Mary E. Richards, of Pluckemin, was the recent guest of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Butler, in Brooklyn, for ten days.

Mrs. Abram Holcombe, of Somerville, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Compton, at Pluckemin.

Quebec Feels Three Shocks.

Quebec, March 1.—Three successive shocks resembling an earthquake were distinctly felt all over the Quebec district. The local observatory reported no seismograph record of the disturbance and was mystified.

WILLIAM WEST, PRINCETON STUDENT, IS MISSING

Princeton, March 1.—William West, one of the most brilliant students of the senior class, disappeared on last Thursday morning, and since that time no information has been obtained concerning him. West breakfasted at Cloister Inn, his club, but failed to appear at his classes and has not been seen since that time. Thursday was rainy and West wore an old suit. He took no money with him and had not contemplated leaving town, according to his brother, a member of the freshman class.

The authorities fear that West is wandering, a victim of temporary mental aberration. They have obtained the co-operation of the New York and Philadelphia police, and are preparing circulars to distribute over the country.

West was about 6 feet in height, sandy complexioned, with light hair brushed straight back, and exceptionally clear-cut features. His father died in Syria, where he had occupied the post of a missionary, and his mother still resides there.

TROUBLE EXPECTED IF DEMANDS ARE REJECTED

Roosevelt, March 1.—The strike at the American Agricultural Company's plants here either will be over today or continue on a larger scale. Officials of the William & Clark plant will today give their answer to the strikers for an increase in pay.

Chief of Police John Harrington said today that he would have his men at the gates of the plants, ready to quell any disorder should the demands of the strikers be refused. It is understood that a compromise will be agreed upon.

Fearing that the industrial trouble will spread to Perth Amboy, manufacturers of that city will today put a new wage scale in effect. This includes the Guggenheim plants, the Raritan Copper Works, Standard Underground Cable Works, Barber Asphalt Company, and other industries.

MONTH'S VACATION IS GIVEN REV. DR. EATON

The resignation of Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, having been formally withdrawn, church members and trustees have voted to allow the pastor four weeks' vacation in the spring to visit the Pacific Coast. His nerves and health were said to have suffered considerably under the strain of recent church troubles.

Dr. Eaton, who lives at Watchung, said he wished to correct a statement that he had made about a deficit in the church funds. There had been one of about $500, he stated, but that had been made up by the personal check of James C. Colgate, the treasurer.

"I have been in poor condition both physically and nervously for some months," Dr. Eaton said, "and I look forward to the western trip which you have granted me, with the hope that it wil restore my health and enable me to return with all of the vigor necessary to carry on my work. I am very glad that I am still the pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church."

P. H. S. AND N. P. H. S. GRADS MEET TONIGHT

Graduates of the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools will gather in the Plainfield High School gymnasium tonight, when two basketball games and a dance will be the attractions. Alumni quintets of the two schools will clash in their second game of the season, and a girls' game between two local teams will also be contested.

| N. P. H. S. Alumni. | | P. H. S. Alumni. |
|---|---|---|
| W. Taylor | forwards | D. McNamee |
| Love | forwards | Heron |
| Dunning | center | Manley |
| Burner | guards | Doane |
| Townley | guards | Gavett |

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints.—Adv.

APPEAL TO LOCAL BOYS AND GIRLS

Marjorie Sterrett Makes the Daily Press Her Agent in Battleship Idea.

WILL PUBLISH LETTERS

A Chance to Inspire Patriotism in Local School Work—Fund Has Reached $2,000 — Interest is Keen.

How many true blue young Americans with real crimson blood flowing through their veins are there who haven't read little Marjorie Sterrett's plan to raise money for a big new battleship for Uncle Sam? And how many are there in Plainfield who would like to have a share in the monster dreadnaught and be able to say that part of it belonged to him or her? Every schoolboy or girl in Plainfield, North Plainfield and surrounding suburbs will have a chance to contribute a mite toward Marjorie's battleship fund as the Plainfield Daily Press has been named as her agent in this territory and will receive and publish all contributions. Here is little Miss Marjorie's letter outlining her plan:

"Dear Sir: I read in the paper every morning a lot about preparedness. My grandpa and great-grandpa were soldiers. If I was a boy I would be a soldier, too. But I am not, so I want to do what I can to help. Mama gives me a dime every week for helping her. I am sending you this week's dime to help build a battleship for Uncle Sam. I know a lot of other kids who would give their errand money if you would start a fund. I am thirteen years old and go to Public School 9, Brooklyn. Yours truly,

"MARJORIE STERRETT.

"I am true blue American, and I want to see Uncle Sam prepared to lick all creation like John Paul Jones did.

"P. S.—Please call the battleship America."

There are probably lots of Plainfield boys and girls whose grandfathers fought for the Red, White and Blue and there are plenty of true blue Americans attending our schools who have heard of John Paul Jones. Since Marjorie Sterrett's letter was received nearly 10,000 boys and girls have contributed $2,000 toward the battleship fund and hundreds and thousands of school-children throughout the country are starting their campaign to boost the total today.

Plainfield schoolboys and girls wouldn't be left out of this big scheme for the world and it is safe to conclude that hundreds of contributors will send in their names immediately to the Plainfield Daily Press. A dime from each is all that is wanted as each boy and girl will be a stockholder in the ship-building plan and will hold a ten-cent share in the new battleship "America."

One Plainfield High School boy, Joseph Gallagher, has already submitted his dime contribution to the Plainfield Daily Press, together with a letter telling what he thinks of the plan. Mary Elizabeth Stockton has sent in a quarter. The Plainfield Daily Press will print the letters of all schoolboy and girl contributors and daily announcement will be made of money received.

The reward for the patriotic deed to each young American will be a Plainfield Daily Press button bearing the legend "U. S. America." In other words you won't be recognized by the other "fellers" as a true blue American unless you have the Plainfield Daily Press merit button on your coat. Send in your dime and a letter to the Press.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAMES R. McCLINTOCK.

Mrs. Mary M. McClintock, wife of James R. McClintock, died early this morning in Muhlenberg Hospital, following an operation performed a short time ago. She was twenty-nine years old and had resided in Plainfield about two years, her last address being at 114 East Sixth street. The body will be taken to her former home at Clarksburg, W. Va., where the funeral and interment will take place tomorrow.

FUNERAL OF JOHN D. KIRCH.

The funeral of John D. Kirch, whose death occurred Sunday, was held at his late home on Somerset street, this afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, assisted by Rev. C. S. Gillespie, of Grace M. E. church. A large gathering of relatives and friends was in attendance, and numerous handsome floral tributes were extended. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

GOING BACK TO HIS HOME IN CRESTON, IOWA

Edward Ramsbottom, of Creston, Iowa, will leave today for his home there. Ramsbottom is a twenty-year-old lowan who left his home several weeks ago because he could not get along with his stepmother. His father finally located him in Plainfield and sent a request to Chief of Police Kiely that the boy be sent home. He was found with the local Salvation Army, and at once evidenced a willingness to get back under the paternal roof. His ticket came this morning. "It will take me 36 hours to get home," Ramsbottom said this morning, and then he added, reflectively, "It took me a lot longer than that to get here, though."

THIRD CHANGE IN WILSON CABINET

Bryan and McReynolds Others Who Have Left.

WHY GARRISON RESIGNED.

Differed In Opinion With President as to the Proper Method of Enlarging and Improving the United States Army—What He Advocated and What Wilson Supports.

The resignation of Secretary of War Garrison from President Wilson's cabinet marks the second change in the ranks of the president's official advisors since the outbreak of the European war. The other was Secretary of State Bryan, who would not sign what has been termed a warlike note sent to Germany in regard to the sinking of the Lusitania.

There has been one other change in the cabinet since Mr. Wilson assumed office three years ago. That was the resignation of Attorney General McReynolds, who quit in order to accept an appointment to the United States supreme court bench. He was succeeded by Attorney General Gregory.

Secretary Garrison resigned because he and the president didn't agree on the proper methods of enlarging and improving the United States army. President Wilson wanted to leave the matter largely in the hands of congress. Secretary Garrison insisted on the fulfillment of his program.

The Garrison Plan.

Secretary Garrison's plan provided for the raising of a citizen army of 400,000 men to supplement the regular army. It was to be recruited in increments of 133,000 men a year. Its recruits were to be obligated to devote a specified time for training for a period of three years and then to be on furlough without obligation excepting to return to the colors in the event of war or threatened war.

Mr. Garrison proposed to recruit the Continental army territorially, according to population, and to have it subjected to two months' intensive training each year for three years. Officers were to be obtained largely from the national guard, from the regular army list and from the various military bases of regular army officers.

President Wilson was inclined to support the plan advocated by Representative Hay, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs.

The Hay Plan.

Chairman Hay's plan places the main reliance for a reserve on the national guard or organized militia of the several states. Under the Hay plan young men would be encouraged to be in the militia by a system of liberal pay from the federal treasury. Liberal compensation likewise is provided for militia officers.

Under this system Mr. Hay believes the guard would become so popular that it could be recruited from its present personnel of a few more than 120,000 to a number sufficient to meet the situation which Mr. Garrison would care for with his Continental army of 400,000. Provision would be made for the draft of the militia into the federal army in the event of war or its imminence.

Mr. Garrison before his appointment as secretary of war was not much known outside his own state of New Jersey, where he had been on the bench as vice chancellor since 1904.

Garrison a Born Fighter.

Mr. Garrison comes of a race noted for the trait of adherence to their own convictions. His paternal grandfather was a famous country doctor, a sort of dictator in his own sphere; his maternal grandfather was a Presbyterian elder and his father an Episcopal rector. He has abundantly shown as secretary of war that he believed in sticking to his convictions. Consequently his resignation was no surprise to his friends.

Mr. Garrison was born in Camden, N. J., Nov. 28, 1864. He spent one year at Harvard, but at eighteen entered a Philadelphia law office. He was admitted to the bar in Pennsylvania in 1886 and in New Jersey in 1888, when he began practicing law in Camden.

Ten years later he moved to Jersey City, and in 1904 he was appointed vice chancellor by the then Chancellor Magie. Chancellor Pitney, now Supreme Court Justice Pitney, reappointed him in 1911, and he remained on the bench until President Wilson chose him as secretary of war.

As secretary of war Mr. Garrison is credited with having introduced many innovations and reforms, particularly in line with the idea of obtaining more prompt mobilization of the country's resources in time of war. He also announced that he believed in developing the individual authority and initiative, combined with greater responsibility, of commanding officers of all ranks rather than too great dependence upon orders from Washington.

In March, 1915, there were rumors that Mr. Garrison would resign to accept the post of chief justice of the New Jersey supreme court and also that he planned to run either for governor of New Jersey or senator from that state. He was also mentioned for the supreme court justiceship left vacant by the death of Justice Lamar.

NEST OF OWLS DANCE.

A euchre, under the auspices of the Ladies Nest of Owls, was held last evening at the home of the president of the organization, Mrs. Eugene Hess, of 1226 Clinton avenue. Six tables were in use during the evening. David L. Coleman won the first prize and William H. Randall, the second. Mr. Coleman and Mr. Randall were tied for first place honors, but Mr. Coleman won the draw off. Refreshments were served during the evening and everybody had one grand time.

You hear a great deal these days about "Preparedness."

Here's a little incident of business preparedness.

The writer was passing through the Wash Dress Goods Section of the store yesterday, when he saw a buyer and his assistant examining a sample of dress linen and comparing it with what at first appeared to be the same thing in a bolt of dress linen from the shelf.

The sample was not from Hahne & Co.

It was sleazy, loosely woven.

Hahne & Co.'s was closely woven, firm and cost much more to produce because much more material was needed to make it so closely woven.

Each was all-linen.

But how about the price?

The other was 69c a yard.

Hahne & Co.'s was 59c a yard!

Which illustrates what we emphasize again and again:

NEW S. I. CLEANING CO. WILL HAVE FINE STORE

Alterations are being made to the building located at 110 Watchung avenue preliminary to the removal of the New Staten Island Cleaning and Dyeing Company, now situated at 173 East Front street, to that place. It had been previously announced that the cleaning company would vacate its present quarters on March 1, but the extensive preparations for the installation of the necessary equipment will compel the concern to remain at the East Front street address until March 15.

After that date the company will be prepared to handle all cleaning and dyeing business with the most modern facilities at its disposal, and will make a specialty of fancy dyeing. The present telephone number, 1913, will be retained in the new headquarters, and orders will be called for promptly and delivered. During the time this firm has operated in Plainfield it has established for itself a reputation for high-class work, and the management assures patrons of even better service in the new and spacious Watchung avenue store.

FIELD INSTRUCTION FOR STATE MILITIA

Officers of 1st Squadron Cavalry to Attend Maneuvers in Virginia or Georgia.

The officers of the First Squadron Cavalry will attend the school for instruction which is to be held next May by the War Department. As yet it has not been decided whether the school will be held at Fort Meyer, Va., or Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. The former is a squadron post and the latter a regimental station for the regular cavalry. Last year nearly all the officers of the First Squadron of the New Jersey Cavalry attended the school held at Fort Meyer and came home with words of praise for the knowledge they obtained by a few days' training with the regulars.

It is also quite probable that the First Squadron will go into camp at Mt. Gretna this summer for another period of training with the regular cavalry. It only remains for Congress to make the appropriation for the joint Federal and militia manoeuvres, and the War Department will choose Mt. Gretna as the place for holding the cavalry manoeuvres. Last year the Federal government purchased many acres of additional land for the camp site and during the summer the regular troops stationed there made big improvements on the site. Major William A. Bryant, commanding the First Squadron of the National Guard of New Jersey, will lead the troops, as he has in the manoeuvres held during the last few years.

Colonel Horace M. Reading, of the Second regiment, has appointed a committee of nine officers to ask employers of labor and manufacturers to co-operate in the military preparedness plan. Letters have been sent out by this committee to a number of employers of the vicinity of Trenton and good results are expected from the movement. Part of the letter is as follows: "Indicate to your employees that enlistment in the National Guard will please you. Show them that you, too, are willing to make some sacrifice to make such service more inviting. State that you stand ready to pay them for time devoted to the annual maneuvers, and that the time so spent shall not be deducted from any vacation that they would be otherwise entitled to. Furthermore, when engaging help, all other conditions being equal, give preference to the man serving in the guard, or who has an honorable discharge from it."

ENCOURAGING REPORTS FROM DISTRICT MEETING

The inauguration last night of the district cottage prayer meetings preparatory to the Biederwolf evangelistic campaign was marked by a large attendance at nearly all of the services. There were nineteen meetings in various parts of the city. In two of the districts, each meeting was attended by fifty-five persons, while in two other districts there thirty-one persons at one and twenty-seven at another.

The reports received at headquarters this morning indicate that there was considerable interest at all the services and many of those attending took some part.

ASK EMPLOYERS TO AID IN PREPAREDNESS PLANS

Preparations for the annual Federal and State inspection are being made. The inspection will be held at the Roseville avenue armory and will be conducted by Captain Rockwell, U. S. A., inspector general, and Major Frederick W. Garvin, of the Inspector General's Department, N. G. N. J. The troops are in excellent shape and it is expected they will pass muster with 100 per cent. records.

Major Bryant has planned for several squadron drills to be held in the Roseville avenue armory during the month of March. On one of the dates to be chosen it is expected that Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., will review the troops. The usual festivities will follow the review.

CUTLER IS NAMED AS NEW CIRCUIT JUDGE

Trenton, March 1.—Governor Fielder today named Willard W. Cutler, of Morristown, as a new Circuit Court judge. The nomination was sent to the Senate where, under the rules, it was referred to a committee.

N. P. H. S. DANCE.

The girls of the North Plainfield High School held a dance in the Harrison Avenue School, last evening. Twenty-five couples were present and a most enjoyable time was had. The music was furnished by Miss Elizabeth Voorhees at the piano. Refreshments were served during the course of the evening.

Leather Factory and Church Chapel Damaged by Flames.

Newark, March 1.—Two fires in widely separated sections of the city resulted in $28,000 damage.

Defective wiring is thought to have been the cause of a blaze at the Ryan Leather company plant, which caused a loss of $25,000 and practically destroyed the plant. The Kilburn Memorial chapel, in Norwood street, was gutted by a fire, of unknown origin. The loss there is estimated at $3,000.

—The North Plainfield Community Center organization will conduct a dance in the Harrison avenue school, Friday evening.

LA PROVENCE SUNK BY TORPEDO, BELIEF

930 Perish as Liner Sinks In Mediterranean.

Paris, March 1.—The transatlantic liner La Provence, which has been used as a French cruiser since the outbreak of the war and which was sunk in the Mediterranean with a loss of about 930 lives, was believed to have been destroyed to a torpedo.

The announcement of the loss of the big liner, which was called "the queen of the seas" before the coming of the Lusitania and Mauretania, was made by the ministry of marine.

There were about 1,800 persons on board the ship at the time of the sinking, and 870 of these are known to have been saved. About 400 of these have been landed on the Greek island of Melos and 296 have been landed at Malta.

The cause of the sinking of the vessel is unknown. The ministry of marine stated merely that she was sunk. Submarines of the central powers have been active recently in the Mediterranean, however, and it is thought probable that a torpedo destroyed the La Provence.

Recently the British steamer Fastnet and a Swedish steamship have been sunk not far from the last known position of the La Provence. No mine fields are known to have been laid in the Mediterranean sea around Greece and her many islands. The sinking is said to have taken place far out in the sea.

It is probable that the big vessel was carrying troops to Saloniki or transporting soldiers on sick leave or furlough back to France.

WOMAN'S GUILD GIVES ANNUAL BIRTHDAY PARTY

The annual birthday party given by the Woman's Guild of the church of the Heavenly Rest, last night, in the parish house, was one of the most successful of the kind ever held by the society. By the incoming of the little stockings, the people of Plainfield were not afraid to tell their age, the Guild entertaining visitors whose ages were from 100 to 500 years, according to the amount of pennies in the stockings. For every year of their age, the attendant was ordered to place a penny in the stocking provided. As a result of the party, over $70 was raised for the Guild treasury.

The parish house was attractively decorated with flags and flowers. There were fourteen tables for playing Progressive Peanuts. A four-piece orchestra furnished music for the dancing and refreshments were served during the evening.

Mrs. M. Peterson was chairman of the committee which arranged the affair and she was capably assisted by Mrs. E. Brown, Misses Alice and Elizabeth Foster. The reception committee comprised Mrs. Juan Babcock, Mrs. Charles Corbin, Miss Eden Bennett, Mrs. William Chamberlain Mrs. William Magual and Mrs. Harry Kenenguiser.

DEFECTIVE FLUE CAUSES FIRE IN THE BOROUGH

A defective flue in the chimney of David E. Flammer's blacksmith shop at No. 315 Somerset street caused the shingled roof of the shop to catch fire at 7:20 this morning. An alarm was sent in from a nearby box and the borough fire department responded with its combination truck. The fire was extinguished before any great damage was done by Lieutenant Fritz and Raymond Smith, who climbed to the roof with a chemical extinguisher. This is the second fire of this nature to attack the shop.

Charles Davis, of West Fourth street, organist of Holy Cross church, has returned fdom a trip to Florida.

FREEDOM CASTLE HAS ANNIVERSARY

Meeting Last Night Marked Completion of Its Fifteenth Year.

HAS SPLENDID RECORD

Membership Grows From Forty-five to 273 With Total Receipts of $35,000—Roster Includes Three Past Grand Chiefs.

At a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, last night, the members observed the fifteenth anniversary of the organization. It was instituted on February 27, 1901, and of the forty-five charter members thirty of them are still connected with the Castle. A majority of these were present last evening, and joined in the general speechmaking and reminiscent talk which was a feature of the informal program. There were also musical selections and cigars in abundance.

In the regular business session the matter of increasing the weekly dues and initiation fees of the Castle was discussed at considerable length. The proposition was eventually deemed advisable and a very slight increase was made in each case. While the amounts will be so small as to be hardly felt by the members the increased revenue will permit of a broader scope in carrying on the organization beneficial work.

Almost from the outset when Freedom Castle was instituted its membership began to grow and the original forty-five has now increased to two hundred and seventy-five. Only two of the fifteen charter members were lost through suspension, the names of the others being taken from the roster through death or removals from the city. In the fifteen years the officers have handled a total of $35,000, practically all of which was expended in sick or death benefits to members and their families or the promotion of social intercourse. At the present time the treasurer's statement shows a very handsome balance to begin the new fiscal year.

Freedom Castle enjoys the distinction of having had three of its members act as grand chief for the order in the State. There are Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, Horace J. Martin and R. V. Kinney. Messrs. Buchanan and Martin acceded to the State office by passing through the chairs of the local Castle, while Mr. Kinney was moved out because of meritorious service for the betterment of the order. The present noble chief of Freedom Castle is Theodore Martin, of West Third street. In looking backward last night, the members felt that they were justified in feeling proud of the record of "12" and expressed the belief that she wolud achieve still greater laurels in the years to come.

THOS. S. ARMSTRONG GIVES UP BUSINESS

Well Known Druggist Retires After a Long and Active Career.

Thomas S. Armstrong, one of the oldest apothecaries in the city, rewhich time his drug store at Park and North avenues, was closed. Today the goods and chattels are being retired from business yesterday, at moved to the Miller store at Park avenue and East Fourth street, where they will be sold either in part or as a whole.

The retirement of Mr. Armstrong marks the passing of one of the oldest merchants of the city from active business. For the past thirty-six years a drug store has occupied the corner in the Vanderbeek building, which is now being vacated. Howard Prescott Reynolds conducted the business there for sixteen years, during the greater part of which time Mr. Armstrong was employed as clek. Mr. Armstrong succeeded Mr. Reynolds on his retirement about twenty years ago, continuing the business to the present time. Mr. Armstrong has not made any definite plans for the future, and what he proposes doing is not known.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Frances Younge, who plays Mrs. Bradshaw in the company of "The Eternal Magdalene," of which Florence Roberts is the star, had the role in Cleveland when the play was presented at the Colonial Stock Company, of which Robert McLaughlin, the author of the play, was then manager. It was the sensation caused by this presentation of the play which caused five New York managers to go to Cleveland to compete for it.

The first fourteen weeks of "Fair and Warmer," at the Ettinge Theatre, Avery Hopwood's hilarious farce of Temperature and Temperament, have made a record in "business"—a record held, up to Saturday night, by Selwyn & Company, and "Within the Law." The first fourteen weeks of Selwyn & Company as producing managers, when they had "Within the Law" at this same theatre, brought them more money than any other play had ever made along the Rialto. This record, on Saturday night, moved over to adorn the history of "Fair and Warmer."

RALLY OF SABBATH SCHOOL UNION HELD

Large Gathering of Workers in New Market Baptist Church Last Evening.

The Dunellen and New Market Sabbath-school Union held its first rally in the First Baptist church, New Market, last evening. The affair was a great success, the spirit of enthusiasm being manifest throughout the session. Benjamin Dodwell, president of the Union, and H. S. Townley, its vice president, presided over the meeting. The attendance banner was won by the Holy Innocents' Sunday-school, which had twenty-five members present out of an enrollment of twenty-eight.

The church was attractively decorated for the occasion. The rear of the pulpit was decorated with American flags and the beautiful banners of the various Sunday-schools lined the sides of the outside aisles. Various colored pennants representing the different departments of the First Baptist Sunday-school were suspended from the gallery.

The services opened wthe the choir, made up of the members of the various Sunday-schools, singing "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me." In the rendering of this piece the choir was led by Robert F. Humpston.

Ivan P. Flood, the Young People's secretary of the Baptists of New Jersey, was introduced to the audience by Vice President Townley as "the busiest man in the busy city of Newark."

He spoke on the mobilization of Christians for the world's greatest war for the cause of righteousness. He said that he was in Cologne, Germany, on the night of August 1, 1914, when the Germans commenced to mobilize their offensive through Belgium into France. He said that the Germans in mobilizing manifested great enthusiasm. In a conversation with a German officer he told the officer that he was on his way home to America through Paris and London and this officer told him that he would meet him on a certain boulevard in Paris on August 12.

In France the trait manifested by the French soldiers in mobilizing was simple common ordinary faithfulness, while in England the inscription on Nelson's statue in Trafalgar Square, viz: "England expects every man to do his duty," typfied the English spirit.

The lessons which he thus emphasized were that in the mobilization for the great war in the cause of righteousness the traits manifested by the Germans, French and English were absolutely essential for the successful conquest of evil. At the conclusion of his address he was greeted with great applause.

Rev. R. W. Mark, of the Presbytelian heurch of Woodbridge, was the next speaker. He took the audience on a rapid excursion through the Bible, dwelling here and there on points absolutely necessary for salvation. He spoke of the necessity of believing that the remission of sin came through Christ's shedding his blood on the cross and also of the necessity of following the light once it stood revealed.

The feature of the musical part of the program was the singing of "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight," by Miss Beatrice Cameron, the soprano of the Presbyterian choir. The chorus of the hymn was sung by a quartet of the men of the choir who had retired to a distant room.

MEXICAN BANDITS KILL TWO AMERICANS

Edward Harris, Hotel Keeper, Hanged by Villa Men.

El Paso, Tex., March 1.—The names of two more American victims of Mexican hatred was added to the lengthy list of those who perished in that country in the past five years.

News came through consular sources of the murder by Villa followers in Durango of Grover C. Varn of El Paso, and private telegrams from Torreon told of the hanging by bandits of Edward Harris, an American hotel keeper, at Sombrerete, in the state of Zacatecas. Harris was hanged to force him to tell where his money was secreted, and after he had told the the bandits neglected to cut him down.

Varn was killed on his ranch, twenty-five miles west of the city of Durango, while Harris was killed about fifty miles southeast of that city. Varn's brother, J. E. Varn, who was on the ranch with him, is reported as missing. Whether he fled and is making his way out of the country or was overtaken and killed also by the bandits is not known. The killing occurred on the Cacaria ranch, owned jointly by Grover C. Varn and J. E. Varn.

DR. C. M. FREEMAN RIVALS WIFE IN HEART APPEAL

New Brunswick, March 1.—Although Mary E. Wilkins is still the acknowledged writer of the family, her husband, Dr. Charles M. Freeman, saw that leap year day gave him the opportunity to take his pen in hand again. His last letter to the Metuchen debtors of his lumber and coal firm brought in at once $3,000 of the $68,000 due them, and made it the subject of debate whether this was not proof that he had touched the hearts of his readers more cleverly than his wife had in her novels.

"The response to our former communication was very gratifying and confirmed us in our firm belief in the business honor and integrity of this borough. More than 350 of our customers have called, telephoned, or written us. Of this number, some have paid in full, some on account, and others have given notes. We have received to date, ninety-three promissory notes, varying from $8 to nearly $1,000.

"There are, however, certain fundamental laws which, is not applied to the note system, work annoyance and even disaster. We are morally certain that some of these notes will not be paid at maturity. We are willing to renew them if a reasonable amount is paid when due. But remember, tomorrow is not today. Thanking our customers for their prompt and kind response, etc."

Metuchen is wondering whether it is to be a serial.

GERMANS TAKE WOEVRE TOWNS

17,000 French Prisoners Captured, Is Claim.

LARGE GUNS ALSO IN BOOTY

Successes In Verdun Advance Give Invaders Possession of Long Line From Dieppe to Champion—Paris Reports Declare That Teuton Forces Are Losing Some Ground.

London, March 1.—Shifting their assaults to the eastward, the Germans concentrated their attack on the French line on the Woevre plain.

Here the Germans, according to the official Berlin statement, have taken Dieppe, Abaucourt, Blanzee, Watronville, Manheulles and Champion.

These successes give the Germans possession of the line along the road extending from Dieppe southeast to Champion, not only pushing the line in from the east and southeast, thus taking important steps toward cutting off the fortress, but giving the Germans possession at several points of the railroad running north and south five miles east of Verdun, a gain of great value to the continued strength of the St. Mihiel salient in the German line.

The Germans captured one point on the road, Eix, at the foot of the Cotes Lorraine, but lost it again. Manreulles and Fresnes were attacked also on Sunday, but the French were able to repulse the assaults. Manheulles now has fallen, and Fresnes, although still holding out, has been practically surrounded. Fresnes is an important highway center and also is on the Verdun-Commercy railroad.

On the northern Verdun front there was little activity, although the Germans resumed without success their violent attacks in the region of Douaumont.

After they had been driven back in hand to hand encounters with the French troops in this region the Germans appear to have abandoned for the time being their attempts to push this northern line further toward the fortress until more support was obtained from the east. On the north of the slopes of the Cote du Poivre the Germans are falling back.

Germans Fall Back, Say French.

"In Champagne our batteries destroyed German organizations in the region of hill 193. To the west of the Maisons de Champagne the Germans exploded a mine, the crater of which we occupied.

"In the region of Verdun the bombardment continued on the northern front with less intensity than on the preceding days. No infantry action was reported in the course of the day. The Germans on the slopes north of the Cote du Poivre, of which the first crest is occupied by our advanced elements, are falling back.

"We directed a violent fire on Samogneux, where an enemy battalion was assembled.

"At various points of our front in the Woevre our artillery fire stopped attacks about to be delivered."

Besides announcing the gains on the eastern Verdun front, the statement issued by the war office at Berlin said that the number of unwounded prisoners taken in the Verdun fighting has increased to 228 officers and 16,575 men. Seven heavy guns, seventy-one lighter guns and eighty-six machine guns are reported in the war booty.

DIAZ JOINS MEXICAN REVOLT.

Crosses Border to Aid Revolutionists in Oaxaca.

Mexico City, March 1.—Felix Diaz with his followers, organized recently on the west coast of Mexico to start a new revolt against Carranza, crossed the Guatemalan border to aid the fighting Oaxacans.

He is in Chiapas and soon will lead a large force against the Carranzistas, according to official information which reached here.

Yegge Blow Postoffice Safe.

Jamesburg, N. J., March 1.—Four yeggmen broke into the postoffice and blew off the outer door. Fred Gunson heard them and opened fire with a shotgun. The men returned the fire from revolvers and fled.

TOT LISPS PRAYER AS SHE DIES FROM BURNS.

Philadelphia, March 1.—"Papa, I want to pray. God bless papa, God bless mamma, God bless grandma. I can't pray any more."

These, the dying words of five-year-old Ellen May Brown, are the rich heritage left to James Brown, who was badly burned in a vain effort to save his little daughter.

"She was more anxious about me than about herself," he said. "I burned my hands a little when I put out the fire on her dress, you know."

Little Ellen May's nightdress became ignited while she was "minding" her little sister Margaret in a second story front room at her home. She was heating water in a nursing bottle for the baby when her dress caught fire from the gas stove.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffing, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid. —Adv.

FOREIGN TRADE FALLS BELOW THE MARK

However, Compared With Figures of a Year Ago There Was An Increase.

Exports for January fell somewhat below the mark set the previous month, the total being $335,535,303 as compared with $352,800,000 for December. As compared with January a year ago, however, there was an increase of nearly $68,000,000. Imports are still increasing, the total for January being $184,192,299, an increase of more than $12,000,000 over December. Nearly 74 per cent. of the imports were free of duty, indicating increased imports of raw materials and decreased imports of manufactured European goods.

For the seven months ended with January the exports from this country totaled $2,181,312,322, or 64 per cent. higher than for the like period of the preceding fiscal year, and 40 per cent. higher than the former best record made in 1912-13. Imports for the seven months ending with January last totaled $1,096,979,173, being about $500,000 more than the former high-record total of $1,096,484,767 recorded in the seven months of 1912-13, and $166,500,000 more than for the corresponding period of 1914-15. The seven months just ended showed an export balance of $1,684,333,149, being about two and one-half times that for each of the corresponding seven-month periods for the last five fiscal years.

Our international gold movements were comparatively small, imports thereof during January last amounting to $15,008,232 and exports, $10,213,517. The aggregate gold imports for seven months to January 31, 1916, were $322,038,386, about nine times the amount imported in the seven months preceding January 31, 1915; and gold exports aggregated $34,056,908 in the first seven months of the current fiscal year against four times that amount in a like period of the preceding year.

MUHLENBERG WORK SHOWS INCREASE

During the year of 1915 a total of 3049 patients were treated at Muhlenberg hospital in all departments, according to the annual report of the institution just made public in printed form. This was an increase in the work done in 1914, when only 2165 patients were treated. All branches of the work of Muhlenberg showed a corresponding increase. The total number of days' treatment during the year of 1915 was 21,341, against 18,109 in 1914; the total number of patients admitted to the hospital in 1915 was 1,465, as against 1,253 in 1914; the total visits to the dispensary in 1915 was 4,398, as against 2,595 in 1914, and the total number of operations in 1915 was 1143, as against 1065 in 1914.

"The Woman's Auxiliary Board was more active in its valuable work for the Hospital than ever before: the best illustration of this was the formation of the "Twigs," six or eight groups of women numbering in all about 130, meeting at different houses during the past winter. At these meetings they made garments and various articles of necessity and convenience for the use of patients, doctors, and employees of the Hospital. The total number of pieces made and delivered to the Hospital aggregate about 5,550.

"The monthly visitors of the Auxiliary Board kept that board closely informed as to needed requirements of the Hospital.

"We are also indebted to the Woman's Auxiliary Board for many improvements in the Nurses' Home, among others the building of an outdoor sleeping porch.

"An improvement of the general service of the Hospital has been the employment of a graduate dietitian, who has personal charge of the preparation and serving of all the special diets for the hospital service. A department for the instruction of pupil nurses in the theory and practice of cooking for the sick and convalescent has been established. This course is given by the dietitian, Mrs. Ward, and requires three months to complete.

"A night clerk has been employed in the main office, which makes the office service continuous, and does away with the necessity of having the pupil nurses relieve on the switchboard as heretofore.

"Much to the gratification of the housekeeping department, a linen room has been created, and a competent seamstress placed in charge. This has effected a great saving, as now all the linen of the hospital can be properly checked up, kept marked, repaired and distributed.

"There have been installed full size outside screens on all the windows and doors of the operating pavilion, children's ward, administration building and kitchen building.

"A Genito-Urinary Clinic has been established in connection with the out-patient department. The furniture and instruments for this well-equipped department for the treatment of the poor, was donated by Dr. F. E. DuBois.

"I sincerely hope that during the coming year funds will be secured to raise the roof of the Nurses' Home and provide facilities for at least twelve more nurses. The cost of providing these extra rooms will be about $3,500.

"The comfort and facility of our new private room building is such as to have attracted there many persons requiring medical or surgical aid who would probably have been directed to New York hospitals if Muhlenberg had not been able to offer such pleasing accommodations.

"General expenses naturally have increased in order to maintain a service of high standard, and the income of the hospital demonstrates the fact that such increases as have been necessary have been justified.

"Our aim must be to give to the poor and rich alike the very best that can be reasonably given, and so in the future, more than in the past, win to Muhlenberg the affection and regard of our citizens. By continued careful and conscientious effort on the part of everyone connected with the Board of Governors and the administration of the hospital, this result will be obtained.

"I am deeply appreciative of the labor rendered by all connected with the hospital in the work accomplished during the year just closed."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Storr, who were recently married, have returned from their honeymoon and are now living at the bridegroom's home on West Front street.

EXPERTS TO DISCUSS MILITARY TRAINING

Westfield Board of Education Plans for Interesting Meeting on National Defense.

"Shall we have military training in our High Schools?" is the current topic of conversation in Westfield.

A bill was recently introduced into the New Jersey Legislature which, if passed, would make military training in the New Jersey High Schools compulsory and parents are naturally interested to know just what a military training means. The Board of Education at Westfield has invited some well-known speakers to discuss this subject and a committee of representative citizens has undertaken to concentrate attention on the meeting, which is to be held in the Westfield High School on the evening of March 3rd, this week Friday. While it would appear as though the majority of parents favor a training of this kind, there are some who desire to know more about the details before passing judgment.

Those who heard Captain Congdon deliver his National Guard lecture at the High School last Saturday evening learned that a military training may mean an eduaction in many things other than a preparedness for war, such as hygiene, ready aid to the injured, alertness and obedience.

The speakers invited for the evening are Assemblymen A. M. Pierson and W. N. Runyon, of the New Jersey Legislature; Dr. Johnson, county superintendent of schools; Dr. J. J. Savitz, superintendent of schools, Westfield; Lieut. S. C. Leasure, military and physical instructor of the New Jersey State College.

After having an opportunity of hearing two members of the Legislature, both very much interested in the subject of military training in the schools, two practical educational authorities and a United States army officer, who has had a combined military and educational training, Westfield citizens should be able to decide intelligently upon this subject.

TREACHERY TOWARD COLGATE.

Mr. Colgate has been told to quit. After having his aspirations to sit as governor of the State of New Jersey watered and nourished at the hands of the Republican leaders in Essex county, the former State Senator gets notice that his presence in the field is harmful to the plans of the "Dal-Davy" gang, and he is politely invited to get off the political map and let someone run what can—meaning his friend, Mr. Murphy.

Senator Austen Colgate learned his political A. B. C.'s long ago, and in addition he was fully and plentifully warned. Those who knew Murphy and who knew Dalrymple told him weeks ago that he was to be used merely in the preliminary organization; that his name and his money were needed to open the campaign, after which he would be cast aside by the Essex gang so as to leave former Governor Franklin Murphy, who wants to be United States Senator, as the sole candidate from Essex for an important office. Even the Essex hogs realize that they cannot force the people of New Jersey to swallow both Murphy and Colgate. When the Republican ticket for governor and United States Senator is made up it must have a man from North Jersey and a man from South Jersey, not two from Essex county. Everyone but Mr. Colgate knew long ago that the gang would not sacrifice its chances of success by trying to run a man for each office, and now Mr. Colgate knows it. His information came from the following editorial in the Newark Call, which is the official political mouthpiece of Candidate Murphy:

"Governor and Senator are both sought by Essex county Republican candidates, and a practical man and publicist elsewhere sounds a note of warning concerning what he regards as this unwisdom of Essex in an endeavor to 'hog things.' Perhaps it is too late to make any change, but the rest of the State should be considered by Essex. If this county is large enough to deserve both these great offices, it is certainly large minded enough to consider what is really best for the whole State and the party which has at present an indisputable majority in the commonwealth.

"Does Mr. Colgate, of the Orange contingent, think his claims to the nomination for Governor, by reason of an innocuous career as State Senator, justify a candidacy which would be regarded by the rest of New Jersey as opposed to that of Mr. Murphy as Senator? If he feels so, by all means let him continue in the field. But is he justified? It might be well to hear his claims.

"The contest for United States Senatorial candidate is between former Governor Murphy and former Governor Stokes. One or the other will probably be the nominee and will have to fight it out with the Democrat named by his party. Which would Essex select? Obviously, its local representative, under all fair conditions, for the greater place. But can the county have both places? It seems more than doubtful."

Just how much Senator Colgate has contributed in time and money to the Essex county organization on the strength of implied or spoken promises is a matter that concerns chiefly himself, but all the voters of the State are interested in this latest treachery of the band that boasts State control of the Republican party. If they have not kept their promises to Senator Colgate, how can they be expected to keep any promises? If they are not to be trusted by him, how can any voter trust the organization, or former Governor Murphy, its candidate? Mr. Colgate gamely, or foolishly, insists that The Call does not speak for the Essex county organization or for Mr. Murphy, but there is every evidence that it does and only his hope against the almost established fact.

It is but the culmination of another "cute" trick of the Essex gang which shows that band of political pirates in true colors, and ought to mean an end to the aspirations of Mr. Murphy or any other man who flies this political flag.

ONLY THEIR PLAIN DUTY.

If the Borough Board of Education accepts the recommendation of Superintendent Krebs and inaugurates a class for defective children it will be but fulfilling a duty that has long been recognized by those who are really seeking to solve educational problems. The child whose brain develops more slowly than his body is susceptible to training just as that which is normal. True, a little more patience is required in order that its lessons may be learned, but this increases the duty of the educational institution rather than eliminates it. We do not kill our physically detective children., despite the example of a Hearst-made hero of Chicago, neither should we smother the spark of mentality that lives in those whose brains are weak.

Another life has been sacrificed to the foolish practice of riding freight trains. The boy who died at Muhlenberg Hospital early yesterday morning as a result of injuries received when he swung from a Reading train was first a "tramp," perhaps, but he wanted a chance to work and live and wanted it bad enough to risk his life to get to New York, where he had been told opportunity awaited. It is the fault of someone that he had not been properly warned of the dangers of trespassing on railroad property, of riding outside on freight trains. His parents were dead, but his school teacher might have saved him for a life of usefulness and service. Perhaps a fifteen minute talk would have done it. It may save others.

In going after delinquent tax payers, Collector William R. Townsend is but doing the work for which he was elected and to which he is sworn. Objection will come only from those who are made to pay that which is due the city. Mr. Townsend has been very lenient, but in extending further time he would be acting unfairly toward those who are paying their part of the city's expenses, and paying promptly.

The only real diffrence now between this country and Germany is that there are neutrals and innocents. When they have been finally exterminated the discussion will come to an end.

Convicts in Sing Sing are being taught Spanish. The State is simply adding up mileage for its agents who must go after them when once they get out to commit more crimes.

CANVASSERS TO MEET.

Those who are to conduct the every-member canvass for the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday will meet at the church Friday evening, when dinner will be served by women of the church. At that time David McConaughy, of New York, will tell the canvassers the best way to conduct their work.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at the chamber's headquarters in the Babcock building tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock. Several matters of importance are to be considered at the meeting.

Experience is the modern instructor.

It may save your life.

The experience of friends and neighbors,

The testimony of Plainfield people

Will bring renewed encouragement.

Here is a case in point:

Albert Naylor, musician, 256 East Second street, Plainfield, says: "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was told they were good for such trouble, and by the time I had finished two boxes I was feeling better in every way. Stock in Trade.

A poet never "thinks," as probably you know,
In cutting up his jinks, he always says "I trow."

"I trow" has his respect. But, while for it he's keen,
He'll sometimes interject the alternate "I ween."

And when he knows a thing another phrase he's got,

The Hickeyville Clarion

Hank Tumms, who has been ailing for some time, had a diagnosis of physicians on him the other day and they decided he was suffering from spongeitis. He had an operation seven years ago, and when the doctors got through and sewed him up, they left the sponge inside. Since that time he has been the worst old soak in this man's town.

Constable Ezra Hand has bought a set of brass buttons from Station Agent Renfrew Binks down to the railrud depot and will have them put on his new police uniform. There is some class to Ez, mostly second-class.

Hod Peters has sent down to the city for a set of jackscrews to use on his farm. It is not known definitely what he is going to do, but it is rumored he is going to try and raise the mortgage.

The Duck.

A little schoolgirl in Michigan has written the following essay on the duck:

"The duck is a low heavey set bird. He is a mighty poor singer having a coarse voice caused by getting so many frogs in his neck he likes the water and carries a toy baloon in his stomach to keep from sinking the Duck has only two legs and they are set so far back on his running gears by nature that they come pretty near missing his body some ducks when they get big curls on the their tails are called drakes and don't have to set or hatch but just loaf and go swimming and eat everything in sight if I were to be a duck I would rather be a drake they have a wide bill they use it for a spade they walk like a drunk man they bounce and bump about from side to side if you scare them they will flap their wings and try to make a pass at singing."

Old Hud Maxim.

Hudson Maxim says that we Must face foes from o'er the sea,
And that Portugal, by gravy,
Could wipe out our entire navy,
Germany, with little work,
Could take Boston with a jerk.
Maxim says it is a shame
We're not ready for war's game.
New York would be very easy
For an army old and wheezy.
Says a hundred thousand men
Could take Conn. and Mass. and Tenn.
And, if they should have a notion,
Sweep to the Pacific ocean.
Could kidnap our President,
Rob our banks of every cent;
Kill us all and dry our hides
On some old rail fence besides.
There's no other news today.
That's enough, so we would say.

Makes It Up for Him.

His wife is decided,
Decided and grim.
He may be derided,
But why pity him?

She looks after "father,"
It's helpful, we find,
For he needn't bother
To make up his mind.

- Proctor's Theatre -

A wonderful array of photoplay and variety entertainment greets the spectator at Proctor's today. The dramatic production today is a William Fox reelaso entitled "The Ruling Passion," with William E. Shay and Claire Whitney in the leading roles. This feature was produced under the supervision of Herbert Brennon, director of that famous production, "Neptune's Daughter." "The Ruling Passion" deals with an Indian prince who has hypnotic gifts and gets into his power the wife of an English officer. In addition today, Pathe's latest serial creation, "The Iron Claw," will be shown as an added feature, and will continue in the future on Wednesday of each week. The cast includes the pick of the greatest aggregation of moving picture stars in America—the original "Elaine" cast, headed by Pearl White, Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis. Thursday, the film fans of this vicinity are given the opportunity of seeing what is said to be one of the greatest film attractions released this season, in the form of A. H. Wood's phenomenal stage success, "New York," with Florence Reed, who recently starred in Proctor's in "At Bay" in the leading role. On Friday, Edwin Arden, the famous star of innumerable stage successes, appears in a remarkable Pathe hand-colored filmization of William J. Locke's famous novel, "The Beloved Vagabond." This is the same production that recently created such a furore at The Strand Theatre, New York city. There is also presented daily a pleasing program of comedy creations, including tme famous Keystone comedies. In addition to the above-listed dramatic productions and the polite entertainment furnished by the refined vaudeville offerings. Next week, on Tuesday, "The Strange Case of Mary Page," the wonderful new Essanay serial production, will make its appearance at Proctor's, the first episode of this remarkable feature being presented on that day, and an episode appearing every Tuesday thereafter. Henry B. Walthall, the famous "Little General" in "The Birth of a Nation," and Edna Mayo, one of the foremost of screen heroines, appear in the leading roles. Don't forget the day—Tuesday, March 7, and every Tuesday thereafter. Be sure to see the first episode; you cannot but help see the rest.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME...

THE AMATEUR

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

The thrilling race scene, as shown in Act III. of "In Old Kentucky," at the Plainfield Theatre, today, matinee and night.

"In Old Kentucky," which wound up its fourth consecutive week before the public in a blaze of glory at the termination of its engagement at the big Manhattan Opera House, New York city, comes to the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. Its New York engagement was noteworthy, not only from the fact that it crowded the Opera House to the doors for weeks, but also for the reason that it there repeated its triumph of twenty years before, when the play ran for weeks in the same city on its first New York engagement. New York claimed the play just as fresh, as bright and as new; just as well played as it had been a decade ago. This big Manhattan Opera House production will be used by the company on tour this season, and Miss Louise Murray, who has scored an emphatic hit in the leading role of brave "Madge Brierly" for the past three seasons, will be seen in the part on the company's appearance here.

THE TIME TO PRUNE ORNAMENTAL PLANTS

Care During Early Part of March Will Do Much to Help Flowering Habits.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—A little early care given to the pruning of ornamental trees and shrubs during the early part of March will do much to control their growing and flowering habits, and enable the home owner to have well-formed plants and well-trained hedges or boundary plantings. The pruning of ornamental trees and shrubs is, in fact, one of the first duties that may profitably be performed in the home garden. The amateur, however, should not make a ruthless assault with shears or pruning knife upon everything in his yard. Flowering trees and shrubs that bloom in the spring or early summer should not receive radical pruning at this time, according to the garden specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Of course, if on these plants there are dead or weak branches, these should be taken out, and any crossing limbs that are rubbing and seriously interfering with the growth of the bush should be removed. The tips of the limbs, however, should not be cut off nor should any young wood that does not interfere with the growth of the bush be removed. It must be borne in mind that the blossom buds for this year's flowering were formed last year, and every shoot removed takes off that much of the prospective blossoms.

Trees and shrubs that bear their flowers in midsummer and which were not pruned in the fall, may be pruned at this time. Plants of this sort are the Rose of Sharon and the shrubby hydrangea. Where the largest possible mass effect is desired, these plants should be pruned but little. If the aim is to secure the largest possible trusses or blossom heads, last year's growth should be pruned back to two or three eyes to a stem. Such severe pruning, however, is not conducive to the most attractive development of shrubs.

Climbing roses should not be pruned at this time except for the removal of surplus or interfering branches. Every bit of wood removed now reduces the amount of bloom the plant will bear during the coming season. Roses used in border planting should be treated in exactly the same way as other shrubs, except that many of these species will be improved by having all their old wood cut away once in every five or six ears. This ould mean cutting all the old canes off within three or four inches of the ground and forcing the bush to throw up entirely new wood.

Roses used for cut flowers, like the hybrid perpetuals, the hybrid teas, and teas, should be severely pruned. The hybrid perpetuals may be cut as soon as freezing weather is past. Pruning of the hybrid teas and teas, however, should be left until the young growth has started. In both cases the plant should be cut to within six inches or one foot of the ground. Four or six eyes to a stem is about the proper amount of wood to leave.

TRAIN DEMOLISHED RIG.

Driver Slightly Hurt, and Money In Pockets Intact.

Orange, March 1.—Carrying $1,082 in his pockets, Antonio Condelmo of Orrange was driving his horse across the Erie railroad when the train demolished his rig. At the Memorial hospital Condelmo's wealth was intact and his injuries slight.

Gift Delayed Twenty-three Years.

Vineland, March 1.—Twenty-three years ago Tobias Zehnder, baker, promised a horse blanket to Thomas Morris. The blanket laid on the shelf in the garret ever since. Several days ago Zehnder happened to think of his promise and immediately made the presentation.

GASOLINE PRICES CONTINUE TO SOAR

Scarcity of Commodity in the Fields Said to Be Cause of the Advance.

"Gasoline prices will continue to advance; it wouldn't be surprising if first grade gasoline is quoted at 40 cents a gallon within a short time," said Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man.

"There is really a scarcity of oil at this time," added Sinclair, "and unless new fields are opened within a year or so there may be an oil famine. The output of all the old fields is decreasing gradually, while the demand for gasoline is increasing every day.

"The Oklahoma oil fields, which are the largest in the world, show an average daily decrease of 250,000 gallons, in comparison with the output of a year ago. A barrel of oil averages 42 gallons of oil or 21 gallons of gasoline. This means that the average yearly decrease in gasoline production in Oklahoma alone is 1,916,250,000 gallons.

"Other fields have been affected the same way as Oklahoma, and I dare say that the average decrease in the gasoline output from all the fields in the United States is close to 300,000,000,000 gallons yearly."

"Has the cost of production increased?" Sinclair was asked.

"Not appreciably," was the answer.

"Why then, should the price be advanced?"

Sinclair laughed and said:

"Oh, well, if you've got something to sell that everybody wants, you get the highest price you can for it, don't you? That's the way in the oil business."

Daddy's Bedtime Story— Who First Brought Fire To the Earth.

He Brought Down the Great Gift of Fire.

"THE Greeks believed that before man came to live on earth there was a race of giants. One of the most interesting was Prometheus," daddy told his children. "He and his brother had the job of making man and all the animals of the earth. He had to give man courage and strength and wisdom and swiftness and to animals some claws, others wings, another a shell—oh, 'twas the greatest work and fun to find out just what each creature needed to fight his way up to glory and then provide him with the best kind of a tool! When Prometheus and his brother had worked like the giants they were and had their part of the earth rather decently fitted out with horses and cows and dogs and cats and monkeys and squirrels and eagles and crows and sheep and ducks and goodness only knows what other creatures they fancied into love and life and when they had got some splendid men to run things, both these remarkable giants stood dizzy with failure, for man cannot live without fire, and as yet there was no fire upon this new, crude, young earth and no way of making any."

"Didn't Prometheus have a box of matches in his pocket, daddy? You always carry a box when we go out for adventures," said Jack.

"Matches are very stylish and modern, my son. Until quite lately men struck fire by rubbing two sticks together. Even in colonial times, when people let their fires go out, they had to tramp miles to borrow a few coals from some neighbor who was obliging. Well, these two brothers, after working like angels and giants, faced the awful problem of seeing their labor go to smash unless they got some fire quick as anything. They talked it over, and Prometheus decided it was his job to go up to the palace of the gods and steal some fire for his mortals and beautiful animals. So he begged the Goddess Minerva to help him, flashed up to the gods' home in the clouds, lighted his torch at the wheels of the sun's chariot and brought down to humans the great and divine gift of fire."

"With this wonderful gift placed in his hands man was more than a match for all animals. It helped him to make weapons to control them, just as a blacksmith makes horseshoes at his furnace. It helped him to make tools like plows and rakes to till the earth and plant seeds for his food. It helped him to warm the huts he had to live in cold weather, and finally it helped him to make beauty for his home, coins for money, tools for trades—in fact, fire helped man to become what we know him today." Then daddy looked at the clock and kissed the children good night.

Household Hints

BUTTER-SAVING.

Buy two pounds oleomargarine at thirty-seven cents, one pound creamery butter at thirty-six cents; spread butter in wooden chopping bowl, spread oleo over butter, and add coloring. Mix well with wooden potato masher or ladle. Put in a small aluminum bread pan, which gives it the appearance of brick butter when cut for use. The amount saved is thirty-two cents on every three pounds, and even more when one watches the sales.

To Keep Butter Good for Months—Salt and work butter well, and pack in jar about three-fourths to an inch thick in layers with granulated sugar one-fourth inch thick in between. Pack solid, and butter will be as good in three months as the day you put it away.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

All Stockings should be marked as to mates and ownership. Initials can be worked in long outlining stitches, with either white thread or different colored silks for different members of the family. Use the Roman numerals with one long stitch for each line to mate them. This sort of marking takes but a few moments as soon as the stockings are bought, saves much time in sorting and gives general satisfaction in the household.

When a Fern is Failing and the leaves are getting yellow, water it three times a week with one part ammonia and three parts warm water. The change is surprising.

Lemon Uses—A teaspoon of lemon juice added to ordinary cream makes the whipping a thorough success. Used in mayonnaise with the olive oil lemon is much more wholesome acid than vinegar, and makes a smoother dressing.

Inexpensive Rugs of Matting—First bind the cut edges. Make a thick paste of wheat flour, fill the matting, wipe off smooth, then let dry for several days in the sun. Give it two coats of floor paint. Old matting treated this way will give good service. Green is a good color to paint it.

FANCY DESSERT.

Charlotte Russe—Place about two good tablespoons whipped cream on center of small plate. Separate two "lady finger" cakes, using the four pieces to stand around whipped cream, coming together at top tent fashion. Now take some whipped cream and put down sides between the lady fingers around the bottom and a cherry on the top.

Peach Melba—In a sherbet cup put a dipper of vanilla ice cream. Place half of peach on this, pouring over all a little raspberry sirup. Stick four sweet wafers in sides of cup.

Charlotte Glace—Separate two "lady finger" cakes and place around a small dipper of any preferred ice cream, standing them up on ends, wide apart at bottom and coming to a cone shape at top. Now place whipped cream down sides between cakes around the bottom and a little on top. Finish by putting maraschino cherry on top of whipped cream.

Biscuit Fortoni—Vanilla ice cream, a little whipped cream and a couple of macaroons that have been dried in oven until crisp enough to crush them easily. Mix these all together. Place in sherbert cups with a little whipped cream on top, a few crumbs of macaroons over that and a maraschino cherry on top. You can use your own judgement as to the quantity to use, but one dipper of ice cream and one dipper of whipped cream and two cakes will serve two persons.

GLUTEN BREAD.

Dissolve one cake of compressed yeast and about a teaspoonful of sugar in a little warm water or milk. Put together one tablespoonful lard or butter, three cups gluten flour, one teaspoonful salt, one cup milk scalded and cooled, one cup lukewarm water and one tablespoonful sugar; add yeast. Knead thoroughly till smooth and elastic. Place in well-greased bowl. Cover and set aside in warm place free from draft, to rise until light, which should be in about two hours. Mold into loaves, place in greased pans, filling them half full, cover and let rise again. When double in size (about one hour), bake in moderate oven forty-five minutes.

KEEP CLOTHES PINS OUT OF YOUR MOUTH

So many accidents have been reported lately due to the carelessness of the housewife that a series of "don'ts" have been proposed. A common habit and a very bad one is illustrated here. Holding clothes pins or any other small household articles in the mouth spoils its shape and ruins the teeth.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions, it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure, and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

WILSON DEMAND STIRS CONGRESS

Vote on Armed Liners' Resolution Asked.

URGES IMMEDIATE ACTION

House Leaders In a Flurry Over President's Letter to Pou—Wants Foreign Relations Clarified of Damaging Misunderstandings—German U-Boat Campaign Is Inaugurated.

LETTER OF PRESIDENT TO ACTING CHAIRMAN POU.

Washington, March 1.—President Wilson's letter to acting Chairman Pou of the rules committee of the house, asking for a vote on the resolution warning Americans against travel on armed ships of belligerents, follows:

"My Dear Mr. Pou—Inasmuch as I learn that Mr. Henry, the chairman of the committee on rules, is absent in Texas, I take the liberty of calling your attention as ranking member of the committee to a matter of grave concern to the country, which can, I believe, be handled under the rules of the house only by that committee.

"The report that there are divided counsels in congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industrious use of in foreign capitals. I believe that report to be false, but so long as it is anywhere credited it cannot fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks.

"I therefore feel justified in asking that your committee will permit me to urge an early vote upon the resolutions with regard to travel on armed merchantmen, which have recently been so much talked about, in order that there may be afforded an opportunity for full public discussion and action upon them, and that all doubts and conjectures may be swept away and our foreign relations once more cleared of damaging misunderstandings.

"The matter is of so grave importance and lies so clearly within the field of executive initiation that I venture to hope that your committee will not think that I am taking unwarranted liberty in making this suggestion as to the business of the house, and I very earnestly commend it to your immediate consideration.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

Washington, March 1.—Congress leaders were jolted by President Wilson's demand for a vote on his submarine policy.

The president wrote to the acting chairman of the rules committee of the house urging an early vote on the resolutions now pending, which warn Americans from traveling on armed merchant vessels.

The president in this letter declares that "the report that there are divided counsels in congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industrious use of in foreign capitals."

He expresses the belief that the report is false and adds that "so long as it is anywhere credited it cannot fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks."

The president has thus thrown down every barrier against the public discussion of foreign affairs in congress and has in fact invited a frank and full exchange of views of the administration's record. The challenge from the president will mark the opening of a debate in congress which is likely to be one of the most spirited and important that has taken place in years.

Wilson Is Confident.

What the outcome will be is now, of course, a matter of mere speculation, as many unexpected events may intervene to influence the sentiment of congress before the resolution is brought to a vote. At present, though, the administration is confident of victory in both houses of congress, and it seems fairly certain to unbiased observers that those who are opposing the administration will not be able to control a majority of votes in the senate.

Speaker Clark and Leader Kitchin predicted last week that the house would vote 2 to 1 in favor of such legislation, but they make no comment now. In fact, congress leaders, both for and against the administration, seemed stunned by the sudden and unexpected move by the president.

In throwing down the challenge to congress President Wilson was actuated by the folowing considerations:

Believing that a test of strength on this issue was inevitable sooner or later, the president selected the present as the most opportune time. He apparently felt that the administration's strength in congress on this issue would be greater now than on the verge of a possible crisis.

Charged with responsibility for the conduct of foreign affairs, the president desired an immediate decision as to whether he was to be left with a free hand in this matter or whether his efforts were to be handicapped by further interference on the part of congress.

End Talk Abroad.

The president decided that an immediate challenge was the only way to end the impression which the Berlin authorities have obtained that he lacks the support of the country in the conduct of his submarine negotiations.

The move by the president was therefore intended partly to destroy the harmful work already done by the demonstration in congress.

To say that President Wilson's letter to acting Chairman Pou of the house rules committee was a shock to the congress leaders is putting it mildly. Both those who are opposing and those who are supporting the administration were in consternation and unable to say what steps would be taken.

Senator Stone, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee; Representative Flood, head of the house committee on foreign affairs, and Senator Kern, the majority leader in the upper house, have made an appointment with the president, when they will try to obtain from him some more definite idea of what he expects from congress.

Big Committee Ignored.

The president has perhaps unwittingly complicated the situatuion by appealing to the rules committee for action. This committee cannot act in the way the president desires without going over the head of the committee on foreign affairs of the house, before which the armed merchantmen resolutions are pending. The president's ignoring of the foreign affairs committee already has roused resentment among the members of that committee.

The question asked on all sides in Washington was whether the new move on the part of the president was immediately related to the latest developments in the submarine controversy between this government and the Berlin foreign office.

Some were inclined to regard it as reflecting pessimism on President Wilson's part in regard to the German note delivered to the state department and a desire on his part to prepare for more serious developments.

Most observers here though were of the belief that the president's new move was decided upon solely as a matter between himself and congress and for the purpose of strengthening his hand in the further negotiations with Berlin.

The new turn in affairs is likely to add to the confusion in the minds of many people regarding the president's submarine policy. It was the president's own efforts which prevented a vote a few days ago on the very resolutions which he is asking to have submitted to a test.

Damaging to United States Cause.

At that time he insisted that a further discussion of foreign affairs on the floor of congress would be extremely damaging to the cause of the United States in its controversy with Germany. What has developed since then to change the situation materially has not been disclosed, except that the administration now is confident of controlling a majority of the votes of congress, whereas a few days ago it probably would have been beaten in the house.

Nevertheless members of congress who are puzzled over the sudden move by the president are asking why it will not be just as harmful now to hold the bitter debate in congress of foreign affairs as it would have been a few days ago.

The only way that members of congress are able to account for the new shift on the part of the administration is that the president has discovered that the recent demonstration in congress already has damaged the administration's cause so seriously that some positive action is necessary to offset it.

Politicians of all parties were unanimous in regarding President Wilson's act as one of the boldest moves ever made by an American president in calling for a "showdown" on the question of foreign affairs. It is realized that the president on this move has staked practically the entire submarine issue.

New U-Boat Rule In Effect.

Berlin, March 1.—Germany's new rule of submarine warfare, which was announced in the German memorandum regarding the future treatment of armed merchantmen, was duly inaugurated. At midnight the period of warning for neutrals, giving them opportunity to advise their nationals not to travel on armed merchantmen, expired.

For several days there has been more than a possibility that Germany at the last moment might propose to discontinue practices of reprisal and sink no merchant ships without first halting them for examination and putting the crew in a place of safety if the allies would remove armament from merchantmen.

Negro Holds Up Missouri Bank.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 1.—A negro entered the Mechanics' State bank here and after forcing the cashier and two clerks into the vault obtained $1,600 and escaped.

Weather Forecast.

Increasing cloudiness; not much change in temperature; light to moderate variable winds.

KEY TO ENIGMA OF WORLD WAR OFFERED BY GERMAN PROFESSOR

DR. FRANZ OPPENHEIMER

The motive of war is class larceny. asting peace will not come until overnments cease to be instrumenalities of theft.

These are the major conclusions of German professor, Franz Oppenheimer, M. D., Ph. D. of the Univerfty of Berlin, who outlined, as early is 1908, the interplay of forces which has thrown Europe into a tianic struggle.

His book, Die Staat (The State) traces the origin of government and finds that in all of its advanced forms it resulted from the conquest of an agricultural people by roving tribes of freebooters.

The freebooter at first murdered and robbed his vanquished foe, says the author, but later discovered that, by letting him live and work, he could steal not the surplus of a single year, but the surplus of every year's work.

Modern government was born when the first savage invader enslaved his victim instead of killing him.

Thus the genesis of the state is theft, he adds. Every government is a class government. The most convenient modern means for class spoliation is the ownership of land and the collection of ground rent by a favored class.

Racial differences between conquerors and conquered disappear after a few generations and the upper class learns to rule by seeming to be the protector. Fears of invasion are fostered, armies and armaments maintained and international hate engendered as a means of keeping the worker's mind from his own wrongs. Periodically wars result from this.

War does not satisfy any inborn human craving, according to Oppenheimer. It is merely an incident of legal theft. He also refutes the theory that nations are forced to expand by lack of land for the sustenance of growing populations. He demonstrates by figures that Germany has land enough for much more than her population, if speculative holding of idle lands were ended.

Oppenheimer does not predict the fall of the state, but the changing of its function from spoilation to justice. One feature of this change must be equal sharing in the benefits arising from land ownership. He mentions an American, Henry George, as among those who have laid the foundation for the future state.

LEBANON COUPLE FORTY YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus A. Conover Entertain Guests at Anniversary Affair.

The fortieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus A. Conover, which was observed at their home in Lebanon on Saturday, was an event of interest. The home was elaborately decorated, the color scheme in the parlor being pink, that of the living room pink and green, and the dining room red and white. The table centerpiece was a large wedding cake.

Guests began arriving early in the morning, and by noon there were more than one hundred present. Dinner was served at 12:30 o'clock. The afternoon was enjoyed by all renewing old acquaintances and with vocal selections by the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Conover received numerous presents, including cut glass, silver and fancy articles; also several bouquets of carnations. Mrs. Conover received from her son and family a handsome gold ring with a large ruby surrounded by diamonds.

The couple was married forty years ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eick, at Bissell, by the Rev. Robert VanAmburgh. Mrs. Conover was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eick, and was born at Brays Hill, in September, 1858. Mr. Conover was born at Hacklebarney, September 18, 1854, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Conover. The couple has a commodious home at Lebanon, where they have resided for the past ten years. They have one son, Alvah A. Conover, who resides in Lebanon and is in business with his father. The firm has conducted a general merchandise store for nine years under the name of C. A. Conover & Son.

The couple have one grandchild, Albert C. Conover, who is a student in the High Bridge High School and in well-known as an exhibitor of prize poultry. Mrs. Conover has three sisters: Mrs. Mary Apgar, of Bissell; Mrs. Emma Potter, of Middle Valley, and Mrs. Etta Apgar, of Stone Mill, and two brothers: Hezekiah Eick of Roselle Park, and Mansfield Eick, of Bissell. Mr. Conover has one brother, George E. Conover, of Chester.

Among the guests were the following: Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Steckley, Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Fingar, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wolfe and son Harold, Mrs. E. Bartles and son Elmer, Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Rittenhouse and son Andrew, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Sovereign, Mrs. Isabelle Haver and daughter Hasel, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver, A. Farley, John D. Hoffman, Mrs. Stella Anderson and son Clifford; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Cox and son Harold, Mrs. E. Parks, Mrs. F. Silvers and daughter Maud, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Alpaugh, Mrs. Frank Voorhees and son Elias, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Henkel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Apgar, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah A. Conover and son Albert, of Lebanon; George Hoffman, of Dover; John C. Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Ramsey, John R. Haver, William Space, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Eick, of Pottenstown; Mrs. Nancy Apgar, Mrs. Mansfield Eick, Mr. and Mrs. J. Emmett Hoffman, of Bissell; Miss Mabel M. Conover, of Plainfield; Mrs. Hezekiah Eick, of Roselle Park; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunt and son Oliver, of Round Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Stanton and daughter Helen, Mrs. Mary Stanton, of Phillipsburg; Mrs. Rynear Rowland, of Annandale; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Conover and son Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Honeyman and daughter Grace, of New Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. James L. Haver, of South Branch; Mr. and Mrs. William Drummond, of Newark, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Rinehart, of Middle Valley.

NEWARK AMUSEMENTS

Unanimously acclaimed as the best comedy in years, "Hobson's Choice," with Molly Pierson in the role of Maggie Hobson, will be the attraction at the Shubert Theatre, Newark, for one week, beginning Monday evening, March 6.

The charm and broad humor of this delightful comedy of Harold Brighouse makes a strong appeal to the hearts of the audience. Its depiction of the quaint character types around Manchester, in Lancashire, and the humor the author extracts from the homely, rough life of these people of the soil is such as to keep the spectator in continual laughter. The atmosphere is picturesque in the styles of 1880, and bustles of the ladies give a hint of the famous "Bunty." The story of the piece concerns a lass who wins her husband, pulls the strings and out-manoeuvres everybody until she remains lady of all she surveys. Every role in the play is splendidly acted by a well-balanced cast, and it has been staged with expert skill by B. Iden Payne. In the cast are Molly Pierson, Whitford Kane, A. J. Andrews, Viola Roach, Oliver Wilmont Davis, Harold D. Becker, Walter Fredericks, Burnett Parker, Agnes Dorntee, Robert Forsyth, Marie Hudspeth and Harry J. Ashford.

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all of the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonsrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling beter in every way.

MORE PRIZES FOR LOCAL DOG SHOW

EXPECT 250 ENTRIES

Time of Closing Extended to Friday Night—Many Entries Coming in on Every Mail—Juvenile Classes Are Exciting Interest.

More special medals for the Plainfield Kennel Club's second open match show, to be held Saturday in Co. K armory, were announced at last night's meeting of the bench show committee. Those who offered the extras were Mrs. Sol. M. Rosenthal, Charles Child Wheeler, J. Hartley Mellick, Mrs. J. Gardner Rossman, Mrs. Thomas K. Bray, Masters Phelps, Jack and Waring Mellick, and the club.

Present indications point to a total entry of about 250 dogs. Mail entries are flocking in to Secretary John J. O'Donohue, and are also being received at the temporary office at 139 East Front street. This office is open from 2:30 in the afternoon until 9 p. m.

Much interest is being shown in the juvenile classes, where a box of candy offered by Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue will be given every child entering, in addition to the much coveted medal that will go to the winner. The committee is arranging to have these classes for the little ones judged early in the afternoon, so the kiddies will not be kept up after bedtime.

Owing to the fact that the entry blanks were late in reaching this city, entries will be accepted at the regular fee of $1 up until Friday night, although the entries were supposed to close today. Post entries will be received at the gate, as explained in the premium list, at an additional charge of 25 cents.

Those who offered the club medals last night, and the classes in which the extras will be contested, follow: Mrs. S. M. Rosenthal, for the best fox terrier in the juvenile classes; Club medal, offered by Charles C. Wheeler, for best brace of pointers; J. Hartley Mellick, for the best team of cocker spaniels; the Club, for the best dog (any breed) owned by a member of Co. K.; Mrs. J. Gardner Rossman, for the best Maltese terrier (donor not to compete); Mrs. Thomas K. Bray, for the best Airedale puppy under six months of age, in any of the classes, owned by a child less than sixteen years of age; Master Phelps, Jack and Waring Mellick, for best dog, any breed, owned and exhibited by a child of less than twelve years.

Those at the meeting last night were President A. Clinton Wilmerding, Chairman J. Hartley Mellick, John A. Conway, John F. Zerega, Thomas K. Bray, J. Gardner Rossman, Charles C. Wheeler and Sol. M. Rosenthal.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS WIN LOCAL SCHOLASTIC COURT LAURELS

Miss Burtis Makes Goal That Gives Borough Team a 14-13 Victory in Rubber Game With Plainfield High School Representatives, on Y. M. C. A. Court—Game the Best Played Between the Two Teams.

North Plainfield High School won the girls' interscholastic basketball championship of the city by winning the rubber game of the series with Plainfield High School, in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The game, one of the best ever contested for the local title, was won in the final minutes of play by Miss Marjorie Burtis, who made the deciding basket. The game ended 14 to 13.

It was anybody's game through the entire two halves from the time Miss Burtis dropped in the first point of the game until she made the last. From the first blow of the whistle there was no letup in the pace and, urged on by the cheers of the crowd, the two teams put up the best game of the series.

Two fouls in quick succession gave Miss Burtis the chance to draw first blood. Irma Good put Plainfield in the running a second after with a foul and from then until the end of the half they shot point for point. Elsa Palmer, who was the only one on the P. H. S. team to shoot a field goal, made the prettiest shot of the half when she broke from her guard and made an overhand shot. She was the first to score at the beginning of the second half, her second field goal putting Plainfield into a point lead that was kept until Miss Burtis' winning shot. Although she could not locate the basket for a field goal, Miss Good kept her team in the running with her foul shooting, and when P. H. S. got a three-point lead with but a short time to play, it began to look gloomy for the girls from over North Plainfield way. Then it was that the winners' star forward got a-going.

MANY MERITORIOUS RECORDS WERE MADE BY TRAPSHOOTERS DURING THE YEAR OF 1915

Trapshooting, gaining by leaps and bounds in the affections of American sportsmen, had its greatest year in 1915. In no other year were there so many meritorious performances, or so many noteworthy features. Every championship tourney had more entrants than in other seasons, and the 839 entrants in the Grand American nearly doubled the list of contestants in any previous American championship.

The advancement of trapshooting, however, was noticed in other ways than besides in the increase of members. Woolfolk Henderson, of Lexington, Ky., established a new high-water mark for amateur shooters to try for when he amassed the remarkable average of 97.53, and two gunners had runs of over 300, the best shooting in a half-dozen years.

In compiling this remarkable average, Henderson broke 2,731 of 2,800 targets. No other amateur ever did so well, and only two professionals have bettered these figures. William H. Heer, in 1911, averaged 97.75, and William R. Crosby, in 1912, averaged 97.60. Both of these shooters, however, were only charged with shooting at 2,000 targets. The best previous record was made by J. S. Day, in 1910. He shot at 4,289 targets and averaged 97.28.

Twenty amateur shooters, hailing from all points of the United States, averaged better than 95 per cent for 2,000 or more targets, and the professionals, as might be expected, did even better, thirty-eight of them averaging over 94 per cent., and twelve of the number bettering 96 per cent. Charles A. Spencer's average of 97.50 is remarkable, as he shot at more than 5,000 targets—5,620 to be exact.

Lester German's run of 372 consecutive breaks in the Westy Hogan's tournament in Atlantic City last fall was the largest straight run of the year. The next best was 312, by D. J. Holland, the amateur champion of Missouri. He made this run in the Missouri State tournament last August.

The record for consecutive hits is 565, and was made by Charles A. Spencer, this year's high average professional champion, in Illinois in 1909. The amateur record for consecutive breaks is 417, and was made by Jay R. Graham in Chicago, Ill., in 1910.

While the runs of German and Holland are not records, one cannot deny that they are exceptionally good. When Guy Deering, of Columbus, O., averaged 90 on doubles, he set the best mark that has ever been made by an amateur during the eight years of competition.

A brief review of the year brings to mind many interesting things. Louis P. Clarke, a Chicago banker, won the Grand American Handicap, after a four-cornered shoot-off with M. E. Dewire, of Hamilton, Ind.; J. J. Randall, of Greensburg, Kan., and C. E. Hickam, of Yeoman, Ind. Clarke broke 20 straight in the shoot-off. The winner was unheard of until he won the trapshooting classic. Charles H. Newcomb, of Philadelphia, broke 99 targets out of 100 in a high wind, and won the national championship. This event brought together the champion trapshooters of every State in the Union.

William H. Cochrane, of Bristol, Tenn., won the Southern Handicap, at Memphis, with 97 breaks. The Western Handicap was taken by W. J. Raup, of Portage, Wis. He also broke 97 targets. The Pacific Coast Handicap was won by H. A. Pfinman, of Los Angeles, Cal., after two shoot-offs. Pfinman, with J. F. Couts, Jr., and Andrew Everett, of San Diego, Cal., and H. M. Williams, of the United States Navy, tied for first place with 98 breaks. On the first shoot-off Couts and Pfinman broke 20 targets consecutively, and on the second effort Pfinman broke 18 to Couts' 15.

Good as 1915 was the year 1916 will be even better. The Interstate Association of Trapshooters has been doing excellent work for years, and this season will be aided in its efforts to develop the sport by the American Amateur Tropshooters' Association recently formed.

DIRECTORS RESERVE ACTION.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 1.—E. H. Bankhead, Jr., secretary of the Western Golf Association, last night announced here that by a mail vote, directors of the association had reversed their recent action in accepting the California offer for free transportation to the annual tournament there. According to Bankhead, the offer was accepted only tentatively, and the directors' repudiation was based on the fact that acceptance would be a direct violation of amateur rules.

Tonight—Paulus Hook at Ascension.

Four teams in the Knights of Columbus League ended their schedules last night. Bayley and Olive Branch wound up in Elizabeth, the ex-champions winning all three games and finishing in second place, while Newark wound up one game behind Star of Bethlehem by winning two games last night at Jersey City.

All the prize winners have now finished their season. Paterson, the new holder of the chief cup, won forty-one out fifty-four games. Bayley won thirty-five, the Elizabethans being six games behind the Silk City troupe. Star of Bethlehem Council stands two games behind Bayley and Newark is one game behind Star Bayonne is six games behind Newark.

The league will end tonight, when the final match will be rolled on the Columbian Club alleys, at Jersey City, between the Paulus Hook and Ascension teams. The former also has a match scheduled with Plainfield, but the locals will forfeit the games, as they cannot find time to roll.

INFORMAL BOWLING AT CHURCH CLUB MEETING

The Men's Club of Grace church entertained its members and their friends at a bowling social in the Park Club last evening.

Nearly all the active club members were present, and the affair was a most successful one in every respect.

The evening was enjoyably spent in bowling and other games. During a brief intermission, suitable refreshments were served, after which a business meeting was held for the purpose of electing several new members and disposing of urgent business matters.

At the close of the business meeting, the social activities were resumed and continued throughout the balance of the evening.

The next meeting of the Club, planned by the executive committee, will be held during the latter part of March.

WESTFIELD BOWLING.

The Immediate Aid and Royal Arcanum teams, of the Westfield Bowling League, rolled their final matches last night, the champions winning all three games. The last match on the schedule will be decided this evening, between the Westfield Club and the Clinks.

The league exective committee will hold a meeting in the Playhouse, Saturday night, at which time the prizes won in the league this year will be presented.

Everett Allen was the star performer last night, posting 246 and 234 for an average of 211.1.

BIG LEAGUERS WHO DIDN'T JUMP TO FEDS VERY MUCH DISGRUNTLED

Organized Baseball's Promised Punishment of Contract Violators Not Being Kept, and Tossers Who Joined Outlaws Are Gainers Over Those Who Remained Loyal—Dissension in Many Major League Camps.

Boston, March 1.—Although peace between the warring baseball factions was officially declared with the death of the Federal League at New York last December, and the consequent reception of Weeghman and Ball into the ranks of the major league magnates seemingly dispelled the last cloud, dissension and disruption are said to await the opening of the regular playing season. Before the campaign of 1916 is fairly under way, trouble threatens to kill the aspirations of more than one candidate for the pennant in both leagues.

The Federal League is dead, but not forgotten. If anyone has any doubt that the issues are entirely alive, just let him listen to the mutterings that are emanating from every big league camp.

Strange to say, these muterings come not from those who jumped to the Feds and have lately been restored to good standing in the game, but rather from those who remained true to organized ball, and now feel they are literally made "the fall guys." Had organized baseball held true to its promise, that the bars would be kept up against the players who listened to the lure of the big coin, the white dove of peace served so lavishly at the Waldorf banquet might have come to stay.

Seldom, indeed, has a team which has been split by internal dissension ever been able to win a pennant. And from the disrupted conditions that are said to exist in no less than nine of the big league teams this spring, it can readily be seen that it will take all the diplomacy of magnates and manager to bring out the best that there is in their players.

When the Federal League threw down the gauntlet, went our after organized baseball's biggest stars and caused men like Lee Magee, Hal Chase, Seton, Hendrix and a host of others to forego their contracts and cast their fortunes with the invaders, those who remained faithful were congratulated for their loyalty and given assurances that they would be the gainers in the end.

"The outlaws can't last," these players were told. "The big day of reckoning will come, the jumpers will be cast out of baseball, and you who have stood by the colors will reap the reward." True to prediction, the Federal League had to give up the ghost, but it is the only part of the prophecy that was verified. The big money-getters, with two and three-year contracts still in their possession, are back in the fold again, playing for much larger salaries than the with the old leagues receive. It is not strange that the faithful are lamenting their loyalty, or that strained relations are whispered about.

Most of the prodigals have found the fatted calf steaming hot in the various clubs of the National League. It is tere that the fuss will come, unless some superhuman system of Mixing oil and water is devised.

The Boston Braves, admittedly strong contenders for this year's tunting, have thrown wide the doors for Konetchy, Allen and Knetzer, the former a jumper from the Pirates. Another so-called star of the Federal League brands is said to be likely to wear the Braves' uniform this year.

The Giants have purchased the modest Benny Kauff, who has no idea that he can play ball, or that the decision of pennants, the fashion in hats, the settlement of the war of the speed of the pinets depend upon him. Rausch is another Fed that McGraw has gathered in, and there is also Bill Meriden, who jumpepd from the Braves. Pat Moran, head of the National League champions, has threatened harmony in his club by signing up Chief Bender, also a Federal star, and who is reputed to have sown dissension in Connie Mack's Athletics in 1914.

The Cincinnati team has thrown wide the portals, and the Fed recruits have rushed in. Moseley, Anderson and Louden, all jumpers, have been added to the roster, and their accession only adds to the trouble that arose when Wingo was given a big increase in salary over Tom Clark. The Cubs, sending loyal and efficient players to the minors, have signed up Steve Yerkes and Doolan for the infield, one or two Fed catchers and a host of outfield recruits and Fed twirlers.

The St. Louis Browns, have discarded the veteran Jimmy Austin and replaced him with Charley Deal, a jumper. Other Feds have been injected into the line-up. Pittsburgh has signed up Wilson, who jumped from the Giants. The New York Highlanders have secured Lee Magee at a fabulous price.

These are but a few of the men who have been restored to good standing by the magnates, and it is easy to see how their return to the ranks is bound to start some lively dissensions in the clubs to which they have been assigned.

SAURER EMPLOYES BETTER BOWLERS THAN POND'S MEN

Schedule.

Tonight—Newark at Somerville.

New Brunswick Elks' Junior League team exhibited senior league class, and then some, on the local Elks' Club alleys last night, the home colts, vastly outclassed, losing all three games.

The College Town Bills, whose highest league score up to last night was 919, averaged 929 for the three games. They started with 969 and finished with 978.

The first game was the only one in which the homesters ever had a chance. For the first half of the fight the advantage swayed. Plainfield led in the first two frames, trailed in the next two, and going into the sixth was twenty-one pins to the good, 425 to 404. From that point on, the Brunswickers claimed all the honors. During the remaining frames, Carberry and Hogarty each inserted three strikes, Taylor and Harding slipped in four wallops apiece, and Hirsch got five hits. The home side, especially Hetfield, broke badly, and finished 165 pins behind, making a total of 185 pins lost in the last five innings.

The New Brunswicks were 65 pins to the good in the second frame of the sandwich engagement, and breezed in an easy winner. They showed the way from flagfall to finish in the third, Carberry Taylor and Harding again doing some pretty pinning.

PLAINFIELD KENNEL CLUB DOGS WIN AT PHILLY SHOW

More dogs benched by Plainfield Kennel Club members carried off awards in the Philadelphia show yesterday. Morris Kinneys' Old English sheepdogs met with continued success, and cleaned up, Tip Top Weather getting the winners for dogs; Champion Night Rider the reserve; Biddy o' the Brambles the winners, and Lady Lightfoot the reserve for bitches. John G. Bates' Irish terriers also scored, Blarney Kilmona getting winners for dogs; Quarrywood Barney, reserve; Champion Barney Belinda getting winners.

POCKET BILLIARD MATCH HERE TOMORROW EVENING

The rubber match of three pocket billiard meetings between E. J. F. Conway, of this city, and C. Meckam, of Paterson, will be decided at Conway's place, 120 East Front street, tomorrow night. The match, like the other two, will be 125 points. Conway won the first string two to one, but when he went to Paterson for the second match, he was defeated by nineteen balls, 125 to 106. The match tomorrow night will start at 7:30 p. m.

BASEBALL NOTES

Eddie Monroe, a backstop secured by Brooklyn from the minors, has been released to Topeka.

The Boston Braves have been insured for a total of $500,000 against accident of any nature, except such as may occur on the diamond. The policy is a blanket agreement covering every member of the team. Some of the more important members are insured against accident of any kind.

According to reports from Marlin, Christie Mathewson, of the Giants, [illegible] curves in his first workout yesterday. Matty remarked [illegible] that he believed his arm was all right again.

Jim Thorpe, the Indian athlete, is practicing to become a left-handed hitter. McGraw still believes that the Redskin will make a good baseball player.

Cleveland is reported to have paid $5,000 to the Senators for Chick Gandil.

What about Hal Chase? He is the only Fed athlete that Harry Sinclair has on hand just now. It appears as though O. B. had decided to keep Hal out of the big show for the time being at least.

The National Commission may meet in New York some time this week. No date has been set for the gathering of the supreme baseball body.

Russell Blackburne, who was sold by the Chicago White Sox to the Maple Leafs, has announced that he intends to quit baseball for a business career. Blackburne played with the Providence Grays in 1909 and Comiskey paid a big price for the player.

Report has it that Roger Bresnahan will become sole owner of the Toledo American Association Club. Roger is slated to buy the Cleveland A. A. and switch the franchise to Toledo.

Jimmie Johnston and Charlie Ebbets are still at odds over the amount of salary Johnston should receive for playing next summer with the Superbas.

McKECHNIE IN DEMAND.

Pittsburgh, March 1.—William McKechnie, manager of the Newark Federals last year, will train with the St. Louis Americans this spring as the guest of Manager Fielder Jones, it was announced here last night. McKechnie has received offers from four major league clubs, one of them being St. Louis.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

TOO MUCH DALRYMPLE.

Unless in some way certain Republican members of the Assembly can be persuaded to view the so-called "ripper" bills from another angle, their defeat is assured. This is plainly indicated by the test vote last night on the Health Department bill of the series.

The defeat of the bills, if they shall be defeated, may be laid at the door of Alfred N. Dalrymple. By his offensive assumption of party dictatorship Mr. Dalrymple has earned the unrelenting enmity of certain elements of the party and of the representatives of these elements in the Assembly. These Assemblymen can see in the bills nothing except a scheme to strengthen Mr. Dalrymple's grip as a party boss and so they will have none of them.

Newark is made to pay the penalty of the association of Mr. Dalrymple's name with measures sadly needed to correct deficiencies in the city's governmental system. It is a pity Dalrymple did not stay in Florida. Perhaps the bills might have had a chance then.

—Newark Evening News.

TO MEET IN DUNELLEN.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church will hold its regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. Hollings, 428 Washington avenue, Dunellen, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Laborer Leaves $20,000 to Nurses.

Plainview, Tex., March 1.—After having nursed during a fatal illness a laborer, apparently lacking means of support, Mrs. J. D. Earnest and her daughters have learned that their patient, J. M. Tuggle of Macon, Ga., had bequeathed to them $20,000 life insurance. Tuggle, it is said, had no near relatives.

FRENCH GIVE UP ANOTHER FORT

Vaux, Strong Point in Verdun Defence, Abandoned, Say Germans.

FERDINAND IS SHOT

Roumania is Trading With Germany and Mobilizes Her Army—Many Small Boats Are Sunk by the U Boats.

Amsterdam, March 2.—Fort Vaux, chief defence of Verdun from the northeast, has been abandoned by the French troops, according to unconfirmed reports from German sources that came to Amsterdam.

Berlin, March 2.—German war statement:

Western theatre—The positions are unchanged. The French were unsuccessful in counter attacks which they made on our troops at Fort Douaumont.

Eastern theatre—At the northern end of the line there were very lively combats with artillery at several places. There were successful enterprises carried out with German field guns against enemy detachments. Northwest of Mitau a Russian aeroplane was shot down in a fight with one of our air machines, and the occupants were made prisoners.

Balkan theatre—The situation is unchanged.

French Lines Are Holding.

Paris, March 2.—French war statement:

"In the Artois district, east of the road from Neuville to La Folie, we exploded a mine beneath an old crater which the enemy had occupied. We captured the new crater. In the region of Verdun the enemy bombarded violently during the night La Mort Homme and the Otie, as well as the principal crossings of the Meuse. There was little activity by artillery to the east of the Meuse. In the Woevre region, after a violent preparation with artillery, the enemy directed late yesterday a sharp attack on our positions at Fresnes. He was immediately driven by our counter attacks from some trench sections which he had succeeded in penetrating. In Lorraine, a bombardment of several hours directed against Ste. Marie farm to the west of Bezange was followed by an enemy attack which was completely checked. In Alsace, some attacks directed by strong German patrols on our small posts in the valley of Lauch were repulsed with grenades."

Czar Ferdinand is Shot.

Rome, March 2.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Czar Ferdinand on his journey between Vienna and Sofia, according to reports received here today. Ferdinand's alleged indisposition, it is said, is in reality due to the wound inflicted upon him by a would-be assassin.

Roumania Aids Germany.

London, March 2.—A despatch from Berlin by way of Copenhagen says that the transport of grain from Roumania to Austria and Germany has commenced.

Call Married Men to War.

London, March 2.—The first call for married men to report to the colors will soon be issued, according to a news agency. Groups 25 to 32 will be called up first, and will be notified to report by April 7.

Ultimatum to Portugal.

London, March 2.—A News Agency despatch from Amsterdam says that Berlin reports confirm Germany's intention to declare war on Portugal unless a satisfactory reply is received to the ultimatum demanding the release of German merchant ships seized in Portuguese ports.

Many Swedish Ships Sunk.

London, March 2.—A despatch from Stockholm published here estimates the Swedish losses in ships sunk by German submarines at $2,000,000, the total displacement of the vessels was 50,000 tons. In all, 128 persons lost their lives with the ships.

Submarine Sinks Five Boats.

London, March 2.—Despatches from Lowestoft announce the sinking of four fishing smacks, the Treboso, Tyron, Reliance and Harold, in the North Sea. They were sent to the bottom by a submarine. The crews were landed. Later is was reported that the Italian steamer Eliso, 429 tons, had also been sunk.

Mine Sweeper is Torpedoed.

Havre, March 2.—The French mine-sweeper Au Revoir was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the English Channel today.

Roumania Mobilizes Troops.

Saloniki, March 2.—Roumanian troops are again reported concentrating at Kalafat, opposite Widin, on the Danube, the military base and railway terminus in northwestern Bulgaria.

ZEPPELINS DROVE HIM BACK HOME

Edwin Langley Did Not Enjoy Making Munitions in England.

TELLS OF AIR RAIDS

German Dirigibles Came Down as Far as Liverpool on Night Before Plainfielder Sailed—Destruction Worse Than Censors Will Admit.

That the Zeppelin raids on England are much more frequent and much more destructive than the outside world has ever heard is the first-hand information that was brought to Plainfield yesterday by Edwin Langley, a former well-known resident, who has spent the past six months in England as a munition worker.

"I left to dodge the Zeppelins," Mr. Langley frankly admitted to a Daily Press reporter. "They seemed to be everywhere. No night's sleep was enjoyed because of the ever-present fear and frequently present danger of bombs dropped from the skies."

Mr. Langley was in many cities where Zeppelin raids were made. He says the big German dirigibles even flew over Liverpool, dropping their deadly incendiary and explosive bombs, which is a fact that has not yet been permitted to pass through the English censors. He sailed two weeks ago on the Tuscania from Liverpool, reaching New York last Wednesday, and on the night before he sailed the suburbs of Liverpool suffered heavily from air bombs dropped during a Zeppelin raid.

English people have come to look upon the Zeppelin danger much as we view a thunderstorm, Mr. Langley said. They know that death always accompanies the visits of the big German air machines, but only a small percentage of the people are ever hit, and they never know it, because bombs seldom inflict injuries, but kill outright.

Langley is a native-born Englishman, but has lived in America for for forty years, many of them having been spent in Plainfield. He left this city last June and sailed from New York on the Ordunia, the first big liner to make an eastward pas-

RAIDER MOEWE IS SUNK, SAYS REPORT

German Highwayman of the Seas Believed Caught off Brazil.

Buenos Aires, March 2.—Reports that the German auxiliary cruiser Moewe, the commerce raider which captured the Appam and sank many other British ships, had been captured off the coast of Brazil, reached Maritime agents in this city today. According to the rumors the Moewe was pursued across the Atlantic Ocean by a British cruiser and finally taken. Similar reports also reached Argentine government officials, but they stated they had no confirmation.

SWEDISH ROMANCE ENDS IN PLAINFIELD WEDDING

Jens C. A. Pind, of this city, and Miss Margaret E. Neilson, formerly of Los Angeles, Cal., were quietly married last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Turnbell, of West Fourth street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, and was witnessed only by a few relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Turnboll acted as attendants. The wedding ceremony was followed by a supper and reception.

The marriage of the young couple is the culmination of a romance commenced in Sweden several years ago. The destinies of fortune led each one to America but in parts remote from each other. They kept up a correspondence, however, and arrangements for the wedding day were made by letter.

Miss Neilson arrived in Plainfield, Monday, coming direct from Los Angeles. The couple will make their home for the present with Mr. and Mrs. Turnboll as Mr. Pind is employed in a local machine shop.

FOUR MEN NARROWLY ESCAPE BEING KILLED

Four Westfield men had a marvelous escape from fatal injury last night, when an automobile in which they were riding along North avenue, near Westfield, was completely demolished in a collision with one of the big Saurer trucks or the International Motor Company.

The pleasure car turned turtle, three of its occupants escaping injury. Howard Thompson, of Westfield, was the only one who needed medical attention. He was cut about the face and hands. The Saurer truck was driven by Martin Lockwood, of West Front street, this city.

WALTER S. MARDER HEADS ELKS' LODGE

Made Exalted Ruler of 885 at Annual Election Last Night.

Plainfield Lodge of Elks held its annual election in the Watchung avenue lodge rooms, last night, and elevated Walter S. Marder to the position of exalted ruler, the highest office within the gift of the members. Mr. Marder has been an energetic worker in the organization for the past five years and his selection as the highest official is a signal honor in appreciation of his services.

Walter S. Marder.

The other officers elected were as follows: Esteemed leading knight, Francis J. Blatz; loyal knight, Dr. Chalmers F. Crist; lecturing knight, Edward J. Harding, Jr.; secretary, William R. Townsend; treasurer, F. R. Haynes; tiler, Edward C. Searing; trustee for three years, William R. Causbrook; representative to the national convention at Baltimore, Albert A. Prudhon; alternate, William N. Runyon; representatives to the State association, John P. Wessner, Lewis A. Bellis and John H. Cose; alternates, Chauncey R. Stout, V. W. Nash, Jr., and George O. Stevens. The installation ceremonies will take place the first Wednesday in April, at which time the new exalted ruler will make the usual appointments. Albert A. Prudhon is the retiring exalted ruler.

Mr. Marder, who is a Missourian by birth, became a member of Plainfield Lodge by demit from Jersey City Lodge, at the time he removed to this city five years ago. He is secretary of the American Type Founders Association, with headquarters at Jersey City, and is well known in the New York business world as a man of unusual executive ability. He is a great believer in the principles of the order of Elks and has been the kind of member who seeks to uphold them. He has held office in Plainfield Lodge almost from the time his name was placed on its roster, working continuously for its advancement. His present residence is on Belvidere avenue.

MORE HOMES NEEDED FOR PRAYER SERVICES

A missionary meeting will be held in the Grace church parish house, Tuesday afternoon, March 7. At that time, Mrs. George Biller, widow of Bishop George Biller, of South Dakota, will address the gathering. Mrs. Biller is a speaker of unusual ability and she will speak of her work in South Dakota.

NEWCORN HEADS BOARD OF TRADE

Members Enthusiastically Decide to Continue Work of Organization.

PLAN PUBLICITY WORK

New Jersey Central Agrees to Spend a Dollar for Every One Appropriated in This City and Committee is Named.

New officers were elected and new plans outlined by members of the Plainfield Board of Trade at the meeting held last night. William N. Newcorn again heads the organization. Vice presidents elected to serve with him are H. W. Marshall, Herman Schwed, Leighton Calkins and J. A. Gaffney. E. M. Laing was elected treasurer and Lamar Van Syckel secretary.

It was unanimously decided that the Board should continue its work. For some time there has been talk of disbanding this organization but those who met last night pledged their support and were enthusiastic over work for the future.

A resolution was passed urging the Board of Education to give the lighting and heating contract for the new public school to the lowest local bidder. As this is a public work those who discussed the resolution believed that the money should be kept in Plainfield, where it could be circulated to the benefit of local people. One new member was elected.

E. F. Feickert, of the State Trust Company, reported that the New Jersey Central Railroad has expressed a willingness to assist in the advertising of Plainfield by spending a dollar for every dollar spent by local commercial organizations and this proposition was favorably received by the board. A committee composed of H. W. Marshall, A. E. Force and J. A. Gaffney was named to prepare publicity for the campaign and a studied advertising movement will be carried out within the near future.

The meeting night was changed from the first Wednesday in the month to the first Thursday, and President Newcorn announced that before the next meeting he would write each member a personal letter urging attendance.

JOHN J. BROWN TAKES OVER FIRM'S BUSINESS

Owing to ill health, Joseph Gillespie, of the local firm of Brown & Gilliespie, has been forced to retire from active business, and the interests of the company have been taken over by John J. Brown. The concern made a specialty of high-class ornamental monumental work, and during the three years it existed in Plainfield it gained an enviable reputation among its patrons.

Mr. Brown, who has had thirty years' experience in this line of work, came here from Brooklyn, and will assume entire control of the business. He has already made a number of alterations and improvements to the plant at Fourth and Richmond streets, and is prepared to handle anything pertaining to the monumental line, and has on hand a choice display of high-class stones ready for immedfate use.

DAVID TOWNSEND PASSES AWAY IN BOUND BROOK

David Townsend, father of Mrs. W. B. R. Mason, of Bound Brook, died this morning, after a brief illness. He was born in New Market on November 30, 1825, the son of Richard Townsend and Harriet Covert Boice.

Mr. Townsend married Adaline Manning, daughter of the late Andrew Manning, of Plainfield. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend went to Bound Brook to live in 1897 and the latter passed away five years ago. Mrs. Mason is the only child.

CONTRACT FOR TABERNACLE AWARDED BY COMMITTEE

There will be a special meeting of the committee having in charge the music for the Beiderwolf campaign at the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to report in detail the number of members who are willing to join the chorus choir.

The building committee having in charge the erection of the tabernacle held a meeting last evening and awarded the contract for furnishing the lumber for the Beiderwolf campaign building to J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Co. The man who has charge of the erection of the tabernacle will be in Plainfield on March 6, when definite arrangements for the construction of the building will be made.

BABY WEEK PLANS ARE NOW COMPLETE

Exhibits and Window Displays Will Feature Campaign in This City.

The last meeting of the Baby Welfare Committee was held yesterday afternoon, when plans for the celebration of Baby Week were completed. An exhibit will be held in the High School domestic science department room on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. There will be a full supply of good literature in regard to the care of the babies distributed at this exhibit which will be open to the public from 3 to 5 for these three afternoons.

There will be a meeting at Social Hall, St. Mary's church, one evening next week for the mothers and fathers of that parish. This meeting will be addressed by a physician. The date, the time and the name of the physician will be announced later.

Many of the local merchants have been kind in their offers of assistance and everyone is interested in helping the work for the babies. There will be special exhibits of goods on sale for the babies in the following stores: Red Cross, Nagle's, Peck, Shirley & Johnson, Woolworth, Kresge, The Leader, The Paris, A. E. Force, Tepper, Randolph, Rosenberg, Piker, Woodhull & Martin, Hodge's, Walsh, Miller, Rowley, Hall, Hobson, the new ten cent store on Third street, Stanberg's, and others. Look at these window displays and send in a vote for the best window before Thursday, March 9. Friday the name of the most popular window will be published in the papers.

SULLIVAN GETS 60 DAY SENTENCE

Man Who Caused Death of White Goes to Elizabeth Jail.

William A. Sullivan, who was responsible for the death of William H. White, colored proprietor of a restaurant on North avenue, yesterday morning, was this morning sentenced to sixty days in the county jail. He was taken to Elizabeth this afternoon to begin serving his sentence. Sullivan went into the restaurant of White yesterday morning without money and ate a twenty-cent breakfast, after which he ran into the street. In following him across the railroad tracks White ran into a freight train and was killed. Sullivan was arrested on a charge of vagrancy which was all that could be made against him, and this morning Judge De Meza gave him sixty days.

P. H. S. TO MEET SOUTH SIDE HIGH IN DEBATE

Plainfield High School pupils will enter a new field of scholastic endeavor tomorrow night, when the debating team of the school will meet the representative team of the South Side High School, of Newark, in the local High School Auditorium. The question for debate will be "Resoved, that there shall be national instead of State Prohibition." P. H. S. will represent the affirmative side. Men prominent in educational circles will act as the judges.

The debate is being conducted under the auspices of the league fostered by Rutgers College, which includes eight New Jersey high schools. The members of the local team will be Williiam Backer, Richard Borden and Dickerman Williams, with Miss Olive Lawrence as alternate. The debate will start at 8 o'clock, and will be preceded by a short musical program. Parents and friends have been invited.

JAMES MARSH LEONARD DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

James Marsh Leonard, son of Oliver B. and the late Elizabeth Marsh Leonard, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 521 Madison avenue, following a long illness. He was a native of Plainfield, having been born here forty-five years ago and had always resided here. By profession he was an expert accountant. Beside his father, he is survived by his wife, who was Miss Marian Thompson, a son, William, and one brother, Elston M Leonard, of this city.

The funeral will be held at the late residence on Madison avenue, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, of which the deceased was a member. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

U. S. SCHOONER LOST.

Washington, March 2.—The 400-ton schooner Horatio, of New Bedford, Mass., is believed to be lost off Cashes Ledge, Massachusetts. Coastguard headquarters here today received a wireless message from the Cutter Ossippee, from which the schooner, which was being towed, broke away in a storm. After the storm no trace could be seen of her.

WILSON HAS DECLARED FOR WAR SEN. GORE TELLS COLLEAGUES

HE INSISTS PRESIDENT WANTS TO PLUNGE THIS COUNTRY INTO EUROPEAN CONFLICT ON SIDE OF ALLIES.

STONE DENIES TRUTH OF THE STATEMENTS

Senate is Stirred to Highest Pitch of Excitement by Dramatic Charge of Blind Leader in His Fight to Preserve Peace—Wilson Said We Could Be of Great Service to Humanity, He Quotes.

Washington, March 2.—Senator Gore stirred the Senate to the highest pitch of excitement by the declaration that he had learned from reliable sources that President Wilson had told the Congressional leaders that war was inevitable and that if the United States would join forces with the Allies the war would end by the middle of next summer, resulting in a great service to civilization. This charge Senator Stone vigorously denied, saying that no such statement had been made by the President and so far as he knew that Mr. Wilson was opposed strongly to war. Senator Stone, replying to a statement by Senator Gore, that the President was desirous of war, vigorously denied that Mr. Wilson had even said that he was inclined towards war or that war would prove a benefit to the country. "What he regards as defensive armament he does not say, nor do I know," said Senator Stone.

"If Germany should attack and armed merchantman he would hold it as a lawless act," said Senator Stone. "If an American citizen was killed, he would hold Germany to account, sever diplomatic relations, and put the matter in the hands of Congress."

Force Fight in the Senate.

Washington, March 2.—Supported by Senators Lodge, Williams and others, Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, demanded that the Senate vote tomorrow on the Gore resolution warning American citizens to keep off armed merchantmen, declaring that President Wilson had a right to know exactly how Congress stood on his attitude toward Germany.

Senator Gore, who offered the warning resolution, in a heated speech replied to the supporters of the President today. He declared that the rights of American citizens are not to be toyed or trifled with by the act of any one man which might result in plunging a hundred million of American citizens in a sea of carnage and blood.

House Members Are Meeting.

A meeting of the house committee on foreign affairs will be held this afternoon, begining at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of formulating a resolution on the U.-boat warfare to be submitted to the House in accordance with President Wilson's demand.

President Remains Firm.

President Wilson again emphasized his determination to have a record vote in Congress on the resolution relating to travel on armed ships. He told Representative Flood, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, today, that he was absolutely opposed to any middle course or any mere vote of confidence.

Editors Not Summoned.

At the White House today the reports that President Wilson had summoned German-American editors for a discussion of the American foreign policy or for any other purpose were denied.

COLLINS TO SUPPORT H. OTTO WITTPENN

Believes Hudson County Man Strongest Candidate for Gubernatorial Honors.

Elizabeth, March 2.—General Dennis F Collins, member of the Democratic State Committee from Union county, today came out as a strong advocate for the nomination of Naval Officer H. Otto Wittpenn, of Jersey City, for governor on the Democratic ticket. General Collins, in a letter sent to John J. McGovern, chairman of the Hudson County Democratic Committee, says he considers Mr. Wittpenn the strongest candidate the Democratic party can put in the field.

His letter follows: "I am strongly of the opinion that Mr. Wittpenn is by far the strongest candidate that the party can nominate at this particular time. His public record is such as will appeal strongly to the masses of the people. He has always contended for and unfalteringly supported those progressive measures which the people of New Jersey are now enjoying through legislative enactments of recent years.

"He has been an ardent admirer and loyal supporter of President Wilson and recognized throughout the State as his faithful and powerful lieutenant. His personal qualifications and official record bespeak his fitness and worth. His candidacy will be a popular one and command success, and I am satisfied that he will prove to be as popular a candidate for governor that he has been for mayor of Jersey City and achieve a decided victory in the November election."

350 CANVASSERS WILL TAKE RELIGIOUS CENSUS

Over 350 canvassers are prepared to begin their work of making a religious canvass of the city and borough Sunday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. This canvass is taken in connection with the Biederwolf campaign and will only include the city and borough. Canvassers will go in pairs and visit every home in each of the seventeen districts.

It has been some years since a complete religious survey has been made of the city and it is earnestly hoped that all householders will remain at home on Sunday afternoon until after the canvassers have completed their work. The information when completed will be collected by the committee and tabulated. Eventually the cards will come to the ministers of the churches in the immediate vicinity of the householder. The ministers of all churches, irrespective of creed, nationality or color, will thus be supplied with a complete and accurate canvass of the city and borough.

MRS. SARAH POPE.

Mrs. Sarah Pope, aged fifty-five years, died yesterday morning at her home in Warrenville. The funeral will be held at the late residence tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock and in the Mt. Bethel church at 2:30. Interment will be at Millington.

JOINS AMERICAN FORCES.

A. R. Parkhurst, of Grant avenue, formerly city editor of the Courier-News, and for some time on the staff og the Evening Telegram, has just taken a position on the staff of the New York American.

109 PATIENTS AT BONNIE BURN ON FEBRUARY 28

On February 1 there were present at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium 107 patients—73 men and 34 women. During the month 19 patients have been admitted—12 men and 7 women. These are classified as follows:

| | Men. | Women. | T.l |
|---|---|---|---|
| Incipient ..... | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Mod. advanced .. | 1 | 2 | 3 |
| Far advanced ... | 11 | 5 | 61 |
| Total ..... | 12 | 7 | 19 |

The largest number present at any time during the month has been 115; smallest number, 108; number present February 28, 109—75 men and 34 women; daily average, 111.2.

DR. TEUSLER TO SPEAK.

Dr. Rudolph B. Teusler, founder of St. Luke's Hospital, Tokio, Japan, will speak before the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies at Grace P. E. church this evening at 8 o'clock. Efforts are being made to extend the work of St. Luke's Hospital through re-building and committees arae being formed in this country to co-operate in this work.

TO ASSESS ENTIRE BOROUGH.

Mayor William L. Smalley, of the borough, wishes it known that in the proposed widening of Somerset street, it is intended to assess the cost of the improvement on the entire borough and not the property-owners on Somerset as some people supposed.

RECEPTION TO SCOUTMASTER.

Boy Scout Troop, No. 12, of Hope chapel, has arranged to give a reception and banquet in honor of the scoutmaster, William F. Richards, at the chapel Tuesday night, March 7. The members of the troop are arranging a suitable program and are counting upon having a very enjoyable evening.

HOME ROBBED BY STRANGER HE HELPED

Edward Potter Says He Has Been a "Good Samaritan" For Last Time.

Edward Potter, of Madison avenue, says that he will play the "good Samaritan" no more. A man cold, wet and hungry applied at his home recently for a night's lodging. He said that he didn't have a cent in his pocket, but that he had been promised a job on Monday at Levgar's and he showed Mr. Potter a time card which Superintendent Coyle, of Levgar's, had given him. "Come in my good fellow," was the invitation that Mr. Potter extended to him. In addition the latter felt impelled to offer him a home. He was moved to do this because the fellow said that he had come all the way from Arizona and was a total stranger in these parts.

Mr. Potter's offer was accepted, the understanding being that the man was to stand half of the expenses.

All went along well until Wednesday morning, when the fellow approached Mr. Potter in the shop and asked for the house key, saying that he was tired of working and had given up his job.

When Mr. Potter got home at night he found that the man whom he had so generously befriended had gone and taken with him shoes, stockings, jewelry and a razor over a hundred years old, which Mr. Potter greatly prized because it came down to him through his grandfather and father.

"The worse aspect of this man's act," Mr. Potter said, "is that some deserving fellow may apply to my door for aid some day only to be turned down because of that rascal."

CAUSE OF FIRE AT DEWEY PARK STILL A MYSTERY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy are still at loss to account for the origin of the fire which destroyed their home at Dewey Park, Sunday night. The fire was discovered when the Murphys were about to retire for the night, when Mr. Murphy started towards the cellar for some coal. Before he reached the door, Mrs. Murphy exclaimed to her husband that she heard a crackling. As the husband opened the door flames shot across his face. Mrs. Murphy screamed and she ran towards the front of the house. She was obliged to turn back, however, as she was confronted by fire. The couple managed to get four chairs and a table out but that was all as the fire was spreading rapidly.

The furniture and effects were covered by $800 insurance it was learned yesterday. Some malicious party stole the few articles saved. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are at present making their home with Mrs. Murphy's sister, Mrs. Charles Moore.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

WILSON FIRM FOR ARMED SHIP VOTE

Congress Appears Divided on Issue.

HOUSE IS SEEKING DELAY

Offer of Compromise Is Rejected. Leaders Hold Many Conferences, but Are Unable to Agree—President's Friends Claim That Opposition Is Political—Senate Awaits Developments.

NO COMPROMISE ON ARMED SHIP ISSUE.

President Wilson served notice on congress that he would consent to nothing less than a record vote on the resolutions to warn Americans off armed ships of European belligerents before he went on with the German submarine negotiations.

No compromise proposition, such as a vote of confidence in the president's foreign policy, will be acceptable. Such action, it is held, might be construed in Berlin as justifying the opinion that the president lacked the support of congress and his own party in his demands for a full observance of international law, while its only purpose would be to afford members of congress a way to avoid recording their positions before the country on the straight, out and out question.

President Wilson made his position clear to congressional leaders in unequivocal terms as the climax to a day of confusion, uncertainty and political maneuvering that marked the opening of his first real fight with congress.

As if to emphasize that the president absolutely refuses to continue the negotiations with Germany until the attitude of congress is settled, it was made known that the United States did not regard the latest assurances from Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, as broad or as satisfactory as those originally given. No further step will be taken, however, while the president waits on congress. Meanwhile the pending Lusitania agreement will not be finally accepted.

The president's friends openly charge that resistance to his program is purely political. They make it unmistakably clear that he does not intend to let the question be passed over by a compromise and risk being embarrassed later in his negotiations with Germany by having the agitation come up again to weaken his hand. They say he intends to have the question removed once and for all from the field of possibilities.

Washington, March 2.—Although the president insisted on a record vote on the submarine issue, congress leaders are in a turmoil and unable to agree.

The ending of a day of many conferences found the president determined to force the issue presented by his letter to the rules committee of the house and standing firm against any compromise. A decisive vote on the resolution warning Americans off armed passenger ships was insisted upon by the president.

Representative Pou of North Carolina, acting chairman of the rules committee, made an announcement that indicates that the administration may resort to heroic methods to force action in the house.

"Unless the foreign affairs committee reports a resolution in conformity with the course suggested by the president the rules committee will take the matter into its own hands," said Acting Chairman Pou.

Belligerents Inflamed.

The statement by Mr. Pou had the effect of inflaming sentiment among the Democratic revolters. They said that action as suggested by Mr. Pou would be a revolutionary proceeding that would tend further to complicate the situation. They recalled that only once in recent years had the rules committee, which fashions gag and jam rules, stepped into the jurisdiction of another house committee.

This was in the case of the committee on banking and currency, which under the guidance of former Representative Fowler of New Jersey had refused to act on the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill. Mr. Pou did not say how long the rules committee would await the pleasure of the foreign affairs committee. He gave the impression that this would depend upon the administration. Doubt is expressed that a majority of the rules committee is in sympathy with Acting Chairman Pou.

The uncertainty as to what the rules committee may do in the event that the administration calls upon it to act illustrates impressively the gnarl in which President Wilson and his party are involved.

The consternation of congress was greater than when the president unexpectedly sent his letter to Acting Chairman Pou. Many attempts were made by the leaders to get together and decide upon some definite program, but all these efforts had failed, and the house leaders decided to send Chairman Flood to the White House to see if a more definite understanding with the president could be reached.

At a meeting of the house committee on foreign affairs an attempt was made to yield to the president's suggestion and report out the McLemore resolution warning Americans off armed ships. This attempt was howled down in the committee, and the incident disclosed the fact that only four of the sixteen members who were present seemed disposed to stand by the president's wishes.

House Is Confident.

At the same time on the floor of the house and in the lobbies confident assertions—the kind that were heard a week or more ago—were being made by Democratic leaders that if the armed merchantman resolution were immediately put to a vote, as the president had requested, they would be passed by the house.

There was no doubt that many members of congress were angry over the turn affairs have taken and were talking or showing their resentment by voting against the president.

Administration leaders were not so cocksure as they were, but they still insisted that the president would easily carry the day both in the house and the senate. Many are inclined to believe the president's cause will grow in strength after the first flurry over his extraordinary demands has subsided.

One careful estimate prepared by administration leaders in congress showed there would be a margin of at least sixteen votes against the resolution in the house.

The president's advisers realize, however, that this figure is altogether too close, and the congress leaders contend a victory for the president by such a narrow margin would be more disastrous to this government's foreign policy than a continuance of the present uncertain situation.

It has been a long time since there has been a day as tense as this in the halls of congress. The president's determination to force a vote on the McLemore and Gore resolutions revived all the fear that manifested itself a week of more ago among congressmen in regard to the possibility of a break with Germany.

Senate Also Waits.

On the senate side they also had adopted a policy of "watchful waiting." This course will be followed in the matter of the warning to Americans. It was understood that no action would be taken on the Gore resolution until the house acts on one or more of the plans proposed for meeting the new situation created by the president's letter to Representative Pou.

Senator Stone suggested that the best way of disposing of the resolution would be to move to table it, which motion he said he believed would be adopted, but the senator added that he did not believe that would be "expedient." There is a rule of courtesy in the senate that each resolution or bill shall have a fair test on its merits, and a motion to table is so summary that many senators resist such form of procedure.

There has been no change in the situation in the senate, and there is no apparent likelihood that the Gore resolution can pass. It probably will be referred to the foreign relations committee or voted down. The president has intimated that he would prefer a vote on the merits in both houses rather than an indirect method of disposition.

Senator Stone was in frequent conference with house leaders. He takes a serious view of the situation. He will not talk for publication, but it is known that he regards the president's attitude as fraught with the gravest consequences to the relations of the United States with Germany.

Close to Real Trouble.

Mr. Stone said to more than one of his friends and colleagues that he believes that we are closer to real trouble with Germany than ever before. He believes the president's policy leads in the direction of a severance of diplomatic relations, and the consequences will be armed hostility. The president conferred with Senators Stone and Kern. At the conference house leaders were also present. The senators declined to discuss what happened. On retiring after the conference they declared the resolutions would be "disposed of."

THREE IN FAMILY ARE SENTENCED

Son and Father Imprisoned; Wife Fined.

WOMAN WEEPS IN COURT

Trio Convicted In United States Court at Trenton For Concealing Their Assets In Newark Bankruptcy Case. Value of Merchandise "Covered Up" $1,500—Took Goods From Store.

Newark, March 2.—On their conviction for conspiracy to conceal assets from a trustee in bankruptcy Judge Haight in the United States district court sentenced Abram Wurtzel, a tailor, to one year and one day in the state prison, fined Mrs. Lena Wurtzel, his wife, $100 and sentenced Louis Wurtzel, their son, to three months in the penitentiary. The Wurtzels formerly conducted a dry goods store and tailor shop. Following the bankruptcy of their business in December, 1914, they moved to Brooklyn.

The Wurtzels were convicted by a jury at Trenton. Their arrest was the outcome of a business venture to which the son, who is twenty-two years old and a plumber, lent his name. The store, which was operated by Mrs. Wurtzel, had been opened only five months when the petition in bankruptcy was filed.

Charges were made that the three members of the family had united in a conspiracy to secrete some of the assets prior to the bankruptcy. Witnesses testified that goods had been carried from the store and other assets removed by van.

Mrs. Wurtzel burst into tears as sentence was pronounced. She was unable to regain her composure for some time. Her husband was placed in the steel cage in the federal building, while Deputy United States Marshal C. V. Gormley escorted young Wurtzel to the penitentiary.

Mrs. Wurtzel got in touch with friends, who paid her fine, and she remained with her husband until the return of the marshal.

The value of the goods alleged to have been concealed by the Wurtzels was about $1,500.

BOYS AND GIRLS ARE INTERESTED IN PLAN

Marjorie Sterrett's Boat Building Idea for Uncle Sam Receives Support.

Announcement made in yesterday's issue of the Plainfield Daily Press that contributions to Marjorie Sterrett's battleship fund would be received at this office and that letters from contributors would be published has created considerable interest among the school children of the city and the response promises to be ready and prompt. The Plainfield Daily Press is Marjorie Sterrett's authorized agent in this section and the paper intends to do all possible to aid in swelling the fund with which it is hoped to build a new destroyer for the United States navy. Uncle Sam's little niece set the ball rolling in a letter to the Plainfield Daily Press some time ago outlining her plan to collect dimes from American school children for the purpose of constructing the "U. S. S. America."

Plainfield school children, and those from all surrounding suburbs, have been invited to aid the cause with their dime donations and all names and addresses will be published in the Plainfield Daily Press. An added feature will be the publication of essays on preparedness and opinions written on Marjorie Sterrett's idea of local school pupils.

Two have already boosted the fund here and it is hoped that more than a thousand ten-cent pieces will be sent in from Plainfield. Every Plainfield boy or girl attending school has an interest in ships and many of them in their juvenile way are advocates of the preparedness policy. What boy or girl would pass up a chance to be a stockholder in one of Uncle Sam's big dreadnoughts? Who would not be proud to say: "A part of that big ship belongs to me!" Every boy or girl contributing a mite toward the battleship fund will be considered a part owner in the vessel.

Send in your dime to the Plainfield Daily Press, together with your original version of Marjorie Sterrett's plan and your name and story will be published in the first list, which will appear in the course of the next few days.

DANCE WILL FOLLOW CONCERT BY GLEE CLUB

Rutgers' College Glee and Mandolin Clubs will give a concert at the Park Club, Saturday night at 8 o'clock. There will be dancing after the concert, music to be furnished by the club. An enjoyable evening is assured as the boys have many friends in Plainfield, some of whom have already heard them this season and pronounce the concert an excellent one. Those who care to dance will enjoy a double treat. Tickets for the concert, including the dance, may be procured at the Park Club, or upon application to Mrs. J. A. Van Mater, 21 Myrtle avenue.

M. E. CHURCH UNION FORMED

Extension Society is Organized to Include Plainfield and Vicinity.

WILL ENLARGE SCOPE

Evangelism to Be Keynote of New Body—Rev. F. J. Hubach, District Superintendent, Head of Movement.

A plan which has been under consideration for some time has been put into effect by the Elizabeth Methodist Episcopal Union, when the organization decided to extend its work. Several years ago, as the Methodist Social Union, the society served as a means for social fellowship among the members of the four Elizabeth churches of the denomination. Later it developed into an organization more definite in purpose, and became the Elizabeth Methodist Episcopal Union. It has now been decided to change the name and greatly enlarge the scope of the society. Hereafter it will be known as the Elizabeth-Plainfield City Evangelization and Church Extension Society.

The suggestion for the broadening of the work was made by the Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, of this city, who is the district superintendent of the Elizabeth District of the Newark M. E. Conference, and he was at a meeting in Elizabeth Tuesday night, taking with him quite a delegation from Plainfield.

Mr. Hubach explained that Elizabeth and the nearby cities and towns are practically contiguous, and said that as it is the desire of the union to do real evangelistic work, this could be done much better by means of a centralized society having the support of all the churches within the Elizabeth district, except those on Staten Island.

The plan met with the unanimous approval of the ministers and laymen. They adopted it unanimously and made provision for changing the by-laws.

Mr. Hubach then laid several propositions before the members.

The representatives of the churches displayed their loyalty to the district superintendent, and their readiness to give him aid, by adopting all their propositions advanced without a dissenting vote or voice. In response to his request, the meeting voted to take over the property interests of the North Linden chapel, and to carry the property at its own expense, that the Linden church people may devote all their time to evangelism. The society will maintain the property until such time as the Linden church is able to take care of it.

Favorable action was taken with respect to Wesley Chapel, Roselle, following an appeal made by the Rev. A. S. Dezendorf, in charge of the chapel. The minister explained that the church people are doing a good work in that section of Roselle, building up a congregation, and filling the Sunday-school, but they need aid for the purchase of lots upon which to build a church. The society voted unanimously to appropriate $300 for the purchase of part of the property, the balance of the money to be secured on mortgage.

It was voted, by request of Mr. Hubach, to appropriate $100 to defray the expense of a census of the Methodists in Highland Park, a suburb of New Brunswick. He explained that there is no Methodist church in this section, although the town has grown a mile from the river, and many Methodists live there who will not go to New Brunswick to church because of the distance.

Plans will be set on foot and worked out by a committee to make the work of the society known to all the churches in the district for the purpose of securing necessary financial backing.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR PYTHIAN LODGE BANQUET

At the regular meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, tomorrow night, further arrangements will be made for the banner Pythian night on Friday night, March 24. This date marks the annual banquet of the organization and from present indications it will be far more successful than any of its predecessors. It is to take place at the Kandy Shope on East Front street and the number of diners will be limited to 150. Applications for tickets have already been received for more than half this number.

Besides grand lodge officers of the order from various parts of the State, prominent city and borough officials will be among the invited guests. At the banquet last year the speeches were a big feature. A fine orchestra will furnish a suitable musical program and altogether it is believed the coming affair will be one of the greatest Plainfield Knights of Pythias have ever conducted. Perseverance Lodge will be joined by Unity Lodge, also of this city, in attaining the desired result. Tickets for the banquet may be had at Schreiner's drug store or any member of the committee.

RECREATION ACTIVITIES.

There will be a re-organization of the Community Centre at the Harrison Avenue School, the borough, tomorrow night, under the direction of Henry C. White, head of the Plainfield Recreation Commission. It is earnestly hoped that there will be a large attendance as the new organization will try to serve all the people of that particular section.

DIAZ IN MEXICO TO START NEW REVOLT

Arrival at Tuxpam Reported In Washington.

Washington, March 2.—Felix Diaz, nephew of the late General Porfirio Diaz, former dictator of Mexico, landed at Tuxpam, Mexico, with a small following for the purpose of starting a new revolution against the Carranza government, according to advices that reached the state department.

For months the movements of the younger Diaz have been keeping agents of the department of justice on the move. For a time after he came to the United States from his place of exile at Havana General Diaz was busy conferring with sympathizers at San Antonio, El Paso and other places along the border.

The department of justice was informed that he was organizing a revolutionary movement to embrace the old Cientifico or reactionary group, and agents of the department were given strict orders to arrest him the moment he committed an overt act.

Recently he disappeared from the border, and word came to the state department that he had landed at Tuxpam, which is one of the principal oil ports on the east coast of Mexico north of Tampico. Villista bands were recently active in this vicinity.

SHOOTS WIFE; KILLS SELF.

Newark, N. J., March 2.—Ferdinand Hopp, who was separated from his wife, went to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Pratt, and shot her in the breast.

When she fell he fired a bullet into his own head and was dead when he reached the city hospital. Mrs. Hopp is in a critical condition. The shooting took place in the presence of Mrs. Pratt and the two Hopp children.

MONTREAL STATION BURNED.

Fire Department Officials Believe Plotters Responsible.

Montreal, March 2.—The Bonaventure station of the Grand Trunk railroad was destroyed by fire, with a loss of $300,000. The police say they have evidence that crossed electric wires caused the blaze, but fire department officials say they have reason to believe that the fire was the result of a plot.

OFFICIAL CELEBRATION OF FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Plans for the official celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Young Women's Christian Association in this country are completed and tomorrow night, simulataneously with every branch of the association throughout the country, the local association will hold a service of rejoicing. The dinner and pageant that took place in February were preliminary to this actual celebration. The service here will be held in the First Baptist church and Rev. Dr. Philip Strong, the pastor, will take part.

A chorus of over one hundred voices will sing at the service while Miss Leontine de Ahna will sing solos. An address will be made by Miss Harriet Taylor, a national secretary, after which a collection will be taken, which will go to the Grace H. Dodge Memorial Endowment Fund, of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., of which Miss Dodge was president from its beginning.

FORM NEW STOCK FIRM.

Henry L. Finch, of Plainfield, and Wilbur S. Tarbell, of New York city, having retired from the firm of Messrs. J. S. Farlee & Co., announced yesterday that they have formed a firm under the name of Finch & Tarbell, for the purpose of transacting a general commission business in bonds, stocks and other investment securities, with offices at 120 Broadway, New York.

ZEPPELINS DROVE HIM HOME

sage after the sinking of the Lusitania. It was on this trip that warnings were given that the big Cunarder was to be waylaid by German submarines, and she zig-zagged over a new course to Glasgow. After reaching England, Langley entered the big shipbuilding plant at Barrow-in-Furness on a six months' contract as foreman of machinists. Long before his time was up the would have much preferred to have been back in America at smaller wages, but because of the insurmountable restrictions imposed by the English Government on all able-bodied munition workers, he was unable to leave the country. At the expiration of his contract he took the opportunity of visiting London, Hartlepool, Whitby, Birmingham, Manchester and many other cities, noting the great destructio wrought by German raiders, either from battleship or Zeppelin.

Th spirit of the English people is marvelous, said the Plainfielder. They can think of but on end to the war—victory. Every man, woman or child in England is determined to see the struggle carried to a successful end, no matter what the cost, and any attempt to make peace would result in a rebellion. All talk of royalty shirking its part in the war is false, continued Mr. Langley. He saw prince and pauper working side by side in munition factories, and princess and peasant are doing the same for the government.

The reported prohibition is but a farce, he said. Formerly bars and public houses were open at all hours, but under government supervision they are now open from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 6 to 9 p. m. Where a keeper of a public house formerly took care of his trade with one bartender, he now employs eight or more, according to Langley, and the same amount of intoxicants are sold. The only difference is that those who drink must get all they want in a limited time.

Mr. Langley is well known throughout Plainfield, especially in the West end, where he has always made his home when here. He was employed for many years at the Potter Printing Press Works, and for short periods at the Pond and Scott shops. At intervals he has made trips to different parts of the country, as far as the Pacific Coast, and also to Europe. He has a record of forty trans-Atlantic voyages. In his conversation with the Daily Press reporter yesterday he declared he would never cross the "big pond" again, as he had made up his mind to end his days in Los Angeles, Cal., "The Garden Spot of the World," as he termed it. He is now sixty-nine years old. Mr. Langley left last night for Bridgeport, Conn., to visit friends for six weeks. At the expiration of that time he will return to Plainfield to bid his local friends farewell, previous to leaving for his chosen haven on the Pacific Coast.

BURGLARY CASE GOES OVER UNTIL SATURDAY

Edward Parsons, the young man arrested by Lieut. Morris Higgins on a charge of having attempted to blow the safe of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's office in the Woodhull, Martin building, was arraigned in court this morning, but his case was continued until Saturday. Parsons has confessed his part in the crime but the man who accompanied him has not been arrested. It is hoped that both will be tried Saturday.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

ADDRESSES ON SOCIAL WORK FOLLOWS SUPPER

The supper given under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of Grace P. E. church, last night, in the parish house was one of the most successful ever conducted by the guild. Covers were laid for one hundred and forty members of the congregation. Mrs. L. G. Timpson was chairman of the supper committee and she was assisted by the following women who presided at the various tables: Mrs. F. W. Iredell, Mrs. George S. Clay, Mrs. S. K. Munro, Miss Rowland, Mrs. George L. Babcock, Mrs. Howard Craig, Mrs. Laurence Van Buren, the Misses Edwards and Mrs. J. A. Peterkin.

During the evening addresses were made by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Simons, both of Elizabeth, who spoke on the social service work of the church. Mrs. Iredell, president of the guild, also made an address and told of the work of the society. In the absence of Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, pastor of the church, Rev. H. M. Baily was the presiding minister.

W. M. Alling, of this city, was put out of the spring golf tournament at Pinehurst yesterday. Playing in the third sixteen, he was defeated by C. B. Hudson, North Folk, 3 up and 2 to play.

LINCOLN HALL IS NEARLY COMPLETE

Memorial In Washington to Be Ready by Next Birthday.

COMPRISES FOUR FEATURES

Statue of the Man, Memorials of Gettysburg Speech and of Second Inaugural Address and a Symbol of the Union of the United States Stand Out Prominently.

Work on the construction of the Lincoln memorial in Potomac park, a remarkable structure that is to serve as a monument to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, in accordance with an act of congress approved Feb. 9, 1911, is progressing rapidly. Residents and visitors to Washington are beginning to realize what a great addition the structure will be to the beauty spots of the capital city.

On the great axis, planned over a century ago, at one end is the capitol, the monument of the government, and to the west, over a mile distant from the capitol, is the monument to Washington, one of the founders of the government. The Lincoln memorial, on the same axis, still farther to the west, completes an unparalleled composition.

Four Features of Memorial.

The Lincoln memorial comprises four features—a statue of the man, a memorial of his Gettysburg speech, a memorial of his second inaugural address and a symbol of the Union of the United States, which he stated it was his paramount object to save—and which he did save. Each feature will impress the beholder with its greatest force by means of its isolation, though this isolation is not planned to the extent of impairing the relation of each feature to the others.

The statue of Lincoln is the most important object, and it will be placed in the center of the memorial. This portion where the statue is placed is unoccupied by any other object that would detract from its effectiveness.

The smaller halls at each side of the central space each contain a memorial. The inaugural and Gettysburg speeches will be shown by bronze letters arranged on a monument tablet and adjacent low reliefs will relate in allegory Lincoln's great qualities evident in these speeches. These memorials, although they can be seen from any part of the hall, are partially screened from the central portion where the statue is placed by means of a row of Ionic columns.

Colonnade Symbol of Union.

Surrounding the walls inclosing the memorials is a colonnade, forming a symbol of the Union, each column representing a state—thirty-six in all—for each state existing at the time of Lincoln's death, and on the wall appearing above the colonnade and supported at intervals by eagles are forty-eight memorial festoons, one for each state existing at the present time.

Foundation on Bedrock.

By means of terraces the ground at the site of the memorial is raised until the floor of the memorial itself will be 45 feet higher than the present grade First a circular terrace, 1,000 feet in diameter, is raised 11 feet above the present grade, and on its outer edge will be planted four concentric rows of trees, leaving a plateau in the center, 755 feet in diameter, which is greater than the length of the capitol. In the center of this plateau, surrounded by a wide roadway and walks, rises an eminence supporting a rectangular stone terrace wall, 14 feet high, 256 feet long and 186 feet wide. On this rectangular terrace rises the marble memorial.

All the foundations of the steps, terraces and memorial are built on concrete piling, which extends down to the solid rock. Three steps form a platform under the columns. This platform at its base is 204 feet long and 134 feet wide. The colonnade is 188 feet long and 118 feet wide, the columns being 44 feet high and 7 feet 3 inches in diameter at their base. The total height of the structure above the finished grade at the base of the terrace is 99 feet. The finish grade at the base of the terrace being 23 feet above the present grade, the total height of the building above the present grade is 122 feet. The outside of the Memorial hall is 84 feet wide and 150 feet long. The colonnade entrance, which is 45 feet wide and 44 feet high, is equipped with sliding bronze grilles, filled with plate glass.

The central hall, where the statue stands, is 60 feet wide, 70 feet long and 60 feet high. The halls where the memorial of the speeches are placed are 37 feet wide, 57 feet long and 60 feet high. The interior columns are of the Ionic order and are 50 feet high.

The cost of erecting the memorial is $1,775,000. This estimate does not include the steps at the head of the lagoon, the statue of Lincoln, the memorials of his two speeches or the architect's commission.

Saved All His Pennies.

Walter Bartlett, a rural mail carrier of Jerseyville, Ill., appeared on the street with a wheelbarrow holding a large bucket nearly filled with pennies. Bartlett for a year has saved all the pennies he collected for postage on his route. They number 12,400 and weigh sixty-two pounds.

Want Ads Become Necessary

You lose a job, or you lose an employe—you lose a tenant—you're in a hurry to sell property—you MUST have a backer—whatever the "incident," whatever the upset, whatever the stress, want advertising adjusts things once more in your "personal world."

How many households have a family hour—a definite time in the week when all the members of the family gather in perfect serenity for an interval of genuine communion? Although civilization brings many advantages in its train, it has the great fault of tending to disrupt family intercourse. Each member has too many individual activities. Fathers have their business; sons, their business or education; mothers, their domestic duties or social occupations; daughters, their business, their education or their social life.

All these things are right and worthy in themselves, but they do not tend to weld the family. If members of a family will make it a rule to devote themselves for one hour in the week wholly to one another the spirit of family life will be quickened and strengthened. Often the members of a family pursue parallel courses that do not intersect. It is mere platitude to point out that great events—travel, marriage, death and the like—must inevitably cause disintegration. But so long as the family is together under one roof the spirit of union and common interests should be fostered.—Youth's Companion.

A Bird's Barbed Wire Fences.

There is in Central America a brown wren about the size of a canary which builds a curious nest. It selects a small tree with horizontal branches growing close together. Across two of the branches it lays sticks fastened together with tough fiber until a platform about six feet long by two feet wide has been constructed. On the end of this platform nearest the tree trunk it then builds a huge dome shaped nest a foot or so high with thick sides of interwoven thorns. A covered passageway is then made from the nest to the end of the platform in as crooked a manner as possible. Across the outer end as well as at short intervals along the inside of this tunnel are placed cunning little fences of thorns with just space enough for the owners to pass through. On going out this opening is closed by the owner by placing thorns across the gateway, and thus the safety of the eggs or young is assured.

How Chalk Is Formed.

Deposits of chalk are found on some shores of the sea. A piece of chalk, such as the teacher uses to illustrate something on the blackboard at school consists of the remains of thousands of tiny creatures that at one time lived in the sea. All of their bodies, excepting the chalk—called carbonate of lime in scientific language—has disappeared and the chalk that was left was piled up where it fell at the bottom of the ocean, each particle pressing over it all until it became almost solid. It took thousands of years to make these chalk deposits of the thickness in which they are found. Later on, through changes in the earth's surface, the mountain of chalk was raised until it stood out of the water and thus became accessible to man and schoolteachers.

Not Afraid of Cold Steel.

In her younger days Eugenie, when empress of the French nation, was noted for her great courage, as the following incident proves.

At a brilliant dinner party a somewhat tactless general told her majesty that women should not meddle in politics.

"You know, madame," he said, "that politics lead to war, and if the worse came to the worst you would not have the nerve to face cold steel."

"Wouldn't I?" cried the empress. "I'll show you!" And, snatching a large knife from the table, she inflicted a deep stab on her arm.

After that the general never broached the subject of woman's lack of nerves again.

Sharpening a Pocketknife.

Cutlers have certain rules for sharpening razors, pocketknives, etc. "A razor," said one of the craft quoted by the Scientific American, "must be laid flat on the hone, because it is hollow ground and requires a fine edge. But a pocketknife requires a stiff edge, and the moment you lay it flat on a stone, so as to touch the polished side, you injure the edge. It must be held at an angle of twenty to twenty-five degrees and have an edge similar to a chisel."

Ups and Downs.

Lady (who was on a visit to her native town)—How is Mrs. Gabbie? I haven't seen her for a long time? Hostess—She is having her usual ups and downs. Lady Visitor—And what may that be, I pray? Hostess—Oh, running up bills and running down her neighbors.—Buffalo News.

A Rise.

"The automatic force of inanimate objects is sometimes a wonderful thing," said the professor.

His Wisdom.

Judge—How long have you owned a car? Motorist (charged with speeding)—One week, your honor. Judge—Um; then you can still afford to pay a fine. Twenty dollars!—Puck.

CROWN PRINCE LEAVES ARMY

Verdun Results Cause Friction, Geneva Reports.

GERMAN LOSSES UNKNOWN

Germans Halt In Their Great Smash Against French Stronghold—Petrograd Hears Teutons Are Preparing For Offensive Move Against Russia. Austrians Are Planning a New Campaign.

Geneva, March 2.—According to dispatches received from Mainz, headquarters of the German general staff, discord is rampant over the failure to capture Verdun fortress. It is impossible to conceive the real German losses.

The crown prince was summoned to general headquarters. He will not return to the fighting front for some time. In the meanwhile the Duke of Wurttemberg will take over the command of the crown prince's army.

Berlin, March 2.—The official statement issued by the German war office made no mention of the fighting at Verdun, where the crown prince's army has won marked successes to the north and east of the fortress.

Heavy Artillery Duels.

Heavy artillery actions are announced, with the French and British guns particularly active. This activity of the allies at various points was for the purpose of "assuaging their disappointment," the official statement said. On the Yser, in Champagne and between the Meuse and the Moselle, the allies tried to do damage with their artillery fire, but failed.

The allied aeroplanes were brought down, and a German aeroplane halted an allied transport with its bombs and then successfully fought the transport's guard with machine guns.

"Activity of the artillery was very great on various parts of the front and particularly on the enemy's side. At various points the enemy fired for the purpose of assuaging his disappointment. On the other hand, in the Yser region, in the Champagne and between the Meuse and the Moselle he seemed to be endeavoring to do damage, but did not achieve his object."

Germans Massing In Russia.

Rome, March 2.—The Austrians are preparing for an offensive on the Italian front, to which they are rushing re-enforcements on the pretext that these are to replace the troops weakened by winter hardships and disease. It is well known, however, that the million Austrians now on the Italian front are most efficient.

Reports from Petrograd were to the effect that preparations were being made for a German offensive on the Russian front. Russian aviators reported heavy German concentrations in the northern theater, and there has been increasing artillery activity south of Riga.

Close Call.

JESS WILL BOOM ROOSEVELT IN G. O. P.

To Work for Election of Delegates Who Favor Colonel for the Presidency.

Trenton, March 2.—Frank B. Jess, Camden county member of the Progressive State Committee, resigned that place yesterday in order that he might return to the Republican party and work for the election of National Convention delegates favorably to the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for the Presidency.

Mr. Jess, who is a member of the State Board of Taxes and Assessments, made his position known in a letter addressed to J. A. H. Hopkins, of Morristown, the Bull Moose chairman. He asserts that in the Republican party is a "powerful octerie of leaders" who will not be responsive to the overtures of Progressives. They will exert themselves, he says, to have delegates chosen who will be amenable to reactionary influences. Growing sentiment in favor of the Colonel's nomination is apparent, Mr. Jess declares, to every one who does not close his eyes and ears.

—Royal Arcanum, No. 77, O. U. A. M., will send delegates to Hoboken tonight to present the Hoboken Council with a silk banner.

—At the Y. W. H. A. ball this evening in the Plainfield auditorium, Abe Sicota, I. Frankel and a Mr. Greenbaum will present a silver loving cup to the couple winning the dancing contest.

DEMAND FOR HELP EXCEEDS THE SUPPLY

Local Business College Receives Urgent Call From New York Concern.

According to statistics, the United States is enjoying a period of great prosperity, all sections of the country being engaged in a more voluninous business than ever known before. Crops are tremendous, exports are increasing ,banks are bulging with money, factories are working overtime, railways are swamped with freight—all being pressed beyond capacity to fill orders. This has brought about an unprecedented demand for trained help. A few days ago A. S. Herr, head of the Plainfield Business College, received this letter from a well-known New York concern:

"The demand for efficient stenographers has been so great that I find it necessary to write to learn if any of your graduates are available for positions at the present time. For the past five months we have had many more calls than we could possibly fill, and the pressure is increasing month by month. I trust that you will be able to help me out."

Herr's school has recently secured positions and advancement for the following students: The Misses Christina Westergard, Teresa McDonnell, of Plainfield; Miss Jennie Hazlin, of Dunellen; Miss Sadie Wolden, of Somerville, and Hugh McDonnell and LeRoy Guest, of Plainfield, and Robert Thatcher, of Somerville.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

BOARD OF HEALTH FAILS TO ORGANIZE

Fanwood Council Stirred by Inactivity Threatens to Name New Members.

The inactivity of the Board of Health was the topic of considerable discussion at the monthly meeting of the Fanwood Council held last night, with the result that instead of re-appointing three members whose terms have expired it was decided to leave the positions vacant for a month. In the meantime, Mayor W. H. Hoar has volunteered to see the members of the board and try to get that body to organize. Lack of attendance has prevented meetings for months at a time, and the council has decided that the present members, unless they can be stirred into activity, shall be replaced by new ones. The matter of appointing two people to fill the vacancies on the board of trustees of the Fanwood library also came up and it was unanimously agreed to re-appoint Frank G. Urner and S. Dana Townsend.

The borough has been asked by the State League of Municipalities, of which it is a member, to help a finance a research of the P. S. C. holdings to ascertain the valuation of them. The League is working along the same lines as the Public Utilities Commission. As the borough became a member but a short time ago it was decided to instruct the clerk to get in communication with the league officials to get more detailed information.

Acting on the recommendation of the police committee, it was decided to have the door in the borough hall used as an entrance to the jail and courtroom replaced by a heavier one. The new one will be of one and three-quarters inches in thickness and the cost has been estimated at $7.00. The Council is also considering the purchase of a safe to be placed in the borough hall for the keeping of records of the borough officials. Cash on hand of $4,390.80 was reported, and bills aggregating $209.96 were audited and filed.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

CAPTORS GOT $19,000, DR. LYMAN CLAIMS

Money Taken After Arrest, Asserts Broker.

New York, March 2.—Dr. John Grant Lyman, broker, was arraigned in the federal court on the indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud. His customary buoyancy was lacking after a night spent in the Tombs.

He arrived at the Pennsylvania terminal from Jacksonville, Fla., with a retinue of postoffice inspectors and deputy United States marshals. Lyman made the trip from Jacksonville with Deputy United States Marshals W. D. Vingant, Jr., and C. L. Hathcock of Jacksonville and Postoffice Inspectors Mayhew, Kenyon and Swain of this district. At the West Philadelphia station his wife boarded the train and threw her arms about Lyman, whom she had not seen since she left for England last January to bring her mother to this country.

According to a deputy to whom Lyman was handcuffed most of the trip, the broker declared that if the authorities here had let him run his brokerage business in this city under the name of John H. Putnam just ten weeks longer he would have cleaned up a million.

Lyman insisted that he had about $34,000 in cash on him when he was arrested, but that only $15,000 of this was reported by his captors, who included two postoffice inspectors from the Florida district, two members of the St. Petersburg fire department and two disinterested citizens. They all began to search him at once, he said, and took from him the $14,000 in bills that he carried in a belt around his waist and also the twenty $1,000 bills which he had in a wallet in his inside pocket.

A COLORED PARSON'S PRAYER.

One cannot better sum up the whole spirit of Major Robert R. Moton and of his work and aims in his new duties as Principal of Tuskegee than in the prayer of an old colored preacher, as reported by Ray Stannard Baker in the World's Work:

"O, God of all races, will you please, Sir, come in and take charge of de min's of 'all dese yere white people and fix dem so dat dey'll know and understan' dat all of us colored folks is not lazy, dirty, dishones', an' no 'count, an' help dem, Lord, to see dat most of us is prayin', workin', and strivin', to get some land, some houses, and some ed'cation for ourselves an' our chillun, an' get true 'ligion, an' dat most eve'y Negro in Northampton County is doin' his lebel bes' to make frien's an' get along wid de white folks. Help dese yere white folks, O Lord, to understan' dis thing. Lord, while you is takin' charge of de min's of dese white people, don't pass by de colored folks, for dey is not perfec'——dey needs you as much as de white folks does. Open de Negro's blin' eyes dat he may see dat all of de white folks is not mean an' dishones' and' prejudice' ag'inst de colored folks, dat dere is hones', hard-workin', jus', and God-fearin' white folks in dis yere community who is tryin' de bes' dey know how, wid de circumstances ag'inst dem, to be fair in dere dealin's wid de colored folks, an' help dem to be 'spectable men an' women. Help us, Lord, black an' white, to understan' each other more eve'y day.

WASTING VALUABLE TIME.

In attempting to formulate a feasable plan for the State censorship of motion pictures, members of the State Legislature are not only threatening unfair and illegal interference with an important and profitable industry, but are wasting their time and that of the constituents. All that could be asked by any fair-minded person in the way of film censorship is accomplished by the National Board, an organization of highly eminent and moral men and women who give real service without pay. Nothing that can corrupt the minds of young or old is passed by this board. The most rigid censorship can be guaranteed by any city, town or State by simply prohibiting the public showing of picture plays not passed by the National Board of censorship. This subject has been fought out in practically every other State in the Union and New Jersey legislators should be mentally large enough to accept a decision so universally reached.

SHOULD HAVE A BEGINNING.

The Elizabeth Times thinks that "the picayune personal controversy now going on between the Democratic aspirants for the Gubernatorial nomination is not very inspiring to the Democratic voters of the State," and suggests that instead of fighting each other they direct their efforts to convincing the voters that the State would be better off under a Democratic than a Republican governor. This is very excellent advice, admits the Newark News, but what General Dennis F. Collins would like to know is why The Times does not follow its own counsel in the matter of local politics.

Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, says, "Regardless of abstract rights, I do not believe Americans should jeopardize the peace of the country by traveling on armed merchant vessels." Suppose Washington had said: "Regardless of abstract rights, I do not believe Americans should jeopardize the peace of this country by open acts or words of rebellion toward their mother country."

How soon we become familiar with atrocious acts so that they no longer excite horror. The sinking of a French transport with 1,100 human beings drowned is crowded to back pages in newspapers by important speculative political stories, where two years ago it would have been a three weeks' sensation.

Every merchant in Plainfield will receive some benefit from the hundreds that will attend the letter-carriers' convention here in May, and each one should contribute a reasonable percentage of the cost of entertaining the visitors.

March came in like a lamb, all right. We can only hope the man who predicts its going out is lyin'.

About the only thing that is cheaper in Germany now than before the war is human life.

On the Spur of the Moment

The Prize Pest.

I am an office seeker,
I flatter and I smirk;
I want a soft position,
I do not like to work.

I've done naught for my country,
I never went to war;
But it owes me a living,
That's what a country's for.

It matters not what party
Wins out an takes the game;
I think that I'm entitled
To some job just the same.

I'm always in the forefront,
And that's the way that's best.
Of course there may be others,
But I'm the champion pest.

Hurry and Get Sick.

"Kindly remember me. Owing to my increased practice, I will need an automobile by this spring. I am not able to buy one as yet, being a poor man. I do not expect the citizens of Washington and vicinity to make me a present of one. But you can help me get one by calling at my office when you are sick at home and thus help me to get my automobile and benefit yourself by my low prices and good service."—From a doctor's ad in a Missouri paper.

Uncle Abner

Along about next August the perspiring public will be referring back tenderly to that dear old-fashioned winter.

A feller can't really be a reg-lar man of the world until he can call every bartender in town by his first name.

A wife's last weapon to silence her husband is usually a bundle of love letters he wrote before they were married.

There doesn't seem to be anything on this earth that will cure a man of the derby hat habit.

Hank Tumms says he is a "receptive" candidate for town constable, which means that he will be glad to receive the nomination if there is any possible way by hook or by crook to get it.

Any time you want to lose a friend, try to do him a favor. Nine chances out of ten he will have a grudge against you as long as he lives, specially if you ask him to pay it back.

Nothing Coming Down.

De butchers in this town they seem to have an awful craze
Of chawgin' moh for poks chops than they evah did befoah.
Et makes a feller figure as the winter breezes blow.
An' the coal man am hoistin' up his prices so blame high
That peck of anthracite am all a common cuss kin buy.
And the taters and the flour am suahly both a-risin, too,
And to git a little hoecake am about all Ah kin do.
Almost every sort of needin's that a feller's got to git,
Am bein' shoved up higher, then a little higher yit.
There's surely something the matter in dis town,
For it's all a-goin' up and nothin' comingdown, m m coming down,
Excep' de snow.
Ah ha'dly know
Why it is so.

You Know Him.

Of the high cost of living you hear him complain,
And his noisy wailings give people a pain;
He gets ten bucks a week, yet this fellow will go
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

And if he makes fifty, he buys a machine,
And spend all his dough on high-test gasoline.
It doesnt much matter what sort of a bloke
A fellow may be, he is most always broke.

"National Weekly" Comment on Mayor Calkins and His Enforcement of Law

(From THE OUTLOOK)

"The right of free speech and the enforcement of law, both now of cogent importance, have been recently so treated by Mayor Calkins, of Plainfield, New Jersey, as to attract attention and approval in the New York press and even in London.

"A tiny religious sect calling itself 'Pillars of Fire' claimed a divine mission to attack Roman Catholicism with violent invectives in crowded streets. Traffic was blocked, serious disturbance was excited. A strong police force curbed it with difficulty. Finally, after these ranters had been refused a permit to hold meetings under police protection elsewhere than in a thronged street, they were arrested, tried and found guilty of violating the city ordinance.

"In a message to the City Council stating the situation and his treatment of it, Mayor Calkins laid down these axioms:

"With our constitutional rights to freedom of speech and of religious belief go other rights of co-ordinate value—the right of all to free and orderly use of the public streets; the right of citizens of every religious class to use the common thoroughfares without molestation by any of another class. Public streets are intended solely for travel and traffic. Any other use of them is a concession to be granted only if not obstructing their primary use. Freedom of speech is not liberty to say whatever one chooses wherever one wishes regardless of consequences. To grant such liberty would be like giving pistol permits to children.

"The general principle here involved is that Constitutional rights so limit one another that limitation by law is necessary to their equal protection by law.

"The enforcement of law presently required another official statement. Sundry religious and civic organizations had complained to the City Council that many shopkeepers were violating the Sabbath laws. To this Mayor Calkins replied in a letter to a representative citizen.

"With a cautionary remark that literal enforcement of those laws would land him and some of the petitioners, with most of their townsmen, in the police court on Monday, Mr. Calkins pronounces for a reasonable enforcement of the spirit of the law. This, upheld by a massive public sentiment, is fulfilled by quiet orderliness and a very general cessation of business and labor. The peace and quiet of the day are better observed by the poor Italian with his little shop open than by the prosperous folk, whose Sunday recreations are pursued with clouds of dust and noisy horns. Why begin with him rather than them in literal enforcement of the law?

"There are many laws, says the Mayor, which their makers did not expect to be strictly enforced on all—e. g., the motor vehicle speed law, purposely made strict for handy use when necessary. 'If,' says he, 'it were the duty of officials rigidly to enforce all the laws all the time, I do not know how they could do it with the means at hand. The rule of reason and discretion should be applied to law enforcement.'

This principle, asserted now by the Supreme Court of the United States, was asserted in the famous dictum of Cicero in pleading against too rigid an application of Roman law: 'Summum jus summa injuria'—'Extreme law is extreme injustice.'

"The so-called Blue Laws of Connecticut came to New Jersey with emigrants from the New Haven colony, who founded Newark in 1666. Blue gowns distinguished the Presbyterian clergy from the Church of England clergy, who wore black. Hence, probably, the name 'Blue Laws.' Their prohibition of Sunday travel, and of any kind of play, pastime or diversion, as well as of business and labor, survives today.

"Respect for law is the cornerstone of a stable commonwealth. Any conscious disregard of law is an infectious germ of lawlessness. Open disregard of law by some of the higher-up has already bred dangerous imitators among the lower-down. The 'immemorial 'sacredness of law' demands the abolition of every statute unsanctioned by the respect of the community. The surest way to get rid of a bad law, said President Grant, is to enforce it. But there is a less militant way.

Athenian democracy in the fifth century B. C. was on this point and some others in advance of American. The first annual business of the Assembly was an inquiry whether any alteration of the laws was needed. Any such proposal, if sustained by the majority, was referred to a special commission, whose decision, after hearing the arguments pro and con was decisive.

Mr. Calkins has kindly informed The Outlook of a practice in Scotland of tacitly repealing laws 'by desuetude;' in other words, 'an obsolete law is simply disregarded by the court in a proceeding thereunder. The decision of the court holds the law obsolete, and thus works out a practical repeal.'

That Blue Laws are not protected from contempt by decent burial, Mr. Calkins' letter to The Outlook ascribes to good people who fight vigorously against repealing them, fearing that it would be a step toward an entire secularizing of the sacred day. Their fight is so strenuous that the lawmakers weary of it, and adjourn, saying, 'What matters it? The law is dead, anyway.'

"Might we not do better by patterning from the Athenian or the Scottish method, or still better, by a judicious blend of both?"

NO COAL AGREEMENT.

Miners Reported to Have Offered Some Concessions.

New York, March 2.—The coal miners and operators in the bituminous fields of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and western Pennsylvania were deadlocked after a long session. The miners, it was said, offered some concessions in rates and agreed to abide by all the penalties that now fall on the operators. These penalties include making allowance for impurities in the coal, for slack labor and other handicaps in mining, but they were rejected by the operators.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

UNCLE'S PRIDE

--U. S. Astor Theatre--

At the Astor Theatre, Friday and Saturday.

"Carmen," the opera, will be done in film form at the U. S. Astor Theatre tomorrow and Saturday, with Geraldine Farrar, favorite prima donna of the greatest opera house in the world in the title role. "Carmen," the photoplay, which was produced by the Lasky division of Paramount, has the distinction of having shattered all attendance records at the Strand Theatre, New York, the world's largest film theatre. Miss Farrar has proven even a bigger drawing card in some quarters than Mary Pickford and it is believed, judging from the requests for reservations for the engagement of this picture at the Astor, that she will outdraw Little Mary in this city.

"Carmen" is one of the most artistic and engrossing photoplays ever produced and with such a consummate artist in the leading role as Geraldine Farrar it bids fair to prove one of the finest ever exhibited in Plainfield. There are many opera devotees in Plainfield and Miss Farrar numbers many of them among her personal admirers. Therefore the engagement of "Carmen" at the Astor ought to prove a big success.

Next week's attractions will bring to the Astor all the popular Paramount stars, including Marguerite Clark, Mary Pickford, who will be seen in "Mme. Butterfly," and others.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

"The Mud Town Minstrels," the greatest "rube" minstrel comedy ever placed on the stage, will be one of the feature numbers in the new vaudeville program at the Plainfield theatre, commencing today. "The Mud Town Minstrels" have been on the boards for the past twenty years and in that time have appeared in all the leading variety houses in the country. The idea originated with the Crane Brothers, three young men of Scranton, Pa. Within a year they had leaped into fame, and not only met with emphatic success in this country, but Europe and Australia as well. It is safe to predict that the appearance of "The Mud Town" Minstrels" at the Plainfield theatre will be a memorable vaudeville event.

Other numbers on the bill include Alexander, in his amazing novelty act; Hathaway and Co., in their laughable sketch, "The Onion Trust"; Eleanor Fisher, comedienne, presenting the same budget of songs she offered at the Palace in New York a few weeks ago; La Belle and DeForest, presenting a laughable skit, "The Hypnotized Scarecrow," and the French Aeroplane Girls, three in number, who will be seen in a decidedly unusual acrobatic number.

The first episode of the Pathe company's new serial, "The Iron Claw," will be seen at the theatre this afternoon and tonight. It will be continued in the customary serial instalments every Thursday hereafter. "The Iron Claw" is declared to be the greatest continued film ever produced. It was posed for by a star cast headed by Miss Pearl White and Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis. The second instalment of "The Strange Case of Mary Page," which made a distinct hit when shown last week for the first time, will be seen tomorrow.

There is action every minute in the Gay New Yorkers' show which plays the Plainfield theatre, Monday (matinee and night), March 6. If it isn't a stage full of pretty girls trotting, dancing or marching, then its comedians who know how to get a laugh out of every line. A motion picture of color, music and fun is this show, and it's far above the usual class of burlesque entertainment; there is so much new stuff to offer it's a real treat and a relief. It is called a musical festival, and all new songs are introduced, one following another in rapid succession—fifteen echoing song-hits, 15. Mr. Harry Von Tilzer wrote the music and the score contains more than the usual beauty of musical features. A great deal of stress is laid upon the natural beauty of the chorus, the rank of which, it is said, contains the cream of Broadway stock. Mr. Don Roth has provided a book full of witty lines and situations, entitled "We, Us and Company." The presenting company names Fox and Stewart, Danny Murphy, Dolly Morrisey, Ed Jerome, Alma Fleming and Helen Van Buren. Daily matinee will be given, which the ladies are invited to attend.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Opinions on pictures differ as widely as do opinions on feminine beauty. It is difficult to find more than three persons in absolute agreement. In this category we hasten to place "New York," the feature photoplay attraction at Proctor's today, in which Florence Reed, who recently starred in "At Bay," appears to good advantage. After a critical examination from several angles, we have formed the opinion that "New York" is one of the best pictures—say one of the best pictures—we have seen this season. Assisting Florence Reed is a specially-selected cast of screen and stage favorites, including Mania Marinoff, who incidentally takes a spectacular fall down a stairway; Jessie Ralph, Joe Miltern and Forrest Wynant. Tomorrow one of the most notable photoplay productions in the history of filmdom will be the attraction at Proctor's. It is the first six-reel American drama in colors, entitled "The Beloved Vagabond," starring Edwin Arden. It was first presented in this vicinity at the Strand, New York, the most notable of photoplay theatres. It will appear one day only—tomorrow—so come early in order to secure choice seats. In addition, tomorrow, the latest episode of "The Red Circle" will be shown, the engrossing serial story that will soon end its run in this city. Saturday, Bessie Barriscale, one of the favorite Triangle actresses, appears in a vehicle admirably suited to her talents, entitled, "The Green Swamp." Saturday will also see the usual toy bazaar for the children, and all the kiddies in this vicinity are invited to participate. The comedy Keystone of the week is entitled "Love Will Conquer," with Fred Mace as leading funmaker. The vaudeville entertainment will be a new one starting today and consists of several of the foremost attractions appearing on the variety stage. On Tuesday, the management will present "The Strange Case of Mary Page" at Proctor's, the wonderful serial production that is creating a furore among film fans throughout the land. Henry B. Walthall and Edna Mayo are the stars, and a more versatile and popular duo of screen stars would be impossible to find.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Little Pig That Really Lived In a Parlor.

"NOBODY asks me for a true story tonight," daddy complained, "but I know a nice one just the same."

"Oh, please, please, tell us, daddy!" cried the children.

"Well, at this time of the winter, when almost everybody has a horrid cough and a sneezing nose, you must please not forget that poor children have a great deal of sickness to suffer and bear. In one of our big cities is a beautiful hospital where there are excellent doctors and kind nurses who take care of these little sick children quite free. But in this world somebody always has to pay, and so some very kind ladies give all sorts of parties and make things they get their rich friends to buy, and all this money goes back to pay the expenses of little sick children in the hospital. Well, there is one lady who lately gave a most interesting party at her home. And what do you think she sold?" asked daddy.

"First of all, she must have sent out a great many invitations, for her beautiful parlors, all satin and gold, were full of rich people who came to see, and to buy. Then she sent over to her big, splendid farm in the country and fetched to the city lots of eggs, chickens from Italy and Japan and fruits.

"Then there were nice little crates full of charming kittens and puppies right from the farm and heaps of good farm things to sell and eat. The chickens cackled and the puppies barked and the cats me-owed so much that instead of having real music the kind lady let her animals be the orchestra, and her friends liked it far better than violins."

"Her name is Mrs. Whitney, but I haven't told you the most interesting part of the party yet. It belonged to her little boy Jock too."

The children clapped till daddy told. "All by himself in one corner of the red and gold parlor in a nice little crate a tiny suckling pig grunted with content all through the party—a really, truly pig in the parlor, you know. Everybody paid him a great deal of attention all the afternoon, but what is still better for little sick children in hospitals they paid $25 for piggy."

"Oh, heaps! But I know of no lady who made money in such an interesting way. Most people do not want chickens and puppies and cats and turnips and cookbooks, to say nothing of a little pig, in their handsome parlors, even for the sake of sick children who need care."

Household Hints

EGG CLEANS HAIR ON COLD DAYS

In the winter it is hard to dry your hair after a shampoo and the danger of catching cold is great. Try this method. Take the white of an egg and beat it very stiff, as if for frosting; rub well into the hair and go about your other work. In a short time it will be entirely dry and your hair will feel as if it had been starched. Take a good, stiff hair brush and give your hair a good brushing, and the white dust will fly. You will have to clean out the brush occasionally, for it soon gets filled.

You will be surprised how fresh, fluffy and clean-looking your hair will be, and it will go up prettier than usual.

This is also the best way of cleaning false hair.

LUNCHEON DAINTIES FOR THE CHILDREN

Lemon cheese makes a healthful filling for sandwiches for the lunch-box. Place in a double boiler, or in a bowl in a sauce pan containing boiling water, one cup of powdered sugar, four tablespoons of butter, the juice and rind of two lemons, and three well beaten eggs. Cook, stirring constantly, til the mixture is very thick; when cool, put in a jar with a close fitting lid, and it will keep for weeks.

Orange ginger cakes are also good for the little folks to take to school. Heat one and three-fourths pounds of molasses and three-fourths of a pound of shortening over a slow fire; when blended, beat well and add three-fourths of a pound of brown sugar, two and one-fourth pounds of flour, one ounce of ground ginger, one grated nutmeg, one-half cup of orange juice and the grated rind of the orange and one level teaspoon of soda. Work the dough well and leave in a cool place over night. In the morning roll thin, cut in squares, brush with milk and bake in a moderate oven.

A very nutritious supper dish for the children is made by heating two cups of milk until it almost boils, add the strained juice of half a lemon and sugar to taste. Let this stand until it curdles, strain and serve.

SERVE TOGETHER

Fried Chicken—Cut up the chicken, wash and dry it with a cloth. Put butter in a frying pan; when it is hot put in the chicken. Let it fry until it is well browned all over. Watch it carefully not to let it burn. When it is all browned add a cup of water, cover and let it cook slowly, adding water when necessary. Season with salt and pepper when you add water. The gravy will be a beautiful brown.

Sweet Potatoes, Southern Style—Boil the potatoes until almost soft enough to serve, then remove the skin and slice about one-fourth inch thick. Cover the bottom of a baking dish with a layer of potatoes, sprinkle over them brown sugar and pieces of butter; use both generously; then another layer of potatoes, sugar and butter, until the pan is full. Bake in a moderately hot oven, basting frequently with the syrup in the bottom of the pan.

The above served together are wonderful.

THE TABLE.

Spanish Mackerel a la Maitre D'Hotel—One large or two medium-sized Spanish mackerel; draw by the gills, wash and pare nicely. Slit down the back from head to tail. Remove the spine, wipe dry; season with salt and pepper. Oil all over and broil slowly and well. Slide onto a dish and pour over about four ounces of half melted butter with a little chopped chives. Season with quartered lemons on a plate.

Whipped Cream Cherry Pie—Take one-half quart canned cherries, put on fire in stewpan, let come to boiling point, then add sugar to suit taste and 2½ teaspoons cornstarch dissolved in cold water. When thick, remove from fire, place in the crust to cool; when cool whip one pint heavy cream stiff and put over cherries in crust, sprinkle with confectioner's sugar and serve.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Jacob Townsend's Children Unite to Save Him From His Wife.

"Say, Daddy, would it not be a good scheme to return the automobile while my lady is east? She got it when you told her that you could not afford to buy it and the payments on it are just that much more for you to carry when you are overburdened anyway." Dudley and his father were walking home after the store was closed at night.

"She would retaliate by buying a more expensive machine," said Jacob quietly.

"You could fix that by informing every dealer that you would not pay for anything your wife bought." Dudley spoke with strong emphasis. He had been thinking of the matter all day.

"It would be impossible to reach them all and the humiliation of it. Think of that." Jacob shrank with unspeakable dread from the publicity the course involved.

"Well, Daddy, dear, it looks as if there would have to be publicity soon. I'd prefer this to making an assignment. Wouldn't you?" Jacob groaned. "I would go to Kansas City, see the head of the firm and say that you are in financial straits and wish to return the machine. I would make it clear that if Mrs. Townsend came to buy another machine it would be returned if sold. I would see the principal concerns that are handling machines and say that you wished it understood that if your wife bought an automobile it would be returned; that you refused to pay for one, and show your written statement with your signature. What do you say?" Dudley looked eagerly at his father's troubled face.

"That's an awful task that you have set yourself," objected Jacob.

"Don't you worry about me. It would be pure joy to head her off. You have been like wax in her hands. You have been used to dealing with women not vampires and she has taken you off your feet. Can't you see that it is war to the death? It is fight or go under financially. You believe me, don't you?" A sigh was his only answer.

"If she would only go easy while money is so tight everything would come out all right, but she will not, and she must be made to use a little common sense. Any woman who would mortgage her home to take a trip can't be allowed to go her own gait unless her husband is made of money, and you are not that by any means." Dudley spoke with the earnestness born from a desire to help.

"No doubt she thinks me richer than I am. People here always speak of me as a rich man, and she has taken their estimate and thinks any economy is stinginess on my part." Jacob was trying to put the best construction on her actions.

"You stingy, indeed!" exploded Dudley.

"You must remember that she is not well acquainted with me. If she knew me as little as I knew her any impossible thing might seem true to her."

"Well, Daddy, if she does not know you give her a chance to get acquainted. Give her a sample of your business head. She has set out to show you that she will not be limited in money matters. You cannot let her run you into bankruptcy." Dudley felt that he was making an impression and meant to make the most of it.

"Well, you may go to Kansas City and see what you can do about the matter," said Jacob, after a long silence.

"Good for you, Daddy. I'll do my best to have things turn out as we want them to." Dudley clapped his father joyously on the back.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. J. L. Evans.

Contributions to meet the expenses of conducting the Child-Welfare campaign during Baby Week will be gladly received by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Anyone wishing to assist in this way may send checks to Mrs. George B. Wean, treasurer, 92 Park avenue. Checks should be marked "For Child Welfare Work," that they may not become confused with other matters.

The Care of the Child Before Birth.

There is no work which could more properly or profitably be taken up by a government than an active campaign for the saving of its babies. To spread information and awaken interest in the care of infants and the prevention of many diseases and deformities will be the means of saving a large number of infant lives.

But this is not all. The work of baby-saving does not begin with the birth of the child, but should begin before that time, and continue throughout its development in the period when the care of the child is inseparable from that of the mother.

The care of the mother, then, is the all-important thing, as her health means the health and well-being of her child, not only assuring a good condition at time of birth, but establishing a strength of constitution which will mean physical and mental fitness throughout his life.

The prospective mother must give herself special care; she must live a natural and carefully regulated life; she must use particular caution in such matters as diet, dress, exercise, rest and bathing.

She should choose plain, nourishing food, such as she finds easily digestible. Let her have variety in her food; a moderate amount of meats, and plenty of fresh vegetables and fruit; avoiding excess of sweets and extremes of seasoning.

Her clothing should be perfectly comfortable, avoiding constriction of chest or abdomen. Gowns are easily constructed in such a manner that the weight will hang from the shoulder, and the waist line can be readily adjusted by the use of hidden lacings and pleats and elastic, without being at all unsightly. The ordinary corset should not be worn, as its tendency is to constrict and press downward, whereas, if one wears a corset at all, it should be so made and fitted as to pull upward and give support to the abdomen. An abdominal binder, properly constructed, is an excellent substitute for the corset, and will give this necessary support without danger to the mother or the child. The prospective mother should be made to understand that some of the most serious conditions which might imperil her life at this time, are caused by the wearing of improper corsets or tight clothing. It is, of course, unnecessary to say that she must wear low heels; the unaccustomed distribution of weight makes it difficult to maintain a perfect balance and high heels greatly increase the danger of accident, and we all know what serious consequences to either mother or child may result from a fall at this time.

A good amount of not too vigorous exercise should be taken daily, dependent somewhat upon the amount she has been accustomed to take; but she should be very cautious in taking any work which causes undue strain, such as laundry work or scrubbing.

She must also have frequent periods of rest and an abundance of sleep. The unusual tax put upon all her organs as well as her nervous system, makes imperative these frequent times of relaxation.

The question of bathing is an important one, as it is necessary to keep the skin in such condition as to enable it to do its full share in the throwing off of bodily poisons and to relieve, as much as possible, the kidneys, which are severely taxed at this time.

But with all the physical care that can be given to the prospective mother, there is another thing which is of great importance, and that is her mental condition. She will very probably find herself more easily effected emotionally than is customary—she may be excitable or irritable or apprehensive and fearful. She must make an effort to interest herself in pleasant and entertaining things; to be with cheerful company and to converse on subjects of broad interest, for these things are apt to affect the physical and mental welfare of the developing child.

But after we have considered all these things so far as we, who are not professionally trained in these things, can do, probably the most important bit of advice is still to be given—and that is, put yourself as early as possible under the care of your physician and give him the opportunity to watch the development of your child and of yourself. Let him make systematic laboratory tests to make sure that you are in as good condition as possible and that your kidneys especially are properly doing their work, for this is one of the most important things to watch during the time of pregnancy. Do not wait until the time for the child's birth is near. Give the doctor the responsibility and then live as calm, as care-free and as happy a life as possible, and you will have done all you can for your child.

LOUISE S. CORBUSIER.

GIVING THE BABY HIS BATH.

1. To keep the baby well, he must be bathed every day.

2. The room in which he is bathed should be warm and not drafty.

3. The best time for the baby's bath is in the morning about 10 o'clock, at least an hour after feeding.

4. He should be put in a small bathtub, or large clean dishpan, which is not used for anything else.

5. The tub should be scrubbed out with soap and hot water before and after each bath.

6. Have about three inches of warm water in the tub. If the water feels warm for your elbow it is right for the baby.

7. Clean cheese-cloth makes the best washrag. Use a different piece for his face and get fresh cheese cloth often. It is easier to keep clean than a sponge. Wash his face first without soap and dry it.

8. Use Castile soap. It is pure and will not make the baby sore if well washed off.

HOW CHILDREN SHOULD EAT.

Little children need food frequently and in small quantities.

As children grow their need for food and for variety in food increases, as does also their ability to digest foods of different kinds. The quantity and variety of their food needs to be gradually increased with their age and to change from liquid food of few kinds to solid of many.

Food should be broken or cut fine and thoroughly chewed. Children need time for meals. They should not be hurried and should rest a half hour after meals.

Children should eat at meals, not between, that the digestive tract may have rest.

Their hands and face should be clean when they eat, that they may not take in disease germs with their food.

Foods that must be denied children should not be kept temptingly before them, as this causes them to refuse such food as they need. Their own food should be palatable and attractively served. In hot weather they need more water.

CONTROL INTERSTATE SHIPMENT OF EGGS

Government to Get After Those Who Violate Food and Drugs Act.

Washington, D. C., March 2.—The Department of Agriculture has had under consideration for some time the application of the Federal food and drugs act to the shipment in interstate commerce of eggs in the shell, especially the two classes of eggs known in the trade as "current receipts" and as "rejects" from candling rooms. "Current receipts" contain at different seasons of the year varying proportion of eggs which are filthy, decomposed or putrid. "Rejects" from candling rooms, as a rule, contain large proportions of eggs which are filthy, decomposed or putrid, and very small proportions of eggs suitable for consumption.

Under the Federal food and drugs act, eggs, in common with other articles of food, are adulterated if they consist wholly or in part of a filthy, decomposed or putrid substance. Section 2 of the act prohibits the shipment in interstate commerce of foods which are adulterated, and it is plain that this prohibition applies to the shipment in interstate commerce of "current receipts" or of "rejects" from candling rooms, or of any other grade of eggs in the shell unless the filthy, decomposed or putrid eggs have been removed.

In the opinion of the department, eggs which contain yolks stuck to the shell, moldy eggs, black spots, mixed rots, addled eggs, black rots and any other eggs which consist wholly or in part of a filthy, decomposed or putrid substances, are adulterated.

The investigations of the department have shown that it is commercially practicable, by the method of candling, to eliminate from any given shipment most of the eggs of the kinds which the department regards as adulterated. Country shippers who are not certain of the freshness of their eggs should candle them before shipping them in interstate commerce.

Eggs which are adulterated may be shipped in interstate or foreign commerce for use in tanning or other technical ways without violating the provisions of the food and drugs act only if they are first denatured so as to render them incapable of being used for food. Since it is impracticable to denature eggs in the shell, adulterated shell eggs must be broken out and denatured prior to shipment. The views of the department with respect to the denaturing of eggs are stated in Bureau of Chemistry Service and Regulatory Announcements, No. 7, paragraph 19, and No. 12, opinion 102.

HUSBAND NOT INSANE.

Wife Had Him Arrested on Charges of Cruelty.

Newton, March 2. — Declaring her husband, James Depue, was insane, Mrs. Annie Snyder Depue of Lafayette township had him locked up. Doctors examined him, however, and pronounced him sane, so he was released. Mrs. Depue charged her husband frequently beat and choked her, threatened to shoot her and that she was afraid of her life.

Cutler Made Circuit Judge.

Trenton, March 2.—Governor Fielder sent to the senate the nomination of Willard W. Cutler of Morristown as circuit judge pursuant to a law passed to relieve the congestion in the courts throughout the state.

TEACHERS WIN BY SCRAP OF PAPER

PREPAREDNESS DOES IT

One more the teachers of Plainfield High School made the Seniors take the small end of the score in the annual court fracas played on the school court yesterday afternoon, this time by a 24 to 15 score. The Colgate twins, Beers and Woodman, were too much for five Seniors to handle at a time ,and, with others helping them, it was a walkover.

Nearly every one in the Senior class big enough to handle a basketball got in the game for a few minutes, and it was only when the school first team, which is composed of Seniors, got in the line-up that things were even. It was the understanding that they should remain in but half of the last period, and that was only long enough to tie the score, when they had to stand by and see the faculty walk away with the verdict.

The Colgate combine started things going shortly after the whistle blew and had quite a score amassed before the Seniors could tally. Principal Lindsey Best helped the twins along with a foul in the first half, which ended with the teachers leading 10 to 4. The second half gave the first team men a chance ,and they took advantage of it by tying the score in a few minutes. Dunham did most of the shooting, with four baskets, while Whelan took occasion to make one of his rare baskets.

With the class team men back in again, the teachers started off with a spurt that was stopped only by the end of the game. Woodman dropped in three counters, his side partner one, and Principal Best, two more. Prof. Wriston made the grand shot of the day, when he threw the ball the entire length of the court for a tally.

K. C. LEAGUE COUNCILS IN THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Bowlers from the Newark Council and the Star of Bethlehem Council have entered in the Eastern championships of the Knights of Columbus Bowling Tournament, which gets under way Monday night on Thum's alleys, New York. Last year the Newark Council pinners won the title, and John F. Speary, a member of the team, captured the gold individual medal for having the best average for nine games in the five-man, two-man and individual events. Third team prize last year was annexed by the Star of Bethlehem representatives. On the opening night the Castilian and Knickerbocker councils of New York will shoot the opening games.

NEW HALF-MILE SKATING RECORD OF 75 SECONDS

Pittsburgh, March 2.—Three races last night wound up the international indoor skating championships. The winner of the championship on points was Anton O'Sickey, of Cleveland, who scored 130 points in the three nights. Carl Fisher, of Milwaukee, was second, with 120 points, and Ben O'Sickey, also of Cleveland, third, with 80 points.

A world's record was broken, Ben O'Sickey winning the half-mile final in 1:15 3-5, beating the record by three-fifths of a second. His brother, Anton, was second, and Harry Cody, of Toronto, third.

TABS DEFEATED BY ST. JOSEPH'S FIVE

Vincent La Porte's foul shooting decided a basketball game between the Tabs and St. Joseph's Club, in Saengerbund Hall, last night. On field goals the rival teams were tied, but the many fouls called on the Tabs gave La Porte opportunity to chuck in a dozen free throws, the borough team winning, 26 to 19.

Andy McDonough put up a stellar game at center, where he was opposed to Harry Moulton, who played with the Tabs.

Only one point separated the teams at the end of the first half, the Tabs being in the lead, 8 to 7.

WILL MEET TODAY TO PLAN DIAMOND SEASON

Washington, N. J., March 2.—Representatives of the six baseball teams to be entered in the proposed "Schwab League" will meet at Bangor, Pa., today, to adopt a schedule, bylaws and other matters pertaining to the league, which will be composed of the Bethlehem Steel Company A. A. and the Cooper A. A. of Bethlehem, both teams having inclosed grounds; the Phillipsburg and Easton A. A., with grounds in Phillipsburg; the Bangor A. A.; the Stroudsburg A. A., and the Washington Baseball Association.

The local club will be represented at the organization meeting by G. W. Miller, the secretary, and Robert Lanning, the treasurer. William H Pfau, of Perth Amboy, who was engaged last week to place a team in the field and act as field manager during the season, has written the secretary that he will be in Washington at the next meeting of the local association on March 10.

The manager writes that he has notified his players and that when he visits Washington he will be in a position to give the personnel of the team that will open the season for Washington in the new league May 20. It is planned to have a carnival or series of entertainments before the opening of the season to raise funds for necessary expenses.

FOURTEEN BATTERY JOB CANDIDATES AT P. H. S.

Aspirants for positions on the Plainfield High School baseball team had their first workout yesterday afternoon in the school gymnasium, fourteen men responding to Coach Patch's call for battery men. Of the total, twelve of them are out for a pitching berth, and while they didn't show up startling, Coach Patch should have no difficulty in producing at least two boxmen of fair ability. While indoor practice lasts there will be sessions held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Captain "Box" Apgar and Art Kyle were the only two out for catcher, while Butler, Linke, Coudray, Dunham, Mills, McDowell, Davidson, Dealman, Noonan, Alpaugh, Vail and Lewis showed some of their wares in the pitching line.

P. E. G. S. BASKETEERS PRACTICE NEW RULES

The P. E. G. S. girls held one of their best basketball scrimmages last night in the Plainfield High School gymnasium, the young women playing under the 1916 collegiate code of rules. A team composed of the Misses Helen Hummel, Helen Brynlarski, Mildred McAuliffe, Clara Smith, Elsie Debele and Theresa McCullough, defeated an aggregation consisting of the Misses Lillian Spencer, Christine Vestergard, Jessie Stewart, Ruth Wean and Lucy John! The score was 30 to 7. During the second period the losers were held scoreless, while their opponents tallied twenty points, fourteen of which were credited to Miss Helen Hummel.

GAME PLAYED AT P. H. S.

Sons of Ninth Street School Nearly Overcome Six-Point Lead in Second Half—Gathering Alumni Turns to Dancing After Game.

North Plainfield High School Alumni came, saw and conquered the Plainfield High grads in an exciting basketball game in the Plainfield High School gymnasium last night, the score being 22 to 21 in favor of the boroughites. The game was the second played between the two contingents this year, the first contest, on the Saengerbund court, also being won by North Plainfield.

During the first period the visitors ran up a score of 14, while Plainfield averaged eight points. In the second half, Plainfield rallied and needed but one foul goal to tie the score Roy Love, Ashley Burner and Frank Dunning played excellent games for the boroughites, while Al Manley, Dan McNamee and Claude Doane Doane starred for Plainfield.

Following the game dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, a four-piece orchestra providing music. There was a large gathering of both Plainfield and North Plainfield grads, and renewals of school acquaintances were in order.

BASEBALL NOTES

The advance squad of the Washington Senators arrived yesterday at Charlottesville, Va. Jack Ryan and Nick Altrock were in charge of the players. The other players are expected to arrive March 10.

The batterymen of the Superbas, who are working out at Hot Springs, Ark., under the direction of Jack Coombs, are finding it a hard matter to get in condition because of the cold weather.

John Hummel is in demand. The player who held down a job with the Superbas for ten years has been offered a job as utility man by two major league clubs and is also wanted by many Class AA teams.

Vin Campbell, who held down right field for the Peps last season, has been signed by the St. Louis Americans.

Bill McKechnie, who managed the Peps during the latter part of last season, may sign with Fielder Jones' Browns. McKechnie plans to train with the Brown Sox this spring.

Report has it that Duke Duncan, who played in the outfield for the Baltimore Terrapins last season, will play with the Richmond Internationals next season.

Jesse Burkett, manager of the Worcester club last season, has been signed to lead the Lawrence team.

Joe Gilmore, a Boston schoolboy, is to join the Athletics at the Jacksonville camp. Ira Thomas, veteran catcher of the Mackmen, discovered Gilmore, a shortstop, while on a barnstorming trip through New England.

Dr. F. N. Tate, of Albany, has purchased the Albany club from Charles M. Winchester for $4,000. Chadwick Park has been leased for the season by Dr. Tate.

Promoters are trying to form a Class D league in Missouri and Kansas. The cities mentioned as prospective members are Springfield, Joplin, Sedalia and Webb City, Mo., and Pittsburgh, Parsons, Independence and Coffeyville, Kan., and also Bartlesville, Okla. The salary limit is to be $100 a month.

Lefty George, former pitcher of the Kansas City American Association team, has brought suit against the club to recover $4,406.35 which he claims is due for salary.

CALDWELL WINS ELKS FEATURE

Paterson, March 2.—Dave Caldwell, the Boston A. A. runner, won the 1,000-yard Elks' Derby, the feature event of the Paterson Elks' games, in the Fifth Regiment Armory here last night.

EDDIE FEIHL TO ROLL JIM SMITH IN NEWARK TONIGHT

Jimmy Smith, of Brooklyn, regarded as the champion bowler of the world, is to roll a match tomorrow night on Jackie Clark's alleys in Newark against Eddie Feihl, of the Elizabeth Elks' team. The affair will be six out of eleven games.

It will mark the first appearance of Smith in Newark in a number of years. Feihl has done remarkable bowling on the Clark drives and many believe he will take the measure of the Peerless One. The latter, rolling some years ago on the old Tuxedo alleys in a Greater New York and Intercity individual tournament match against Billie Weingarth, accounted for a perfect score of 300.

Elizabeth Elks' chances of beating out Newark for the title were given another jolt last night, the Betsytowners losing two games at Jersey City, after winning the opener by one pin.

As matters now stand, Elizabeth, with three more games to roll, has lost four games more than Newark. To finish ahead of Newark, Elizabeth would have to win from New Brunswick while Newark was losing to the same team and to Paterson.

Jersey City totaled 950 in the first game last night, but the visitors went to 951. The Skeeters put up their biggest total of the season in the second game, a 1061 count, Elizabeth's 980 being worthless. The homesters took the odd, 956 to 904.

For Jersey City, Mahlenbrock rolled 194, 243 and 218 for an average of 218.1; Murphy hit 210, 233 and 204 for an average of 215.2, and Delahanty averaged 197. For the losers, Feihl hit 223 and 214 for an average of 206.2; Blythe posted 234 and 200 for an average of 200.1, while Maloney put in 205 and 222 for an average of 198.1. Heinie Clauss, the star Elizabeth pinner, was bothered by rheumatism in his left knee, and was unable to make his usual high scores.

The 1915-1916 bowling season of the Knights of Columbus League came to an end last night, when the Ascension Council team, averaging 957.2, won three games from Paulus Hook, and Plainfield forfeited three to the same team.

The final reckoning leaves Plainfield tied with Paulus Hook for eighth position. Both teams won twenty three games and lost thirty-one, although it is more than likely that, had the final series been rolled, Plainfield would have won one of the three games, and thus tied Jersey City for seventh. By winning three games last night, Ascension tied Bayonne for fifth place.

The Ascension pinners ended the season in classy style, ascending higher than the thousand mark in their last game of the season. Gordon topped his night's work with a count of 234 and an average of 205.2. Dougherty shot 227, 200 and 201, averaging 209.1.

U. S. TO PURCHASE DANISH WEST INDIES

Are Needed by This Country to Protect the Panama Canal.

Washington, March 2.—The Danish West Indies are likely to become American possessions in the immediate future, acording to those who have watched the course of events leading up to the recent announcement from Copenhagen, suggesting the willingness of the Danish government to sell the islands. Several times in the past there have been movements to acquire these islands, but the negotiations fell through for various reasons. There is a new importance attached to the little islands since the digging of the Panama Canal, for their possession by an aggressive enemy might threaten the safety of the canal in time of war.

The three islands involved in the offer of Denmark are St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John. They have an area of about 138 square miles, and a population of 33,000, mostly negroes. Raising of sugar cane is the only industry of these islands.

Frequent reports have been made of the use of the harbors of those islands by German commerce destroyers at the outset of the European war. It was said at that time that Denmark was powerless to protect the neutrality of the islands, but the fact of their use, if clearly established, gives a clear lesson to the United States as to the value of these little corners of the Caribbean to the nation owning the Panama Canal and upholding the Monroe Doctrine.

If not the sole, at least the most vital reason suggesting the purchase of these islands by the United States, is their strategic importance and the likelihood of their control passing into the hands of some European power whose ownership would constitute a menace to the military interests of the United States.

There is very good circumstantial evidence, it is said here, to support the report that Germany looks forward to the ownership of the Danish West Indies. In the past, when the United States sought to buy them, it was German influence in Copenhagen which intervened to prevent the sale. That was only six years ago, in 1910. Some ten years before that time there was a movement to buy the islands for four millions of dollars, but the project fell through in Congress.

Congress awoke to the situation in 1910, and the United States again revived the question of purchase. At first the Danes manifested a willingness to sell the islands, but of a sudden, and for reasons never made full, clear, this offer of sale was withdrawn by Denmark, and she remained absolutely indifferent to further suggestions of purchase. It was in this second attempt at purchase that the German influence was exhibited, it is said.

That Denmark has now voluntarily brought forth suggestions of a sale is believed to indicate that the Danes think the present moment a favorable one to disregard the injunctions of Berlin. The hope is expressed in diplomatic circles here that Congress will prove liberal enough to grant the comparatively small appropriation necessary for the purchase—about five millions.

It has never been doubted here but that Denmark would be glad to part with these possessions of hers for a reasonable sum at any time. As the Copenhagen reports say, industrial and social conditions on the islands are not favorable. The Danes lack the naval power to maintain effective control, 3,000 miles away from the home government, and her facilities for proper administration and development are equally limited. Recent strikes among the plantation laborers have served to make matters worse. But under American control, conditions could be materially changed for the better.

STRIKE OUTBREAK FEARED.

Police Guard Freight Yards of Lackawanna Railroad at Hoboken.

Hoboken, March 2.—Policemen are guarding the freight yards of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, where hundreds of freight handlers are on strike. The railroad company has filled their places with strike breakers, and the authorities fear trouble.

Netcong, March 2.—All employees on the Port Morris transfer of the Lackawanna received an increase in wages of more than 14 per cent.

COMMUTERS' SOCIAL CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Young Peopl eForm a Society for Promotion of Indoor and Outdoor Sports.

A new club has recently been formed in Plainfield, composed of a number of young people from this city and other nearby towns. The name of the organization is the Commuters' Social Club, and at a meeting held Monday evening the following officers were elected: President, Miss Laura Christiansen; vice president, Arthur E. Gaskill; treasurer, Miss Estelle Barry; chairman entertainment committee, Miss Florence Barry.

At present the clubs' activities have been confined to bowling, weekly meetings having been held on the Westfield Theatre bowling alleys every Monday night, and it is the intention of the club to continue these meetings for the next two months. While no startling scores have as yet been made, a marked improvement has been noticed in the various individual scores and with a few weeks' more practice it is expected that the club will be in shape to challenege some of the best bowlers of the organizations in this vicinity.

As the warmer weather approaches, it is planned to take a number of "hikes," jaunts, etc. Plans are now underway for a strawride to some nearby point, followed by dancing. It is also planned to give an invitation dance sometime in April.

While the membership is composed chiefly of commuters, as indicated by the title, this does not prevent those who do not belong to this class, from joining. The present membership includes the following names, and several more applications are awaiting action by the club: The Misses Laura Christiansen, Addie Barry, Florence Barry, Estelle Barry, Mamie Young, Rose Erbeck, Emma Dickson, Ethel Brick, Helen Johnson, Lena Erbeck, Lena Fahrenbach, Florence Lent Mae Perrine, and the Messrs. George Kling, John Johnson, Arthur Gaskill, Jack Schindler, Wilber Hummer, William Cashin and Arthur R. Sanders.

MISS FANNY WASHINTON TO GIVE SONG RECITAL

Miss Fanny Washington, of Virginia, will interpret songs and stories of the South, with banjo accompaniment, in a regital she will give in the parish house of Grace Episcopal church, tomorrow night at 8:15. Miss Washington, who recently made her professional debut in New York city, is well known in Plainfield, and her many friends will doubtless welcome this opportunity of hearing her. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Washington will give a special performance for the benefit of the children who will be admitted for a nominal sum.

"MASQUE NIGHT" ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD TO BAZAAR

"Masque night" proved to be a big drawing card at the Knights of Columbus bazaar last night, a record crowd being in attendance. Many came attired in costume both original and handsome. Dancing was the chief attraction, although the various booths were again well patronized. Tonight will be "Elk Night" and the committee in charge of the entertainment have arranged for an enjoyable time. Dancing will continue tonight until 2 o'clock. A number of shadow dances will be held.

Tomorrow will be "Knight Night" and all members of the club will gather at their meeting house to join in the festivities. On Saturday afternoon the youngsters will be accorded a treat, a special matinee being arranged for them. The fair will wind up Saturday night.

DENNICK AWARDED SCHOOL CONTRACT

His Bid of $24,751.00 to Construct Emerson Avenue Building Approved.

OTHER BIDS ACCEPTED

George J. Tobin Will Install Plumbing Work for $1,444—Out-of-Town Concerns Get Heating, Ventilating and Electrical Contracts.

All contracts for the construction of the new Emerson avenue school building were awarded at an adjourned meeting of the City Board of Education last night. William H. Dennick, of this city, secured the general contract on his bid of $24,751.00. The heating and ventilating went to Adams-Britz & Company, of New York, for the sum of $2,776.00, while George J. Tobin, of Plainfield, will do the plumbing at a figure of $1,444.00. The fourth and last award was to the Manhattan Engineering Company, of New York, for the electrical work, at a cost of $500.00. The successful bidders are to sign the necessary papers tomorrow and work on the building is to commence at once.

The original appropriation for the total cost of the school and ground together, with fixtures for the interior furnishing, was $6,000. Of this amount, $6,000 was expended in purchasing the several parcels of land required. It will be seen by adding the figures in the successful contracts that the total cost of the structure will foot up to $29,471.00, making it necessary for a further appropriation to care for the furnishing. This will be partly taken care of through a balance of $1,000 left over from the appropriation for the Evergreen avenue school furnishing. The estimated cost of the Emerson avenue building was $25,000. The Board of Education was in receipt of a communication from the Plainfield Board of Trade, asking that the contract for the heating and ventilating be awarded the lowest local bidder, but this was impossible under the existing state statutes. As it stands, the awards are half and half as far as local and out-of-town bidders are concerned, two of them going to Plainfield and two outside.

A detailed description of the new building was given in the Daily Press several weeks ago. The plans have been so arranged that additions can be made to the original wing from time to time as they are needed, so that in the end the Emerson avenue building will be as large as any in the city, with the exception of the High School.

The portion to be built now will have four class rooms with a pupil capacity of one hundred and fifty. The work is to be completed in time to have the building ready for occupancy at the beginning of the school term next September.

BIBB NOT YET ABLE TO GO TO PRISON

Negro Brought to Station in Ambulance But Goes Back to Hospital.

Claude Bibb, the negro who shot Iona Hunter Friday afternoon of last week, and then shot himself, was brought to the police station this morning for an investigation. Bibb made the journey in an ambulance. It was thought that he was able to go to the Elizabeth jail, but after questioning him for a few minutes, Chief Kiely decided that it would be inhuman to imprison him now, and Bibb went back to Muhlenberg. A close watch is being kept over him there, one policeman being detailed for day and another for night duty, and there is no possibility of his escape. The condition of the woman is reported as serious. She has contracted pneumonia in her wounds.

TAXI BUSINESS INCREASE CALLS FOR BIGGER OFFICE

The steady increase in the demand for taxi cab service has forced Harry Huff, manager of the Ford Taxi Company, to establish a headquarters at 159 North avenue and in the future his business will be carried on from that place. Archie Davies has been employed by Mr. Huff to take charge of the office and the company's new 'phone number will be 2418.

Since organizing the Ford Taxi Company with the green cars, Mr. Huff has established for himself a reputation for prompt and courteous treatment among a large circle of patrons and under his management the company's automobiles neccesary to look after its trade has increased from one to ten. He hopes to carry on the business in the future on an even higher plane of excellence, and has the well wishes of numerous patrons and friends in the undertaking. He has heretofore conducted the service from his home on East Sixth street.

W. D. MURRAY AGAIN HEADS Y. M. C. A.

Board of Directors Elect Officers for Year and Receive Reports.

The Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association met last night and elected these officers for the coming year: President, William D. Murray; vice-president, L. D. Albin; recording secretary, C. W. Spicer; treasurer, John H. Doane.

The other business of the evening was chiefly of a routine nature, during which Alfred C. Estes, the general secretary, presented his annual report of association activities for the year. President Murray will soon announce the complete list of committees within a short time.

The reports indicated that the association is in excellent condition from a financial, as well as spiritual standpoint, and there is considerable interest in the work for the coming year which will include a campaign for a new building to be erected at East Fifth and Sycamore streets.

DOG RUNS AMUCK AND IS LOCKED UP

Rabies Scare Results When Morris Israel is Bitten Twice.

Locked up in the police station today there is a perfectly healthy and innocent looking bulldog who paces his cell and wonders what it is all about as he peers out between iron bars.

The dog is being held as a suspect. If his canine brain could realize the seriousness of the charge against him, he would probably experience the morbid sensation of a prisoner in the deathhouse, for he may be led out to face a firing squad. Capital punishment is to be meted out if he is proven guilty, for he is suspected of being a victim of rabies.

Morris Israel, a carpenter living at 423 John street, was bitten twice by the dog this morning. His wounds have been dressed and he will be closely watched by physicians. The animal created a great deal of excitement in the neighborhood of the Israel home. It was shortly before 10 o'clock when it was first noticed, and its actions excited the suspicions of Mr. Israel. He had never seen the dog before and fearing that it was mad, he telephoned palice headquarters and asked that an officer be sent to kill it. Patrolman Martin Welsh was sent to the home by Lieut. Higgins, but by the time he arrived Israel had been bitten twice by the dog in trying to catch it. One wound was inflicted on the arm and another on the leg. Instead of killing the dog Patrolman Welsh determined to catch it so that an examination could be made and with the assistance of Frank Diehl, who lives at 429 John street, he managed to snare the animal after difficult work.

The wounds of Mr. Israel were attended by Dr. Cregar. They are slight and unless it develops that there is danger of rabies he will suffer no inconvenience.

At police headquarters the dog was examined by Dr. Winters, who said that it was apparently healthy. The animal will be kept locked up and watched for a few days.

ELKS THRONG KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS BAZAAR

"Elk Night" at the Columbus bazaar was pronounced the most successful night of the fair at the Columbus Auditorium, one of the largest crowds being in attendance last night. Elks turned out in large numbers, entered into the spirit of the carnival, and not a few came away with Indian blankets, silverware, sweets, cut glass and other articles tucked under their arms. Dancing was continued throughout the entire evening, and it was not until 1:30 this morning that "Home, Sweet Home," was played.

All the booths were well patronized, and bowling and billiard playing occupied the attention of a large number of the men present. The gypsy fortune-tellers were kept busy the entire evening answering questions pertaining to business, the home, love affairs and forecasting the future.

Tonight will be "Knight Night," and members of the club are expected to be present in full force. The entertainment committee has arranged an attractive program for this evening. Tomorrow night the bazaar will wind up, a children's matinee being held in the afternoon.

Boston, March 3.—Three alarms were sounded early today for a threatening fire in the Shoe and Leather building, Nos. 112 to 128 Bedford street, in the heart of the city's wholesale district. The damage to the building and the more than two-score occupants, according to fire officials, was $40,000.

MACHINIST IS CUT BY UNKNOWN ITALIAN

Roy Beckley Has Dangerous Wound as Result of Fight in So. Plainfield.

Roy Beckley, a young machinist of 214 West Fifth street, is at Muhlenberg Hospital in a serious condition as a result of a stab wound received last night in a mysterious fight with an unknown Italian. The stabbing occurred in South Plainfield and the Italian escaped. Local authorities are aiding in the search for him, but they have only a meagre description.

Beckley is employed at the Spicer plant. He has not been able to tell of events which led up to the fight, but made a statement immediately after the stabbing in which he admitted he did not know the man with whom he was fighting.

About 8:30 last night Beckley and the Italian met on Lehigh avenue in South Plainfield. There was a short argument, according to the only eyewitness, after which blows were struck and they separated. Beckley turned and walked into a nearby hotel, unaware of the fact that a knife had entered his groin and inflicted a dangerous wound. The Italian walked hurriedly down the street. Friends of Beckley called attention to blood on his shirt when he entered the building and he was surprised to learn that he had been stabbed. Dr. Albert Pittis was called and Louis Lipschitz, of South Plainfield, took Beckley to Munlenberg Hospital, where it was necessary to operate in order to learn the extent of his injuries. He is not fatally injured.

Lawrence Bray, of South Plainfield, was the only man who saw the fight and he cannot give a detailed description of the Italian. It is believed that he worked at Spicer's and that the two men fought as the result of an argument that started over their work. An investigation is being made today.

MANY NAMES IN FOR CHORUS CHOIR

More Than 500 Already Signed to Sing at Biederwolf Revival.

The music committee having in charge the music for the Beiderwolf campaign, met at headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Reports from all districts in the city are very encouraging, and over 500 names for the choir have already been secured. The city will be divided into units, each one having a captain in charge. More than 1,000 will be in this large chorus choir, and an orchestra of over fifty pieces will assist with the music. Clifford A. Braider will have charge and all persons over fifteen who can sing, are urged to send their names to him. The first installment of the new hymn book has been received and the first service at which the chorus will sing will be the union service to be held in the First Methodist church on Wednesday, March 8, 1916. The other union meetings so far announced are as follows:

March 29—Trinity Reformed church; leader, Rev. C. E. Herring.

Y. W. C. A. TO CELEBRATE FOUNDING OF ASSOCIATION

The local Y. W. C. A. will hold their service of rejoicing in the First Baptist church tonight in celebration of the actual founding of the Young Women's Christian Association in America fifty years ago. The service is open to the public as well as to the members of the association, and it is hoped that a large gathering will be in attendance. Miss Harriet Taylor, national secretary, will be the speaker of the evening. A chorus of sixty voices will take part in the musical service and Miss Leontine de Ahna, of this city, will sing a solo.

It is especially urged that all members of the association having contribution envelopes for the Grace H. Dodge Memorial Endowment Fund bring them tonfght when a special collection will be taken up. Members of the association will act as ushers tonight.

OSCAR DILTS SURPRISED.

Oscar Dilts, of Jackson avenue, the borough, was the guest of honor at a surprise party given in his honor last night by Ernest Pruden and Leroy Adams. Eighteen young people enjoyed an evening of dancing, singing and playing games. Refreshments were served later. Those present included Misses Helen McAfee, Lillian Spencer, Margaret Ewart, Marion Avery, Dorothy Martin, Ethel Adams, Bertha Keller, Agnes Griffiths, Cleo Vail, and the Messrs. Ernest Pruden, John Daws, Clifford Causbrook, Harry Kirch, Alfred Seidel, Walter Debele, Oscar Dilts and Warren Townley.

GERMAN TROOPS IN DOUAUMONT

Victory Was Attended by "Cruel Losses" Reports Paris War Office.

1,000 FRENCH TAKEN

British Win Victory in Flanders—New German Drive Uncovered in Belgium—Verdun Battle Again Rages With Horrible Slaughter.

Berlin, March 3.—An important gain for the German troops attacking Verdun from the northeast is announced by the German war office in a statement issued today. It is reported that the French have been driven from the village of Douaument, where the Germans took 1,000 prisoners. At the same time it is admitted that the English broke through a German position south of Ypres, in West Flanders. The battle of Verdun is again raging with the utmost intensity, the Germans delivering terrific blows against the French positions.

"Cruel Losses" Attend Victory.

Paris, March .—French war statement:

"To the north of Verdun the bombardment and the attacks of the enemy have continued throughout the night. The fighting is going on with redoubled violence in the sector of the village of Douaumont. After several attempts, which were all repulsed with cruel losses, the Germans succeeded in penetrating our advanced line in the village of Dououmont, where the combat continues furiously. To the east of the village of Vaux, German attacks were launched at about the same hour. Assaults directed from the north and northeast have broken down under our gunfire and by the fire of our machine guns. The enemy has been obliged to retire, leaving amidst our barbed wire entanglements a large number of dead."

Mass Troops in Belgium.

Amsterdam, March 3.—Extensive movements of German troops are under way in Belgium. Fleets of German aeroplanes are patrolling the West Flanders front to prevent air scouts of the Allies from taking observations behind the German lines. Many artillery trains have been passing west in the past forty-eight hours bearing men and ammunition. The artillery duel on the West Flanders front has been in progress for nearly ninety-six hours and the thunder of the big guns is plainly audible on the Belgian and Dutch frontier.

Confidence in Germany.

Amsterdam, March 3.—German newspapers publish an apparently semi-official note, saying that the new German war loan appears in token of the absolute certainty of the Central powers of winning a military victory.

Two More Zeppelins Lost.

Reports reach here to the effect that the Germans have lost two more Zeppelins. The airships are said to have been wrecked and destroyed while engaged in a movement against the enemy.

Portugal Holds German Ships.

Bombay, March 3.—The Portuguese flag was hoisted today over all the German merchantmen in the Port of Mormugao, Portuguese India.

Italy Answers War Talk.

Rome, March 3.—An inspired editorial in the Giornale D'Italia today says that those who hope to see Italy declare war against Germany are doomed to disappointment. The editorial is regarded as the government's answer to the interventionists in Parliament who are trying to overthrow the Salandra cabinet because of its foreign policy.

Turk Forts Are Bombarded.

Paris, March 3.—A squadron of French aeroplanes from Saloniki has bombarded the Turkish forts and army camp around Smyrna, it was announced today by the War Office.

French Steamer Sunk.

Bordeaux, France, March 3.—The French S. S. Lakme is reported to have been sunk by a German submarine southwest of the island of Dyeu.

ST. MARY'S SOCIAL CLUB TO GIVE INVITATION DANCE

Plans have been completed for the reception to be given under the auspices of St. Mary's Social club in T. A. B. hall, Tuesday evening, March 7. Several hundred invitations have been issued for the event, which promises to be the biggest affair yet conducted by the club. One of the features of the evening will be a cotillion which will be led by St. Mary's fife, drum and bugle corps. The committee in charge of the affair comprises the Misses Alice McAfee, chairman; Agnes Mahoney, Kathryn Neylon, Kitty Ellis, Mary Murray, Elizabeth Mara, Regina Brady, Helen Higgins, Julia Reagan, Agnes Griffin, Mary Boyle, May Kennedy, Kathryne Fitzgerald, Mary Power, Teresa McDonald and the officers of the club.

KENNEY ABSENT AND CHAMBER ADJOURNS

Meeting Will Probably Be Held Within a Few Days, However.

Because of the enforced absence of President David T. Kenney there was no meeting of the Plainfield Chamber of Commerce last night. Members of the organization assembled at the regular hour in the rooms of the Chamber in the Babcock building and waited for some time on the presiding officer but he had been called out of the city.

There will be an adjourned meeting within a very short time, according to Secretary Keating. A referendum vote is to be taken on the new La Follette Seaman's bill, and this must be in the hands of the National Chamber of Commerce by March 12. Mr. Keating has made a careful study of the act and its possible effects on American commerce and he will explain to members when they assemble to decide on a vote. It is possible that a meeting will be held Thursday of next week.

MANTZ IS CAUGHT IN BOUND BROOK

Burglar Suspect Recognized There by John Reinhart.

Elmer Mantz, wanted here for attempted burglary, was arrested in Bound Brook last night by Chief of Police Brampton. The arrest was brought about by John Reinhart, secretary of the local police department. Reinhart came upon Mantz on the street there last night. He knew that local officers had been looking for the man since Edward Parsons was arrested by Lieut. Higgins early in the week. Reinhart told Chief Brampton that Mantz was a fugitive from the Plainfield police, and the man was arrested. He denied his identity but when Reinhart suggested that he be searched letters were found in his pocket which proved that he was the man wanted, after which he admitted the justice of the arrest.

Mantz was locked up in Bound Brook and Capt. Flynn will bring him back here today. He will be arraigned before Judge De Meza tomorrow morning on a charge of burglary. The case of Parsons is also set for tomorrow. The two men are accused of having entered the office of the Metropolitan Insurance Company for the purpose of blowing the safe. There was no evidence on which to base an arrest on the night of the crime, but Lieut. Morris Higgins and Patrolman John Kelly worked up a case against the two men through clever detective work, and Parsons has admitted his guilt, implicating Mantz.

MRS. CLARENCE WOODCOCK DIES IN HER 62D YEAR

Mrs. Jeanette Woodcock, aged 62 years, wife of Clarence Woodcock, died today noon at her home on West Seventh street. For the past few years she had been in poor health, and recently she failed rapidly. Mrs. Woodcock was born in New Rochelle, N. Y., May 13, 1854, and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hillman, formerly of Plainfield.

Mr. Woodcock was for many years a faithful attendant at the Congregational church, and enjoyed a wide acquaintance. Beside a husband, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Frank T. Clawson, of West Seventh street, and Mrs. William A. Gaston, of San Dimas, California. The funeral notice will be given later.

LOCAL WOMAN SINGS AT MUSICALE AT LAKEWOOD

Miss Florence Nightingale, who has vocal pupils in Plainfield, was the soloist yesterday evening at a musical given by Mrs. Charles Pack, at Lathrop Hall, Lakewood. A Lakewood paper, in speaking of her work, says: "Miss Florence Nightingale is a charming singer with a beautiful soprano voice and her singing is characterized by pure diction and artistic interpretation."

Among the songs was one entitled "She Comes Not," composed by Mrs. Elizabeth Bowen Foster, of Plainfield.

The accompaniments were splendidly played by Ellmer Zoller.

FIRE RAGES IN LONDON.

Tilton, N. H., March 3.—Fire destroyed two buildings in London, ten miles from Tilton, this morning, and at a late hour had spread to the Public Library. The local fire department was unable to cope with the situation and help was sent from Concord.

A LEAP-YEAR BABY.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dresselt, of Somerset street, are the parents of a daughter, born to them Tuesday. The date of February 29 will prevent the young miss from having a birthday celebration until she is four years old.

SENATE STANDS BY WILSON, TABLING GORE RESOLUTION BY AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY

WARNING TO AMERICAN TRAVELERS IS DENIED, 58 TO 14, WHEN CALLED UP IN UPPER HOUSE OF CONGRESS.

GREAT PERSONAL VICTORY FOR THE PRESIDENT

Will Have Strong Effect on Congress, Although Confusion is so Great That All Efforts to Poll This Body Have Proven Fruitless—Democratic and Republican Leaders Are Called to White House For Conference.

Washington, March 3.—The Senate today upheld the hands of President Wilson in the submarine situation. By an overwhelming vote of 58 yeas to 14 noes it laid on the table without debate the resolution of Senator Gore, Democrat, of Oklahoma, which, if adopted, would have withdrawn from American citizens the right to take passage on armed belligerent ships whether armed for defense or offense.

No sooner had the resolutions been disposed of and the Shields dam site bill had been called up as the unfinished business than the foreign relations storm broke out afresh precipitating a heated debate that promised to keep the foreign situation before the Senate indefinitely.

Overwhelming defeat of the resolution in the Senate clarified matters somewhat in Washington today, although there is yet no manner of determinating how the House would line up if a show down is forced immediately. President Wilson has won a great victory, in the opinion of all, and it is admitted that the vote of confidence in the Senate will have a potent influence on members of Congress. However, there is still strong sentiment there in favor of warning Americans off armed liners and those who favor the passage of such a resolution are also opposed to a record vote at this time.

President Wilson's denial of the charge of Senator Gore made on the floor of the upper house yesterday was sufficiently emphatic to carry weight, and there are but few men in public affairs here who believe that he has said or done anything that would indicate a desire to plunge this country into the present European conflict, despite the dramatic assertions of the blind senator from Oklahoma.

The confusion is so great that all efforts to poll members of the house on the warning have failed. President Wilson has sent for many leaders, even Representative Mann, floor leader of the Republicans, and he is not making a fight on party lines, but is urging all Congressmen, whether Democrat or Republican, to stand by on a matter of vital importance to the entire nation.

An attempt will be made to force a vote in the house on a similar motion to table early next week.

RANK OF ELEVENTH FOR WATCHUNG TROOP

Local Cavalry Company Commended for Its Good Work on Rifle Range.

The Watchung Troop—Troop D of this city—won the rank of eleventh in rifle range shooting at Seagirt late last summer, although by far the youngest of the sixty-four competing organizations. This Captain Borden announced at the weekly drill last night, according to the Adjutant-General's report, just issued, which commends the troop highly.

The attendance at the drill was large, since there are now fifty-six names on the roll, and after some close order marching in the snow, the troop assembled in their headquarters on the corner of Putnam and Kensington avenues to hear two interesting lectures, one of camp sanitation and first aid; the other on the care and use of the rifle. The first was delivered by Captain Quimby, of the medical corps of the squadron, and the other by Lieutenant Ballantyne, of the school of gunnery.

Interest in the troop has extended to Westfield. Among the recent recruits, which include Edward F. and Frederick F. Stevenson, of this city, and these Westfielders: Lawrence A. Weaver, George L. Alpers, Harris D. Rush and Reginald G. Ralli.

THIEVES AGAIN VISIT BOROUGH GREEN HOUSE

The greenhouse of Joseph Costello, on Harrison avenue, the borough, was broken into last evening for the second time within the past few weeks. The last time that thieves broke in they left the door open and 6,000 plants were ruined by freezing. Mr. Costello discovered that he had been robbed again when he went to attend to the fires for the night. Entrance was obtained by forcing the lock of the front door. Upon taking an inventory Mr. Costello discovered that a few tools and seven sticks of dynamite were missing.

Mr. Costello notified the borough police at once, and Roundsman Keller was put on the case. The police say that they have a clue, and it is believed that an arrest can be looked for within the next twenty-four hours.

THREE KILLED IN WRECK NEAR WEST ALBANY

Albany, N. Y., March 3.—Three persons were killed and three others injured, two of them slightly, when a freight train ran into an express train near West Albany shortly after 5 o'clock this morning.

COMMUNITY CENTER DANCE.

The North Plainfield Community Center will give a dance this evening in the Harrison Avenue School. Music will be furnished by Miss Bertha Keller and Frank Keller, piano and violin. Refreshments will be served. The committee in charge comprises Mrs. Frank Keller, chairman; Mrs. Howard Toms, Mrs. Lawrence Benner, Miss Bertha Keller and Colonel A. G. Perry.

THREE HORSES BURN IN N. Y.

New York, March 3.—Three horses perished early today in a two-alarm fire that did $5,000 damage at No. 430 East 102d street. The building is tenanted by the National Lead Company and several factories. The fire apparently started in the Lead Company's stables in a rear extension.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF NOONDAY MEETINGS

Resume of Religious Movement Started a Year Ago in This City.

Among the many religious activities in this city which has attracted considerable attention and interest is the men's noon-day gospel meeting conducted in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue by local Christian business men. During the past year these meetings have been held regularly, being largely attended by men of all beliefs or no belief. The following written by one of those greatly interested in the movement gives a clear idea of the meeting and its purposes:

"On February 2 we celebrated the completion of our first year of noonday meetings for men. The first meeting was held Wednesday, February 3, 1915, at 12:30 o'clock in the W. C. T. U. rooms, which place is used every night in the year excepting Wednesday by the Plainfield Rescue Mission.

"There were sixteen men present at the first meeting, which was in charge of F. H. Andrews. He explained the character of the meeting, which is similar to the Fulton street and John street meetings in New York. The opening song-service has been an inspiration. Prayer and testimony have been freely given with the idea of bettr fitting men for Christian service. The average attendance at the Wednesday meetings has been fourteen. Among the leaders from outside the city have been Rev. Charles Taylor, of Bedford, Eng., and Al. Saunders, of Scranton.

MRS ANN WALDRON.

Mrs. Ann Waldron, aged seventy-nine years, died last night at the home of her nephew, Andrew Carney, of 37 Lincoln place. She had been ill only two weeks with grip and complications. Mrs. Waldron had resided in the borough for many years, and had a wide acquaintance. Beside Mr. Carney, her only surviving relatives are two sons, Thomas and James Waldron, both of the borough. The funeral will be held at the late residence tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, and later in St. Joseph's church. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

MISS ALICE D. KARR DIES IN WASHINGTON

Word was received in this city today of the death of Miss Alice D Karr, sister of Mrs. William H. Giese, of this city, on Monday, February 28, at her home in Washington, D. C. The funeral services were held in that city on Wednesday.

Beside Mrs. Giese, Miss Karr is survived by her father, C. Powel Karr, of Washington; three brothers, Maurice B. Karr, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Sydney H. Karr, of Big Pool, Maryland, and Theodore F. Karr, of Harrisburg, Pa. Miss Karr was a former resident of Plainfield.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, it to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

SENATE U-BOAT STORM CENTER

President Denies Gore's War Assertions.

BERNSTORFF IN LIMELIGHT

Hint That German Envoy's Threat if United States Severed Diplomatic Relations With Berlin Strife Might Result Stirred Trouble—Lodge Is Defender of President.

PRESIDENT DENIES GORE'S STATEMENT.

The White House issued this statement denying Senator Gore's assertion: "When the attention of the White House was called to certain statements in Senator Gore's speech the president authorised an unqualified denial of any utterance to which any such meaning could be attached."

Washington, March 3.—Count von Bernstorff, it is said, added to the stormy session of the senate on the submarine issue. It was alleged that the count in the recent negotiations had informed Secretary Lansing that if the United States severed diplomatic relations with the Berlin government Germany would follow with a declaration of war.

The senate was the center of the international storm. It has been many years since the elder statesmen were so sharply stirred as they were when Senator Gore of Oklahoma, a radical Democrat and close friend of William Jennings Bryan, declared that he had it on good authority that President Wilson had said he expected war and that war would not be altogether an evil, as American participation might end the European struggle by midsummer and so do a great service to civilization.

Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, who has seen the president several times lately, when challenged to deny the statement said the president had never intimated that he thought war would be good for the United States or that he thought American participation in the European struggle would end it by midsummer.

Denied by President.

The White House announced that in regard to "certain statements in Senator Gore's speech the president authorized an unqualified denial of any utterances to which any such meaning could be attached."

Even before Senator Gore spoke in favor of his resolution warning Americans from armed belligerent ships Mr. Stone had made a profound impression by reading a prepared statement, in which he formally announced his divergence from the president and summarized the president's view as being that if the "German government should persist in their policy of sinking armed merchantmen without warning he would sever diplomatic relations and submit the matter to congress, which under the constitution is the war making power."

Senator Gore's statement was:

"I introduced this resolution because I was apprehensive that we were speeding headlong upon war. Perhaps I ought to go further and say what I have hitherto avoided saying, that my action was based upon a report which seemed to come from the highest and most responsible authority, that certain senators and certain members of the house, in a conference with the president of the United States, received from the president the information, if not the declaration, that if Germany insisted upon her position the United States would insist upon her position, and that it would result probably in a breach of diplomatic relations, and that a breach of diplomatic relations would probably be followed by a state of war, and that a state of war might not be of itself and of necessity an evil to the republic, but that the United States, by entering upon war now, might be able to bring it to a conclusion by midsummer and thus render a great service to civilization.

"Mr. President," added the senator, "I cannot say what the truth may be. I tell you the tale as it was told to me. This came to my ears in such a way, with such a concurrence of testimony, with such internal and external marks of truth, that I feared it might be the truth, and if such a thing be conceivable I did not feel that, discharging my duty as a senator, I could withhold whatever feeble service I might render to avert the catastrophe of war.

Can't Vouch For Truth.

"Now, I do not know that this report is the truth. I simply suggest it as explaining my conduct. I think the senator from Massachusetts (Lodge) and the senator from Mississippi (Williams) are right in saying that the president has a right to know whether congress will back him in the opinion, if he has such an opinion, that the sinking of an armed belligerent ship will be a sufficient cause for war, and I think, too, Mr. President, that members of the senate and that members of the other house have a right to show whether the opinions and sentiments imputed to the president were given in their interview with him.

"Mr. President, if the senator from Missouri (Mr. Stone) will deny that suggestions of that sort in substance were made his denial would be conclusive with me. If the senator from Indiana (Kern) will say to the senate upon his responsibility as a senator that the president did not indicate that war might not be ungrateful and that this republic could render a great service to civilization his denial will be binding upon me."

Stone Denies It.

"The president of the United States made no such statement to me as quoted by the senator from Oklahoma," answered Senator Stone. "Whatever the president said to me is something that I do not care to repeat. When I go to the White House to hold a conversation with the president, if I go anywhere to hold a conversation with a senator or any other official, what he says to me is sacred. I have not repeated conversations I have had with the president. I have stated impressions that the conversations I had with him made upon my mind, and I stated them in substance in a letter I wrote to the president, which was given to the public, but I have not repeated the conversations themselves."

Lodge Defends President.

In one of the greatest nonpartisan debates the senate has seen in years Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee declared he was not in accord with the president, Senator Lodge, the ranking Republican, pledged his support to the president's determination to secure to Americans their rights on the high seas, and Senator John Sharp Williams, just from a sick bed, delivered a withering denunciation of the president's opponent.

With the senate suddenly taking the initiative in the armed merchantman controversy, the house foreign affairs committee again followed a course of inaction. The committee convened and discussed the delicate situation. It is believed that early action will be taken.

EPWORTH LEAGUE GIVES AN UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church gave a unique entertainment in the lecture room of the church last evening, entitled "The Mid-Year Camp."

In the center of the room was an imitation camp fire ingeniously made with red crepe paper, an electric light and cord wood. Not far from the fire was a tent with an American flag at its side. Cedar trees were placed here and there about the room to make it appear as if the camp was located in the woods. All of the electric lights were wrapped in red crepe paper and the whole decorative effect was very pleasing.

From 8 o'clock until 9 30 games were played. At 9:30 a program of music and recitations was given. The program included a solo, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," by Louis Watts; a reading, "The Setting Hen," by Mrs. George T. Schenck; a piano solo by Miss Margaret Fuller; a recitation by Mrs. George T. Schenck and a selection by Miss Adelaide Ramsey, H. A. Wickhim and William Gangloff, who played the mandolin, banjo and violin respectively. The trio were accompanied at the piano by Miss Estelle Eick.

Following this program, a camp supper was served, and then the affair broke up. It was a great success, and will probably be repeated. The members of the committee in charge were Miss Ella Stites, chairman; Misses Viola Bowlby, Adelaide Ramsey, Harry Townley, Clark Ramsey and William Gangloff.

Miss Sophia Jenner has gone to Rutherford for a short visit.

The Farther Lights Society, an auxiliary of the First Baptist church, will meet with Mrs. Joseph Mitzie tomorrow afternoon.

SEEK SITE TO SUGGEST FOR FLEMINGTON UNION STATION

Flemington, March 3.—A committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce is looking over the town for the purpose of selecting a site to be suggested for a union railroad station. The Central, Lehigh and Pennsylvania railroads now have stations in different parts of the borough. The committee is looking into questions of rights of way and grade.

The residents for a long time have looked forward to the erection of a union passenger station. It is expected that the Chamber of Commerce will invite the railroad officials to visit Flemington and go over the project as soon as the committee is able to lay the question before them and point out the mutual advantages of a union passenger station.

The Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting Tuesday night, awarded the $5 in gold offered for an appropriate slogan to Earle T. Connet. "Progress and Fame, Flemington's Aim," was the slogan he submitted. There were 130 suggestions received. Seventy-six new members were received, making a total membership of 134. It is expected that the membership will reach 200 within a short time.

Miss Dorothy Bellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard W. Bellis, of 601 East Second street, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is said to be improved.

RUTGERS COLLEGE NOTES.

New Brunswick, March 3.—Harry T. Rockefeller, president of the senior class, has announced the following committee appointments: Class day, chairman, Ralph P. White; William Bowles, William T. Hutchinson and Robert L. Schamug-Hauseir; alumni day, chairman, Raymond B. Searle; George F. Herben, Frank C. Johnson, Herbert C. Segur, Adrian C. Minton; class day nominating committee, Earl S. Willerer, Walter K. Wood, Ralph W. Voorhees; senior ball committee, Clarkson A. Cranmer, Dudley B. Browning, Myron J. Folensbee, Edward S. Ingham, Walter D. Reese, Jerome Taylor, Clarence H. Morey, Fred J. Ulrich, William Sprague, Anton A. Raven, Jr., William W. Payne, Donald D Hand; banquet committee, Ralph G. Seiler, Linwood L. Lee, James M. Coleman, Christian W. Braun. George H. Wheeler, of Newark, is chairman of the senior cap and gown committee, and Raymond Austin, chairman of the senior picture committee.

The Queen's Players held their first rehearsal Wednesday evening of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," by Beaumont and Fletcher. This play will be given during commencement week in June and will be the first commencement performance to be given by the dramatic club. The performance will be given for the benefit of the athletic association of the college.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wright, of Plainfield, are spending a few days in New York city and are stopping at the Wolcott Hotel.

SENATOR MARTINE FAVORS WITTPENN

Says Naval Officer is "Thoroughly Equipped for Governorship."

Jersey City, March 3.—United States Senator James E. Martine, of New Jersey, will back Naval Officer H. Otto Wittpenn, of this city, in his candidacy for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination. In a letter received from Washington by John J. McGovern, chairman of the Hudson County Democratic Committee, today, Mr. Martine says he believes Mr. Wittpenn to be "thoroughly equipped" for the Governorship. The letter of Senator Martine follows:

"I have known Mr. Wittpenn for a number of years and have watched his progress with much interest. His administration as Mayor of Jersey City appealed to me, and I believe it advanced the general well-being of the city.

"I believe H. Otto Wittpenn to be thoroughly equipped and well qualified to fill the distinguished and honorable position for which he is now a candidate."

Honors for the presentation of the first Democratic campaign slogan go to John A. Eccleston, of Hackensack, who today sent the following to Mr. Wittpenn at his headquarters in this city:

"Who will win? Why waste weeks wondering, when we want Wilson-Wittpenn. Watchful waiting will win with willing workers. Wisdom worth while—What!"

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Tryouts are now being held for the Senior play, "The Taming of the Shrew," and in another week or so the cast will be decided on and rehearsals be begun. The play will be staged in the High School auditorium on the night of April 8.

In Want Ads Do Not Use An Unnecessary Word, Nor Omit a Necessary One

A want ad may be too short as well as too long. There ought to be, always, a rational brevity—but this should not preclude a touch of "human interest"—the statement of such facts as will give the advertisements a certain DEFINITENESS instead of vagueness.

CAMDEN DEMOCRATS TO GIVE A DOLLAR DINNER

At a joint meeting held last evening by members of the Andrew Jackson Club and the Camden Democratic Club, it was decided to hold a "Dollar Dinner" in Camden. A committee was appointed, comprising five members from each club, which immediately conferred and arranged to hold the affair on Thursday evening, April 6, 1916.

Invitations will be extended every Democrat. A general discussion took place and the consensus of opinion was that the dinner would have no particular significance as far as endorsement of candidates might be concerned.

Further arrangements will be made by the following committee: Harry M. Knight, chairman; George M. D. Peterman, vice chairman; Albert Neutze, secretary; John J. Welsh, treasurer, and William Cleary, Walter Wilson, A. K. Savacool, John T. Wright, Philip Rea and Edward J. Kelleher. Any Democrat may secure a ticket by writing to John J. Welsh, treasurer, 610 Broadway, Camden, N. J.

BURNETT C. KENYON NOW HEADS NEW COMPANY

Burnett C. Kenyon, formerly of this city and for many years president of the Diehl Manufacturing Company, of Elizabethport, and who retired to private life in 1914, owing to ill health, is now the head of a new enterprise of magnitude, formed in Philadelphia. The company is incorporated under the name of the Duplex Metallic Company. Mr. Kenyon, like many other men, became restive under inactivity when his health was fully restored and was eager to again assume the responsibilities of active business life.

The Duplex Metallic Company has its factory, mill and executive office at Conshohocken, Pa. It will manufacture copper-clad wire and copper-clad sheets by an entirely new process on which it is said to hold basic patents.

DISLIKES SYSTEM OF APPOINTMENT

Henry A. Wise Wood Points Out Defects in Making of Army and Navy Officers.

TOO MUCH POLITICS

Many Senators and Congressmen Use the Power of Selection to Pay Political Debts, says Mr. Wood—Appointments Should be Made on Merit.

While commending the action of signing the bill to increase the number of cadets in the Naval Academy, Henry A. Wise Wood, who is chairman of the Conferedate Committee on National Preparedness, deplores the fact that no change has been made in the method of appointment, claiming that in the selection of material out of which to make officers upon whose ability and conduct the fate of the nation may one day turn there is a fatal defect in the system. Mr. Wood in speaking on the subject says:

"A system providing that all of the raw material out of which the government is to make army and navy officers must pass through a political gateway is inherently bad.

"While many of those holding the power distribute their recommendations (which are equivalent to appointments) with full consciousness of the responsibility involved, there are also many senators and congressmen who give little heed to the fortunes of the country but instead use the power of selection to pay political debts. A double waste ensues—a waste of money on the part of the government in carrying on in the academies, for a year, or perhaps longer, cadets in whom failure is inevitable; a waste of opportunity to get the right kind of boys, because under the plan of political preferment the most able youth in a congressional district may have absolutely no chance to go either to West Point or to Annapolis, he having no 'friend at court.'

"The ordinary records of the two academies reveal the defects of the system: At West Point about 33 per cent. of the cadets drop out. At Annapolis in ordinary times about 18 per cent. of the midshipmen drop out during the first year and 26 per cent. drop out during the four years' course. These figures do not, however, include the recent upheaval at Annapolis resulting in the failure of approximately 80 men of all four classes, though the average percentage required in the course of study was only 62.5 per cent.

"But the influence of politics does not end with the appointment of the cadet, nor even with his failure. The powerful political hand that puts a young man into either academy may often be raised to keep him there after he has been tried and found wanting. At times a twenty-five cent telegram may set all the machinery of a vast political organization into motion to save a failure from dismissal.

"It has been estimated, unofficially, that it costs the government upwards of $10,000 to give a cadet in either West Point or Annapolis his course of four years. An estimate of $12,000 was thought high. Assuming, however, that the four years' course costs even no more than a course in Harvard or Yale it is still too valuable a thing to be left to the exigencies of politics. The waste of money that ensues is the lesser of the two evils attached; the weakening of the army and the navy is the greater evil, for the weakness extends beyond the men themselves down into the ranks.

"These appointments belong to the whole people and the doors of the two academies should be open to the young men in each congressional district, and in each territory, who in competitive examinations have demonstrated that they above all others are best fitted.

"Recognizing their responsibility, and the right of every young man to appointment, some Congressmen have selected their candidates by holding public examinations, but the law governing appointments should be so changed that every official holding the power to recommend should follow this rule. Such a course would bring out the very best material in each district, would stimulate the ambition of many youths, would free the academies from the burden of dead wood, and, when unexpected vacancies did occur, there would be available a list of men of known ability from which to make a selection.

"The defects of the political system of appointment have long been recognized by those familiar with conditions at the academies. In his annual report for 1913, the superintendent, Colonel C. P. Townsley, of West Point, said: 'These cadetships belong to the people of the district, state, territory, etc., and should be open competitively to all the youths eligible to compete; and it is my recommendation that a law be enacted requiring competitive examinations to be held for each vacancy, that youth to be appointed who passes successfully the best mental examination, and who is physically and morally qualified. The examination questions should be prepared by the Academic Board and a successful passing of the competitive examination should qualify a youth to enter, so that no other mental examination need be required. The details of conducting such examinations should, I think, be left to the Secretary of War. By announcing in the local papers some ten months or a year in advance that such a competitive examination will be held, stating its scope, it is believed that there will be a large number of eligible youths who will present themselves for examination in each district from which a vacancy is to be filled.'

"We have set out to repair the neglect of years in the matter of our national defenses, and we shall increase our army and our navy to a larger extent than we have ever done before in a time of peace. Congress should now correct this waste and abuse. As the efficiency of the army's and navy's increase will depend very largely on the personnel of the officers under whose direction ships and fortifications are to be built and manned and men are to be trained, the character of the officers comes very nearly being the crux of the whole proposition of national defense, once a program has been decided upon.

"A few years hence the boys now in West Point and in Annapolis will be in charge of not only the disbursements of vast sums and of property aggregating millions, but they will be charged with various grave responsibilities wherein failure may bring about widespread disaster. Is it not high time that we withdrew a matter of such tremendous importance from the political pay table and restored this right of selection for service to the people themselves?"

AMMERMAN WILL CASE IS DECIDED

Judge Beekman Upholds the Caveat Filed by Granddaughter of Testator.

Somerville, March 3.—Judge Daniel H. Beekman, sitting in the Orphans' Court and Court of Common Pleas here this morning, handed down a decision in the Albert J. Ammerman will case which upholds the caveat filed by a granddaughter of the testator, Mrs. Margaret Scully. As a result the will was not admitted to probate and distribution of the big estate cannot be made. A large number of legatees are affected, among them Mrs. John L. Dolliver, of Plainfield. A valuation of the estate puts the figure at $40,000, but it is in reality worth a great deal more.

The decision of Judge Beekman was based on testimony given at a hearing in the Orphans' Court recently by Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Coleman, of Somerville, who were the only witnesses to the holographic document. They declared that they had affixed their names at the bottom of the will when Ammerman called at their home one evening, but that at the time Ammerman himself had not signed it nor did he in their presence at any other time. Judge Beekman pointed out that failure on the part of the testator to sign the will in the presence of the witnesses was not in accordance with the expressed statutes and provisions of New Jersey law. Mrs. Scully was mentioned in the will but only as a very small beneficiary, receiving the income of but $2,000. She protested the admission of the will to probate through her counsel, John F. Reger, and as the matter stands now, the defendant legatees must file an appeal or allow the entire estate to become the property of Mrs. Scully.

Ammerman was a wealthy retired farmer but at the time of his death resided in Somerville. In addition to Mrs. Scully, the legatees he mentioned and who he intended should share his wealth were the following: Five children of his son, Paul Ammerman, deceased; six children of another son, William D. Ammerman; the Reformed church of Bedminster, the Somerset hospital at Somerville, the Third Reformed church at Raritan, Mrs. Garet-a Tingley, of South Branch; Mrs. Margaret Dolliver, wife of John L. Dolliver, of Plainfield; Mrs. Katherine A. Ammerman, of Bedminster; Carrie Ammerman and Uriah Coleman, of Somerville; Mrs. Catherine Dipple, of Lebanon, and W. D. Ammerman, of South Branch.

32D ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. William Nischwitz, of Borough, Will Celebrate Event.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Nischwitz, of 892 Fairview avenue, will celebrate their thirty-second wedding anniversary tomorrow. The couple were married in this city by Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, a former pastor of Trinity Reformed church, who is president of the Union Theological Seminary. They began housekeeping at 62 Manning avenue, in the house now tenanted by John Becker. Five years prior to his marriage Mr. Nischwitz came to this country direct from Baden, a hamlet located near the city of Mannheim, Germany. Mrs. Nischwitz's maiden name was Miss Emma S. Stacker, and she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stacker, of Sciota, Pa.

The couple have lived at the present address, 9[illegible] Fairview avenue, for the past eight years. They have three children, Mrs. Richard Bellis, of Somerville; Mrs. William Woodruff, of 92 Fairview avenue, and William H. Nischwitz, of 431 Park avenue. Both are members of Trinity Reformed church. Mr. Nischwitz is also a member of Plainfield Lodge of Elks, No. 885; Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., and Lodge of Workmen.

Mr. Nischwitz is engaged with his son, W. H. Nischwitz, in the grain business at 53-55 Race street. He entered this business twenty-five years ago, locating in the present quarters. In those days, however, the entrance to the establishment was on Watchung avenue instead of Race street, and Mr. Nischwitz has the distinction of being the first business man to open an establishment on Watchung avenue in the borough. Mr. Nischwitz has had a number of business partners, among them being Freeholder George Kirch and the late John Kitchen.

ANNUAL INSPECTION OF CRESCENT COMPANY, K. OF P.

The annual inspection of Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, was held in the Castle Hall, of Unity Lodge, last night, during which officers elected earlier in the evening were installed. Colonel Fredericks and Captain John Snyder, of Unity Company, No. 3, of Elizabeth, were in charge of the inspection, and commended the Crescent Company members in glowing terms. Captain J. E. Flannery, who has been at the head of the Plainfield Company for sixteen previous years, was again elected to the captaincy, despite his protestations that he believed it was time he allowed someone else to take his place.

The other officers elected and installed were as follows: First lieutenant, Fred R. Douglas; second lieutenant, Andrew Drew; recorder, Charles L. Nichols; treasurer, Samuel J. Robinson; sentinel, M. Wiley. The installation was followed by a collation served by Sir Knight Charles Huff, and at the conclusion of the meal speeches were made by Colonel Fredericks, Captain Snyder, Colonel Charles McGinley, Captain Flannery and the other officers.

The program for the evening was arranged by a committee composed of Captain Flannery, William Bacon and Charles Huff.

COL. C. O. TALIFERRO DIES SUDDENLY IN NEW YORK

Colonel C. O. Taliaferro, of Roanoke, Va., died suddenly yesterday while alighting from a train in New York city, whither he had gone on business. He left Roanoke Wednesday, seemingly in the best of health. Death was caused by neuralgia of the heart.

Colonel Taliaferro was born in 1847 in Orange county, and when the Civil War began he ran away from school at the age of 14 and enlisted in the Confederate Army, serving throughout the war. He was wounded at the battle of Cross Keys, and again on the Gauley River, in West Virginia. He was with Stonewall Jackson when the latter was wounded. At Appomattox he carried the flag of truce to General Grant from General Lee.

He was, at the time of his death, right of way agent of the Norfolk & Western Railway.

Col. Taliaferro was related to William Taliaferro, of 502 West Seventh street, of this city.

A Want Ad Is Often the First Link in a Chain of Consequences

It initiates something of far-reaching importance to you. You meet someone with whom you will do business for years—or you buy or sell property that changes the currents of your daily affairs. Many a want ad is of but transient importance of course. But others influence your life for years and years.

FERTILE ALASKA.

Uncle Sam's Big North Farm and its Great Possibilities.

Alaska is an unknown world as to its farming resources. I stood on the hills near Fairbanks and looked over a million or so of acres of tillable soil in the Tanana valley. The whole territory is said to have 50,000,000 acres of possible farm lands, and the Aleutian islands will feed thousands of cattle. Here and there I visited the homesteaders, and I stopped for some time at all of Uncle Sam's experimental farms. Upon one of them the grain which stood in the fields reached to the height of my head, and I saw them growing oats, barley and hay and even alfalfa. I saw potato patches that were yielding four tons to the acre and one potato field, which, I was told, had a crop in the ground that will sell for $10,000.

Another surprise was the wild berries that grow all over Alaska and another the wild flowers that make the sides of the hills and the lower slopes of the mountain blazes of color. I found plenty of grass everywhere, and in places the weeds were as high as my head. I saw fat stock on the homesteads of the Tanana valley and visited dairies which were supplying butter and milk to the towns and mining camps near by. The Aleutian islands have a climate milder than Scotland, and on the island of Kodiak, which is as big as Porto Rico, they are now raising Galloway cattle and long wooled sheep.—Cor. of Christian Herald.

LINCOLN'S ARMCHAIR.

It Had One Great Charm Despite Its Forlorn Condition.

There is an interesting story of Abraham Lincoln's quaint humor that turns on his habit of sitting with his long legs thrown over one arm of his chair. That was a habit common among country lawyers sixty or seventy years ago, and, Lincoln never got over it.

Very fond of the ease he found in old slippers, he would often meet his official family with them on his feet, and during cabinet meetings he would sometimes sit with one or both legs dangling across the chair.

In the cabinet room was an armchair which from the constant battering of the presidential legs had grown weak and seemed almost ready to shake to bits. A few days after Lincoln's second inauguration there was a cabinet meeting, and one of the cabinet ministers noticed the old chair and remarked on its rickety appearance.

"It seems to me," he said as he gazed down on the old wreck that stood at the head of the table, "that the United States ought to furnish the president with a better chair than that."

Lincoln screwed up his face into a comical smile.

"What is the matter with that chair?" he asked. "Shabby as it is, there are thousands of men in this country who would be delighted to occupy it."—Youth's Companion.

A Pirate's Model Kingdom.

Pitcairn island is in latitude 25 degrees 3 minutes south and longitude 130 degrees 6 minutes west, or almost exactly south of Vancouver island and just a little south of the tropic of Capricorn. It was first settled in 1790 by nine mutineers from the English ship Bounty and eighteen natives of Tahiti. By the year 1808, when the island was discovered by the English, the population had grown to sixty-six persons, who formed a model community under the patriarchal government of John Adams, the only surviving mutineer, who had saved a Bible from the ship and was ruling with wisdom and justice his little kingdom of slightly over two miles in length. The island is under the British flag and has a couple of hundred inhabitants.—Christian Herald.

It Wouldn't Work.

Some time since a learned doctor was giving a friend a bit of good advice with regard to mastication.

"No matter what you eat," said the physician, "you should chew each mouthful thirty times. It"—

"That's all right, doctor," smilingly interjected the friend, "but that would not work in my case."

"It wouldn't work?" responded the doctor wonderingly. "Why not?"

"I live in a boarding house," answered the friend, "and my voracious fellow feeders would have the table cleaned while I was eating one mouthful."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Getting Around It.

"When I was your age I worked fourteen hours a day," said the worried father.

"Well, what of it?" replied the young man who squanders.

"Nothing much; only when you get to be my age that is probably what you will have to do."—Washington Star.

Bathed In Blood.

Not always was a bottle of wine used in christening a ship. In the days of sacrifice to the gods, it is said, it was customary to sacrifice a human being when a boat was being launched and to cut his throat over the prow so that his blood baptized it.—Argonaut.

Relief.

"Is your daughter improving in her music?"

"No; but the next best thing is happening. She's getting tired of it and won't practice."—Washington Star.

Those who eat most are not always the fattest, so those who read much have not always the most knowledge. —Calcott.

Thackeray's Satire.

Thackeray created quite erroneous impressions of himself by often indulging in irony in the presence of people who were incapable of understanding it. One curious instance which he gave was this: Thackeray had been dining at the Garrick and was talking in the smoking room after dinner with various club acquaintances. One of them happening to have left his cigar case at home, Thackeray, though disliking the man, who was a notorious tuft hunter, good naturedly offered him one of his cigars. The man accepted the cigar, but, not finding it to his liking, had the bad taste to say to Thackeray, "I say, Thackeray, you won't mind my saying I don't think much of this cigar?" Thackeray, no doubt irritated at the man's ungraciousness and bearing in mind his tuft hunting predilections, quietly responded, "You ought to, my good fellow, for it was given me by a lord." Instead, however, of detecting the irony, the dolt immediately attributed the remark to snobbishness on Thackeray's part and to the end of his days went about declaring that Thackeray had boasted that he had been given a cigar by a lord.

Show Your Gratitude.

Gratitude is one of the prettiest posies in the bouquet of human virtues. Cultivate it and it will bloom always. Gratitude costs nothing, but repays much, and yet it is a gem of character that is rare indeed.

Never forget the friend who threw you the life line. To do that is treason of the rankest kind. Keep green in your heart the memory of every obligation and lose no opportunity to repay it. Show your gratitude for a kind act done you by doing a kind act for some one else.

A grateful "Thank you!" for a seat in a street car reimburses the man who hangs to a strap. Silently accept the seat as a matter of course and you have started that man on the slide to selfishness.

Kick out of your selfish shell and express your gratitude on the least provocation. If you never give gratitude never expect it. In proportion to your gratitude so will you be graded by your fellow men.—Boston Post.

"Uncle Sam."

The application of the term "Uncle Sam" to the United States had its beginning in Troy, N. Y., during the war of 1812. A commission contractor of Troy named Elbert Anderson had a shop in which the stocks were always examined and passed by a government inspector called Samuel Wilson, who was generally known as "Uncle Sam." When the boxes were passed they were always marked with the initials of the contractor and the nation, "EA-US." One day the man who was doing the marketing was asked what the initials stood for and replied jokingly that they were the initials of the contractor and of "Uncle Sam." The joke spread among the men, got into print and long before the end of the war had become known all over the country. Mr. Wilson, the original "Uncle Sam," died in Troy in 1854.—New York Times.

Men Who Fear Opportunity.

In the American Magazine Hugh S. Fullerton says:

"Thousands of us who are making fairly comfortable livings for families pass plain turning points, refusing to turn or to attack the opening, through sheer timidity. There is no class so timid as the man with a family, who refuses to change because he fears he will risk the small sum he has accumulated to educate the children and provide for the family in case of his death. Ninety-nine out of a hundred men in this class keep straight ahead when they see a turning point clearly."

Not Easy to Explain.

"That boy of mine is always asking questions."

"Oh, well, perhaps he wants to learn something."

"Maybe so, but his inquisitiveness is rather distressing to me at times."

"Yes?"

"He insists on being told what his mother means when she calls me a 'jelly fish,' a 'matrimonial misfit' and a 'human tank.'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Keep In Harness Until You Drop.

A prominent Canadian financier in his sixty-fifth year went to England to take a physical examination by a great physician. "You're as sound as a nut," said the doctor. "There's no reason why you shouldn't live to be a hundred—if only you don't stop working." —Woman's Home Companion.

Getting His Orders.

"So you're summoned as a witness, hey? Now you be keerful."

"Keerful about what?"

"I see a jedge rebuked a man fer not coming into court with clean hands. Look out fer that, and also be keerful to wipe your feet."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Empty but Flattering Title.

Friend of the Family—William, can it be possible that I heard you say "Hello, governor!" to your father? William—Yes; it pleases poor dad. You see, he never really has any say in anything at home; mother's the real executive.—Boston Transcript.

A Revenge Never Enjoyed.

After a stormy attack on Lord Granville on one occasion Lord Randolph Churchill had a stormy passage across the channel and was nearly dead with seasickness. "How Granville would like to see me now!" he gasped.—London Standard.

BABY IS KING FOR A WEEK.

Every organization that is working for the benefit of the American people has joined in the nation-wide campaign to conserve the greatest of our resources, the human child. Beginning tomorrow Baby is King for a full week. All of the pitfalls that menace him as he comes into the world will have to bear the searching light of publicity, so that the mothers may realize their responsibilities and the American public may know the awful waste of life that is going on in this country.

The forces of education, surgery and medicine, sanitation, and civic uplift have joined with the women's clubs, business organizations, the municipal health departments, the health boards of the various States, and the federal bureaus in the great campaign which gets under way tomorrow.

Statistics furnished by the Federal Census Bureau show that 300,000 infants died during 1915 in the United States before reaching twelve months of age. This death rate is figured at 124 in a thousand. It is claimed by the experts on babies that this rate is fully double what it should be. To illustrate their claim, they point to London, where, despite the unsanitary conditions in the poorer quarters, the infant death-rate reaches barely over a hundred. In typical Norwegian and Swedish cities it has dropped to 80 per thousand, and in New Zealand the rate is as low as 50 per thousand. In Vienna and Berlin the infant death-rate runs high, at 160 per thousand, and in Petrograd and Moscow it reaches 280.

The American people have been aware of a high infant mortality in this country but the cause was laid to the crowding in cities and the influx of immigrants. This theory has been shattered through an investigation conducted in New York, which showed that where the immigrants were thickest the death-rate of babies was lower than among the native American parents under better conditions.

The saving of baby's life is only one of the aspects of the big campaign known as Baby Week. It is aimed to give baby a healthy start along life's highway, by keeping him free from disease and injury. To see that the babies are born healthy, to see that they are kept well are measures fully as important as the cutting down of the death rate.

Baby stations, which have worked out well in many cities, are advocated as a practical solution in each local problem. Over five hundred of these stations were operated during the hot months last summer. Only a few dozen of these were maintained by municipalities. The infant station saves many lives, and is credited with preventing more disease than it cures. The staff of the station is made up of nurses, who work in seperate districts, examining children for signs of chronic diseases, seeing that baby is cared for. A physician at the station instructs mothers and examines babies. Pure milk has been dispensed at these stations, as part as the campaign.

That a thousand babies die each day in America, half of whom could be saved by intelligent care and prevention of disease, is the alarming fact that brings together the economic, educational and scientific forces of America for "Baby Week."

IS WILSON FOR WAR?

According to Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, President Wilson has declared for war and believes that this country can serve humanity by throwing its strength on the side of the Allies and ending the European conflict during the coming summer. This assertion has been denied from the White House, but the blind senator from the West is not accustomed to dealing in untruths or frivolities. There came to him some information to substantiate his utterances on the floor of the Senate yesterday. It will be sincerely and universally hoped that the informers of Senator Gore were wrong. The one achievement of President Wilson and the Wilson administration that will be remembered after his service as chief executive is ended will be his efforts to preserve peace. He has manoeuvered the country through so many dangerous diplomatic seas that the American people have come to look upon him as a capable custodian of national peace, a saviour from war, and it is only with difficulty that imagination can picture him with a sword in his hand. Should it be proven that Wilson does want war his candidacy for a second term would be stripped of everything save an unholy desire to hold office. The issue would be Wilson and war or Roosevelt and war and between the two no sane man could hesitate long. As a ruler in peace Mr. Wilson has done well and it is this role that Americans will insist on him playing.

The proposition of the New Jersey Central to spend a dollar advertising Plainfield for every one appropriated for that purpose by commercial organizations of this city is one that reflects much credit on those in charge of the affairs of that corporation. The New Jersey Central knows that every new citizen for Plainfield means another patron and therefore a bigger and better railroad, and its directors and officials are fair enough to pay their share of the expense of building the city. Local business men ought to take advantage of the offer and realize on it.

After learning that England has offered a reward of $2,000 to each steamer captain who rammed a submarine the Germans fixed up a number of mines with periscopes so that they resembled boats, and turned them loose in the North Sea. This probably accounts for the large number of English vessels that have gone down recently, and if an American drowns with one of them there will be newspapers here that insist on this country going to war in defense of their rights.

Someone filed Henry Ford's name as a candidate for president and now the maker of jitneys explains it was only a joke. No explanation necessary, Mr. Ford.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the great blizzard. Most Plainfielders can remember it, but they would prefer to forget rather than live through the experience again.

"Armed Italian liner loaded with Americans defies new U-boat orders," says a New York newspaper headline. It is all right for Italy to defy the Germans, but how about letting her take the consequences.

We are glad to read reports from the Russian front. It was only recently that we learned they had such a thing.

About the only thing Congress is agreed upon is that it is a bad year to run for office.

On the Spur of the Moment

The Medicine Fan.

Old Uncle Pete with perfect ease acquired each newly found disease.
It seemed to be his chief delight, the only one he had.
Of Uncle Peter it was said he was unhappy out of bed;
To be a chronic invalid was his absorbing fad.
There was no dope he would not take, the honest cure, also the fake,
He swallowed most impartially and smacked his lips for more.
The village druggist made his pile and lived in almost regal style,
For Uncle Pete has surely been the making of his store.

It brought old Pete a lot of fame, because he always got his name
Who had been cured of this or that, and Uncle Pete would come to bat
Each day with some new illness, as an expert sick man can.
He used to do some protean stunts and have nine ailments all at once,
Until one day the village heard that poor old Pete was dead.
He did not die of grim disease. We cannot all go as we please.
The big sign at the drug store fell and hit him on the head.

Some Seventh Grade Answers.

What is a by-product? Give example.

"A by-product is one that grows in another country, e. g., a cocoanut."

"A by-product is the product for which we kill animals. Ex—We kill a pig to get pork."

"Some product that we have more of than we need."

"Perfume is a by-product of coal."

What is meant by a gubernatorial candidate?

"A gubernatorial candidate is a citizen who has been recently naturalized."

"A gubernatorial candidate is one who runs in opposition to his party."

"A gubernatorial candidate is one who preys upon the emotions of the 'dear people.'"

"A gubernatorial candidate is one who tries to bribs his way into office."

What are news editorials? Why should they be read?

"The war news are not the editorials."

"News editorials, things that have happened during the day, as weddings, etc. To improve the mind to know all about them."

"News editorials are comic sayings of other people."

And Bingo Was His Name.

Jakie Seward's dog, Bingo, is dead. Someone killed him.

Bingo was not of royal blood, was not particularly handsome, and had few friends. But to his master Bingo was perfect. He was Jakie's chum, his sweetheart, comrade, confidant and friend. He shared in Jakie's joy, he was a partner of his sorrow.

Jakie Seward has a right to mourn the loss of Bingo.—White Pigeon News.

The Extreme of Filial Love.

The height of filial love, devotion, affection and several other attributes was discovered in the probate court of Allegany county last week. In reviewing an estate Judge Thompson found the claim of a man against his father for time and expenses attending the latter's funeral. He itemized his claim, railroad fare, hack fare, etc., and $3 per day for his time. It is actually on record. Nothing has come into court in a long time that had such a lasting and poignant humor.

They say T. R. is the only American citizen who has sat before kings and queens. Huh! We have sat before a lot of them—and had them beaten.

- Proctor's Theatre -

Those who contend that motion pictures are literature and can well portray psychological studies and character delineation, find plenty of support for their belief in "The Beloved Vagabond," the wonderful Pathe colored production which is appearing at Proctor's today with Edwin Arden in the leading role. This feature was produced in America by Edward Jose, and was then sent to France, where it was hand-colored, making it one of the most gorgeous screen attractions ever seen in this or any other city. This production was but recently presented at The Strand, New York, where it created such a furore that a special performance was arranged in order to accommodate the overwhelming number of enthusiastic fans. In addition, today, the ninth episode of "The Red Circle" will be shown, in which Ruth Roland and Frank Mayo perform some wonderful stunts. Tomorrow, the latest Triangle dramatic production, entitled "The Green Swamp," featuring Bessie Barriscale and Bruce McRae, will hold forth at Proctor's. This feature deals with the cause of most of the ill-feeling occurring between happily married couples—that of jealousy ,otherwise termed "the green-eyed monster." Tomorrow afternoon, the children will enjoy their usual Saturday treat, the toy bazaar. Monday, Clara Kimball Young, known as the peerless queen of the screen ,and one of the most foremost screen stars in this country, will appear in her latest vehicle, "The Yellow Passport," adapted from the famous Broadway stage success, "The Yellow Ticket." The vaudeville for the latter half of the week, starting yesterday, is extremely well-balanced and provides a bill of variety that is of the refined order. The Keystone comedy presented for the latter half of the week is entitled "Love Will Conquer," with that greatest of facial funmakers, Fred Mace, in the leading role. Beginning next Tuesday, the management will present "The Strange Case of Mary Page," the wonderful Essanay serial creation that has been awaited by film fans throughout the land with breathless expectancy. The first episode will be presented on Tuesday, and an episode will appear on Tuesday of each week thereafter.

REFUSES CITY JOB BECAUSE $20,000 BOND IS REQUIRED

Rahway, March 3.—John Farrell, a former freeholder and councilman, who recently was appointed a member of the Board of Finance, has notified Mayor Harry Simmons that he will not accept the office. Mr. Farrell was elected treasurer of the board, and when informed that it was necessary to furnish a $20,000 bond, though the city pays the premium, decided he did not want the job

For many years Mr. Farrell has held nuemrous positions of trust, but has never been called upon to give a bond. He says he does not now care to accept the responsibility for public funds, especially as there is no remuneration given. Former Councilman Reuben Tharp ,who has moved from the city, was the last treasurer, and will have under his control $64,000 of city funds until his successor is named.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

THE CRINGER

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Capacity audiences at the Plainfield theatre yesterday afternoon and last night were enthusiastic in their approval of the new bill for the last half of the week. Every one of the seven numbers is a crackerjack and those of the comedy variety kept the crowds in roars of laughter. The latter statement is especially applicable to the "Mud Town Minstrels," a hilariously funny "rube" minstrel act presented by the Crane brothers. It is one big laugh from start to finish. Alexander and his novelty met with instant favor, and the French Aeroplane Girls, three in number, presented a decidedly original acrobatic specialty. The young women have trapezes suspended from an aerial machine and execute marvelous and daring acrobatic feats.

Other numbers on the bill for the remaining two days are Hathaway and company in the comedy sketch, "The Onion Trust." Eleanor Fischer, comedienne, presenting several new and catchy songs, with changes of costume, and La Belle and De Forrest, in their own original skit, "The Hypnotized Scarecrow," written for laughing purposes only.

The first episode of the new Pathe serial, "The Iron Claw," was presented yesterday, and met with favorable response on the part of the audience. It is safe to predict the film will have a large following before it has fairly entered upon its way. Succeeding episodes are to be shown every Thursday. The startling Essanay film, "The Strange Case of Mary Page," is one of the weekly features at the Plainfield, being shown every Friday. "The Strange Case" began last week, and today's instalment will show the "trial." The picture portion of the program tomorrow will include the Pathe Semi-Weekly and several one- and two-reel features.

The new show for the Columbian circuit comes to town, at the Plainfield theatre, Monday (matinee and night), March 6. It is a straight musical farce in two acts, entitled "Madame, Who Are You?" with burlesque features added. There is action and ginger from the rise of the curtain to the finish of the performance. It is said to be a great singing show from all advance accounts, and there is a chorus that can sing and dance well and will be one of the big surprises of the show. In fact, the entire performance possesses a dash and vivacity which keeps the audience constantly interested. The presenting company this season outshines last season with a remarkably pretty and attractive array of girls. The leading role is entrusted to Miss Billie Hille; Mlle. Babette will also show some very sensational and attractive costuming. The ladies of the cast who stand out prominently are beautiful Dorothy Morrissy, Alma Fleming and Helen Van Buren. The male contingent names Fox and Stewart, Danny Murphy, Ed. Jerome and Billy Morrison. The Gay New Yorkers represent the highest type of burlesque entertainment.

350,000 LEAFLETS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

State Department Plans to Arouse Interest in Baby Week Campaign.

Trenton, March 3.—One of the contributions made by the State Department of Health to the Baby Week campaign is the printing and distribution of leaflets on the subject. These are three in number: one, a single page leaflet on the importance of birth registration; another, a four-page circular on the care of babies, and the third a four-page circular on the community's reaponsibility for baby work. Of the first two 125,000 each are being printed, and of the latter, 100,000, making a total of 350,000 leaflets.

In printing, sheets 25 by 38 inches in size are used, and one side of eight or ten leaflets is printed at each impression. The entire work will require 75,000 impressions for printing on both sides, and consume approximately 4,000 pounds, or two tons, of paper. Allowing time for locking up the forms, the work will keep one printing press busy for ten days of eight hours each, printing 1,000 impressions per hour.

The press was put in operation Tuesday of this week and an advance lot of the circulars was delivered at the office of the State Department of Health yesterday. Shipments will be made as rapidly as printed, and the circulars will be furnished to any community where the local Baby Week committee will make careful distribution.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

DALRYMPLE A MARPLOT.

As a marplot Alfred N. Dalrymple is a greater success than as a party boss. The test vote on the "ripper" bills shows that his support is about as fatal as his hostility. Mr. Dalrymple's assistance was supposed to be necessary in order to insure the support of the twelve Essex Assemblymen for the bills. But because of his connection with them, eleven other Republican Assemblymen cast their votes in the negative. Either way, the city of Newark was left in the lurch.

Concessions were made to Mr. Dalrymple to obtain his assistance. The result proves that these were made in vain. Mayor Raymond could not have done worse and might have done better had he refused to make any alliance with Mr. Dalrymple. It is unlikely that, in a matter where the interests of this city were so vitally concerned, all the representatives from Essex would have accepted Dalrymple's dictation.

Had Mayor Raymond ignored Mr. Dalrymple in this matter he might have been defeated, but he would at least have stood higher in the public estimation for his independence. As it is now, he is defeated just the same, and outside of Essex is classed as Dalrymple's willing partner in an effort to fasten the former's grip on the city government. The Mayor has learned the truth of the adage that "a man is judged by the company he keeps."

ALWAYS KEEP YOUR GARDEN SOIL BUSY

Space 25x70 Will Provide Enough Vegetables for a Small Family.

Washington, D. C., March .—Even the smallest back yard may be made to yield a supply of frish vegetables for the family table at but slight expense if two or three crops are successively grown to keep the area occupied all the time, according to the garden specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. People who would discharge a clerk if he did not work the year round will often cultivate a garden at no little trouble and expense and then allow the soil to lie idle from the time the first crop matures until the end of the season. Where a two- or three-crop system is used in connection with vegetables adapted to small areas, a space no larger than 25 by 70 feet will produce enough fresh vegetables for a small family. Corn, melons, cucumbers and potatoes and other crops which require a large area should not be grown in a garden of this size. Half an acre properly cultivated with a careful crop rotation may easily produce $100 worth of various garden crops in a year.

If the garden was not broken in the fall it should be plowed in the spring as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Small areas may be worked with a spade, pushing the blade into its full depth and turning the soil to break up the clods. Heavy soils should never be worked when wet. Overzealous gardeners, ready to seize the first warm spell as a favorable opportunity to go out and work the heavy clay soil before it is dry, are not only wasting their energy, but are doing a damage to the soil from which it will take years for it to recover. To determine when heavy soils are ready for plowing, a handful of earth should be collected from the surface and the fingers tightly closed on it. If the ball of compacted earth is dry enough for cultivation, it will fall apart when the hand is opened.

A garden spot near the house is often more desirable than a plot which is in better tilth but located at an inconvenient distance. A garden which is near the house will receive many a spare hour of care from adults and children which would otherwise be wasted. Where there is ample room for the selection of a garden site, the slope of the land should be carefully considered. A gentle slope towards the south is most desirable for growing early crops, while it is a decided advantage to have the plot protected on the north and northwest by either a hill, a group of buildings, or a board fence.

Drainage of the garden is of great importance. The land should have sufficient fall to drain off surplus water during heavy rains and yet not be so steep that the soil will be washed or gullied. The surface should be nearly level so the water will not stand in hollows. Where the natural slope of the land does not provide sufficient natural drainage, ditches may be dug or a tile drain put in. This will prevent waste water from the adjoining land from washing over it. Such water may carry weed and grass seed into the garden, which are later culled out with difficulty.

—Until you have canvassed the readers of this newspaper on the matter, do not decide whether or not this may be a "poor time to sell" that property.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Willie Wind and Robbie Raindrop Beat The Winter Children.

Robbie Raindrop Was Quarrelsome.

"ONE beautiful winter day," daddy began the bedtime story, "Willie Wind and his playmate, Sallie Snowball, went outdoors to have a good time. Their mothers, Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Snowball, dressed them very warmly. Willie Wind was all bundled up to his eyes in a teddy bear suit of scarlet, and Sallie Snowball wore a new coat of white Angora fur with a purple tippet. At first the sun shone brightly through a great, drab low lying cloud, and these winter children began to throw snow at each other. Sallie was so round and fat that she couldn't run very fast. So Willie Wind always got the best of her and had lots of fun stuffing her collar full of fluffy flakes. Willie was very spry on his feet, too, and Sallie almost bawled when he always got away just as she was playing a nice trick on him.

"Pretty soon Fannie Frostflake and Isaac Icicle hopped down from their home in an old scrubby apple tree and wanted to play too. So all four of these winter children joined hands and played ring games.

"They played 'London bridge is falling down' till Fannie Frostflake fell down and tore a big hole in her pretty feathery frock. In fact, Fannie always looked dressed for a party more than for a romp—she was the daintiest of all the winter children. Just as Sallie had gotten Fannie all pinned up and ready to do 'Red rose growing in a garden' Isaac Icicle slipped and broke his right thumb. But this kind of a winter child grows thumbs very fast, so he sniveled far less than Fannie did over her town frock."

Daddy smiled. "Every little while Willie Wind would clap his hands together, whistle loudly and dash off to play with the little gray clouds that began to hang low. He told the others that he had always felt sure there were some jolly playmates up in the clouds if he could only run across them. Suddenly the low lying sky began to settle down, drop, drip, and into the children's ring tumbled Robbie Raindrop!

"Robbie was built like a pendant on a lady's earring except when he fell down. Then he was wet and round. He was not a happy, lusty child like the other winter children, for tears constantly fell from his round, sad eyes. But he was far stronger than he looked, and he was also quarrelsome. In less than an hour after Willie Wind fetched him from the clouds he had completely killed Fannie Frostflake. He had melted Sallie Snowball into a pale puddle and so beaten Isaac Icicle that he was not even to be seen. Then Willie Wind and Robbie Raindrop joined hands and dashed off to play hide and seek on the stormy side of the north wind," daddy finished.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

Outwitting Ortrude Townsend Is No Small Task.

"A telegram?"

"Yes." Marian and Dudley held their breath while Jacob Townsend tore open the yellow envelope and read the message. When he had finished reading he handed it to Dudley without a word. Dudley read:

"Tremont Hotel,
"Atlantic City,
"Aug. 15, 1915.
"I am sick and out of money. Send at once.
"ORTRUDE."

Dudley passed the telegram over to Marian, who emitted a snort of indignation.

"That is a likely story. She has been gone only three weeks and she took five hundred dollars with her. It's just a ruse to work you, Daddy."

"My opinion, too," added Dudley laconically.

"But if she really were sick——" began Jacob, when he was interrupted by Dudley's incisive voice.

"If she really is sick she should go to the hospital and send the bill to you. When she is able to travel send her a ticket home."

"Great head, Dud," said Marian clapping her hands. "It has the advantage of seeming kind, but my lady will surely feel beneath the gloves of velvet the grip of steel. Do it, Daddy."

"She could not want for anything at the hospital," he began.

"And she could not get in there if she was not sick," interrupted Marian. "Eat your dinner, Daddy, dear; then write her a letter so seeming kind—Ah! let me write it," laughed the girl.

"What a bad disposition you have, my girl." Jacob could not repress a smile, troubled though he was, when he looked over at the dancing eyes of his daughter.

"It's the excitement of the contest, Daddy, dear," explained the girl. "And, believe me, that is partly what is biting Mrs. Ortrude. Be a sport, Daddy, dear, and put up a stiff fight. She will respect you the more for it and you will have the pleasure of knowing you are adding zest to her life."

"I believe Marian is right. She is bound to win her point and make you pay for part of this trip. She circumvented you and got started by mortgaging the home and I'd wager most anything she is planning to save part of the money and make you foot the bill for a big part of the trip. I'd show her that I saw through her little game." Dudley's mouth closed to a thin line.

"'Speak her passing fair,'" quoted Marian in her best oratorical voice. The table talk had returned to the old lively chatter since Ortrude's departure.

Jacob rose from the table.

"I must go and write that letter while my pores are full of so much good advice." His smile was a brave effort to be cheerful and not dampen the gayety that made the house seem like home once more.

After he had gone, Marian whispered: "If she were desperately sick or there should be a railroad accident, we would try to bear up if our beloved mother were removed."

POTATO DISHES.

Lyonnaise Potatoes—Four cold boiled potatoes, two tablespoonfuls chopped onion, two tablespoonfuls butter, one tablespoonful chopped parsley, one-half teaspoonful salt, one-half saltspoonful pepper. Cut the potatoes into dice. Put the butter in a shallow frying pan; add the onion. Shake until the onion is slightly brown, and add the potatoes. Shake over a quick fire until the potatoes are slightly browned. Turn at once into a heated dish; dust with the parsley, salt and pepper. If there is any butter left in the pan, be careful to keep it there; do not pour it over the potatoes.

Grilled Potatoes—Cut cold boiled white or sweet potatoes into slices lengthwise; trim them neatly; brush with melted butter; dust with salt and pepper; broil over a clear fire until nicely browned on one side; turn the broiler and brown them on the other side. Serve on a small heated platter.

Stuffed Potatoes—Bake the potatoes according to the preceding recipe. Cut a slice from the side of each potato; scoop out the cooked potato; put it through a vegetable press; add a little milk, salt and pepper, and beat until light and white. Put this mixture into the skin, stand in a baking pan and bake until a nice brown.

Potato Puff—One pint mashed potatoes, one-half cup hot milk, whites of two eggs, one saltspoonful pepper. If the potatoes are cold, put them into a sauce pan with the milk and pepper and stir them until they are hot; then fold in the whites of the eggs, well beaten. Turn this into a baking dish and bake until a golden brown, about fifteen minutes.

Stuffed Potatoes—Peel four good sized potatoes; cut into very thin slices lengthwise. Cut off the ends, giving them a square appearance. Throw into cold water for half an hour, then drain and dry on a towel. Put a portion into a frying basket; put them down into the fat at a temperature of 240 degrees Fahrenheit. Shake them until they are half cooked, not brown; drain them; throw them into a pan that has been lined with paper. Continue the frying. When you are ready to serve the potatoes, put a few back into the frying basket and plunge them down into the very hot fat—about 350 to 360 degrees Fahrenheit. They will at once swell. Drain them in a colander, dust with salt, and continue until you have the desired quantity.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When Mice Are Troublesome, dampen a newspaper, sprinkle it freely with red pepper and crowd it firmly into any mouse hole to be found. Mice will soon leave any premises so uncomfortably doctored.

To Cut Expenses—Add one cup bread crumbs to potsidge, one-half cup to dumplings, one-half cup to crust of meat pie, one-half cup to all kinds of soup, two tablespoons to gravies. Roll cutlets, meats, fish and hamburger patties in crumbs. Take left-over bread, put in oven till it gets that light toast brown, roll fine. It adds a delicious flavor and saves flour.

THE TABLE.

Chicken Jelly for Party Refreshments—Cook two chickens, well seasoned, with just enough water to cover them, until they are very tender. Set aside to cool; when cool enough to handle, remove meat from bones (omitting the skin) and cut (do not grind) in small pieces. Return to broth they were cooked in and let stand over night. In the morning this will have formed a jelly with grease at the top of it. Remove grease, return chicken and jelly to stove, add one cup vinegar and when this comes to a boil remove from fire and turn into a flat pan. When thoroughly set, cut in slices and serve on lettuce leaves or with a garnish of parsley or watercress. This will serve twelve people amply and you will not be disappointed if you try this recipe.

To Freshen Salt Pork so that it cannot be distinguished from fresh meat—Slice as much as you will need, cover with hot water, add one teaspoon baking soda to water, allow it to stand over night. If the pork is very lean, the slices may be cut rather thick and trimmed in the shape of pork chops. Fried crisp and brown and with a dish of fried apples, the family will be delighted.

ANOTHER SCHOOLBOY SENDS IN HIS DIME

Meyer Canter Says He is Glad to Be One of Marjorie Sterrett's Aides.

One more Plainfield schoolboy, Meyer Canter, of 127 West Fourth street, has been added to Marjorie Sterrett's list of workers in her scheme to raise a fund for the construction of a modern dreadnaught for Uncle Sam's navy. Canter's letter to the Plainfield Daily Press, enclosing his dime, follows:

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to enclose my dime towards the erection of the battleship 'U. S. S. America.'

"It is my earnest wish that the plan will be received well, and I will do all in my power to arouse interest among my friends."

Many other schoolboys and girls have determined to set aside the errand money they usually receive on Saturday's for the fund this week, and that it will swell rapidly is a foregone conclusion. Three contributors have been listed to date, and all have submitted letters telling of their views on the plan.

Letters should accompany contributions, and all will be given publicity in the Plainfield Daily Press, which is little Miss Sterrett's agent in this section.

DETAIN W. H. WYCKOFF IN AMWELL MURDER MYSTERY

Flemington, March 3.—William H. Wyckoff, who discovered the recent murders of Richard J. Wyckoff, the East Amesville Township farmer, and his housekeeper, Miss Catherine Ann Fisher, is being detained here pending examination. Mr. Wyckoff was brought to Flemington yesterday by Sheriff John W. Sharp and Detective Elmer E. Hann.

The mystery surrounding the murders has kept the Hunterdon county authorities hard at work since the crime was discovered. Some of the money that was at first thought to have been taken, has been recovered. Miss Fisher's purse, containing about $59 in greenbacks, was found in a closet eleven days after the murder. It was said this morning that a purse, containing about $18, was found under a pillow, which lay upon the kitchen floor, near where Wyckoff's body lay.

SEIZE THREE IN ELIZABETH FOR CONNECTICUT MURDER

Elizabeth, March 3.—Charged with a double murder in Ansonia, Conn., January 8, Antonio and Joseph Dora, brothers, and Camilla Montabana were held here yesterday to await extradition to Connecticut. Judge Owen P. Mahon committed them to the county jail for thirty days. Acting on a clew sent from Ansonia, Detective George Novello corraled the trio Wednesday night in the third floor of 803 Third avenue. They had been in Elizabeth a week. Lieutenant Downey, of Hartford, identified the three men.

In the warrant issued for their arrest they are charged with shooting Domenico Buccio and Caola Montabana. The latter's brother is Camilla Montabana, and he told the police here today that he shot Buccio because the latter killed his brother. It was Novello's eleventh arrest in a murder case.

CHAUFFEUR NABS AUTO DESPERADO

Young Gunman Captured After Hard Fight.

PASSING CARS HIS TARGET

Prisoner Said to Be Wanted In Burlington on Burglary Charge—Police Believe He Is a "Movie" Fiend—Recently Released From Jamesburg Reformatory.

Palmyra, March 3.—Armed with a heavy caliber air rifle and mounted on a stolen bicycle, Frank Morley, seventeen years old, terrorized autoists on the Camden pike by shooting at passing cars.

A bullet fanned the cheek of the driver of one car, who pursued the young desperado and captured him after a struggle and turned him over to Constables Lloyd and Grubb.

Morley, who is the son of a Burlington township farmer and was recently released under parole from the Jamesburg reformatory, told the police of the recent depredations committed by a gang of which he was a member.

He admitted stealing the bicycle to ride to Philadelphia to buy an air rifle, as the sale of these weapons is prohibited by New Jersey laws.

At the time of his capture Morley was being sought by Burlington city authorities on a burglary charge and the Pennsylvania railroad police in connection with freight car robberies.

Local officials believe his head was turned by a passionate fondness for "movie" thrillers, as he recently gave up a good job to work for a pittance in a moving picture theater.

REAL SHATTERED BLISS.

Mother of Twelve, Threatened With Stabbing, Asks Divorce.

Camden, March 3.—Alleging cruel and harsh treatment, Mrs. Anna L. Gebhart began proceedings for divorce from George W. Gebhart of Conshohocken, Pa. Mrs. Gebhart is the mother of twelve children, nine of whom are living. It is alleged that on one occasion while she was sleeping her husband secured a large knife and would have cut her throat had not two of the children fought him off.

STABS WIFE; TRIES SUICIDE

Both Are Now Believed to Be Dying In Hudson Hospital.

Union Hill, March 3.—As a result of a domestic quarrel two are dying in Hudson hospitals. Otto Grupp, thirty-nine years old, 608 Lewis street, is lying in the North Hudson hospital with a badly slashed throat and lacerated wrists and breast, accused of stabbing his wife with a pair of shears. Mrs. Grubb is in Christ hospital with a punctured lung. Neither is expected to live.

WILL FIGHT THE MOSQUITO.

State Crusade to Be Started by New Jersey Board.

Trenton, March 3.—The state department of conservation and development will inaugurate a state movement for the elimination of mosquitoes in the marshes along the Jersey coast and bays. The department took the position that although effective work is being done in some counties a general crusade should be carried on under proper direction.

AUTOISTS IMPERILED.

Car Smashes Into Roadside Fence and Turns Over.

West Orange, March 3.—When an automobile bus carrying eighteen children from the West Orange high school dropped in a gully twenty-five feet deep the occupants escaped injury. A chain broke as Arnold Olstead piloted the car up the mountain, and he lost control of the rig, which smashed into a protecting fence on the roadside and went over.

Baby Badly Scalded.

Woodbury, March 3.—Helen, the eighteen-months-old daughter of Christopher Morris, was severely scalded when she pulled a tub of water over on herself. The mother was preparing to wash clothes and the little one grasped a tub near the edge of the bench.

Ice Cutter Drowned.

Netcong, March 3.—While cutting ice Walter Johnson, fifty-five years old, was drowned. The pond is located near here. Efforts of fellow workers to save him were unsuccessful, his body having drifted under the ice. He is survived by a family in Newton.

Medal For Boy Hero.

Vineland, March 3.—Philip Hanford, nineteen years old, at a public meeting in the First Baptist church was presented with a medal awarded by the Boy Scout council for his bravery and skill in saving two children from drowning in Centerton lake.

Shot and Will Not Tell How.

Newark, March 3.—John Bonick of Passaic visited at 42 Adams street. Later he was found with a bullet wound in his left hand. Placed under arrest, he has not explained how he sustained the injury.

FAMOUS ATHLETE IS NOT GOING TO QUIT

John Paul Jones.

John Paul Jones, the former Cornell runner, who used to shatter world's records regularly, will not retire from athletics as had been reported. Jones, who resides in Evanston, Ill., has accepted membership in the Illinois Athletic Club.

MERRIHEW-THROCKMORTON LOSE IN PALM BEACH TENNIS

Palm Beach, Fla., March 3.—Irving Wright, of Boston, yesterday won the final of the annual tennis tourney and the right to challenge George M. Church, who is here to defend the title as Florida champion. Wright defeated Harold Throckmorton, Elizabeth, N. J., the result being contrary to general expectations. The match went four sets—1-6, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

Throckmorton got started faster than usual in the first set and played beautiful tennis, working at top speed and placing accurately. He soon went to pieces, however, and apparently was rattled. The more this showed the better Wright played. Wright struck his pace when the second set stood 2 to 4. He steadied up, lobbing deeply, driving close to the side lines with increasing speed, while Throckmorton began netting the ball frequently.

In the last two sets Wright was effective and coolheaded, and Throckmorton was unable to maintain anything like the pace with which he started.

Gregory Bryan, Bridgeport, won won the consolation singles from Osborne Howes, Boston, 6 to 3, 9 to 7.

In the semi-finals of men's doubles Church and Inman won a fairly easy victory from Edwin Spafter and S. W. Merrihew, and in the doubles final will meet Carlton Shafer and Throckmorton, who yesterday won from Bryan and Payne Whitney.

BIG ENTRY ASSURED FOR ATLANTIC COAST TOURNEY

Washington, D. C., March 3.—A big entry for the bowling tournament of the A. B. C. A. at Washington, D. C., starting April 3, is already assured. The City League, composed of ten teams, has decided to enter all ten of its teams in the big tourney in all three events—teams, doubles and singles. In this league rolls several men whose reputation extends outside of the national capital. Harry F. Krauss, who won the singles event of the N. B. A. at Atlantic City; Burdine and Eckstein, who were the doubles champions at Buffalo; McKnew and L. Krauss, who finished near the top in the A. B. C. at Chicago—these and other stars will make a bid for honors along with the New York, Philadelphia, Syracuse and other bowlers.

Work will soon be started on the bowling alleys on which the games of the tournament are to be rolled. The mammoth building which is to house the tourney overlooks the Capitol building, and is only three squares away from the big Union Station. Several of the railroads entering this station are offering special rates for the tournament, and the opportunity to see the national capital and to bowl in the A. C. B. A. event at a very reasonable figures is sure to attract hundreds of bowlers to this city next month.

Entries close March 25.

K. C. LEAGUE RECEPTION.

Many members of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, will attend the K. of C. Bowling League reception to be held in Newark tonight. The prizes won during the alley season will be distributed.

LOG CABIN SHOOT.

The Log Cabin Gun Club will hold a shoot at its traps in Woodland avenue tomorrow.

DOG SHOW IN CO. K ARMORY TOMORROW

Judging Will Begin at Three O'clock—Expect Entries to Be More Than 200.

Between the hours of 2 and 9 p. m. tomorrow, Plainfield's dog population will be found in Co. K armory, where the second match show of the Plainfield Kennel Club will be held. Judging will commence at 3 p. m., and from present indications, more than two hundred dogs will be benched.

Most of the prize winners from local kennels will be seen in the ring, and although there will be many out-of-town entries to stimulate competition, the show will be the nearest thing to a home town exhibition. Plainfield holds an important place in the kennel world, and in many ways the show here tomorrow will offer attractions that cannot be surpassed anywhere.

Admission will be 50 cents to adults and 25 cents to children. Handsome prizes have been offered in each of the many classes.

Among the most prominent entries are the entries in Airedales, which will be a large class, with plenty of competition. J. J. O'Donohue will show his young winner, but, judging from the entries, he will have very strong competition.

In Bulldogs, Ernest Truslow will show a string of four imported dogs who have been winning consistently. Mrs. W. E. Oakley, of Bayonne, expects to show some of her sensational winners, who always manage to make things lively. Among the local entries in this class are two dogs from R. J. Harrigan's kennels, who are well enough known in this town not to need any mention. This is one of the largest classes in the show and as the entries won't close until tonight, many more are expected.

Louis Batzer, of New Brunswick, is bringing six beagles to the show, and William Smalley expects to show as many more.

In Setters, A. G. Hooley will show four dogs. In Setters, Mr. Hooley is very seldom beaten, but against him are some dogs from Mr. Hadkins' kennels at Tottenville, Mr. Nelson, of New Brunswick; S. S. Adams and J. Bumble, of Plainfield.

Wex Jones, of Elizabeth, is bringing a full string of his bull terriers from Elizabeth. Mr. Jones' string of show bull terriers is second to none in this country.

There are a number of local entries in Cocker Spaniels, among them being that of Mrs. J. J. Serrel, Mrs. R. H. Armstrong, Miss Hazel Gardner, and those of A. Clinton Wilmerding. This promises to be the hottest class in the show.

In Pointers, against some of the local dogs are the two winners owned by T. J. O'Donohue, of Goshen, N. Y.

Mrs. McCurdy, of Pinewood Kennels, will bring a string of her dogs from New Brunswick for this show, and she promises to bring some of her big winners forth here.

There are a number of local Frenchies entered, among them being John Conway's dog, Mr. Czanitolski's dogs and Mrs. Anderson's string.

HE IS WANTED, BUT NOT IN WINDY CITY

Wilbur Good.

As there are about six lively outfielders on the present combined squad of Cubs and Whales, it looks as if Manager Tinker will let at least one of his stars go, and indications are that the one will be Wilbur Good.

BASEBALL MAGNATES AND PLAYERS WILL SOON HAVE TO RECKON WITH FANS; THERE IS TO BE MORE SPORT AND LESS DOLLARS

Reports from every side indicate that the fan, the long-suffering worm of baseball, is about to turn. Players and club owners have been running things so much to suit themselves that the sport side of the proposition had been neglected. Ball players of recent years have been pretty well spoiled and magnates have thought of little else than the nickels. Henceforth the fan must be more carefully considered or the game will suffer.

GOLFERS WIN.

Belleair, Fla., March 3.—The amateur-professional four ball competition, played on the links of the Belleair Country Club yesterday, resulted in a tie. The two Metropolitan champions, Walter J. Travis and "Gil" Nicholls, who were among the early starters, came home with a card of 36, 34-70, and a few minutes later Samuel K. Sterne, one of the leading Massachusetts amateurs, and Macdonald Smith turned in a score of 34, 36-70.

NIBS HAND WILL NOT REPORT TO ATHLETICS

Local Catcher Decides to Stay Out of League Baseball Coming Season.

Frank Hand, of Scotch Plains, one of the best known catchers in these parts, will not be seen in the baseball regalia of the Philadelphia Athletics this year, although Connie Mack is anxious to land him. "Nibs" now has an excellent position, and thinks it would be unwise to give it up to try for a major league berth, because, although his friends are sure that he would make good, he is not so positive.

Frank received a contract from Connie Mack the other day, but returned it unsigned. He became the property of the Philadelphia Americans some time ago, when it was announced by the officials of the Worcester team of the New England League that the Athletics had bought him. In playing with the New England team all last season, Hand finished the season with a batting average over .300, and was considered the best backstop in the league.

BASEBALL NOTES

Bill Donovan has twenty hurlers, five backstops, seven infielders and ten outfielders on hand just now. Many will be decorated with the Order of the Can before they get a glimpse of the Polo Grounds.

Byron Houck, former member of the hurling staff of the Athletics and Tip Tops, has signed with the Portland Pacific Coast League team.

The Brooklyn Superbas will have Wheezer Dell, Chief Meyers, Walter Mails and maybe Jimmie Johnston, all Pacific Coast players, as members this year.

Martie Kavanagh has his grip packed and is anxiously waiting for the call from the Tigers' training camp at Waxahachie, Tex. Martie is of the opinion that some member of the Tigers, Ty Cobb excepted, is due to lose a job this summer.

According to Joe Wood, appendicitis and rheumatism are responsible for his condition. Joe has been with the Sox since 1908.

Bennie Kauff, in looking over Ty Cobb's record, finds that Cobb once scored from first on a single and also scored from second on a sacrifice fly. Cobb pulled these stunts against the Athletics, then champions of the world.

Joe Benz, a hurler of the White Sox, is the sole occupant of the Chicago camp at Mineral Wells, Tex.

Cleveland is training at New Orleans. Gandil is holding down first base, Turner second, Chapman shortstop and Thomas third.

Joe Boehling, one of the Washington pitchers, is a victim of poison ivy. Joe was poisoned at the camp at Charlottesville, Va.

Twenty-five hits for a total of forty-four bases were piled up by the Giants in an exhibition game. It is too bad that some of the base hits cannot be canned and opened up at the Polo Grounds during the summer, when hits are at a premium.

The Washington Senators have departed for Charlottesville, Va. Walter Johnson, Ray Morgan, Horace Milan and Cather Gharrity are among the missing.

Jimmie Austin, third sacker of the St. Louis Browns, may quit playing and become secretary of the Buffalo Bisons. Jimmie is wanted to take Tommie Martin's old job.

The Phillies leave today for St. Petersburgh, Fla. Pat Moran believes that Chief Bender will be one of the leading hurlers for the Phils this season.

NOTED AUTOISTS TO RACE UP MOUNTAIN

Barney Oldfield (top) and Ralph De Palma.

Barney Olfield and Ralph DePalma are to settle the auto race feud between them by competing for supremacy on the road that leads to the summit of Pikes Peak early next August, Eugene A. Sunderlin, president of the Pikes Peak motor highway association, has announced at Chicago.

GOVERNOR FIELDER TO BE AT HORSEMEN'S BANQUET

Governor James F. Fielder will be one of the three speakers at the annual banquet of the Road Horse Association of New Jersey, to be held the evening of March 23, at Krueger's Auditorium, Newark. Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, of Nyack, N. Y., and Howard MacSherry, of the Public Service Corporation, will be the others. All three are enthusiastic horsemen. Justice Tompkins is an authority on the horse.

The city anniversary colors, orange and black, will predominate in the decorating scheme, and professional talent will entertain the diners. Tickets for the affair can be obtained from Secretary James M. Beldon, room 322, Prudential building, Newark.

FREEHOLDERS ADOPT RATES OF PAYMENT

$100 Per Annum Allowed Newspapers for the Publication of Proceedings.

Elizabeth, March 3.—In the absence of Director John N. Cady, who is in Washington, Freeholder Charles A. Smith presided at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Freeholders.

Elias Applegate said he did not like the idea of voting for appropriations for public work before contracts for the same are awarded. He was informed that such a step was necessary because of preliminary expenses which had to be incurred.

A substitute resolution to one previously passed, which fixes the rates of payment for the publication of the minutes was adopted. Under it, the Elizabeth Journal publishes them in full for $400 per year, while other papers get $100 a year for publishing them in synopsis form.

LIMITATION OF ARMAMENT FROM QUAKER VIEWPOINT

In contrast to prevailing military "preparedness" ideas, the Religious Society of Friends, who have always taken a stand against the war spirit, are planning two interesting addresses for Sunday afternoon at the Friends' meeting house, at 3:30 o'clock.

The speakers will be S. S. Swackhamer, who is well-known to Plainfield audiences, and J. Hibberd Taylor, of New York city Mr Taylor is a lawyer, a graduate of Swarthmore College, and will speak on limitation of armament from the Quaker point of view A cordial invitation is extended to all.

G. H. SPICER 92 YEARS OLD OR 22 YEARS YOUNG

George Henry Spicer, 92 years old or 22 years young, just as you want to look at it, was among those who had a birthday anniversary on February 29 and he celebrated the event at his home in Ashaway, R. I. Mr. Spicer is a brother of John Denison Spicer, of Plainfield, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spicer. He was born at Hopkinson City, R. I., and the second child in a family of nine boys and two girls.

Mr. Spicer is hale and hearty for one of his years and enjoys a wide acquaintance. He has a number of relatives in Plainfield who joined in sending him congratulations on his "22d" birthday anniversary.

SLAUGHTER AT VERDUN GREAT

German Loss 125,000, Is Claim of Paris.

QUARTER OF FORCES USED

French Made Fruitless Attacks Against the Douaumont Fort, Berlin Says. Ninety Thousand Teutons Declared to Be Massing For New Drive—Fort Vaux Destroyed by the Invaders.

London, March 3.—Losses of the Germans in the battles before Verdun were between 125,000 and 150,000, according to reports received in London from Paris. The number represented one-quarter of the kaiser's troops engaged.

In the official statement issued at Berlin the only mention of the Verdun fighting is that the French made fruitless counter attacks against the Douaumont fort, where some Brandenburg troops are holding the position gained in the first German drive.

The German heavy guns have destroyed Fort Vaux, just west of Damloup and northeast of Verdun, according to unconfirmed German reports quoted in a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam, but the Germans have been unable to occupy the position because of the fire of heavy French artillery covering the approaches. The dispatch said that the ruins of the fort have been abandoned by the French.

90,000 Germans Held Ready.

Reports received in Amsterdam from German sources state that the Germans have concentrated 90,000 men near Buzy, on the Metz-Verdun railway east of Etain, and that these are awaiting further re-enforcements from the Argonne before joining in a new offensive against Verdun.

The attack made by the Germans on Fresnes won them a foothold in the French trenches, but they were ousted by a counter attack launched at once.

The German attack on Verdun, in which there had been a lull for two days, was resumed with a lively but futile assault against Fresnes, on the Woevre plain, and the Germans returned to their drive against the fortress from the north.

Neither the driving power nor the wide scope of the attacks of last week was manifest in the renewal of operations, and the German efforts to make further headway were without success.

Douaumont Still a Target.

The renewal of the German assault on the French lines about Douaumont was preceded by a lavish use of the artillery. Several infantry attacks were made, but all were thrown back by the French fire, which caused heavy losses in the ranks of the attacking parties.

The bombardment by the German artillery, which extended over the whole front in this sector, was of especial violence on the Cote du Poivre, northeast of Bras. Everywhere the French guns replied with energy, devoting special attention to the lines of communication behind the German front.

Southeast of the Verdun sector French long range guns bombarded the railway station at Vigneulles, in the St. Mihiel salient, starting two fires, setting fire to several trains and destroying a locomotive. Vigneulles-les-Hattonchatel is on the railway between Fresnes and Commercy and is a highway center of importance to the Germans.

The exact figures of the French losses in the Verdun fighting up to date have been given by General Gallieni to the committee of military affairs of the chamber of deputies. The figures were not made public, but the statement is made that they were not high.

SCHMIDT'S CHUM EXECUTED.

"I'm Ready to Die," Said Watson, Brooklyn Wife Slayer.

Ossining, N. Y., March 3.—"I'm ready to go," declared Walter Watson, the Brooklyn wife slayer, shortly before he was executed in the Sing Sing death house.

Watson, who was the oldest inmate in the death house in point of service, protested that he never willfully murdered Mrs. Watson. His explanation is that he was intoxicated and moreover his act was in self defense.

WANTS TO END BABY'S LIFE.

Father of Imperfect Child in Iowa to Seek Aid of Police Chief.

Des Moines, Ia., March 3.—Because his two-months-old daughter is subnormal Charles Cleveland asked the Des Moines police to kill the child in some merciful manner.

"The doctors have refused, but it's wrong to let the child live," Cleveland told Police Chief Crawford.

"We can't do it. The child has a soul. It would be murder," said Crawford.

CHEWING GUM KILLS BOY.

Lad of Six Swallows It and Brain Fever Results.

Tarrytown, March 3.—John, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mulholland, died from chewing gum. The boy swallowed some of the gum and it lodged in his intestines.

It resulted in brain fever, and for six days he was unconscious, in spite of the efforts of a physician.

GEN. ARGUMEDO EXECUTED.

Villa Leader Convicted of High Treason at Durango.

Mexico City, March 3. — General Mongula, chief of the forces in Durango, telegraphed to the minister of war that the Villista general, Benjamin Argumedo, captured near Torreon in a fight, was executed in the penitentiary at Durango after a court martial had sentenced him for high treason.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Chicago—This year the women of Illinois get their first chance to vote for a President, and the registration of women is beyond all estimates. The women start voting tomorrow, in the aldermanic primaries in Chicago, and keep right on voting until the "big event" in November. There is only one voting day that they will miss, and that comes about through an oversight. The Illinois women cannot vote in the Presidential primaries in April, although they can vote for the Presidential electors later on. Chicago women will vote this year for ten municipal court judges, two members of the Board of Assessors, three university trustees, one alderman, ward, State and Senatorial committees, and minor officials.

Boise, Idaho—It is interesting to recall that Idaho, which has enjoyed woman suffrage for almost twenty years, even in its early days recognized woman industrially, having permitted a woman to design the State seal. And her ideal of the State of Idaho resulted in a design of a man and a woman standing together and upholding the shield of the State. The woman is dressed symbolically in loose robes; in her hand she holds a staff of freedom and the scales of justice. The man represents a miner, as the mining industry first drew settlers to this State. Miss Emma Edwards, the designer, was a Californian.

St. Louis—Under the auspices of the State pure food commission, the Civic League and the Consumers' League, thirty St. Louis women have undertaken the task of personally inspecting each of the 600 bakeries of the city. Mrs. George Dobler and Mrs. George Dock, of the Consumers League, are directing the work of inspection, and the findings will be made a part of the public records. Not only will the condition of the various bakeries be filed for record and action taken, if necessary, but the Consumers' League will publish the names and standing of each bakery inspected.

Washington — A "household economy and anti-waste" campaign begins tomorrow in Washington under the leadership of prominent women. It is to be launched by the Housekeepers' Alliance, the members of which believe it is characteristic of American families to be wasteful. Some go so far as to say that the average American family wastes enough to keep a family in Europe. Mrs. Flora McDonald, president of the Alliance, will outline the war on waste at the big meeting to be held tomorrow.

Philadelphia.—One of the most-talked-of women in Philadelphia is Mrs. Jane D. Rippin. She is the city's social physician, and tells people how they can be "happy though married." She has been complimented by Colonel Roosevelt for her work. The solving of other people's domestic difficulties is a big, tactful job. Last year she handled nearly seventeen thousand cases, all dealing with some phase of domestic unhappiness. Her formal title is supervisor of the probation departments of the Domestic Relations, Criminal and Misdemeanor branches of the Municipal Court, and is the friend and willing servant of a great city's married mothers, its runaway girls and boys, and its hundreds of unhappy whose husbands have left them without support. One of her best methods, she says, is to bring the dissatisfied parties together in her office and let them "scrap it out."

New York.—Few women have undertaken such an adventurous trip as that which Mrs. Roy Chapman Andrews has begun with her husband, an intrepid explorer. Into the wilds of China to hunt tigers for the American Museum of Natural Hitsory she has gone, and from sheer love of adventure. Mrs. Andrews was Yvette Borup, sister of the ill-fated George Borup of the Peary polar expedition. She was the school-mate of the Kaiser's daughter, and rejected a Prussian nobleman to seek adventure. Her friends in America, as well as in Berlin, will watch eagerly for news from the depths of China.

Boston.—Four hundred college girls from all parts of the world who are attending New England institutions are taking part in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the first Young Women's Christian Association in this city. The associations in all parts of the world are holding similar observances, which come to a grand climax today, on the actual anniversary. The parent organization, founded in Boston on March 3, 1866, is still a lively feature of Boston life. Its principal celebration is a pageant depicting the early efforts, the development of the present and the hopes for the future. In the "Scenes of Progress," five decades of development are shown. In the cast "The Girl of 1866" is depicted by Miss Jugnita Aichenor, of Chattanooga, and "The Girl of 1916" by Miss Katherine Wells, of Chelsea, Mass. The parent organization of the 1,000 similar associations throughout the country is headed by Mrs. Benjamin Tenney.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Dorrance roses—blooms which are known in all the flower markets of the East for their perfection—are the product of a woman's horticultural skill and of a woman's business ability. The big rose houses just across the river from this city are conducted by Miss Anne Dorrance. As a girl she took keen interest in her father's rose gardens. Tucked away in a corner of her brain was the belief that she could find a market for the choicest blooms, so she took a course in practical gardening and floriculture. In addition to conducting her big business, she is active in civic affairs and is a member of the school board.

New York.—Literary circles are discussing the suit brought against Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, the famous writer, by Mrs. Annie Prall Fahnestock, of Washington, wife of Mrs. Burnett's nephew. It is not known whether Mrs. Burnett will return from England to appear in the proceedings, which are based on a letter which the authoress wrote terminating her acquaintance with the plaintiff.

Topeka, Kas.—On a platform advocating prohibition, nation-wide suffrage, mothers' pensions, recall of judges, old age pensions, national rural credits, laws for farm tenants, tariff for revenue, government aid in road building, Dr. Eva Harding is seeking the Democratic congressional nomination in the First Kansas District. Dr. Harding opposes militarism.

Chicago.—The Women's Trust Company, all officers of which, except general counsel and manager, are women, has been incorporated under Arizona laws with a capital of one and a half millions, to do a general trust business.

New York—This city is to have another hotel for self-supporting women. It is to be named the Hotel Irvin, after Mrs. Richard Irvin, president of the organization. The women have bought the land, and will build a magnificent structure to shelter 400 working girls and supplement the Hotel Virginia, which has been forced to turn away many girls during the past year. The new hotel will be located in West Thirtieth street, and it is said that within a comfortable walking distance of it fully 50,000 girls are employed.

Chicago—Thirty women lawyers of Chicago are operating the Public Defenders' League for Girls for the purpose of preventing any girl from being sent to jail for a first offense. The women are asking for a special girls' court, and the appointment of a woman as associate judge. The women attorneys are volunteering their time to this special court to see that young women offenders get a fair chance to reform.

336 CHILDREN CARED FOR DURING FEBRUARY

A trustees meeting of the City Union of King's Daughters was held yesterday morning in the Day Nursery on West Front street. Mrs. Bird, the house matron, reported that 336 children were taken care of during the month of February. She also announced that one little boarder was kept at the home while the mother was an inmate at Bonnie Burn.

During the business meeting which followed, it was voted that when mothers of children were sick, the nursery would take them over as boarders until such a time as the parent was able to take care of the child. Heretofore children were kept at the nursery only during the day. By this plan they will be kept both day and night.

—When discontent reaches a certain point, the furnished room advertisements become very interesting to some people.

FOR WOMEN

Suits After Doucet; Coats After Jenny; Each $29.50

Special Offering for Saturday

50 Suits, $29.50

In a very fine quality of serge; sizes 34 to 44, in both navy and black, after Doucet.

A suit of refined simplicity. Lines of coat and skirt show the care and skill of the tailor.

Over the taffeta sailor collar is one of silk faille, with hemstitched edging. Skirt of coat flares smartly at sides to just below hips.

Correct fulness distinguishes the plain tailored skirt, which has a yoke-like girdle with two little pockets in front.

50 Coats, $29.50

Poplin, with broad band of satin at hem. Navy and black, after Jenny.

Black bangs in loose folds from yoke just under shoulder. Pleats at shoulder in front give fulness to bust line. Arm openings are liberal. Broad loose satin collar may be worn open or buttoned up as one wishes. Narrow folds of satin are around sleeves just short of cuffs.

A coat appropriate for wear day or evening. A smart traveling coat. Equally suitable over dress or suit.

There Will Be Other New Things

But these 50 coats after Jenny and the 50 suits after Doucet will be the gem of the showing on Saturday.

FOR YOUNG WOMEN OF 14 TO 18

Interesting Suits, $20 to $48.75

Afternoon Dresses, $16.50 & More

The suits are designed after expensive models. Just the sort of suits the young woman of this interesting age likes. Fairly simple, in good tailored lines.

One model which bears touches of Lanvin, ($34.50 in serge, nicely lined with peau de cygne), is particularly youthful. Prettily finished with detachable collar in faille silk. Skirts flare widely.

A wonderful little suit for a young woman is a distinctive, unusual blue serge, cleverly combined with a dash of blue, rose or white cloth. It is one of those interesting things impossible to describe. You must see it. $31.50.

One model in taffeta and serge, $33.75, is fashioned after higher-priced models.

A good-looking suit, well-tailored, has odd front finished with little crow-stitching and buttons; long rolling detachable white silk collar, $33.75.

A velour check and a blue serge have the new flare at the sides, little vestee, flared skirt. Excellent model. Beautifully tailored. $36.50 in velour; $32.50 in serge.

Afternoon Dresses

Very pretty ones for $16.50; more expensive ones too.

The combinations of taffetas and Georgette crepes, serges and taffetas, serges and charmeuse, plain serges, are perfectly alluring. Any young girl would want to buy a half dozen of them, and could never resist buying at least one.

There are frocks, very appropriate in good taste, for card parties, luncheons, teas, tea dances, for every imaginable occasion in all youthful becoming colors. Speaking simplicity, good lines, exclusive little touches, original smartness are some of the desirable features of these lovely gowns.

"Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTINGUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRAND—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheapen" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectinvely, to gain.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Andrew Lang Didn't Like Stevenson When They First Met.

Andrew Lang was the unyielding enemy of everything that savored of decadence. He particularly disliked the affected young aesthetics of the 1890's. And, although he came, as the world knows, to be the devoted friend of Robert Louis Stevenson, his first impressions of him were most unfavorable, for he mistook him for an aesthete of the aesthetes.

In his book "On the Trail of Stevenson" Clayton Hamilton gives a record of Andrew Lang's account of his first glimpse of Stevenson. Andrew Lang, it seems, practiced the conversational economy associated chiefly with the name of the late Alfred Jingle, Esq. Mr. Lang said—and Mr. Hamilton jotted it down immediately after in the London Underground—these things:

"Mentone promenade. Saw him coming. Didn't like him. Long cape. Long hair. Queer hat. —— queer. Hands—white, bony, beautiful. Didn't like the cape. Didn't like the hair. Looked like a —— aesthete. Never liked aesthetes. Can't stand them. Talked well. Saw that. Still seemed another aesthete Colvin had discovered. Didn't like him. Didn't like him at all. * * * Later—oh, yes—but I needn't tell you that. Didn't like him at first. Took time."

THAT FORTY INCH WAIST.

It Means Overeating, Underexercising and Future Poor Health.

"Beware of a forty inch waist line," says a bulletin from the North Carolina state board of health. "Ten to one the man who is five feet eight inches tall and forty inches about the waist will sooner or later have to consult a doctor for gallstones and kidney trouble and most likely for Bright's or some other serious disease.

"Forty inches about the waist is an abnormal size and condition and shows that he who carries such a burden around with him has an appetite of an abnormal size and proportion. It further shows that something is wrong with his diet or that his energy is reduced to naught. His appetite is either several sizes too big or he 'sits tight' on exercising. Most likely he eats excessively of meats, pastries and heavy foods, which means overworked kidneys and faulty elimination.

"There is usually one, and only one, diagnosis to be made of this class—'fat and forty.' Their bulkiness, flabbiness and shortness of breath are symptoms having for their cause 'overfed and underworked.'"

The bulletin concludes with, "Overfeeding contributes more to disease and premature deaths than underfeeding."

Origin of Dollar.

The dollar was originally a Jochimsthaler-gulden-groschen. But that name was too long for general use, and it was cut down to thaler, which was transliterated into the present form. It could not be either a gulden or a groschen, because the gulden had always been minted of gold. It was not a groschen, because that coin was of small value, so the two were combined. The essential part of the name was Jochimsthal, or Joachimsthal, as it is now spelled, the Joachim valley, in Austria, from which the silver was derived for the minting of this large coin. As that great silver mine is located in Bohemia, the original thaler was the Bohemian dollar. Those silver mines have since attained worldwide fame, because they are the source of radium, but the dollar comes closer home to most of us.

Protecting "Bob White."

"Bob white" has received complete protection in a number of states, and in many other instances the season is a short one. Perhaps his defenseless condition in the other states should be recognized as a tribute to his powers of passive resistance. His chief enemies, after all, are not human beings. Polecats, weasels, foxes, minks and common cats account for a large number of eggs. Coons are especially fond of the latter, and Mr. White has need of all his cunning and powers of endurance if his little brood is to be brought to maturity.—Outing Magazine.

Ceylon's Rice Fields.

It is a surprising condition in Ceylon that rice is not grown in nearly sufficient quantities for home consumption. British India ships considerable quantities to Ceylon. There are vast tracts of irrigable land on the island now uncultivated which would be suitable for paddy fields, but how to bring about the utilization of this rich land remains unsolved.—Argonaut.

The Term "Minster."

The term minster was first applied to churches of outlying English parishes in the tenth century. It is now given to a number of the important cathedrals, York, Ripon, Lincoln and Southwell, and to a few large churches and abbeys, such as Sherborne, Winborne and Westminster.—London Globe.

A Handy Dog.

Iva Line—My dog is a regular blacksmith. Ivan Other—How's that? Iva Line—Why, I kicked him the other day and he made a bolt for the door.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Safety First.

"Isn't it distressing to think of all the poverty in the world?"

"I never do. I confine myself exclusively to thinking of my own."—Life.

It needs more courage to suffer than to die.—Napoleon.

Weed Pests.

Of the 200 species of ferns native to this country a few have become more or less serious weed pests. The most troublesome are the hay-scented fern and the brake. According to a bulletin of the department of agriculture, cutting off the tops close to the soil surface twice a year for two years will kill out nearly all ferns. The best times to do the cutting are just previous to sporing, or about the middle of June, and the middle of August.

DR. JOHN GRANT LYMAN.

New York Broker Captured In Florida on Fraud Charges.

Accused of swindling the speculative public out of nearly a quarter million dollars, it is not likely that he will be released on bail. It is said Lyman was traced through a woman said to have been an old sweetheart.

Hamadan In History.

Hamadan seems to be certainly the Ekbatana, the summer residence of the ancient Persian kings, where Alexander the Great stored his enormous loot from Persia, estimated at over £41,000,000. But there is topographical difficulty about identifying it with the earlier and still more interesting Ekbatana described by Herodotus, the city where the first Median king, Deioces, realized the ideal of royal isolation by shutting himself up in a palace on top of a hill, surrounded by seven fortified circles of different colors descending the slopes in order and allowing the inhabitants of these to communicate with him only by writing. Either this story is a myth or the Ekbatana of Herodotus is to be found on a hill between Hamadan and Tabriz.—London Chronicle.

Eating and Fighting.

It is not creditable to a thinking people that the two things they most thank God for should be eating and fighting. We say grace when we are going to cut up lamb and chicken, and when we have stuffed ourselves to an extent that an orang outang would be ashamed of we offer up our best praises to the Creator for having blown and sabered his "images," our fellow creatures, to atoms and drenched them in blood and dirt.—Leigh Hunt.

Cream Sauce.

To make a satisfactory cream sauce, first put the milk on and while this is getting warm rub the butter and flour together until smooth. As soon as the milk comes to the boil gradually add the creamy mixture while the milk continues to boil, and the finished sauce will be quite smooth.

MOVIES REPLACE GOOD OLD KODAK ALBUM AND ARE A BOON TO YOUNG LOVE; THEY PRODUCE MANY MARRIAGES THESE DAYS

It has been estimated that a large part of the present day marriages may be attributed to the movie shows where the theme of love is so well exploited. Young couples find the movie theater an excellent trysting place and adore to sit at one another's side and amid the music and the shadowy lights. Also, say the young men, the price is cheap.

GIRLS' MINSTREL SHOW A SUCCESS

Y. W. H. A. Gives a Fine Performance at High School Auditorium.

CLEVER SPECIALTIES

Original Monologue by Miss Minnie Solomon a Feature—Catchy Songs Win Much Applause from the Large Audience.

Catchy songs well sung, local "gags" snappily sprung and a capital chorus, set in a most attractive background, helped to make the first novelty minstrel show of the Young Women's Hebrew Association at the High School Auditorium last night an unqualified success. The performance was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic audience which was not only generous in its applause but voted the efforts of the amateur performers close to the professional line. Miss Minnie Solomon delivered an original prologue previous to the opening of the first part and later did herself proud in the part of interlocutor. She was ably seconded by the Misses Rose Davidson, Celis Golison, Dorothy Augenblick, Mildred Weintrob, Bessie Adelberg and Sadye Moskowitz, playing the end parts. Each comedienne and soloist contributed her portion of the program in a very able manner, giving a smoothness and tone to the entire show seldom seen in affairs of this kind. The performance was followed by a dance which continued until 2 o'clock and which was enjoyed by a major portion of the audience. Squier's orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.

With the rise of the curtain at 8:15 the entire troup was seen in a setting of orange and black depicting the "Princeton Cabaret." All the members of the chorus wore orange middies and black skirts, while the ends, posing as waiters, had attractive costumes of orange and black. The opening medley was sung with a spirit that set the spectators to keeping time and after a clever numbed by the ends the following program was given:

End song, "Close to My Heart," Miss Rose Davidson; end song, "Norway," Miss Celia Golison; end song, "The Song of Songs," Miss Dorothy Augenblick; end song, "On the 7:28," Miss Mildred Weintrob; end song, Mother," Miss Bessie Adelberg; end song, "Back Home In Tennessee," Miss Sadye Moskowitz; feature, duo, "I'm Simply Crazy About You," Misses Sadie Rothberg and Rae Canter; solo, "When I Leave the World Behind," Miss Esther Kivantinos; topical song, "The Gold-Dust Twins," by Misses Rose and Adelaide Nathanson; solo, "When the Lights Go Out in Jersey," Miss Sadie Rothberg. The double number, "I'm Just Crazy About You," by the Misses Rothberg and Canter, made an exceptionally big hit as the young women were excellent in the take-off and rendition. The topical song also went very big, the words by Miss Sadye Moskowitz cleverly portraying live topics about town.

The first part was followed by an olio of three numbers as follows: Vocal solo, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling Me," Miss Caroline Dawes; sidewalk comedy act, "George Washington Snow" and "Benjamin Franklin Blow," by William Gerky and Dennis Ziegler, of Garwood; feats of magic, Maurice Joseph Jacoby, of New York; and songs and dances by Master Buddy Pagluica, billed as "The Miniature Pavlowa." The show was concluded by an original sketch, "The Last Rehearsal," written by Rev. Father Rigney, of Westfield, in which the following young women took part: Misses Anna Moledezky, Rae Canter, Rose Nathanson, Elsie Davidson, Lena Rosenthal, Sadie Feldman, Rose Schiff, Jennie Shrager, Anna Freedman, Marion Heyman, Lena Moledezky, Lena Bender, Esther Rosenthal, Rose Kline and Nettie Solomon. Miss Minnie Solomon also delivered an epilogue after the final fall of the curtain.

The following members of the Association composed the chorus: The Misses Fannie Berkowitz, Elsie Davidson, Anna Freedman, Rose Kline, Rose Rosenbaum, Lena Rosenthal, Nettie Solomon, Anna Moledezky, Sadie Feldman, Marion Heyman, Ethel Kline, Lena Moledezky, Esther Rosenthal, Jennie Shrager, Etta Stierer, Rose Schi.

The show was produced under the direction of Miss Caroline Dawes, of Westfield, and reflected credit upon her ability as a coach. She was ably assisted by the following committee from the association: Misses Rose Nathanson, chairman; Lena Moledezky, secretary; Dorothy Augenblick, Anna Moledezky, Esther Kivatinos, Adelaide Nathanson and Diana Siegel. Leon Weintrob acted as stage manager, and M. Zimmerman was his assistant. The committee wishes to extend thanks to L. Starkweather and his corps of ushers, and also to Miron & Lifson, of Elizabeth, for stage properties and settings kindly loaned.

CRONY OF SCHMIDT DIES GAMELY FOR WIFE MURDER

Ossining, N. Y., March 3.—Walter Watson, a Brooklyn wife slayer, died at 5:59 o'clock this morning in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison. He had been the crony of Hans Schmidt in the death house. He died gamely, as did Schmidt.

COUNTESS FESTETICS.

The countess, originally an American girl, daughter of James B. Haggin, mining and railroad operator, but now the wife of an Austrian nobleman, dropped her title on a United States passport to avoid English "visit and search." She is now on her way to Nassau.

VIKING HIT MINE; WHOLE CREW LOST

Letter to Commander's Kin First Tells of Mishap.

New York, March 3.—Word reached here that the British destroyer Viking had been blown up. All of the officers and crew are believed to have been lost, and the news of the vessel's loss came in a letter to relatives of Commander Thomas Christopher Williams, who went down with his ship.

The Viking, according to the letter that the commander's relatives received, was blown up by a mine. No previous intimation that disaster had overtaken this destroyer has come from the war zone, and to the rigid British censorship is attributed the fact that this naval loss has not been made known publicly.

The date of the Viking's sinking is not known, but it is believed to have occurred on Jan. 29, because in the casualty list of that date appeared notice of the death of Commander Williams in the Persian gulf, in connection with which announcement it was stated in the London Times that Commander Williams was a former commander of the Syren, a British cruiser, and had received honors from King George for his bravery and daring last October.

The Viking was a destroyer of the F class, built in 1909, of 1,000 tons and carrying a complement of about seventy officers and men. She had armament of two 4-inch guns and two 18-inch torpedo tubes and was formerly known as an "ocean going destroyer."

LOUISIANA TOWNS FLOODED.

Inhabitants of Bayou Sara Fleeing Rising Waters.

Natchez, Miss., March 3.—Residents of Bayou Sara, La., were reported fleeing from the town, fearing a break in the levee which protects it from overflow waters of the Mississippi. Should a crevasse occur, it is believed, St. Francisville would be in danger of inundation.

The water in Concordia parish is reported rising, and at Monterey it is said to be entering homes and extinguishing fires.

POISON PEN LEADS TO SUICIDE

Bride of Six Weeks Kills Self When Husband Rejects Her.

Ashland, Wis., March 3.—A series of anonymous letters resulted in the suicide of Mrs. Del O'Neill, wife of a railroad man. She was a bride of only six weeks.

Almost the day that the couple returned from a honeymoon trip to St. Paul her husband received the first letter. He demanded that his wife explain. She said that the writer was a discarded suitor trying to wreck her happiness.

THE PRESS' SPECIAL OFFER TO PLAINFIELD

THIS is one of our big achievements, of which we are justly proud. Every reader of this paper—yes, every family in the city and in its environments—can this year enjoy either of these two nationally famous magazines, or both of them, with this paper, for but little more than the price of the paper alone. These two great magazines with approximately 1,500,000 subscribers, are known and loved the whole country over. At 15 cents a copy, $1.80 a year—$3.60 for the two, purchased by the month—they are unquestioned leaders in their respective fields.

How We Did It

We went to the publishers of these magazines and told them about this city. How its population has increased! How its wealth has increased! How its trade has increased! How its bank clearings have increased! We showed them how desirable it was for them, and for their advertisers, that they should have a large circulation here! Then we showed them how this paper was the one paper in this city to make this offer, and how we knew that the citizens of this city would welcome this opportunity enthusiastically.

Woman's Home Companion

Splendid Serial Novels Woman's Home Companion is famous for the excellence of its fiction, particularly its full-length serial novels. There will be at least four novels this year, by Margaret Deland, Fannie Heaslip Lea, and others of equal power. Hundreds of thousands will later pay $1.50 each for them, when they are published in book form, but readers of Woman's Home Companion will have had them first.

Fifty Splendid Short Stories By distinguished authors whose work you are always eager to read, will fill the pages of the Companion. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, William J. Burns (the great detective), Zona Gale, Mary Heaton Vorse, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, Grace S. Richmond—these are only a few of the popular favorites whose stories will appear during the year.

The Finer Things of Life Inspiration, ideals, culture, the things that lift us above the commonplace and the monotony of living—these have an important place in the program for 1916. The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson has prepared a series of intimate sermons for the Companion family on the duties and privileges of family life and the real meaning of family ties.

Laura Spencer Porter will help those who love pictures and want to know the best. Anne Bryan McCall, in The Tower Room, will continue her popular department for girls.

The New Fashions Fashion's new ideas, the chic touches that distinguish the smartly dressed woman of Fifth Avenue will always be found first in the Companion. Grace Margaret Gould, the Companion Fashion Editor, keeps her readers in constant touch with the great creators of fashion in Paris and New York.

For the Little People The Cherubs are coming! The cunningest, funniest little people you ever saw—drawn and versified by Olive Rush. Also stories, puzzles and prizes, plays for school and nursery, plans for kites, aeroplanes and boats, doll dressmaking lessons—all kinds of things to interest and amuse the little Companion readers.

Helpful Home Departments The Companion is famous for its practical departments. Every month it offers new ideas for cooking, for serving, for entertaining, for fancy work. Hundreds of ideas every month! Practical, really helpful ideas. Companion readers find these departments most valuable.

The American Magazine

aims to be, and is, a magazine for the whole family to share, each with the other—full of the new things, the interesting things, this month, next month, every month!

George Ade
William Allen White
Ellis Parker Butler
David Grayson
Ida Tarbell
John Sharp Williams
Ray Stannard Baker
Hugh Fullerton
Stephen Leacock
John Taintor Foote
Walter Pritchard Eaton
James Montgomery Flagg

These, and scores of other favorites, will contribute the timely and interesting articles, the stories, the striking illustrations, the departments. You will find The American Magazine always full of the things you are interested in; the things you want to read about.

The Effect of the War on America The New industries have been created; old industries have been given new life; new cities have sprung up full sized in a month; men have become millionaires over night—these are some of the effects of the war on America. These articles tell a wonderful story of problems met, difficulties overcome, and successful achievement. They give a splendid, true picture of the war industries, the war fortunes, and the men that made them.

Being Better Business Men An intensely interesting series of practical, fact-bottom articles about the Retail Business, Real Estate, Advertising, Selling, and other important lines of business. Other articles for young men will take up the problems of young men—going into business in his own town; going into business with his father; going to the large city. It will be a very interesting and really valuable series.

Stories—Short and Long There is always a generous measure of stories in The American Magazine. Stories of city life; of country life; home stories; dog stories; love stories and adventure stories—a real feast of fiction. Important, too, no suggestive or unclean story has ever found its way into The American Magazine. Its stories are wholesome and cleverly told, that the whole family can, and does, enjoy.

The Big Saving

If you bought either of these magazines by the month you would pay fifteen cents for it. If you bought both of them you would pay thirty cents. One magazine purchased this way for the year would cost you $1.80. Both magazines $3.60. Our plan will give you the magazines each month by mail at your home, promptly on publication date for but a few cents more than this paper alone would cost. It is a big, big saving in convenience and in money.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Collinson are spending two weeks in Orange.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some day really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water, with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights, have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffing, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.—Adv.

DOING THE SQUARE THING

WHEN ice covered the broad bosom of the creek that flowed through the outskirts of Upperville, the boys of the village found no diversion so enticing as hockey, or, to give it its more popular name, "shinny."

Ice skating is an exhilarating sport; but when you combine it with the thrill, the excitement and the dangers of chasing a wooden block over the ice and trying to drive it through the opposition's goal—then indeed it becomes a sport that no boy with red blood in his veins can resist.

What merry times they had! In the afternoon, school over with for the day, they'd hasten home for their skates and hockey sticks and then to the creek where "sides" were chosen and, presently, arms and legs were flying in the mad whirl over the ice after the elusive block.

For ten days now, however, they had played no hockey. Partly because a "thaw" had come and the ice on the creek was not entirely safe; but, if the truth be told, because a damper had been cast upon the playing of this game by an unfortunate accident. Not that the game had been entirely abandoned, for it had not. But, somehow, the "thaw" seemed to be welcomed by the boys as a legitimate excuse for playing it on land, on the broad level field by the side of the creek.

That way, it was not nearly so exciting but—well—there was poor Phil Holcomb lying in his bed with a broken leg as the result of a collision with Bud Allison during the last game on the ice.

The way Phil had collapsed like a jack-knife and gone down in a heap, right when the play was the merriest was still fresh in the minds of the fellows. And the look on his face when they had tried to pick him up and had discovered that his leg was broken! Bud had tottered a moment but recovered his balance. Indeed Phil would not have fallen so hard had not Bud's hockey stick caught the edge of one of his skates and literally pulled his feet out from under him.

Instantly, of course, the game ceased, and they crowded around the prostrate, moaning Phil. Realizing that he could not walk, they had attempted to lift him and carry him home. But, alas, they knew not how to lift him without aggravating his injury. So Doctor Ward had been called and, under his direction, Phil was taken home.

Then had followed anxious moments when the news of the accident spread through the village. And, that night, more than one boy had been forced to listen to a lengthy and emphatic discourse from his father to the effect that hereafter he should not play hockey on ice skates.

Many were the inquiries made by the boys as to Phil's condition and, you may be sure, it was their chief topic of conversation. At first they hadn't noticed it, but presently it occurred to one, then another and still another of them that Bud was acting strangely. In fact, that from the very moment of the accident itself he had been "different."

First of all, the moment after Phil fell he had not bent over and attempted to lift him; but perhaps that was because he himself was somewhat stunned. And yet, while the other boys were crowding around their fallen companion and making earnest inquiry, Bud had remained aloof, on the edge of the crowd, scowling, and aimlessly swinging his stick. He seemed to be angry or, at least, surly.

During the days following the accident, too, he had not been to the door of Phil's house to ask how the patient was progressing. The boys had attempted to sympathize with him for his part in the unfortunate occurrence, but Bud had not seemed to want it. Indeed, several of them recalled now, he had never said in so many words that he was sorry, nor had he tried to defend himself by lengthy explanation as to just how it had happened.

One afternoon, however, when the news had gone forth that Phil's leg had set perfectly and that he was on the high-road to a speedy recovery, Will Turner, Phil's best pal, happened to arrive a little early at the broad field on which the boys played hockey after school.

Bud was there ahead of him, and when Will called he received but a half-hearted "hall-lo-o-o" in return. And Bud made no move to meet him as he crossed the field, but waited until he had come up to him.

Will looked at him a moment keenly. "Look here, Bud," he said presently, "what's been on your mind lately? You don't seem the—well, the same. What's the matter?"

"Aw, nothing!" growled Bud in reply.

Will hesitated a moment. "Yes, there is," he insisted. "I know better! Come on—tell me all about it. Is—is it about Phil?" asked Will.

Bud muttered something under his breath and scowled.

"Now see here, Bud," Will continued, "you mustn't take it so hard about Phil. You couldn't help it and—and it might just as well have been any of us fellows as you. You just happened to be the one that ran into Phil. I'm sure he doesn't hold it against you. I saw him a little while last night and the first question he asked me was how you were and whether you'd been hurt. Honest, he doesn't even think you were to blame. Neither do any of the fellows, either. So I can't see why you've been grouching around like—like a bear with a sore head. Come on, cheer up; Phil will be out again in a few weeks, as good as new!"

Suddenly Bud swung his stick viciously at a small piece of ice on the ground before him. It seemed to relieve his feelings. "Will," he exclaimed, "I'm going to tell you all about it! That's just what's the matter. I've kept it in all along and—and now I've just got to tell someone! I am to blame! If—if I hadn't done what I did, poor Phil wouldn't have had a broken leg. I—I—can't you see, Will—I—I tripped him on purpose!"

"Bud!"

"Yes, I saw him falling and purposely shoved my shinny stick into his skate!"

"Why? Why?" cried Will. "What did Phil ever do to you?"

"I—I don't know! Nothing! You see, I did it without stopping to think. You remember, he had made six goals earlier in the game and—and all you fellows admit that he and I are the best hockey players in the crowd. And most of you think he's just a little bit better than me. Well, I had tried to block him from several of those goals and he got by me; and then I had three good chances to shoot a goal and—and all three times he plunged in and took the block right away from me. When I saw him falling, it just came to me in a second that now was my time to get even. All I had to do was push my stick out and trip him. So I did. I don't know just why, but I guess I must have been jealous."

Will said nothing. He stood looking at Bud in amazement.

"Of course," Bud continued, "I didn't know it was going to break his leg. Gee whiz, Will, I wish it'd been my leg, not his! I wanted to go right up to him and tell him, but you fellows were crowding around and—and—well, I just couldn't do it! Then, later on, I wanted to know how he was but I just couldn't go to his house and ask. And you fellows kept telling me how it wasn't my fault and how sorry you were and how I mustn't take it too hard—when—when all the time I knew it was my fault, that I had done it on purpose. That's what's been worrying me, Will, and—and I want to know what you'd do about it!"

Will thought for a long, long while. Then he remembered what his father had said to him once when he had been conscience-stricken over a matter not nearly so important as this. "I think, Bud, that you should go to Phil—go tonight—and tell him just what you told me and—and—and tell him to tell you just what he thinks of you! That's what I think you ought to do!"

Bud did, too. Not at first; but by evening he had worked it all out to this conclusion. So he saw Phil and manfully told him the whole miserable story.

Phil, however, didn't tell him what he thought of him. Instead, he shook his hand and told him to "forget it."

And that was how one boy had drilled into him the lesson that no man or boy is worth while in the field of sport—baseball, football, hockey, or any other game—unless he "plays it clean," according to the rules of the game, without any "dirty work" and as a real sportsman! Which, after all, is, perhaps, the greatest of all the benefits a boy can derive from competitive games with his fellows!

"Ah, nothing!" growled Bud in reply.

The Lame Man and the Dogs

A LAME man was very much annoyed by the dogs, for no matter where he went, as soon as they saw him they would set up an awful barking and would not stop until he was well out of sight.

One little puppy that had barked until it was hoarse, and then ran up the road to hide in some bushes, was greatly alarmed to see the lame man coming its way, stooping low at every step.

When he came to where the puppy was hiding he started to ask why it acted so, but before he could say a word, the little dog having regained its breath, went scurrying across the fields, barking harder than ever.

"Now that is very strange," thought the lame man. "I never hurt the dogs and yet they bark at me wherever I go. I will ask the next dog I see why it is."

Presently he came to a house where a very old dog was sitting on the porch, growling and showing his teeth.

"You seem to be a very old dog and must be very wise," said the lame man. When the dog heard this he stopped growling and bumped his tail on the boards. Being encouraged, the lame man leaned his cane against the fence and continued:

"I want to know why it is that every time I pass through a strange place the dogs all bark at me. I never hurt the dogs but often stop and would pet them if I could. Why is it, then, that instead of following me like they do some people, they just bark and run away?"

"I see you are a very kind man although you are lame," said the old dog. The man bowed his head. "But," added the dog, "there are many who are unkind and treat dogs badly; they throw sticks and stones at dogs who never did them any harm."

"They do, indeed," agreed the lame man.

"And, although you never throw sticks or stones at them, you stoop low when you walk, and that is why they think you are one of the cruel kind. They think you are about to pick up something with which to hurt them."

"That is strange," laughed the man, "but I cannot be blamed for being lame."

"Nor can the dogs be blamed for being afraid of a man who stoops over, when they think he is gathering sticks and stones; but I will tell them you are a kind man and not to run away when they see you coming."

The lame man thanked the old dog and the very next time he came that way every dog came out and wagged its tail. And the little puppy was no longer afraid but was right there with the rest, barking a joyful welcome.

The Childhood of Nat. Hawthorne

AS a boy young Hawthorne used to tell his mother that he would some day go to sea and never return, but when he left Salem and went to Raymond, Maine, he seemed to find roaming the woods just as much an adventure as the sea would have been. With Shakespeare, Milton or Pope in his pocket, he would take a gun and rod and try his luck in woods and waters near Sebago Bay. Or, in the winter, he would go skating by moonlight until midnight. Then if he were tired he would seek a cabin in the wood and sit for a while longer by a huge fire where half a tree was burning. There perhaps he would jot down his woodland journeyings—his writings of that period show minute observation and a great love of nature. "One of the great masters of English prose," he has been termed; to him his conscience was a thing to be worshipped. Perhaps you have read some of the stories he wrote for young people—"Grandfather's Chair," "Twice Told Tales," "The Wonder Book." He once said to his mother in a letter: "I don't want to be a doctor and live on men's diseases; nor a minister and live on other's sins; nor a lawyer and live on their quarrels. I don't think that there is anything left for me but to be an author. How would you like to see a whole shelf of books written by your son with "Hawthorne's Works" printed on their backs?"

He would sit by a huge fire where half a tree was burning.

How To Make a Hood for Dolly

DOES your Doll Baby need a new Bonnet? Yes? Then listen and I'll show you how to make one. Borrow one of Mother's pretty handkerchiefs and fold it just like this one.

Then at the places marked by the dotted lines fold the corners back, and reversing the handkerchief, the opposite side appears like the second drawing.

At each fold pat the handkerchief to make it lie flat. Now fold the bottom margin C-D over, until it has this form.

Finally pick up your folded handkerchief by the corners C-D, and bend the corners back, making a fold K, and behold—?

A pretty little hood will be ready for Dolly when you take her to see the neighbors, or when she is invited out to tea.

THE SKELETON.

Teacher was explaining to the class the bones of the body.

"Can you tell me," she asked Sonny, "what the skeleton is?"

"Yes'm. It's the bones of the body with the meat scraped off."

Her Feathered Friends

LITTLE Alice stood by the big window of her nursery staring out. Whew! but it was cold! The ground was all covered with snow and great icicles were hanging from the eaves of the houses and from the branches of the trees. A sharp, high wind was blowing and whistling around the corner of the building.

Presently a lone, wet, miserable looking little bird fluttered down on the roof of the small balcony directly below the window through which she was looking. Such a cold, unhappy, starving little fellow he was! He hopped gingerly about the ledge, ran his head wearily under his wings several times and then looked up at her as much as to say, "Can't you do anything for me, Alice—can't you do anything at all?"

"I do believe," cried Alice, "that he is hungry! Poor little birdie! No wonder—with all this snow on the ground! I'll get Aunt Dinah to give me some crackers!" And, with that, she hurried down to the kitchen.

Feeding Her Feathered Friends.

"Land sakes, chile, what yo' gwine be up ter nex'?" laughed old Aunt Dinah. "Feedin' de birds! Hum! Now who eber heard ob birds eatin' crackers! Ah 'spects you'd like dem crackers spread wid 'lasses, huh? Sho', chile, birds doan' lak crackers. Heah, you give dem some ob dese heah stale bread crumbs—dat's what they laks!"

So Alice placed two handfuls of the crumbs in a small paper bag and hurried back to the window. The bird was gone! She opened the window and looked out. Not a bird was in sight. However, she scattered half of the crumbs on the ledge below and then drew down the window.

Presently there was a flutter of wings and—yes, it was the self-same bird, back again only more droopy and wet and miserable looking than before. He lit on the edge of the support and looked warily around—then at the crumbs—then up at her—and then—goodness me, how he did gobble them up!

In a moment or two another feathered visitor alighted on the ledge. Then another came—and another—and still another! Alice clapped her small hands in delight!

She started to raise the window to throw more crumbs to them but instantly they were on the wing and off! Alice was so disappointed! "Come back, birdies," she called. "Please come back! I wouldn't hurt you! Don't you want these goody crumbs?"

But the birds did not stop to listen.

She went to Aunt Dinah, as she did when anything troubled her. And Aunt Dinah told her the birds didn't know they could trust her. Aunt Dinah suggested that every morning right after breakfast Alice should scatter crumbs on the ledge, then close the window and wait. The birds would come—she was sure of that.

So, the next morning Alice did as old Aunt Dinah had told her to; and presently the birds came—lots of them. And how they did enjoy their meal.

For many mornings Alice fed them in this manner. Then, gradually the birds became accustomed to seeing her and Alice raised the window inch by inch.

And now? Why, would you believe it, she can stand with the window wide open and actually throw crumbs to her feathered friends while they are feeding—and they aren't frightened in the least!

Sang the Wrong Song

DURING the early days of the fighting in Galicia—which was a Province of Austria before the Russians took it, and which was later left once more in their hands—the Austrian children were allowed by their parents to go to the little stations on the line and beg for food as the troop trains passed through. They seldom failed to receive from the Austrians, and later from the Russians, sugar and cookies, while the officers threw them coppers.

At one station two little Austrian tots went hand in hand along the train singing the Austrian National Hymn to the Russians. These good-natured fellows thought it was a huge joke. The children had sung this song with great success when the Austrian troops passed through and to them all soldiers looked alike, whether friend or foe.

Two little Austrian tots sang the Austrian National Hymn to the Russians.

THE WOLF AND THE CRANE.

A WOLF upon a time was near to death by suffocation:
A bone was stuck within his throat by careless mastication.
Then curious to understand his howl of fear and pain,
The animals came all about, among them Dr. Crane.

"Good Doctor," said the wolf to him, "your bill is very long,
Your skill is undisputed, and your nerves I know are strong.
If you will reach deep in my throat, and this bad bone extract,
I'll be your friend forever, and reward you well, in fact:
For having used your bill on me, present to me your bill,
And I will pay it with a purse of any length you will."

Now in his skill professional, the surgeon had a pride,
And promise of the yellow gold he had in mind beside.
With his extracting forceps he explored the gullet through,
And in a careful way indeed the offending bone withdrew.

"Now for my fee," the doctor said, "these witnesses attest,
'Twill be a thousand dollars and, quick payment is the best."
Snarled out the wolf: "Your fee! Indeed! Your ignorance I bewail!
To have your head between my jaws, and live to tell the tale!"

QUEEN MOTHER OF ROUMANIA IS DEAD

Pneumonia Attack Fatal to Royal Authoress.

The queen mother had been in poor health for some time, and her advanced age, seventy-three years, made her recovery doubtful to physicians from the first. During her long life she suffered from many illnesses and within recent years had trouble with her eyes. Within the last five years she underwent three operations for cataracts. Much of her time of late years was devoted to efforts to make life pleasant for the blind of Roumania. She founded and financed a "city for the blind," calling it the Vatra Lurdnosa.

Elizabeth, dowager queen of Roumania, known universally by her pen name, Carmen Sylva, was one of the most gifted of Europe's royal women. Her poems, stories, novels, essays, aphorisms and court recollections have been translated into all the European languages and into Armenian. She wrote with facility in German, Roumanian, French and English. She was also a pianist, organist and singer and was skilled as a painter and illuminator. She was beloved because of her good works, notably her supervision of the care of the wounded in the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-78.

FATHER SEES SON KILLED.

Lad Running to Greet Parent When Struck by Engine.

Lakeview, N. J., March 3.—While running to greet his father, who is a gateman at the Crooks avenue crossing of the Erie railroad, James Lynnes, twelve years old, was struck by a switch engine and instantly killed. His father, who saw the accident, collapsed.

Labor Row Sends Six to Jail.

Verona, N. J., March 3.—Six men involved in a labor dispute at Essex Fells were committed to the county jail. Arthur De Roo, the chief victim of the fracas, was treated at Mountainside hospital. The trouble started when men employed at the Erie railroad bridge resented an order of the foreman, Victor De Wolf.

Life in Bermuda.

A feature of life in Bermuda which always impresses the stranger is the apparent prosperity of the natives, white and colored alike. Distressing poverty is unknown, and even the poorest families can boast of a stone house and a garden.—Argonaut.

The Twins.

We have heard of several cases wherein twins have borne a remarkable likeness to each other. But the most curious was the case of twin sisters who had to be told everything together because it was impossible to tell them apart.

MANY LOCAL WILLS FILED IN ELIZABETH

DISTRICT COURT AWARDS MARIA PRUSCINI $200

Elizabeth, March 3.—Maria Pruscini, of 766 Midway avenue, Plainfield, recovered a judgment of $200 in the Elizabeth District Court yesterday as the result of an accidental shooting in Plainfield. She was hit by a bullet from the revolver of Fortunato Ventriglio, her neighbor, while the latter was celebrating the advent of the New Year January 1. He was on a stoop at the time and Mrs. Pruscini was inside a window.

and any other person, persons or corporations having any interest in the lands below referred to or any part or parcel thereof.

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that it is the intention of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, to take a part of certain lands or real estate with the appurtenances necessary to be taken, situated on Central Avenue in the City of Plainfield, from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad of New Jersey in said City of Plainfield, and to appropriate the same for said City, pursuant to the provisions of an ordinance of said City of Plainfield, entitled, "An Ordinance to Alter and Widen Central Avenue from the Southeasterly Side Line of West Front Street to the Northwesterly Line of the Right of Way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved December 5th, 1915.

The land to be taken for such altering and widening of said Central Avenue on the northeasterly side thereof from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, includes a strip four and three hundred seventy-five thousandths feet wide, being property owned by Charles B. Lufburrow, Ella B. Benson, Charles P. Sebring, Estate of Juliet Runyon, Mary Augusta Runyon, Calvary Baptist Church, Plainfield Reform Club, and Wadley & Goodenough.

The land to be taken for such altering and widening of said Central Avenue on the southwesterly side thereof, from the southeasterly side line of West Front Street to the northwesterly side line of West Second Street, includes a strip six and three hundred and seventy-five thousandths feet wide, being property owned by Walter F. Manning, Estate of Lebbeus L. Manning, (Elizabeth Manning, Walter F. Manning, Carrie E. McIntyre), Mary McNamara, and Abrams & Kunzman. The land to be taken for such altering and widening of said Central Avenue on the southwesterly side thereof, from the southeasterly side line of West Second Street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, includes a strip three and nine hundred and seventy-five thousandths feet wide, being property owned by P. Ballantine & Son (a corporation).

The land to be taken and the lines of the above described portion of Central Avenue, as the same is hereinabove ordered to be altered and widened are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled: "Map showing proposed altering and widening of Central Avenue, from West Front Street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, City of Plainfield, N. J., September, 1915."

YOU ARE FURTHER NOTIFIED that a meeting of said Common Council will be held in the Council Chambers at No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, on Monday, the sixth day of March, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Sixteen, at eight o'clock p. m., at which time and place you will please be present, then and there, to treat with the said Common Council for said lands or real estate with the appurtenances necessary to be taken.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

HEAD OF MOTHERS CONGRESS TALKS

Mrs. Wellington Bechtel Tells Mothers' Association of Work in New Jersey.

PLAN FALL CAMPAIGN

Local Organization Still Undecided Whether to Invite State Body to Meet Here in 1917—Reports Are Received.

An address by Mrs. Wellington Bechtel, of Haddonfield, president of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers, together with reports of the past year's work, featured the March meeting of the Plainfield Mothers' Association held at the home of Mrs. William M. Sandford, in Crescent Court, East Seventh street, yesterday afternoon. There was a full attendance, fully thirty members being present.

Mrs. Bechtel brought to the Plainfield women the latest report as to what is being done by the 125 associations with a membership of 8,000, which comprises the Congress, and compared the work in New Jersey with that in other states with which she is familiar. The fact that the State Board of Education is now cooperating with the Congress was most gratifying to Mrs. Bechtel, as well as her co-workers.

The speaker gave a brief review of the work along the lines of child welfare, child labor, parent-teacher association and many other departments, and announced the plans for the fall campaign, when the religious phase of the work is to be undertaken. This will be extended to the home and school through the organization of mothers' circles or clubs. The aim is to enlist the interest and support of young mothers so that they may be induced to do all that they possibly can for the betterment of child welfare. This effort, it is believed, will be a great help to other associations identified with the New Jersey Congress. Mrs. Bechtel's remarks were listened to with deep interest.

During a business session of the Mothers' Association, reports were received from all departments of work. These were most encouraging, showing that considerable progress has been made. There was great interest in the Baby Week campaign, which opens today, and the members are planning to make the movement a success. Many details of the part the association will take in the observance were completed.

Another important matter discussed was that of entertaining the New Jersey Congress of Mothers here in 1917. Many of the members felt that it would be a good thing for the city as well as the allied organizations of the Congress, yet they were of the opinion that it would be too much of an undertaking. It is estimated that there would be at least four hundred women delegates to be provided for by way of entertainment and at present the Mothers' Association is undecided as to what action to take.

The constitution of the association was remodelled so as to bring it entirely up to the present needs and requirements of the organization. The next meeting of the association which will be the annual session, will be held on April 7. Officers will be elected at that time. Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, as president, was in harge of yesterday's business session.

PICTURE OF CLARK HUNG IN CHAMBER

Borough Council Honors Last Chief Executive to Retire.

A picture of former Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., has been framed and was hung in the Council Chamber of the Borough of North Plainfield immediately preceding the meeting of last night. An appropriation of this was authorized and Clerk Martin had the picture framed and hung when the Council met.

Bills amounting to $2,892.46 were approved by the Council and ordered paid. The report of Recorder Hand showing that fifty-two arrests had been made during the months of January and February and $62 collected in fines was received. Upon motion of Chairman Tingley, of the sewer committee, it was voted to pay H. C. Van Emburgh, borough engineer, $300 for valuable work done recently in making sewer maps.

On resolution from Chairman Stahl, of the fire committee, Clint Conover and Lawrence Barrett were appointed as call men in the department. Bills for the fire and water committee for February amounted to $254.40.

The Council adjourned to meet again March 17.

P. H. S. DEBATERS DEFEAT NEWARK

Local School Pupils Win Negative Argument on National Prohibition.

HONORS ARE EASY

Borden, Backer and Williams, With Miss Lawrence as Alternate, Get Vote of All Three Judges Against South Side.

Before an audience of five hundred people, the debating team of the Plainfield High School defeated the debating team of the South Side High School, of Newark, last night in the High School auditorium, at every turn, and all three of the judges voted in favor of the local speakers. It was the first debate in which a Plainfield High School team has participated, and was a huge success in every way; for, besides marking the entrance of the students into a new field of endeavor, it marked its entrance also into the debating league, including eight of the most prominent high schools in the state and fostered by Rutgers College.

With both sides admitting that some form of prohibition was advisible, the question under discussion was: Resolved, that a Federal law prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors should be enacted, constitutionality conceded. The Plainfield team, composed of Richard Borden, William Backer and Dickerman Williams, with Miss Olive Lawrence as alternate, was assigned the negative, while the South Side team, including Frederick Groel, Maurice Maurer, Jacob Kalter, and Sanford Hill as al-

TELLS OF MARKED GROWTH OF Y. W. C. A.

Miss Taylor, National Secretary, Principal Speaker at Anniversary Meeting.

The fiftieth anniversary of the Young Women's Christian Association in America was celebrated last night by a service of rejoicing held in the First Baptist church, a representative audience being in attendance. All over the country similar services were being held to commemorate the beginning of the association which has grown from a small band of girls, meeting in two rooms in Boston, to a membership of 350,000 in 1,022 city, country and college associations.

The service last night opened with the processional hymn, "Rejoice Ye Pure In Heart," after which Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, gave the invocation. Miss Katharine Aller, general secretary of the Plainfield association, opened the meeting with a message of greeting to those present—members of the association as well as friends.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Harriet Taylor, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and executive of the jubilee committee. As a member of the latter committee, Miss Taylor had charge of planning the jubilee celebration in America, also the sending out of thousands and thousands of pieces of literature to the various associations throughout the country. During her address last night she brought before the attention of her audience just what the Young Women's Christian Association is doing in America, and its aims. "The Young Women's Christian Association is a manifestation of the Christian church and a school in which young women are taught life's lessons. Women who are autocrats in their own homes, work and exchange mutual ideas with the women of the industrial world in the association, thus developing the latter and increasing their latent power of leadership in a wonderful manner. There probably is no institution in America today that has the power of bringing so many various groups in close contact as the association. The association is a flexible instrument and meets the needs of women in general. During the last ten years the association in America has grown 300 per cent. larger and more and more the fact becomes apparent that the needs of women are just as vital as those of men."

Miss Taylor emphasized the necessity of keeping alive the spirituality of those who had founded the association and mentioned in this connection the great work of Miss Grace H. Dodge, the first president of the National Board. She also sounded a word of appreciation to the British association which was formed eleven years before the association in America and from whom the pioneers of the American movement got much of their initiative.

Short talks were also given by Mrs. F. G. Mead, a past president of the local association; Mrs. William C. O'Donnell, the present president. James R. Joy read the prayer of consecration, while Rev. Dr. Strong gave the benediction. A chorus of sixty voices sang and Miss Leontine de Ahna rendered a solo selection.

During the service a collection was made of the offerings for the Grace H. Dodge Memorial Endowment Fund.

NEGRO FUGITIVE IS CAUGHT IN MILFORD

Detective Totten Gets Man Who Jumped Bail in Somerville.

Somerville, March 4.—William Chavis, a negro wanted here on a charge of assault, was arrested by County Detective George Totten yesterday in Milford, Conn. Chavis has been under bond in this county since last August. He was arrested on complaint of Ernest Partridge, who holds a responsible position with the Johns-Manville company of Bound Brook. The negro's wife worked at the Partridge home and one night he went there and started a fight because she would not give him money. Partridge attempted to put the negro out and a fight ensued in which the white man used a revolver. When the negro was arrested he put up a cash bond of $200 and then left the city. Detective Totten heard that he was in Bridgeport, Conn., and went there for him. The negro had moved again but the detective found him in Milford and he is now in jail there.

SECURE ATTRACTIVE LIST OF SPEAKERS

Men Prominent in Affairs to Be Heard at Business Men's Banquet.

An attractive array of speakers has been secured for the annual banquet of the Plainfield Business Men's Association at Columbus Auditorium on Thursday night, March 9. Mayor Leighton Calkins will be toastmaster and the speakers will be former Governor Edward C. Stokes, Edward R. Carhart, former president of the New York Produce Exchange; Charles A. Dana, head of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, and L. D. Albin, sales manager for the Ingersoll-Rand Company.

The committee announces the affair as a "prosperity dinner," following, as it does, the annual "Dollar Day," under the auspices of the members of the association. Arrangements have been made for an orchestra and male quartet which will provide a popular program of music during the evening. The members of the committee, from whom tickets can be secured, are George J. Finger, A. E. Force, A. H. Osmun, Paul R. Collier and E. F. Conshay, and at the store of any member.

MISS MARGERY DUFFER ENTERTAINS AT A DANCE

Miss Margery Dufford gave a dance last evening at her home, 675 West Front street. The home was attractively decorated with red bunting. The feature of the occasion was several vocal solos rendered by Irving Scarborough. The music for the dancing was furnished by a victrola. Refreshments were served during the course of the evening.

CAPTAINS NAMED FOR EVERY MEMBER CANVASS

In preparation for the every member canvas sto be made tomorrow afternoon by a large committee of workers from the Crescent Avenue church in the interest of the benevolences of the church, a dinner was given in the church parlors last night, when all the canvassers were present. David McConaughy, of New York, was present and offered suggestions which will help the committeemen. The dinner was served by a committee of women from the church.

The various team captains who will direct the canvass tomorrow are: Samuel T. Carter, Jr., James E. Kimball, Dr. W. H. Murray, Deuse N. Van Vlie, De Witt Hubbell, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, Henry L. DeForest and O. C. Johnson. In view of this canvass the regular Sunday afternoon service tomorrow afternoon will be omitted.

JOSEPH LUPO GETS OFF WITH A FINE OF $25

Elizabeth, March 4.—Joseph Lupo, who admitted keeping a disorderly house in Plainfield, was fined $25 in the court of quarter sessions yesterday afternoon by Judge James C. Connolly. The fact that he had already served four months in jail moved the court to leniency. Another indictment, charging a serious offense, was nolle prossed on motion of Prosecutor Stein.

OPENING OF BABY WEEK CAMPAIGN

Plainfield to Have Part in Nation-wide Movement in Behalf of Children.

PRELIMINARY REPORT

Children's Bureau Shows What Has Been Accomplished and Hopes to do for the Betterment of the Infants.

A unique campaign opened today. It is a campaign neither of politics, commerce, nor reform, but one purely of education, and includes every citizen in its purpose, which is that of teaching the community the value of its infant population. The city taking part in what is really a nation-wide movement for the wider recognition and a profounder realization of the fact that this or any other community can determine largely the character of its future citizens by the attention which it gives to the needs of its babies.

Babies are the raw material of civilization, the plastic clay to be wrought partly at least, by our hands, into what form we will. If one decide that they have no responsibility for shaping and molding this clay, they show ourselves to be outside the present trend of scientific thought. Leading thinkers, not only in the United States, but over the civilized world, are telling that there is no better index to the intelligence of any given community than the one to be read in the conditions under which it allows its infant citizens to develop. This is the responsibility of every adult citizen, whether parent or not. Baby Week has been instituted for the purpose of bringing home this responsibility to all. Look about you and ask yourself if the conditions in this community are such as make it an ideal place for children.

The bureau is now at work upon an analysis of the infant welfare work carried on last year in the 599 cities of 10,000 population or over. Although the statistical findings are not yet ready for publication the bureau offers the following brief preliminary report about the types of infant welfare work which are found in this country:

"One hundred and forty-one cities report having one or more infant welfare stations or centers to which mothers may bring their babies for a physician's advice about feeding and general hygiene. Such stations for well babies are distinct from the older and more generally established dispensary or clinic for sick babies.

"Care and instruction for prospective mothers is reported as a special branch of their work by departments of health of private agencies in 182 cities. Only 40 nurses are reported for the entire country as devoting their entire time to this prenatal work but there are a large number who give to it some of their time, and there is a growing disposition to include systematic prenatal work as a part of the infant welfare activities.

"How much of this does Plainfield have We have had for four years one milk station open in the summer months. This has done an increasing amount of good, but we need more this summer if we are to reach more people. We need them in the heart of the crowded districts. We have visiting nurses and they attend the milk station, give instructions to the mothers in their homes and do some instructive work among prospective mothers. This work we need to enlarge and improve. We also have started Little Mothers' Leagues to teach the older girls and hope to make this a success. What we do need is the backing of the entire community to make this work go this summer."

NEW DEMOCRATIC DAILY FOR ELIZABETH IS REPORTED

Plans are well advanced for starting a new Democratic newspaper in Elizabeth, the promoters of the enterprise being United States Senator James E. Martine, Col. Dennis F. Collins, Abe J. David, the last two named of Elizabeth; former Congressman W. E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, and a Mr. Schaffer, a newspaperman of Washington.

It is well-known that the Elizabeth Evening Times has been in disfavor with the Democratic organization at the county seat as well as other parts of the county, and the new daily will be destined to withdraw the party's support from County Chairman Russell's publication.

WEST END CENTER TO HOLD MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

LAST EVENING OF COLUMBUS BAZAAR

George York Will Auction Off Articles at That Place Tonight.

Tonight closes the bazaar of the Knights of Columbus Club that is being given in Columbus Hall and that has run for a week with great crowds and enthusiasm. Articles at all tables are to be disposed of during the evening. It is promised that the largest attendance of the entire event will be present. Constable George York has agreed to act as auctioneer. He will dispose of articles from the various booths that threaten to be left on the hands of the bazaar committee and many valuable things will go at a sacrifice.

The usual drawings and other attractions will be offered during the early hours of the evening.

ASSAULT GUESTS AT WEDDING RECEPTION

John Conshay, a Victim, in Serious Condition—Assailants Held in Heavy Bail.

Wilbur Warneck, 20 years old, of 163 Duer street, and Jeremiah Hefferman, 19 years old, of 30 Howard street, are lodged in the borough jail in default of $1,000 bail each to await a hearing on Thursday on the charge of hssaulting Willis Cregar and John Conshay, Thursday evening, at Aaron T. Reed's home on Fritz place, where a reception was being tendered to Mr. Reed's daughter and William Emmons, who had just been married.

John Conshay, one of the victims, is lying in a serious condition at his home on Howard street. He was kicked about the body and badly battered about the face with beer bottles, his nose being smashed and several teeth knocked out. Cregar was not badly injured and he is able to be out.

It seems that the trouble arose over four young men being ordered out of the house because they had become too hilarious. They went out all right but started at once to raise a rumpus in the back yard. Cregar put his head out of the door and it was met with a beer bottle. A little later Conshay ventured out and all four of the young men it is said, pounced upon him. Those inside heard the racket and they went to Conshay's assistance. Upon the appearance of superior numbers the assailants beat a hasty retreat. Conshay was carried into the Reed home in a semi-conscious condition and a physician was summoned.

Warneck and Hefferman were arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Keller. It is said that warrants have been issued for the arrests of the other two alleged assailants.

WILL GIVE A RECITAL FOR RELIEF OF BELGIANS

An opportunity for music lovers, considered second to Misch Elman's concert, will be the recital on Friday evening, April 7, by Miss Cecile Ayres, the well-known young piano virtuoso. Miss Ayres will appear in Plainfield under the auspices of the Plainfield Society ofr Belgian Relief and only because of her deep interest in the Belgian cause was it possible for the society to secure this talented artist.

The recital will be given at the Hartridge Auditorium and as the number of seats is limited, it is suggested that tickets be secured well in advance. They will be on sale at Miller's drug store March 15.

ACKERMAN PETITIONS ARE BEING FREELY SIGNED HERE

Petitions of former Senator E. R. Ackerman, candidate for delegate to the National Republican Convention, are being circulated in Plainfield. These petitions were in evidence around the court house yesterday and were being freely signed.

WILL GIVE CHOICE PROGRAM.
Mme. Nina Dimitrief, soloist, and the Russian String Quartet from the Russian Symphony Orchestra, New York, will appear at the Plainfield High School, Monday afternoon, in a choice program of Russian music. The concert will be given under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club, at 3:45 o'clock.

MAKE SOMERSET WIDER AT ONCE

Little Opposition Develops and Ordinance is Finally Passed.

START IN TWO MONTHS

Borough Council Hears Taxpayers Who Protest — Former Mayor Smalley Gives $1,000 to Expense of Improvement.

Opposition to the widening of Somerset street that developed at last night's meeting of the Common Council of the Borough of North Plainfield was not considered by officials as strong enough to defeat the project, and an ordinance calling for the beginning of work at once was passed on its third and final reading.

While the ordinance goes into effect March 15, and will be advertised immediately, it is hardly probable that work will be started before May 1. To a taxpayer's question, Mayor Smalley explained that it was the intention of officials to begin the improvement within two months.

Somerset street is to be widened from Jackson avenue to Johnson's drive. Between these points the street is now fifty feet wide. Five feet will be added on each street, so that the thoroughfare will be sixty feet wide. It is estimated that the work will cost $7,000, although property owners who opposed the improvement last night insisted that the total expenditures would more than double this amount.

Three property owners on Somerset street filed written protests against the passage of the ordinance. They are R. M. and Louise Verdun, Mrs. Anna R. Miles and H. Coddington.

A written protest from Mrs. J. A.

WILL SING IN AID OF WAR SUFFERERS

Miss Queena Tillotson, Formerly of This City, to Be Heard in Fine Program.

Concert-loving Plainfielders will have a treat next Tuesday evening, when a concert will be given for the benefit of the sufferers in the Central Empires of Europe. A splendid program has been provided and tickets and reserved seats may be had at Miller's drug store. Columbus Hall has been engaged for the evening and a large attendance is anticipated.

Miss Queena Tillotson, who will give several interpretations of her divine art, is a daughter of Plainfield and a graduate of the Plainfield High School. As a pupil of E. Arthur Janke she gave early indications of a remarkable genius, and he therefore took her to Madam Marcella Sembrich, the opera diva, for whom she sang. Mme. Sembrich was charmed with her work and enthusiastic regarding her future. Miss Tillotson is embarking in her operatic career under Mme. Sembrich's care and instruction and has a brilliant future. Gifted with a magnificent lyric soprano, speaking Italian, German and French fluently, and also an excellent pianist, her native city has reason to be proud of her. Miss Queena Tillotson will sing an aria from "La Sonnambula," a group of Bram's songs, and "Porta Valse" by Arditi.

The artistic value of the concert is further enhanced by the co-operation of Walter Silbert, well-known here. Master Silbert will give a series of numbers on the piano-forte in his clever style of interpretation and technique.

The concert will be rounded out by a number of songs by the singing section of Plainfield's Gesang and Turn Verein, a body of men who delight in putting aside the cares of the workday and turn to music as a means of cultivation and recreation. The quality of what they have to offer the music-loving public of Plainfield will be better understood when it is remembered that a number of trophies were taken by this singing section in contests throughout the State and even in New York.

The charity itself, for which this concert is arranged, is worthy of everyone's hearty co-operation. The misery and disaster that the world's war has brought upon so many helpless individuals and families is heart-rending, and those in charge of the concert believe it the duty of all who are far from the blood-soaked battlefields to assist those who have the hardest part of the struggle to bear—the widows, orphans, and the incapacitated, abroad as well as to some extent in this country also. The "Vaterlandshilfe" Society is doing yeoman work in this direction.

TO OBSERVE LORD'S SUPPER.
The Lord's Supper will be observed at the Crescent Avenue church at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, when new members will be received. The Bible class for men and women, in charge of Miss Caroline L. Palmer, will meet at 12 o'clock. The subject will be "Prayer." Inasmuch as there is to be an every member canvass of the membership in the afternoon, the usual service at that time will be omitted tomorrow.

3 WAR BOATS OF ALLIES ARE SUNK

German Submarine Warfare is Being Carried on With Deadly Results.

FRENCH DENY CLAIM

3,300 Went Down on La Provence—Village of Douaumont in Hands of Crown Prince's Army—French Lines Are Holding.

Berlin, March 4.—The greatest day of the U-boat warfare from a German standpoint occurred when two French auxiliary cruisers and an English patrol boat were sunk Friday, according to an official announcement of the German Admiralty. It does not say where the vessels were sunk, nor is any identifying statement made, but all three acts are attributed to submarine boats. Yesterday France issued an official report denying that two French cruisers had been sunk by German submarines. The denial reached this country before the German claim, and therefore creates belief in the statement of the Germans. It is said that the French boats were torpedoed off Havre.

3,400 Victims of Torpedo.
Paris, March 4.—More than 3,300 persons were drowned when the French auxiliary cruiser La Provence was sunk in the Mediterranean last Saturday, according to an official statement of the French admiralty. The La Provence was acting as a military transport and carried more than 4,000 members of crew and passengers, including high officials of the French army. Only 696 survivors have been heard from, and it is conceded that many more who might have escaped in small boats have perished during the week that has elapsed since the cruiser was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Germans Pass Douaumont.
London, March 4.—With German troops in control of not only Fort Douaumont, but all of Douaumont village, the fighting around Verdun continues with deadly fierceness. The French War Office announces that French troops, under General Petain, have completely blocked further advances of the Germans. Petain is standing between the desperate charges of the Kaiser's troops and Pepper Heights, around which the battle is now raging. Losses are as heavy as on the first few days of the new German drive, and men of the army of the Crown Price are piling up hills of bodies in front of the French guns. The German objective of the past two days' fighting seems to be to penetrate the front defended by General Petain, so as to cut off the corps now on Pepper Heights and put the garrison there in the position of Brandenberg troops, who were isolated on Douaumont for a week until released by their comrades after bloody fighting yesterday.

Infantry fighting in the village of Douaumont was the bloodiest of the war. There were no defenses except those of buildings, fences and quickly thrown-up barricades in the streets, and the French were driven back block by block during days of deadly hand-to-hand fighting, in which the German losses were enormous.

Paris, March 4.—A detonation which was heard today in the northern part of Paris is now said to have been a serious exploison, which occurred in a manufacturing establishment at Saint Denis, one of the Paris suburbs.

WILL OPPOSE OVERGROWN MILITARY ESTABLISHMENTS

"Avoid overgrown military establishments which are particularly hostile to republican liberties," is an extract from Washington's farewell address. Believing these words to be as true today as they were then, the Friends have arranged for two addresses to be given on the "Limitation of Armament," tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 at the Friends' meeting-house. The speakers will be S. S. Swackhamer, who is well known here, and J. Hibberd Taylor, of New York city. The latter will speak from the Quaker point of view. All are welcome.

NEGRO SERVED 56 DAYS IN JAIL AWAITING TRIAL

Somerville, March 4.—Charles Salter, a negro who has served 56 days in the Somerset county jail awaiting trial on a charge of assault and battery, was this morning given a suspended sentence by Judge Daniel H. Beekman. Salter was arrested for assaulting Postmaster George A. Wolfe, of Kingston, N. Y., two months ago. The negro has a bad reputation in the community in which he lives.

BIBLE SCHOOL UNION TO MAKE COMMUNITY CANVASS

The Bible School Union of Dunellen and New Market, an organization composed of a committee of five from each of the five Protestant Sunday-schools of the community, will make a community canvass on Sunday, March 26. The census will be turned over to the different pastors and will form the basis of further religious work in the community. The idea is to obtain the religious sentiment of both places. There will be fifty canvassers, under the direction of this committee: Jesse G. Burdick, H. S. Townley, George Cameron, Rev. A. S. Phelps and Walter Nelson.

Mrs. Alvin Haver, of Prospect avenue, was tendered a surprise party last evening in honor of her birthday. In the neighborhood of fifty guests were present from Plainfield and this borough. The evening was spent in dancing, the music being furnished by Allan SSquires, of Plainfield, at the piano. Refreshments were served during the evening.

SURPRISE LINEN SHOWER

A surprise linen shower was tendered Miss Anna S. Keller by her many ffiends at the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. M. Linner, on New Market road, Thursday evening. Miss Keller was the recipient of many pieces of needlecraft and handiwork. An enjoyable evening was passed, the program of entertainment including singing, dancing and music. Refreshments were served. The guests present were from Elizabeth, Plainfield, Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan and Dunellen.

Borough Engineer and Mrs. L. T. Churchill are spending the week-end in New York city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Fagely, former residents of the borough.

Holy communion will be celebrated at Holy Innocents church tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

LeRoy Scandell has accepted a position with Herbert E. Nelson, the taxi-man.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the Presbyterian church at the morning service tomorrow. The service will commence at 11 o'clock.

LeRoy Jennings has taken a night job at the Harrington Leather works.

Miss Helen Swackhamer will lead the consecration meeting of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society tomorrow evening. Her topic is "The Consecration of Strength."

Mollie Baerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Baerman, has been ill for several days.

Miss Grace Coriell is spending the week-end at Montclair.

W. H. Wythe, of Ocean Grove, has purchased the drug property which Edward Pennoek secured at a public sale last Monday. He opened for business this morning.

Wickoff Voorhees, who is employed by Walter Scott & Co., of Plainfield, has been working this week in the plant of the New York Times.

It is reported that Jacob Schneider and family, of Peek avenue, former residents of this village, will move back here in the spring.

Mrs. Joseph Ahearn is entertaining a niece from Brooklyn.

"The Sufficient Sacrifice" will be the subject of the Rev. T. E. Vassar's sermon at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning, when the Lord's Supper will be celebrated and new members received. "An Unwise Deal" will be the subject in the evening.

Watchung.

The regular services will be held in the Wilson Memorial church tomorrow. Rev. Mebane Ramsay will have charge of the morning service, preaching a communion sermon. Roy L. Davis, of Monticello, Ark., will have charge of the evening service. A special musical program has been arranged for this service.

"Exterminate the Saloon and Why?" was the topic well presented by John Hermann at the Christian Endeavor meeting last evening in the Wilson chapel.

Victor G. Aubry, extension specialist in poultry husbandry of the New Jersey State Experiment Station, will lecture in the Watchung School auditorium, Tuesday evening, March 7 at 8:15 o'clock, on "Incubation and Breeding." His lecture is free to all to attend.

The Watchung Chemical Engine Company will hold its regular meeting, Monday evening at fire headquarters.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the North Plainfield Improvement Society will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Marietta Cass at "Two Brooks."

The Pleasant Word Workers were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. MacDonald, at "Braedale," Thursday evening as the guests of Miss Nora Kuntz.

Rev Mebane Ramsay will conduct the Young Men's Bible Class, Sunday afternoon.

HOPE CHAPEL CLASS SURPRISES TEACHER

G. Stuart Simons Given Reception in Honor of 15 Years' Service.

G. Stuart Simons, of East Ninth street, who has been the leader of the Women's Bible class in the Sunday school of Hope Chapel, was given a surprise reception last night in honor of his completing fifteen years as the teacher. Mr. Simons went to the chapel believing he was to attend a dime social and entertained this belief until Rev. Frederic L. Greene began reading a clipping from the Daily Press of fifteen years ago, telling about Mr. Simons introduction to the class as the successor of the late Silas Yerkes. The "victim" readily grasped the situation and entered into the spirit of the evening.

The following program which had been arranged by members of the class was given after the introductory remarks: Piano duet, Miss Agnes Leighs and Miss Mary Mortimer; solo, Thomas Hendry; violin and piano duet, Masters Walter and Carl Dencklau; reading, Mrs. G. Stuart Simons; duet, Miss Eunice Eckert and Miss Josie Snyder.

John Leal, who is also a teacher in the Sunday-school, gave a humorous address in which he looked backward over the fifteen years that Mr. Simons had been teaching the Bible class. The readings by Mrs. Simons were greatly enjoyed as were the duets by the Masters Dencklau. These boys are but ten and eight years old but are thoroughly proficient in handling the piano and violin.

During an intermission in the program, Mr. Simons was presented with a set of four silver-backed toilet brushes, bearing his monogram. Mrs. Donald McInnis, who has been secretary of the class for 22 years, was also made the recipient of a gift, a beautiful potted azalea plant in full bloom. Both responded in a fitting manner to the remarks made by the donor. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

The Women's Bible class is one of the largest in Hope Chapel Sunday school at the present time and has been ever since the West End institution was started. It was stated last night that nineteen women who are on the roll have been members for twenty-one years, a record seldom equalled. The names of these are as follows: Mrs. Agnes Head, Mrs. Neil Hess, Mrs. Donald McInnis, Mrs. O'Neil, Mrs. Manchester, Mrs. J. B. Higgins, Mrs. Thomas Hendry, Mrs. A. Emery, Mrs. Henrietta Gulick, Mrs. George Leighs, Mrs. Robert Kenney, Mrs. Southard, Mrs. John Grisley, Mrs. George Radford, Mrs. R. Walker, Mrs. Gertrude Rittenhouse, Mrs. August Weber, Mrs. George Wallace, Mrs. H. Holland.

DEMOCRATS TO ELECT OFFICERS

The Plainfield Democratic Club will hold its annual meeting Tuesday night in the rooms of the Young Men's Hebrew Association over the Lyric theatre, when officers will be elected and plans for the campaign will be discussed. A full attendance of members is desired.

'Plains & Fanwood.

After being the agent of the C. R. R. of N. J. at the Fanwood station for the past five years, A. A. Storrs is soon to leave and enter another business. His place is to be taken by John Flattnery, of Glen Ridge. Mr. Storrs will continue his residence in the borough indefinitely.

Another session of the Men's Forum will be held in the Parish House tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. J. Madison Hare has chosen "President Wilson's Preparedness Policy" for the question to be discussed.

"Go-to-Church-Sunday" will be observed at the Baptist church tomorrow. The pastor, the Rev. J. Madison Hare, has gotten out attractive little circulars urging every one to attend church. There will be special music at the meeting of the Bible school at 9:30, and at 10:45 the pastor will preach on "Why Go To Church?" The usual meeting of the B. Y. P. U. will be held at 7:30 in the lecture room.

The March meeting of the bucket and engine fire company will be held in the firehouse on Bartle avenue, Monday night.

Councilman Augustus Sheelen has been ill for several days.

The parish house will be open tonight for the large crowd that has been going there of late. The bowling alleys have been repaired and are in fine shape. Several basketball games are scheduled.

Sunday will be Quinquagesima Sunday. Services at All Saints' church will be: Sunday-school at 10 a. m.; holy communion at 11 a. m. The sermon by the rector will be on "Preparedness for Lent."

TO WIDEN SOMERSET STREET

Powlinson, of 203 Somerset street, was presented by her son. He stated that to widen the street would be to benefit travellers, but that the work would damage property on Somerset street. He urged that their improvement of Watchung avenue be finished first. The principal argument of Mr. Powlinson against the movement was that it would install an expense of approximately $5,500 for repairs to pavement that would be almost a total waste. He argued that Somerset street must soon receive a permanent pavement and that anything put down now would not be used more than a few years.

C. J. Donahue, of 203 Somerset street, created a breath of excitement when he declared that "The widening of Somerset street is only a pet plan of N. B. Smalley that is now being pushed to the front again. He owns no property in the borough and wants to get most of the benefit without paying any of the expense."

Former Mayor Newton Smalley was sitting within a few feet of Mr. Donahue on the same row of seats.

"I have walked Somerset street from one end to the other for five years and have not as yet seen any congestion of any kind," continued Mr. Donahue. "Some years ago, Watchung avenue was cut through two blocks to relieve the alleged congestion on Somerset street, but it has never been macadamized and has been left in such bad shape that it cannot be used. If this two blocks was macadamized it would relieve any congestion on Somerset street."

Mr. Donahue said that Somerset street had been widened as far as Jackson avenue, which included the busiest portion of the street, and as the rest of the street is occupied by residences it is not necessary to widen further. He insisted that the expense of moving the street back, moving telephone poles, fire hydrants, hitchin posts, sidewalks and curbs would be excessive in view of the benefits to be received.

John Steiner opposed the project on the ground that it would injure rather than improve the property. He said that the owners along Watchung avenue had paid to have that street put into condition and demanded that it be taken care of first. "It would be folly to take up the widening of Somerset street at this time," said Mr. Steiner, "and I don't believe a majority of property owners along the street would favor it if a canvass was made."

This ended the protests and, after waiting a few minutes so as to give every one an opportunity to speak, Mayor Smalley called for expressions from those who favored the plan. L. B. Wooleton admitted that he did not live on Somerset street, but said that if he did he would strongly favor the improvement because it would add fifty per cent to the value of the property. He called attention to the fact that there was always opposition to any public improvement.

Harry Demott was called on by Mayor Smalley, and Mr. Demott proved to be an ardent advocate of the project. He owns property on both ends of Somerset street and admitter that he was one of those who strongly opposed the widening of the downtown end of the street years ago. He realizes his mistake now, he said, and would not be "so dumb" again.

"Don't put it off, gentlemen," Mr. Demott urged. "Most of us want to see it done while we are alive."

Mr. Demott answered the arguments of the residence owners by saying that Somerset street was and should be the business street of the borough, and that the business men did not want people to go to Watchung avenue, but wanted all to use Somerset street. "We do not want it to be a residential street," he said. "We want to do business on it"; and he evidenced his interest in the street by offering to buy property near Johnson's drive and build store buildins there.

Explaining that previous remarks had provoked him to make a statement, former Mayor Newton B. Smalley arose to declare that the widening of Somerset street was not a hobby. He admitted that he had favored it when he was chief executive of the borough and that he had never changed his opinion, but denied that he had asked a single member of the Council to bring the matter up or had asked a single one to vote for the measure. Mr. Smalley admitted that he did not own property along the street, and therefore was interested only as a citizen of the borough, and explained why he felt the improvement would be for the best interests of all who own property or live in North Plainfield. He declared that the gentleman was wrong in his statement that he paid no taxes in the borough.

After the ordinance had been passed Mr. Smalley paused as he was leaving the Council chamber to notify members of the Council that when they were ready to begin work they could call on him for a $1,000 check to help defray expenses of the work. His offer was accepted with thanks.

On all resolutions pertaining to the ordinance and on the passage of the measure itself a unanimous vote was recorded, every member of the Council being present and voting "Aye."

TO JOIN CUBS.

"Tom" Seaton, the pitcher, last year with the Brooklyn Federals, and recently bought by the Chicago Nationals, has declared that he will join the Cubs at the training camp at Tampa. He has been considered a holdout, and has not yet agreed to terms.

MANY AT CLUB DANCE.

A merry throng of pleasure seekers attended the dance of the Plainfield A. F. C. last evening. The affair was held in the Red Men's Hall.

ROOSEVELT MEN TO ENTER PRIMARIES

Will Make Fight to Send Twenty-eight Delegates to Republican Convention.

Preparations to put a Roosevelt ticket in the field for control of the twenty-eight delegates to the National Republican Convention at Chicago are under way in this State. The first gun in a fight for Progressive control of the New Jersey delegates was fired Thursday afternoon when a number of Roosevelt leaders met in the office of Former Governor J. Franklin Fort, in Newark. It is probable that a general conference will be called within a short time, when campaign plans will be discussed and finally adopted. Roosevelt delegates carried New Jersey by 17,000 majority in 1912, and friends and supporters of the Colonel insist that he has more strength here now than then.

BRANDEIS UPHELD BY HIS ASSOCIATE

McClennen Indorses His Action In Warren Case.

Washington, March 4.—A detailed explanation of the Warren case and the litigation involved in the fight for the control of the Gillette Safety Razor company was presented by Louis D. Brandeis' law partner, Edward McClennen, to the senate committee which is investigating the fitness of Mr. Brandeis for appointment to the supreme court.

Members of the committee manifested some impatience at the delay in bringing the investigation to a close. Several times Mr. McClennen was admonished that his testimony referred to the litigation rather than Mr. Brandeis' relations with the litigants.

Mr. McClennen's testimony relative to the Warren case was ostensibly a reply to the testimony of W. S. Youngmans. "If there was nothing wrong with the case," said Mr. McClennen in explanation, "there was nothing wrong with Mr. Brandeis."

BIG COAST STORM RAGING.

Sixty Mile Wind at Hatteras Reported. Heavy Snowfall.

Norfolk, Va., March 4.—With the worst storm of the winter sweeping the coast, ships are in great danger. The wind at Hatteras blew at sixty miles from the northwest, and at Cape Henry the velocity was forty-eight miles and increasing.

The storm is accompanied by heavy snowfall, and it is difficult to see five feet from shore at Cape Henry.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

There will be no vesper service at the association tomorrow afternoon because of the church census, which will be taken up tomorrow by a committee from the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

FUNERAL OF JAMES M. LEONARD

The funeral of James Marsh Leonard, whose death occurred Wednesday afternoon, was held this afternoon at his late home, 521 Madison avenue. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong conducted the service in the resence of a gathering of relatives and friends. There were numerous handsome floral tributes. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM WHITE.

The body of William H. White, who was killed by a railroad train Thursday morning while crossing the New Jersey Central tracks over Park avenue, was taken to Clinton last night, where funeral services and interment were held today.

COMMUNITY CENTER DANCE.

The first dance to be conducted by the North Plainfield Civic Center was given last evening in the Harrison Avenue School. It was a success. The music was furnished by Frank Keller and the Misses Bertha and Dorothy Keller.

ACTIVITIES OF Y. M. C. A. FOR THE PAST YEAR ARE REVIEWED

General Secretary A. C. Estes in His Annual Report Sets Forth in Detail What Has Been Accomplished for Men of Plainfield—Members Are Looking Forward to Campaign Which Will Give Them a New Building.

Alfred C. Estes, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., in his annual report, which follows, gives an interesting resume of the association activities for the past year:

"On February 15, 1915, our present general secretary entered upon his duties as executive officer of this association.

"Very naturally a number of impressions received at the start later became convictions resulting in changes in the policies of the preceding administration. Recommendations regarding the present and future needs have from time to time been submitted to your body during the eleven months closing December 31 last, some of which you have adopted while others you have deemed unwise. From this situation I beg to submit the following report:

"House—Alterations in the interior of the building to permit of better supervision effected the office floor and physical department. The practice of permitting members behind the counter together with unrestricted use of the telephone were thus checked without causing unfriendliness or resentment.

"Authorized by you, a supply of candy was purchased and placed on sale at the main office while athletic goods have been sold in the physical department, resulting in a convenience to the membership which has called forth many expressions of appreciation.

"The second floor used jointly for a while by the boys, building superintendent and dormitory men has undergone several changes. One more room has been added to the dormitories while some of the space formerly occupied by the building superintendent added to the boys' department. The dormitories have been rented continually since last February. The auditorium has in a large measure been abandoned as such and turned over to the physical department as an auxiliary gymnasium.

"Employed Staff—At the beginning of the present administration the employed force in addition to the general secretary consisted of Physical Director R. L. Meermans and Boys' Secretary Edwin Glaentzer.

"For reasons which were obvious to the boys' work committee as well as to the general secretary, including the unsettled conditions of Mr. Glaentzer's own mind regarding his continuance as an employed officer in the Young Men's Christian Association, it was deemed wise to make a change resulting in Mr. Glaentzer's resignation, he having served only seven months, and after a careful and painstaking search on the part of the chairman of the boys' work committee a call was extended to F. S. Lynn, of the Newark association, and accepted by Mr. Lynn, who began his work here on September 1, 1915.

"Among the convictions referred to earlier in this report was that a man should be on duty at the desk instead of a woman, and according on November 1st last S. K. Miller succeeded Miss Ella Harris, becoming office secretary and assuming among other duties the stenographic work and bookkeeping.

"Physical Department—While it is possible to excell in one department more than in another, while one department may be more popular than another the results obtained in such departments are but a part of the whole, so while we point with just pride to the achievements of our physical director we realize that after all it is the Y. M. C. A. at work. This does not detract one bit, however, from the deserved commendation which belongs to those responsible for the physical work. Handicapped as the department is in the lack of room adapted to its needs, in the matter of an adequate swimming pool and the absence of bowling alleys, there has been in the policy of the committee and the personality of the director that necessary something which has written across the pages of the records a total attendance for the year of 13,937 men, older boys and boys just entering their 'teens, some of whom owe their very lives, physical and spiritual, to such character and body building influences; 1,167 physical examinations have been made by the director, 266 swimming tests, while 30 boys have been taught to swim. The street boys to whom I shall refer later were given 35 class sessions in nine months, having an average attendance of 18, while our gymnasium has been used by the city for the physical examination of applicants to the police force, the physical director assisting the police surgeon in these examinations.

"Last summer the yard adjacent to the building was graded and fence put up in repair, thus making possible the transferring of activities out of doors, resulting in the maintaining of classes for a longer period than heretofore. Exhibitions, health talks, moments of heart to heart confidences with a Christian personality have meant, but who can, save the Master Himself, measure the results.

"Boys' Department—Two changes in the secretaryship in less than a year is not what might be called a healthy condition, and yet with a courage and faith in the ultimate outcome, those responsible for the boys, have met and overcome seeming insurmountable obstacles. In considering the work of the boys' department, this fact should not be lost sight of, namely, that three distinct groups must be provided for, the smaller boy, the High School student and the employed boy.

"For the smaller boys hikes, games, Boy Scouts and summer camp have been provided and have secured and held their interest. With the High School and employed boys, however, the proposition is a different one and the appeal to them must come from some other angle.

"It is encouraging to note that in the case of the former the Bible Class has been and still is the medium through which the largest number of these fellows are brought into touch with the association. While this is also true in a measure of the employed boys, the club organization for them is most attractive. A room has been fitted up, and it is here that their plans are made and their interest maintained. A number of employed boys are now taking up penmanship, spelling and other elementary courses under the direction of the boys' secretary. New games and one of the regulation billiard tables from downstairs has been installed in the boys' department.

"The Friday evening suppers followed by Bible study have been held every week since October 29, 1915. Two members of this board, Messrs. McClymont and Gavett, together with the boys' secretary are teachers of three groups. Gospel meetings for all boys are being held each Sunday afternoon, the average attendance being 50. This is what one mother has to say regarding these meetings: 'Thank you so much for asking ..... to attend the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Sunday afternoon. Since the Sunday-school started in the morning the boys don't know what to do with themselves in the afternoon. When they were little I had no trouble keeping them in the house and interested in things that pertained to the Sabbath, but since they are growing up they are beginning to get ideas of their own and like to do as they see other boys doing and don't always pick the best patterns either. Hoping you will invite him again, I am, Gratefully yours, Mrs. ———.'

"Too much emphasis cannot be laid upon the importance of the work being done in the boys' club, a number of the members of which have been taken into the association since the recent membership campaign. The unswerving loyalty and faithful service of F. M. Genung in his supervision of this work deserves the recognition of the whole cammunity, for it is in a peculiar sense a community service. To take from the ragged places of our city and borough these youngsters who know little or nothing of the possibilities of 'The White Life,' work them over and mould them into good citizens, as the tomorrow will find them, returning them as such to the community, is indeed a service the influence of which reaches down deep into the community.

"Social Work—The social committee has worked hard during the past year not only to warm up the atmosphere in the building at all times (there have been occasions when the heating plant put a damper on their efforts), but to provide special attractions. A successful community social was held last spring in the yard when the Y. M. C. A. and the young people of the churches were invited to assist.

"Co-operating with the boys' department a father and son banquet was held and is to become an annual affair.

"A reception to new members was held after the membership campaign, and a number of first-class entertainments have been given at different intervals during the year.

"Educational—Aside from the reference to the work of the boys' department, our educational activities have been confined to motion picture exhibitions. Owing, however, to a lack of patronage these were abandoned early in the fall.

"Employment—While we have no employment department, more than 60 men have secured positions during the past year. From our list of boarding and rooming houses many men have secured comfortable accommodations, and in addition the association has rendered service to those who desire to rent rooms and take boarders.

"Colored Work—Aside from the conferences of colored men attended by the general secretary reports of which have already been made at the regular monthly meetings, nothing has been done in the matter of organizing a colored branch except to advise waiting until the proper time should arrive for undertaking the project, which would now seem to be when the 'new building' campaign is held.

"Building Campaign—That the new building is needed is now apparent even to those who have been most conservative and with the business and financial conditions as they are at the present time, it would seem as though the campaign for the new building should be held with no unnecessary delay. Since the above thought was born, it has been decided by this board to postpone any action for a campign until November 12 next. There should, therfore, be no further postponement, and would it not be wise between now and that time to secure the necessary initial pledges of $60,000 or more which will guarantee the success of the effort?

"Ladies' Auxiliary—Loyal and efficient service should be written large in referring to the work of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Quick to respond, cheerful whatever the task and faithful to the smallest detail, these devoted women have had a large share in making possible whatever success has crowned the efforts of the past year. These efforts include the Friday night suppers and the work of the campaign dinners, to say nothing of the many special events in which they have been asked to take part.

"Finance—During the early part of the year it became necessary to borrow money in order to provide funds for current expense, but the close of the year finds these debts paid together with practically all bills, and a balance in the treasury.

"Religious Work—While the religious work of the year has found its outward expression in Bible classes, shop meetings, street meetings and Sunday afternoon meetings for both men and boys, one supreme purpose has been to make every activity a religious activity.

"This does not mean a religious program for every occasion, but a plan to raise the standard so high as to make the gymnasium not alone a gymnasium, the social department not just a place for fun, the building not just a loafing place in which to 'kill time,' but that the whole plant might be a thriving character factory with every activity but a means to an end; with every employe a sacred instrument in the hands of God, with a vision of His purpose for the Y. M. C. A. and being used in the making of the finished product, 'a workman that needeth not be ashamed, because he handleth right the word of truth.'

"In connection with the religious work, three Sunday afternoon meetings for men have been held with an average attendance of 150, all of which were intensely helpful, particularly the one led by the 'Billy' Sunday Trail-hitters from Scranton.

"The Teacher Training Class led by the president of this association has made and is making a lasting impression on those whose privilege it is to attend.

"In closing I desire to refer to two most important and far reaching, I call them activities for lack of a better term, with which your secretary has been and is now identified, the Membership Campaign that under God and with the help of all those who took part was so successful, and of which you have already a full report, and the coming Evangelistic Campaign under the leadership of Dr. Biederwolf, for it is in these two campaigns, one for the Young Men's Christian Association and the other for a united effort to win men of greater Plainfield to Christ that a new vision of the recompense of service has been gained."

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Plainfield Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Plainfield readers.

Mrs. William E. Gardner, 322 East Second street, Plainfield, says: "I suffered a great deal from rheumatic pains across my back. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action, and I was in a miserable condition for months. Nothing I tried seemed to give me any relief until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's Drug Store. They seemed to take hold at one, removing the rheumatic pains and regulating the action of my kidneys. They improved my condition so much that I soon felt like a different person.

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gardner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

JERSEY TO HAVE DELEGATE FIGHT

Scully May Oppose U. S. Senator Martine.

FIGHT ON FOR "BIG FOUR"

Republican Leaders May Get Together and Clear Track For Governorship Race—Five Candidates Are Now In the Field For September Primary Election.

Trenton, March 4.—The state primaries for the election of delegates to the Democratic national convention may be also a preliminary test of strength between Senator Martine and Representative Scully for the senatorial nomination.

The Democratic state committee, which has been called to a meeting in Trenton next Tuesday, will suggest that the delegates at large from the state to the national convention be Senators Martine and Hughes, Governor Fielder and Chairman Grosscup of the state committee. Mr. Scully has announced his candidacy for one of the "big four" places.

Some politicians have been of the opinion that Scully would oppose the selection of Governor Fielder, but the state committeemen are proceeding on the theory that it is Martine's scalp he is after. Martine has not been a steadfast and dependable Wilson follower in the senate. Thus far Martine is the only assured candidate in the Democratic senatorial primary. There have been whispers, however, that Scully may also be a candidate.

If Scully makes the better showing at the primary the state committee, so the story is, will sidetrack Martine and back Scully for the senatorial nomination. It is said that in his primary fight Scully will have the support of all the members of the state committee, with the exception of probably half a dozen who have always had Bryan leanings.

Anti-Wilson Ticket Possible.

There was faint rumor that there might be an anti-Wilson ticket in the delegate primary. Some of the more active and militant Germans have talked about it. The German vote in New Jersey is, however, largely Republican.

A story from the other camp is that the leaders of the Republican party are preparing to get together and take steps to clear the track for the nomination for governor. There are five candidates—Colgate of Essex, Prince of Passaic, Edge and Godfrey of Atlantic and Gaunt of Ocean. The chief of them are Colgate and Edge. Colgate's town would have been easily in the ascendant if it had not collided with that of ex-Governor Murphy of the same county for the United States bench.

The leaders in the state are almost all for Murphy for the senate, and the belief that the Colgate candidacy is weakening Murphy is said to have led to a general elimination movement against all the announced candidates for governor and united support for ex-Senator William M. Johnson of Bergen.

POLICE SEEK AUTO SLAYER.

Gardener Killed by Car on Way Home From Work.

Long Branch, March 4.—Detectives are trying to locate the owner of the auto that fatally injured Charles Keenan, a gardener, of Oakhurst. Keenan, who was on his way home, was walking in the roadway.

Keenan's spine was fractured, his chest crushed and his collar bones and left arm broken.

BURNS FATAL TO BABY.

Mother Hears Screams and Finds Tot Enveloped In Flames.

Elizabeth, March 4. — Thomas Boetsch, two years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Boetsch, who was burned about the face and body, is dead. The boy's mother was in the yard when she heard him screaming, and when she reached him his clothes were ablaze. She is unable to explain how the accident occurred.

C. R. R. REMITS BIG FINE.

Check For $200,000 For Excessive Rebating Paid After Year.

Trenton, March 4.—A check for $200,000 was received by United States District Attorney J. Warren Davis from the Central Railroad of New Jersey covering a fine imposed a year ago by the federal jury on an indictment charging excessive rebating.

Scalds Cause Woman's Death.

Paterson, March 4.—Scalds received when she fainted in the kitchen of her home and overturned a kettle of boiling water proved fatal to Mrs. Anna Pickersgill.

Fatally Hurt by Fall Downstairs.

Jersey City, March 4.—Henry Sturchen, sixty-four years old, died from a compound fracture of the skull. He fell down the cellar stairs of his home.

Caught In Shafting and Killed.

Hackensack, March 4. — George J. Saffer, a marble sawyer, was caught in the shafting of a marble plant and crushed to death.

MRS WOODCOCK'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Clarence Woodcock, who died yesterday following a long illness, will be held at the late home, 678 West Seventh street, tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company for today is as follows: 9 a. m., 24; 11 a. m., 27; 12:30 p. m., 30.

SOPH GIRLS OF TWO HIGH SCHOOLS CLASH

P. H. S. Second Year Tossers Win From Boroughites; Score is 17-8.

Presenting a broken line-up, the Sophomore girls of North Plainfield High School were defeated by the clever players of the city High School second-year team yesterday afternoon, in the P. H. S. gym, 17 to 8. Fine teamwork gave the home maidens an advantage of a 13-2 lead, while in the last session their opponents had a slight advantage, collecting six points.

Miss Rice was responsible for eleven of her team's points, while Miss Simons was also a big asset in this department. Miss Griffiths shot two pretty baskets during her regime as forward, the other four points being divided between Miss Barry and Miss Chandler.

REHEARSALS UNDERWAY FOR MUSICAL PANORAMA

The musical panorama, to be given in the High School auditorium, Thursday, March 24, under the auspices of the Women's Exchange, and the direction of Miss Edna E. Colladay, is holding rehearsals in the Franklin School auditorium, and although there have been only two so far, some excellent talent has been secured for the production, and things are well under way to stage a very fine performance.

Mrs. Morris J. Dumont, whose grace and skill have made her one of Plainfield's most popular young dancers, is to be the "Girl on the Magazine," and has a most attracting song and dance number in addition to this. William N. Runyon, whose fine bass voice has delighted Plainfield music lovers many times, is also to be a participant.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Doane, whose excellent singing in the Presbyterian church choir and elsewhere has made them general favorites; Mrs. J. Edgar, whose clear soprano voice will be heard to excellent advantage in a solo and ensemble number, "Dear Old Moon"; Miss Marian Marsh and Robert Bellows, both of whom have danced so often in Plainfield that it is only necessary to mention their names to secure interest—all these, and many more whose names will be revealed in due time, will help to make "Gems" the most successful local talent production given in this city in recent years.

Tickets will be on sale at Miller's drug store next week. Director and committee will appreciate early purchasing of the same, as it is anticipated the sale will progress rapidly.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY CASES CONTINUED UNTIL MONDAY

Edward Parsons and Elmer Mantz, arrested by Lieut. Morris Higgins as suspects in the attempted burglary of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company office last Monday night, were arraigned in police court this morning, but each case was continued until Monday of next week by Judge De Meza. They will be tried at that time.

"DOLLR DAY IN TOWN."

"Family Day" will be observed at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow. The morning subject will be "The King's Business." In the evening there will be a popular gospel service, the subject being "Dollar Day in Town."

$160 FOR MERCY COMMITTEE.

The bridge party given in Mrs. S. S. Carvalho's gallery, Tuesday afternoon, cleared $169, which sum the secretary, Mrs. Lamar VanSyckel has turned into the fund of the Mercy Committee of Plainfield.

FIGHTS CONSTABLE OFF WITH AN AXE

Harry Wilson Defends Home Against Replevin Warrant Server.

When Constable Henry G. Harris, of Elizabeth, armed with a writ of replevin on the furniture of Harry Wilson, of 26 Johanna place, attempted to take the Wilson beds, chairs and tables from the home at noon today, he met with resistance. Wilson defended his home with an axe and for a few moments there was danger of a fatality. The constable finally subdued the Plainfield man and in addition to losing his furniture he was locked up in the local jail on a charge of disorderly conduct, which will probably include resisting an officer.

Wilson is a painter and has the reputation of being a good citizen. Some time ago he bought furniture from Miron & Lufson, of Elizabeth, and Plainfield, amounting to $104. He has paid but $59 of this amount, he admits, but says that he has been out of work and unable to meet the payments as they came due. When Constable Harris appeared to take away the furniture he became excited at the thought of losing his home and grabbed an axe with which the drive away the officer.

BUYS NEW RESIDENCE.

Millard W. Bellis, of 601 East Second street, has sold his property at that address to Harold E. White, of Park avenue, who is connected with the F. L. C. Martin garage. The latter will take possession in April.

WILL ADDRESS BUSINESS MEN ON TEN HOUR LAW

Acting upon the invitation issued to them by the Business Men's Association of the city, the women of Plainfield will address the merchants Monday night at a meeting to be held at 109 Park avenue, on the subject of the ten-hour law for women. Mrs. Irene Osgood Andrews, wife of John D. Andrews, secretary of the American Association of Labor Legislation, will be the principal speaker.

Mrs. Andrews is a graduate of Wisconsin University, where she was a pupil of Prof. John R. Comons. Mrs. Andrews has spent ten years in settlement and legislation work and is an authority on the minimum wage and labor questions. She will start her address at 8:45.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Geraldine Farrar, now Mrs. Lou Tellegan, will appear for the last time today at the U. S. Astor Theatre in the greatest dramatic photo-play ever released, "Carmen," produced by the Lasky Company, of Paramount. It has so much merit that persons who have seen it make haste to tell their friends about it for it is seldom that a photo-play of such calibre is presented in Plainfield. "Carmen" adheres quite closely to the story of the opera, in which Miss Farrar appeared two weeks ago at the Metropolitan Opera House, in New York, in which she is the favorite prima donna. The story shows the methods by which smugglers in old Spain got illicit goods across the border line, Carmen assisting them by tricking the young officer (Wallace Read) who is in love with her. Monday's attraction will be "The Gods of Fate," with Richard Buhler. Tuesday, Marguerite Clark will be seen in "Still Waters."

MAY RETIRE FROM BOARD.

J. A. VanMater, who is completing his term as a member of the North Plainfield Board of Education, will retire this year, it is reported. Already a number of candidates have been mentioned to succeed him, including Horace M. Fisher, of Willow avenue. Dr. J. H. Cooley and F. O. Dunning whose terms also expire ,will seek a re-election, it is said.

UP-SHIFTING OF PRICES CONTINUE

Demand for Building Materials in Suburban New York is Very Heavy.

METAL PRODUCTS FIRM

There is a Common Feeling That These Higher Prices Have Interfered With New Building Projects —Outlook, However, is Promising.

New York, March 4.—Demand for building materials in suburban New York continues heavy, and it is reflected in the constantly up-shifting of prices. The National Fireproofing Company this week announced a low level for March in exterior and interior fireproofing block; the Alpha Portland Cement Company reported a 20 cent advance in the price of export cement; paving gravel, sometimes used for roofing, advanced from 75 cents a cubic yard to $1.25, wholesale, and plate-glass also reported new price levels, with further advances to come at any time. Vitrified tile interests in some instances have withdraw quotations, and are quoting new levels on current operations and lath is stiffening.

All metal products continue firm. With the new advances the building material index figure for the ten basic materials exclusive of steel has been jumped from $.04325 to $.05001, and including steel and metals used for fire-escape, fire sheathing, flashing, etc., the index level has been advanced from $.7333 to $.07.878.

There has been a common feeling that these higher prices have interfered with new building projects. In New York city, where construction is largely dependent upon steel and iron, there has been a slight reaction in the volume of plan filings in the various boroughs, but architects are all busy with projected operations, the mid-town section of Manhattan is well tenanted, and money is easier for building construction than it has been in recent years. This condition is opening up operations that have been held back for a year or more, and it accounts for the heavy demand for new building construction at a time when plan filings do not show action building movements.

The truth of this analysis is shown in the fact that brick dealers in New York are riding their spring stacks to jobs at this time rather than go into the open market and pay $8.50 a thousand for Hudsons and $9 a thousand for good Raritans. If there was not a heavy building movement the dealers would wait for the spring rush and take up the slack in the wholesale market during the present drop in price.

Portland cement companies say they are not soliciting new accounts, because they are having all they can do to keep abreast of customers' requirements with their limited mill capacity in the light of scarcity of labor and difficulty of getting supplies. The threatened embargo by the New York, New Haven and Hartford on Eastern freight bound for this market has forced distributors to place anticipatory and supplemental orders.

Current new fireproofing prices follow, f. o. b. factory, Perth Amboy, N. J., freight to district points extra:

W. MERNAGH PLANS BUNGALOW

William Mernagh, of Madison avenue, who recently purchased a tract of nine acres on what is known as the McCall farm, on the Sterling road between Watchung and Sterling, is preparing to erect a handsome bungalow on the place. It will have a capacity of five rooms and will be equipped with all improvements. A local architect is now preparing the plans and specifications previous to calling for bids.

GROCERY CO. INCORPORATES.

HOME BUILT FROM DAILY PRESS PLANS

Design Published in This Paper Gives Charles Sheelen a Fine Residence.

Charles Sheelan, a man prominent in the municipal affairs of Fanwood Borough, has but recently removed into a new modern dwelling on North avenue that is conceded to be one of the best residences in that borough. Mr. Sheelan obtained the plans for his house from the Building Page of the Daily Press of Saturday, February 27, 1915, and awarded the contract for the building without making any but minor changes to the design.

The plans for the house, which were drawn by Charles H. Sedgewick, a Chicago architect, call for a two and a half story structure with all modern improvements. On the first floor is, besides a reception hall, a parlor, dining room, den and kitchen. The second floor has four bedrooms and a bath opening off of a large hall. Two rooms an bath besides considerable storage space take up the space in the attic. The main stairs run up the center of the house, and there is, besides, a pair of rear stairs descending to the kitchen. The front of the house is surrounded by a large porch, while there is also a back stoop. The exterior of the house, as well as the roof, is of stained shingle.

The contracting carpenter was Anthony Alberts, a Scotch Plains man, who had only the plans in the paper to go by; and in speaking of the affair he said that he had no trouble whatever in following them. Surrounded by attractive grounds and located in the best section of Fanwood, Mr. Sheelen thinks he has one of the prettiest residences in the borough.

BRUNSWICK Y. M. H. A. PLANS $5,000 ADDITION

An addition to the Y. M. H. A. club house on New street, New Brunswick, that will cost more than $5,000 will be erected by the organization in the near future. Jesse Strauss yesterday confirmed deports that have been current for some time and he said that a committee will be appointed very shortly to take charge of the work.

Plans have been submitted to the local branch by the National Federation, showing the type of building that a city of the size of New Brunswick should have, and the local organization will probably accept the suggestions contained in them. The new addition will be a three-story building in the rear of the present club house.

Mr. Strauss said yesterday that the money requisite for the erection of the new addition will be raised without any appeals to the public for assistance. On account of the hearty response to the fund for the Hebrew war sufferers and other charities of this sort recently there will be no direct request that the public assist in the erection of the addition. Plans for the raising of the money are being considered, and it is believed that it will be possible for the organization to raise the necessary amount by private means.

A committee that will have charge of the raising of the money will be appointed immediately, and they will start to work at once on their task. While plans for the building are by no means complete, it has been definitely decided that the organization an put up the addition to its club house, and it is believed that work will be rushed.

The new building will furnish accommodations for a gymnasium, a much larger meeting room which can be used as an auditorium, and much more space for class rooms for the evening school and for the religious classes and classes in Hebrew that are being conducted.

BERTRAM PITTIS BUYS FORMER PROBASCO PLACE

Bertram Pittis, of East Front street, who has been associated with his brother, Dr. Albert Pittis, in developing property on East Front street, between Park and Watchung avenues, has purchased the former Probasco property, next to the Woodhull-Martin building. The deal was consummated through Edson C. Martin who, with Floyd T. Woodhull, purchased the property originally from the Probasco estate. Some time ago a portion on the east side of the tract adjoining the Y. M. C. A. line was sold to Peter B. Hodge.

The Probasco house, deriving this name from the fact that the late Dr. John B. Probasco occupied it for many years, is one of the landmarks in the business section of the city. It is at present the only frame dwelling standing alone between Somerset street and Watchung avenue. It is Mr. Pittis' intention to tear down the house and erect an up-to-date business building as soon as he can complete plans.

THREE PERMITS TOTAL $16,710 FOR A WEEK

March Started in With a Rush for Local Contractors.

Three building permits, calling for an outlay of $16,710, were issued by Building Inspector T. O. Doane during the past week for the erection of one two-family dwelling, one garage and one alteration job. One provides for a $14,000 addition to the building owned by Harry W. Marshall at 400 Watchung avenue, work having been started on this contract during the past month. The improvement will consist of a one-story and basement, built of brick and steel and finished with a slag roof. In it will be installed a 100-horsepower boiler and engine room and a fine assortment of improved laundry equipment. The second floor of the building, now occupied by another tenant, will in the future be devoted to Mr. Marshall's business.

Marsh & Gette are the architects for the work, and other contracts will be taken charge of by the following: Masonry, B. F. Tallamy & Bro.; carpentry work, Alexander Milne; plumbing and heating, G. J. Tobin; painting and decorating, Woolston & Buckle; electrical work, Allen B. Laing & Co.

A permit has been granted to Morris Israel for the erection of a two-family dwelling of the double-decker type, at 728 West Fourth street, on the property adjoining the West End firehouse. With one exception this is the last vacant lot east of Grant avenue on the north side of West Fourth street, the other being the property belonging to J. W. Van Syckle, and is located on the west side of the firehouse. Mr. Israel bought the property on which he intends to build only recently from William C. Smith, of Fairview avenue, the borough. This lot for several years was used as a storing plant for construction material by Arthur E. Smith, son of the latter.

The new structure will be two and a half stories high, and will measure 24 by 32 feet. The estimated cost has been placed at $2,635. B. Fosgate is the architect. Contracts have been let to William Richards for the masonry, while the owner will care for the carpentry work.

The third permit was for the erection of a 10 by 16 foot frame garage at a cost of $75, at 321 Bergen street, by C. H. Weekley. D. T. Weekley has the general contract for the work.

A permit has also been issued to the State Trust Company for demolishing of the old Vanderbeek building at North and Park avenues, this being necessary to make room for the new bank building for the State Trust Company. L. J. Cohen, of New York, has the contract for razing the structure, the work having been started Thursday. It is expected that the work of constructing the new building will be under way by the middle of the month.

CIGAR FACTORY TO BUILD A NEW PLANT

"Forty-Four" Brand Concern to Erect $70,000 Structure in New Brunswick.

Announcement by L. Lipshutz and Co., of the Forty-Four Cigar factory, of Spring street, New Brunswick, that work on a new factory building is to be started in the near future is the latest feature of the industrial development of New Brunswick.

It was stated by officials of the company yesterday that the new factory will at least double the capacity of the plant. About 200 hands are employed in the present factory building on Spring street, and it is planned to start the new factory with a force of 400, which will later be still further increased.

Just when work on the new building will be started has not been definitely determined. It was stated yesterday that although the company has several highly desirable sites in view there has been no final selection as yet, but a choice will be made within the next few weeks.

The present factory building is leased by the company, and it is planned to have the new building ready for occupancy as soon as the present lease runs out. The Spring street factory, however, may be continued as a branch of the new one, so great is the demand for the company's products. It is leased from the Elks' Building Corporation.

While the offiials of the company were rather reticent yesterday in speaking of their building plans, it was learned that the new factory will be housed in a new four-story building that will cost in the neighborhood of $70,000. The building will be constructed in the most modern manner and will be a model of industrial building.

HOMAN BUILDING CHANGES ARE NEARING COMPLETION

Contractor Charles W. Force finished work yesterday on the new rear addition built for James P. Homan at the back of his present blacksmith shop at 29 Somerset street. The new structure is one story in height and twenty-nine by sixty feet in dimensions. Mr. Homan will remove to this structure next week and as soon as all of his materials and equipment are out of the old part, Contractor Force will commence extensive alterations that will convert the premises into a modern automobile salesroom.

The work on the forward portion of the building will include the laying of a North Carolina pine floor, the putting up of an attractive metal ceiling and the placing of an entire new plate glass front. The entrance will be by means of large double doors in in center of which will allow the passage of any size automobile. The plans indicate that the front will be one of the handsomest of any business house along Somerset street.

Mr. Homan will continue his blacksmithing and carriage building work in the new portion, while the forward room will be occupied by Ambrose A. King, at present located in the upper floors as a carriage painter. He has secured the local agency for several high-grade cars and expects to have one of the finest showrooms in Plainfield.

While Mr. Force had the general contract and is doing all the carpentering, the other work on the job is being done by the following: Den. J. Galbraith, plumbing; William C. Smith, mason; and Philip Jahn, slag roofing and ceiling.

FORMER FARLEY PLACE TO UNDERGO ALTERATION

Henry E. Butler, of Cushing road, has awarded to Charles L. Force, of the borough, the general contract for extensive alterations to the Farley property at Cushing and Terrill roads, recently purchased by Mr. Butler from J. S. Farley, of New York. The premises were occupied until recently by Mr. Farley's son, H. S. Farley.

According to the plans, the major portion of the work will be done to the residence on the place. On the first floor a partition will be taken out and an iron girder substituted. Several windows will be changed and enlarged and the walls of the house will be replastered throughout. This portion of the contract will call for an expenditure of about $800.

A practically modern barn, which is also on the premises, will be altered at one part to onvert some of the room into an up-to-date gymnasium at an expense of about $200. Mr. Butler's present residence is in Fanwood township and the new property is also just over the city line, consequently no permit is to be issued by the local building inspector and the contract will not be included in any summaries of Plainfield's construction jobs.

EXTENSIVE ALTERATIONS WILL RESULT IN NEW HOME FOR THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

INSTITUTION SOON TO BE HOUSED IN ONE OF MOST UP-TO-DATE BANKING BUILDINGS IN THE ENTIRE STATE.

WILL ERECT STRUCTURE ON SOMERSET STREET

Public Foyer to Be Feature of Reconstruction in Present Quarters—Separate Compartments for Women Patrons and Commodious Vault and Storage Department—Cost May Reach $40,000.

A long period of planning on the part of the officers and directors of the First National Bank has come to a head within the past week, so that arrangements can be perfected for alterations and additions to the bank's building at 109-11 East Front street, to cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. When completed the work will give the institution one of the finest homes in the State, and a structure that will be a distinct addition to the business houses of Plainfield. I is probable that contractors will be called upon to figure on the construction during the next few weeks.

The present building which houses the bank is a four-story structure, faced with pressed brick. It stands at present as the result of alterations made a few years ago, which completely changed the exterior and interior aspect. It has a width of about twenty-five feet and a depth of ninety feet. The First National Bank quarters are on the first floor, and the other three are occupied by lawyers and other professional men in office suites.

Some years ago the bank directors purchased from George L. Finger a plot of ground fronting on Somerset street, originally a portion of the P. M. French Mill property. This runs back a distance of seventy-two feet to the rear of the bank's site on Front street, thus giving the concern an L-shaped plot. In the plans that are being perfected the Somerset street side will be taken up with a handsome one-story structure, taking in the entire distance from the old mill to the rear of the building on the corner owned by Schwed Brothers. This new building will extend back the full depth of the lot to meet an addition which will be added to the present Front street structure, thus making a continuous passage from Front to Somerset street. The addition on the Front stret side will be about seventy feet long, giving a straightaway course from Front street to the furthermost point before the turn of 160 feet. Add to this the seventy-two feet of the new building facing on Somerset street, and gives a total lateral distance from entrance to entrance of 232 feet.

The first floor of the present building will undergo a complete change in order to make the forward part of these quarters a public foyer, with every convenience for promoting quick and comfortable banking. The various tellers, cashier's quarters, bookkeeping department are to be moved back to the new-seventy-foot addition, giving these officials the most commodious and best-lighted facilities in the State. At the rear part of the foyer there wil be individual compartments for the private use of patrons, and a distinct feature will be separate quarters for women, enabling the latter to have practically a complete compartment to themselves. The rear part of the women's division is to lead directly to windows communicating with the various officials. The present exterior on the Front street entrance is to undergo a complete change. A large arch entrance will take up the entire distance now given over to a window between two small doorways. One of the doorways leads to the bank and the other to the offices above. With the change to one big entrance way with revolving doors, a stairway will lead from the right to the floors above. The plans do not include any alterations on the second, third or fourth floors.

All the officers' quarters, including those of the president and directors, are to be located in the new structure on the Somerset street side. A part of this space will be devoted to the savings department, and the major portion of it will be taken up by a series of improved storage vaults. Altogether the changes will give the First National Bank the most commodious quarters of this kind in the State, and will greatly facilitate the work of both staff and patrons. The bakn is one of the oldest in the city, and the plans now under way are the result of rapidly increasing business, which had cramped the present building to its utmost capacity.

PLANS NEW HOME ON KENSINGTON AVE.

H. A. Robinson Will Erect Colonial Dwelling—Plans by Wilder & White.

One of the most important building announcements made during the past week conveyed the information that all arrangements had been perfected for the erection on Kensington avenue of a handsome residence for Harry A. Robinson, of this city, whose present address is 982 Prospect avenue. Local contractors have submited bids for the work during the past week, and the award may be made within the next few days. Actual work will commence soon after the necessary papers are signed. The exact location of the site is opposite the present home of Horace Phillips, on the lot formerly owned by the Board of Education.

According to the plans as prepared by the architectural firm of Wilder & White, of which H. K. White, of Carlton avenue, is a member, the dwelling will be of the Colonial type, with an unusually attractive exterior. The style of construction is set forth as stucco work over hollow tile.

The length over all on the frontage is about sixty feet, and in depth it will be thirty feet. In height it will be two and a half stories.

The first floor plan calls for a dining room, living room, large reception hall and attractive winding stairway in addition to the usual service rooms. Five large bedrooms will be on the second floor, as well as two bathrooms, and ample clothes' closets. The bathrooms will be of the most modern and improved type, finished off with tile effect, and containing needle shower baths. The third floor will have a unique feature in the form of a large studio, which can be used for entertaining purposes or the numerous essentials demanded of a modern heme. This studio will be conveniently situated and splendidly lighted. On other parts of the floor will be rooms for the maids and another bathroom. The latest system of hot air heating will be included in the customary finishings.

The front of the residence is to be embellished by a large brick enclosed porch, or sun room, as it is generally termed these days. It will extend practically the full length of the dwelling. Another covered balcony will be located on the second floor, and the view from the rear part of the house will be greeted by a beautiful landscape effect, which has been designed by the architects to conform with the Colonial style of house. The ground which Mr. Robinson has purchased has more than twice the ordinary depth of residential site, and although there is but a light elevation in the rear part, it is peculiarly adapted to landscape development.

FEBRUARY PERMITS ON THE TOBOGGAN

Falling Off in Building Noted by Aggregate for the Month.

But seven building permits were granted by Building Inspector T. O. Doane during the month of February for a total of $10,701 as against $14,900 for the same month last year. Alteration permits are included in this figure in the sum of $3,975. The permits of January for this year called for the expenditure of $56,568.

The building expenditures for the first two months of 1916 amount to $67,269, as against $77,738 for the same period of last year. The items are divided as follows: New buildings, 1916, $50,268; 1915, $70,388; alteration work, 1916, $10,275; 1915, $7,750.

February, 1916.

| Wards. | New Bldg. | Alter. | Totals. |
|---|---|---|---|
| First | $ 175 | $ 375 | $ 550 |
| Second | 300 | 3,600 | 3,900 |
| Third | 6,176 | ..... | 6,176 |
| Fourth | 75 | ..... | 75 |
| Totals | $6,726 | $3,975 | $10,701 |

February, 1915.

| Wards. | New Bldg. | Alter. | Totals. |
|---|---|---|---|
| First | $2,900 | ..... | $2,900 |
| Second | 225 | ..... | 225 |
| Third | 9,375 | ..... | 9,375 |
| Fourth | 600 | $1,800 | 2,400 |
| Totals | $13,500 | $1,800 | $14,900 |

Both January and February of this year fell below the record of last year for these months in permits but there is more prospective work in sight at the present time than last year.

Among the buildings in sight for this season for which plans are now out is the sixteen-family apartment to be erected at West Sixth and Division streets by Sigmund Frucht, the new home of the Young Men's Mebrew Association, the alterations to the borough firehouse on Somerset street, a dwelling for O. W. Smith to be erected on Prescott Hill, a residence for E. L. Holman to be erected on Stelle avenue, and six dwellings to be erected in the West End of the city by the Standard Investment Company. These are but a few of a large number of buildings which are anticipated for the early spring activities in the construction line for this city.

P. H. S. DEBATERS WIN

Groel, of South Side, was the first one to present his views, and in the course of his address he gave four reasons why the prohibition of liquor should be nation-wide. He was followed by Backer, the first Plainfield man, who, taking the results obtained in Kansas and Alabama, made a plea for State prohibition and local option. Maurer, speaking for the visiting school endeavored to show wherein there would be more effective prohibtion under national than under state control. Making the second plea of the debate on behalf of the negative, Williams pointed out the failure that would result from Federal control and set forth as examples the case of Russia and France, explaining specific instances. Kalter, the last man to present the views of the affirmatives, in part repudiated the facts set forth by the preceding speaker and stated reasons why he was sure that national prohibition was the only solution to the question. Richard Borden was the last one to speak, and in so doing he made his speech cover the question from all angles and sides, refuting the theories advanced by the Newarkers on every hand. He laid special stress on the army of officials that would be necessary to reach into all parts of the nation and stop the liquor traffic. Such a large body of men, he said, would not be able to resist the temptations of bribery and resulting conditions would make matters worse. The closing words of his speech were drowned in applause that continued long after the two teams had retired to form their rebuttals.

Borden again took the platform for the local debaters. In refuting the arguments brought forth by the visitors he made some of them appear absurd and some foolish. Smiles were even forced on the faces of the members of the South Side team, and before Groel spoke on behalf of the Newark High School, the Plainfield cohorts were getting ready to celebrate the victory. He made an excellent attempt to turn the tide of victory toward his team; but the arguments of his opponents were far too strong and numerous to be overcome, and when the verdict of the three judges was made known it was found to favor Plainfield High School.

The debate was conducted by Professor Harold Biddle, of the High School faculty, and the judges were S. C. Strong, vice-principal of the Rahway High School, James L. Briggs, of Somerville; and George C. Moore, of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary.

A short musical program was rendered by members of the High School prior to the debate, and included a violin solo by Charles Todd, a piano solo by William Snowden and a vocal solo by August Francker.

PAIN GONE! RUB SORE, RHEUMATIC ACHING JOINTS

Rub pain away with a small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

Stop "dosing" rheumatism.

It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment, you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.—Adv.

CHOOSING A VOCATION VS. "HUNTING A JOB"

Fathers and mothers, is it better for your boy or girl to choose a vocation, or to "hunt a job?"

If you had $10,000 to invest, you would get expert counsel and advice, you would make a careful study of methods of investment, so that your money would be safe and would pay you good dividends. If you were offered $10,000 for your son or daughter you would reject the offer with scorn and righteous indignation, because the wealth of the world could not purchase your child. Yet a great majority of parents allow their children to drift from the home and the school into a "job" without any expert counsel and advice; without any study of the requirements in a business, profession, trade or occupation; without regard to the child's aptitudes, abilities, ambitions, resources, and limitations. Their children drift into some line of work by chance, proximity, or ignorant selection. And the result to the employers is inefficiency, change of "job-hunters," waste of training, and low-grade service. A mis-fit in a "job" means inefficiency, lack of enthusiasm, distasteful labor, low pay. A business, trade, profession or vocation, chosen intelligently means love of work, efficient service, and good pay. "Get your happiness out of your work, or you will never know what real happiness is."

To choose a vocation requires a clear understanding of the child, his aptitudes, abilities, resources, limitations, ambitions, interests and causes, and also a knowledge of the requirements surrounding a certain line of work; a knowledge of its advantages and disadvantages, its compensation, opportunities, prospects, and conditions of success.

For example: To be a doctor requires a splendid memory to absorb a volume of facts. It requires "nerve," splendid health, good eyesight, and mechanical ability. Sympathy, pleasing address, attractive personality, inventiveness, love of the work, caution, resourcefulness, and fine character are positively essential. The doctor must have skill in diagnosis, knowledge of the body, symptoms, diseases, constructive reasoning to put facts together, skill in treatment, knowledge of remedies, and ability to meet people. He must be a keen observer, and finally he must have resources to buy a practice or to live while building one.

Now suppose your boy wants to be a doctor and you know he is sickly, hollow-cheeked, listless, with a cheese-pie face. His voice is unpleasant, his hand-shake is after the fashion of Fido performing for the guests in the parlor while one's senses proclaim loudly of having hold of a wet stick. His memory is poor, and he is untidy in his appearance. What will you tell him? Of course you will go through the entire category of requirements to become a physician and explain why his choice is a wrong one. But what positive thing will you do to guide him in selecting a vocation? If you are wise, you will give or get expert advice as to the requirements in any of the trades, professions, vocations, and occupations, open to a boy or girl. Each one of them must be outlined as the doctor's profession has been just outlined.

Suppose your daughter is fourteen years old and wants working papers. Will you allow her to hunt a dead end, blind-alley "job," or will you most diligently search for a vocation adapted to her abilities, potentialities, and temperament?

Suppose she can get a "job" in a factory at four dollars per week. The requirements are punctuality, honesty, some mechanical skill, and good health. The prospects for promotion amount to almost nothing. Will you allow her to enter that blind-alley "job" and waste her few remaining years of preparation for life for the miserable pay allowed her? Ask your daughter and yourself questions like the following: Does she find herself ready and willing to help and co-operate in the work of the home and the school? If so, she will certainly be successful in business and social relations. If she makes friends readily and takes pleasure in helping along in her church and Sunday-school, she has assets that her employer will discover and look upon with favor. But if she does not readily learn new things, if she does not take interest in the affairs of others, If she is inclined to wait for directions, if she has little liking for neatness, orderliness, and carefulness by the time she leaves school, the blind-alley "job" is about the place for her. Sooner or later she will have to enter the university of hard knocks and learn how much back-ache there is in a dollar, if economic conditions in your home require her services in the struggle for existence. The big questions for her and you is to find the vocation or "job" for which she is best fitted by temperament as well as by training. Changing vocations or "jobs" means a loss to both parties of a contract. It is estimated that the Westinghouse Electric Company spends $1,000 to prepare a salesman for his work. It costs $700 and upward to lose a life insurance agent through failure. Will you allow your son or daughter to be one of the many mis-fits we have in our army of employed?

Means that furnish vocational guidance.

The United States Bureau of Education, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the public school superintendent and the high school principal, can help parents and young people in selecting a vocation. The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, has a vocation department established for aiding parents and young people.

The Plainfields could well support a vocation bureau to guide the army of children yearly stepping into the ranks of the wage earners.

Six million girls become bread winners annually, and 87 per cent. are mis-fits. The same proportion holds true for boys. What a waste! What a loss! Some one has said in paraphrase, "What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his son or daughter?" for a mis-fit is equivalent to loss.

D. FRED AUNGST.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

An interesting announcement is made by the management of that popular playhouse, the Plainfield theatre, to the effect that Mr. Jake Goldenberg's Gay New Yorkers company, with Fox and Stewart, Danny Murphy and Ed Jerome, will open an engagement in this city. This will be the most elaborate, most costly and most stupendous burlesque attraction on tour this season. No details have been overlooked to make this production the crowning effort of his career. A strong supporting company, together with a large and beautiful chorus, tuneful music and pretty stage settings, cannot fail to bring about a most satisfactory result. The company presents a new two-act musical comedy from the prolific pen of Mr. Dan Roth, entitled "We, Us and Company." Monday (matinee and night), March 6.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

Now's the Time.

Here, you discontented knocker,
Growlin' 'bout the country's ills,
Chloroform your dismal talker,
Take a course of liver pills.
Stop your durn eternal howlin',
Chaw some sand and git some grit;
Don't sit in the dumps a-growlin',
Smile a few and boost a bit.
Fall in while the band's a-playin',
Ketch the step and march along:
'Stead o' pessimistic brayin',
Jine the hallelujah song;
Drop your hammer—do some rooting,
Grab a horn, you cuss, an' split
Every echo with your tootin'
Smile a few and boost a bit.

Concerning Sleep.

Edison has come to bat
With a theory astounding.
Yes, a theory confounding.
Says the human needs no sleep
Says we, all of us, should keep Right on working day and night,
Plugging on with all our might.
He who sleeps is naught but lazy,
And his think tank will grow hazy.
Sleep is for the idle sinner,
Not for one who'd be a winner
In the everlasting strife
That we call our daily life.
System does not need repose.
Some day sleep will be no more;
It will be a crime to snore.
Day will come, it is quite near,
When no man will pound his ear.

Fred Keister says:

With the President out preaching preparedness, the suffragettes clamoring for the ballot and Theodore Roosevelt threatening to harpoon the elephant again, it begins to look as if it was going to be one big season for the common people.

One Hundred Years Ago.

Correspondent calls attention to the fact that 100 years ago, 1816, was "a year without a summer." Will history repeat itself this year, it being the one-hundredth anniversary of that momentous year? In 1816 it snowed every month in the year. An old man in Kentucky said he had heard his grandfather talk of that year, and one incident had impressed itself on his mind. His grandfather said that he and his "girl" started for Fourth of July celebration, but were compelled to turn back on account of a terrible snowstorm. Nice outlook.

The Congressman.

In former years the Congressman
Cared for his country's needs
By sending out to common folk
Some fancy garden seeds.
He loafed about in Washington
And had a bully time,
But now, the way they're treating him
Is nothing but a crime.

No longer does he pose and strut
And talk in language grand.
The good old days have passed away;
He's working, understand.
That teacher from New Jersey has
Him walking chalk for fair;
And when the whistle blows each day
The statesman must be there.

Vacations have gone out of style.
He's busy with his books.
The time has passed when Congressmen
Could get by on their looks.
The period is almost here,
We're very much afraid,
When Congressmen will have to earn
At least half what they're paid.

National Whiskers.

Arrival in Congress of "Cyclone" Davis with a beard of such dimensions that collars are with him a superfluity not only draws attention from Senator Lewis' pink adornments but directs it to the momentous question of whiskers as a political asset.

Commencing at the top of the tree, the following Chief Executives were clean shaven: Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Andrew Jackson, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Polk, Taylor, Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln (when elected), Johnson, McKinley, Wilson.

The first full-bearded President was Grant, followed by Hayes, Garfield and Benjamin Harrison.

Wearing simply mustaches the White House sheltered Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft.

A SCENE FROM "MADAM X" (PATHE)

The dramatic photoplay attraction at Proctor's today is the latest Triangle feature entitled "The Green Swamp," and starring Bessie Barriscale and Bruce McRae. "The Green Swamp" is a sure cure for a jealous wife, and is good to look upon as it deals with a subject that is vital to everyone both young and old. This afternoon the toy bazaar for the children will take place, and each child attending will be the happy recipient of a handsome toy. On Monday, a notable production will hold forth at Proctor's, it being "The Yellow Passport," featuring Clara Kimball Young, the peerless queen of the screen. On Tuesday, the first episode of "The Strange Case of Mary Page" will be presented at Proctor's. This remarkable serial creation has been the talk of the country for weeks passed and is receiving hosts of praises from the millions of delighted fans who have seen it. Henry Walthall, the famous hero of "The Birth of a Nation," and Edna Mayo are the leading characters, and with a wonderful story of mystery and intrigue at their disposal, will immediately be welcomed with open arms by their admirers in this vicinity. On Tuesday also the dramatic feature will be an extremely interesting Triangle production with Wilfred Lucas in the leading role, It is "Acquitted." The entertainment is greatly enhanced by the addition of famous comedy creations, including the Keystone productions, which are presented daily, and also the polite vaudeville entertainment provided, which is changed twice weekly on Mondays and Wednesdays.

PIONEER JEWELRY FIRM NOW IN NEW QUARTERS

L. Moraller & Son, one of the pioneer jewelry firms of the city which for fourteen years has occupied a store in the Vanderbeek building on Park avenue, has removed to the store adjoining, where Henry Viebrock conducted a grocery for several years. The State Trust Company, which owns this property, has made extensive alterations for the jewelry concern and it is in every way adapted to its growing business. In the new quarters the firm will be able to carry a large and complete line of jewelry, silverware, etc., and display the goods in an attractive manner.

MRS. SHERMAN B. JOOST ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

What Happened to A Pair of Goldfish That Lived In a Bowl.

Timmy Saw a Gold Flash.

"ONCE upon a time," said daddy soon as the children stopped wiggling, "a pair of beautiful goldfish lived very happily in a big glass globe that a lady kept in her library. Exactly who fed and cared for them was the lady's little girl, Dorothy, a nice child, who loved best to romp outdoors rather than to clean a bowl. So the waitress often had to take care of the goldfish, and she sometimes felt so sorry for them, drifting around and around in their rather stupid circle, that she fed them too much."

"Tell us the fishes' names, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"Fantail and Glow," said daddy. "Fantail was the bigger, and the end of his tail had streamers and fluff on it. Glow was just a goldfish and beautiful only for his color. Their globe was a very comfortable spot for fishes to live in. The bottom had nice white sand to lie on, with a handful of pretty colored stones to dash onto and play they were rocks on the bottom of a lake. A nice sprig of green seaweed made an excellent spot to hide in, and right in the middle of the globe stood a handsome arch that was the greatest fishy fun.

"If Dorothy had not been so lazy about changing the water in the bowl there never would have been a tragedy in this fish family. But one day when a sunbeam had shone on Fantail's head and made him all nervous—fishes like dark, cool places best, you know—and when the waitress had given him altogether too much to eat he sailed up to the top of the water and dashed around and around till his head really got quite dizzy. The faster he dashed the stronger he seemed to grow, till he at last struck his pretty tail right against the top of the globe, and zip! out of the globe he bounced right on to the fuzzy tablecloth. It was a fatal mistake. Fantail flopped over on his side, gasped a few times and died the way of all fish out of water. The library door creaked, and in glided Timmy, Dorothy's big Maltese cat. Timmy saw a gold flash on the table, hopped upon it, smelled a choice morsel, gulped twice and licked his chops with satisfaction. Then he looked around and soon saw a blurry gold flash that seemed behind something when he tried to put his big, soft paw on it. He circled the globe twice, bumped his nose against something that felt glassy, stretched his neck and peered over into the pretty water. Right under his quivering mustaches round and round flashed a gold morsel. Timmy stretched out one skillful paw, stuck it daintily into the globe—cats don't like wet, you know—took a pin out of his paw and hooked it right behind Glow's left gill. Grinning with delight, he gulped twice and sneezed off a dorsal fin that had caught on his mustache. When Dorothy came in from romping all she found was a little gold fin sitting on a fuzzy tablecloth."

THE TABLE.

"Very Good" Pudding—Line deep baking dish with a good pie crust. Spread a layer about three-fourths inch thick of well-sweetened blackberry sauce over the bottom of inside of crust. Cut thin slices of bread (stale bread will do), butter lightly and lay evenly on the blackberry sauce. Cover slices with a generous layer of sweetened apple sauce. Place dish in moderately quick oven and let contents cook ten minutes. Then beat one egg light and stir into two tablespoons of sweet milk. Pour this over top of pudding and let it remain in oven until it is a rich golden brown. Serve with sweetened cream.

Cream of Cheese Soup—One-quarter pound soft American cheese, one teaspoonful onion juice, one quart milk, yolks of two eggs, one tablespoonful butter, one tablespoonful flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, a dash of cayenne. Put the milk in a double boiler; add the cheese, grated, the salt, cayenne and onion juice. Rub the batter and flour together; add it to the cheese mixture; stir and cook until you have a smooth, rather thick soup. Beat the yolks of the eggs; add to them two or three tablespoonfuls of soup and pour into the tureen. Put also into the tureen about two dozen inch cubes of toasted bread. Pour over the soup, and send to the table. This soup is highly nutritious, having more than meat value. It is an exceedingly nice luncheon dish for children, and with white bread and butter forms an excellent meal.

Finnan Haddie—One finnan haddie; butter, four tablespoons; flour, four tablespoons; salt, one-half teaspoon; pepper, one-half teaspoon, milk, two cups. Select a thick fish. Put flesh side down in a spider, cover with cold water or milk and set over very slow fire, where it must not cook, but just heat through for half an hour. Now heat to simmering point. Let simmer five minutes and drain. Separate fish into flakes, discarding skin and bones. For each cup of fish prepare a cream sauce by rubbing butter and flour together in the spider and gradually adding the milk and seasoning. Re-heat fish in the sauce. To serve au gratin, put fish and sauce into buttered baking dish in alternate layers, having the last layer of sauce and sprinkling with bread crumbs, bits of butter and grated cheese. Brown in hot oven.

Baked Breaded Veal With Bacon—Cut meat into pieces, dip in beaten egg and bread crumbs. Grease well a shallow tin pan or baking dish, lay in meat and put thin slices of bacon all over the top. Cook in oven about thirty minutes; when bacon becomes brown too fast, push it off the top and let meat brown, but not get hard.

Chicken Veal—Have veal stripped from the shank and cut in pieces large enough to serve. Boil in salt water until very tender, roll in flour and fry same as chicken. If desired, cooked peas may be heated in the skillet after the meat has been taken out and served as a garnish for the meat.

Fruit Bread—Scald and cool one cup milk, dissolve in it one-third cup brown sugar and heaping tablespoon butter; mix thoroughly with one pint raw mush made of rolled oats, or similar cereal. Have mush same consistency as served at table; let stand until lukewarm, then add one-half cake compressed yeast dissolved in one-fourth cup warm water. Stir in sufficient entire wheat flour to make a stiff batter and beat hard; cover and set aside until light. Stir in one heaping cup coarsely chopped nut meats (English walnuts and blanched almonds), one and one-half cups seeded and cut dates and as much flour as necessary to make a soft dough. Knead until smooth and fine in texture; set aside in bowl until double in bulk, then divide into small loaves and put in separate pans. Let rise until quite light and bake in moderate oven.

Turnips—Have two tablespoonfuls hot bacon grease in skillet. Have turnips pared and sliced, put them in skillet and almost cover with water; season with salt and pepper; cook until tender. Or, pare and dice turnips, boil in unsalted water till tender, mash, adding salt, pepper and butter to taste.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

More Fuel for the Fire of the Townsends' Domestic Infelicity.

"Oh, but I was proud of my husband; proud to have my friend know I had married a man who would refuse to send me money when I was sick, and who was so small that he actually sent me a ticket to come home on; would not give me the sight of money." Ortrude was relieving her mind the evening of her arrival.

"You may recollect that I told you distinctly that I could not afford to have you take a trip now. I am making a great effort to raise a large sum that I need imperatively in my business. I wish there were some way to make you see that there is a necessity to retrench." Jacob looked at her with cool deliberation before taking his paper.

"If you had the least imagination you would invent a new story. That is so threadbare, so hackneyed." Ortrude tossed her proud head and patted her elaborate coiffure.

"My friend Eleanore assures me that it is a very common excuse for withholding money, but she also made it clear that if she insisted on having what she wanted, she got it, and nothing happened; showing conclusively that it was a mere excuse," continued Ortrude, as the conversation languished. Jacob's face was invisible behind his paper walls, and he made no response.

Silence reigned in the room and Ortrude, nettled by the cold silence of her husband, picked up a book and tried to read. Suddenly she dropped it in her lap and said:

"J. C., I called up the garage and asked to have my machine sent over to the depot when I arrived this afternoon and they said something about not having a machine there now. Where are you keeping it?"

"You have no machine. I sent it back," came in distinct tones from behind the newspaper.

"Sent it back! What are you talking about? Please explain," replied Ortrude, leaning forward and scarcely breathing.

"I could not make the payments on it," floated out from behind the paper.

"Jacob Townsend, will you please put that paper down and explain what you mean?" Ortrude's eyes were blazing and she gripped the arms of her chair convulsively.

Jacob laid the paper on the table and turned his face toward her. She wondered that she had never noticed how square his jaw was.

"I told you when you spoke of buying a machine that I could not afford it now. As usual, that made no difference with you. You went to Kansas City and selected your machine. I have told you before that I spent more than I should have done on this home. If business had been as good as usual I could have recovered, but it has been—well, rotten, and I never had to stand up under such household expenses——"

"I did not know I was letting myself in for a resume of all your business griefs when I asked that question or I might have reconsidered. It was very short-sighted in you to send back that inexpensive machine. When I buy again—and I shall right away—I shall not be so easily satisfied." Ortrude rose with flashing eyes and started for the door.

"Just a moment, Ortrude. It may save you an embarrassing situation to know that I have told all the dealers in Kansas City that I will not pay for a machine you buy. That it will be returned if sold."

Ortrude gasped. "So it's war, is it?"

"You will testify that I have tried to establish a peace footing; to get things onto a livable basis. You would not listen. I must try to keep the whole establishment from going on the rocks." Ortrude turned and, casting a scornful glance over her shoulder, left the room, ablaze with wrath.

Short Skirts Demand Fine Footwear

Short skirts emphasize the feet and make fine footwear a necessity. If the abbreviated lengths of skirts are to continue fashionable for summer considerable attention must be given to the style of shoes worn.

Even if longer skirts are adopted women have become so used to selecting dressy shoes and boots that they will consider only modish footwear for spring and summer.

Suede Shoes.

Among the shoes shown recently are those of white suede for the south, of the same sort that will probably be worn later on in the north. There are high white suede shoes, buttoned and laced. The buttons are glossy white ones, with nickel centers. The laces are round and small, and are laced through untrimmed holes. There are also some very attractive pumps of white suede cut up a bit high in front, in a tiny close-fitting tongue, after the manner of last summer's pumps. Sometimes there is a seam in the centre of the toe of the slipper.

For walking, high tan boots are sold. Of course, the higher they are the better, while skirts are short, and a high boot is perhaps always more support to the foot and ankle than a lower one. Some of them are reinforced about the top with a buckled strap.

Tan shoes, as the shops show, will be much worn this spring. Excepting for walking and sports, low shoes will be the rule.

The old colonial pump is a style that is in vogue again. It may not stay in vogue, for it is made with a very long vamp, and therefore a longer size must be worn than in a shorter vamped model. The buckle is set well up on the tongue of the pump.

This matter of short vamps is very interesting. Short vamps have never been smart for the smart woman has always preferred a shoe that gave a longer, narrower look to the feet. The shoes we have been wearing lately have given a small look to the feet, with their medium vamp; and there are doubtless many women who will balk at the added fractions of inches of length that their shoes must take on in the new models.

COAT—copy Jenny model, which buttons from neck to hem, yoke back and tucks in front to allow fullness or flare over bust. Poplin with black satin wide collar, which can be worn high or low neck; also flaring fold of satin on cuff and wide band on bottom; navy and black, with fancy and plain linings, $29.50.

SUIT—smart tailored, copy Bernard, in very fine gabardine; flaring skirt with tucked insets to correspond with the coat; tailored buttonholes and bone buttons; tan, navy, black and gray, $38.50.

American Women's Negligees

The Mother Hubbard was the American woman's first style of negligee. This garment was truly of American birth and was probably inspired by the high-waisted empire gown of the previous century.

Japanese Kimono.

At all events, the Mother Hubbard wrapper came into fashion, and woe to the day that brought it.

It was not so bad when it was made of soft cashmere or challis, but when the city woman of moderate means adopted it for a work dress, and the farmer's wife adopted it for wear six days out of the seven, and the manufacturers began to turn it out in blue and white calico by the thousand, it was hopeless.

The clinging beauty of its empire origin was lost in its slinky calico folds.

With the passing of the Mother Hubbard wrapper along came the kimono, for which "Madame Butterfly" is no doubt responsible. Ever since the advent of the charming little Japanese heroine, all our negligee attire has been modeled on the kimono.

We have stopped talking much about kimonos now, but ever so many of the filmy lace and tulle and silk and crepe gowns for boudoir wear are still fundamentally kimono-like.

Now comes the Bakst toga. At least it is probably coming, for Bakst is influencing everything in the world of clothes. Paris has been showing that influence for several seasons, and this year, as we become better acquainted with his ideas, we are showing it, too.

The new negligee garment that we will wear because of Bakst is Greecian in its origin and is as full of possibilities as was the kimono. If its colors follow those of Bakst, they, too, will be full of possibilities.

Wall Covering

Each fashion has its own eventful history, fascinating to those who love to follow out the development of things.

Tapestry effects in wall papers and fabric coverings for walls had their origin in the times when castles and cottages were so constructed that it was necessary to hang some protective material against the walls to keep out the drafts. Coarse weaves, like gunny sack, were used in the cottages, but the palaces were distinguished for their handsome tapestries.

Time changes all things. The tapestry designs are simulated in papers, inexpensive, but, alas! often inartistic, and gunny sack and burlap (both in fabric form) today rank superior to tapestry effects in their elegance. This is as it should be, for true beauty lies in simplicity.

Plain colored walls give ample opportunity for carrying out of perfect harmony in the color scheme of a recorator and also show up pictures and ornaments to best advantage.

The most satisfying and artistic tones to select for walls, inelther gunny sack or burlap, are the soft tans, the delicate ambers, leaf browns, ivory tints, apple or leaf green, wood gray and wood brown, and sometimes delicate shades of blue.

RIBBON TRIMMING.

Ribbons trimmed many of the charming evening dresses in a recent display of new French models. One of the prettiest arrangements was a succession of graduated widths of white ribbons on a tulle dance frock.

The ribbons were not gathered, but the skirt was, and each band of ribbon was set an inch above the next, the widest ribbon being at the bottom and the narrowest at the top.

Neck Fixings

There are new neck fixings every week, and it is as much as one able-bodied woman can do to keep up with them.

To make a tulle scarf to be worn with an evening frock, buy a couple of yards of tulle in any desired color and gather the ends of the tulle into a tassel of silk or of gold and silver, and so have an elaborate sort of scarf. Wind it a couple of times around your neck, after you have donned your frock. The heavy tassels pull the ends down in a very effective way.

You can use a finishing ornament of pearl beads and sequins, instead of the tassels, with equally good results.

There are lovely new things in net and Georgette crepe and muslin that can be used for fichus. These are stripes of the material eight or ten inches wide, with an edging of fine pleats or a finely gathered ruffle, set on with hemstitching or tucks. Sometimes the edge of the ruffle is whipped with black thread or color.

The edge is finished on one side so that when the material is doubled, fichu fashion, through the centre, the two little ruffles will be right side up.

This material can be cut in two for frills or the arms, and it can also be bought finished with a ruffle only at one side.

Moorish Cut Work

Cut work seems to grow in popularity each day and various kinds of this interesting embroidery are being shown. The newest is an adaptation from the Moorish, which is made with a gold cord, although in some of the modern designs, colored cords, tan, rose and blue, are substituted for the gold.

In making this kind of cut work, the cord is placed along the edge of the pattern and held in place by buttonhole stitches, taken far apart, so as to show the cord underneath. As the work proceeds, loops of the cord are formed. These are long and are interlaced with other loops to hold the motifs in place.

If made with gold cord, the work is particularly good for pillows, as a background of rose or blue silk will show the gold cord to good advantage. It is also lovely for collars. Designs from the old Moorish style are best for this purpose.

For more practical service, such as buffet scarfs or luncheon cloths, a colored cord and modern design would show to better advantage.

Cushion Matches Sport Hat

Not only must the summer girl have a muffler to match her sport coat; she must now have also a cushion to match her sport hat. The cushion will have a number of uses besides its unquestionable addition to the picturesqueness of the sport costume. It will fit into a canoe. It will be a splendid picnic companion when one must sit on cold rocks or damp grass. It will be most comfortable on the sand and propped against a tree trunk will keep ants and other crawling creatures from offending one's peace.

Very smart is a sport cushion of gray glazed kid and red and white striped pussy willow silk, matching a sport hat of the same materials. In both hat and cushion points of the glazed kid button with gilt buttons over a puffed band of striped silk.

The cushion has a glazed kid strap by means of which it may be carried on the arm.

A Running Story of Monday's News

Glimpses of the New Spring Fashions for Women

As They Come Gaily Into the Gallery of Fashion

What variations there are in the gowns and wraps, what a wonderful wealth of expression. Colors, fabrics, lines. Buttons, braid and stitching. Simplicity and a fascinating elaboration. All women may dress differently, and all in good taste.

There will be many groups of new dresses, suits, coats and motor wraps in the Salons of the Gallery on Monday. Some of them we saw as they came in.

A New Material

Fancy striped faille in a buttercup yellow, is used in a coat for the street, marked $45. It has a broad sailor collar which may be buttoned close to the neck. Pockets in front are low, about the hip line.

Second floor, Old Bldg.

Lanvin Inspired

this youthful-appearing suit of blue gabardine, which is only $45. Braid and buttons and loose straight lines. That is all; and yet—different.

Second floor, Old Building.

Just the Coat for Now

It is finer than chinchilla. It has a higher pile than duvetyn. It is light, yet cozily warm. Just the coat for wear on the street or in the car these March days. The big collar crushes softly and comfortably around the neck. Arm openings are big. Lining is a bread high-color striped taffeta—a smart contrast. This coat is priced $75.

Second floor, Old Building.

Tulle Supplants Furs

Tulle which forms a double saucer ruff, tulle which fluffs out from a flat amber beaded ribbon, tulle which is vertically crossed by narrow striped ribbons—these are the pretty new ruffs which women are wearing now in place of their furs. Prices, $3.75 to $10.50.

Neckwear Store, Main floor, Old Building.

New Handbags

They may be silk or suede—as your fancy dictates. But they must have an inset of tinseled brocade or the lower part of silk in the brilliant Russian colorings, if you pride yourself in having the latest and prettiest.

Main floor, Old Building.

The Return of Alpaca

Sponsored by Callot, Cheruit, Doeuillet and Berthe Hermance, alpaca quaint and prim has returned to fashion.

So expect to see some of the smartest coats, suits and gowns of this old-fashioned material.

Women who wish to be first to approve of this new-old fashion, so surely coming, will find a very fine assortment of mohairs, alpacas, brilliantines and sicilians in the Dress Fabrics Salons.

First floor, Old Building.

Cerise Neckwear

Paris started it, and New York is quickly taking up this pretty fad.

A guimpe, collar and cuff set or vestee of cerise batiste will give a dark costume the necessary brilliant note.

Main floor, Old Building.

Tinseled Stockings

Are yours tinseled? They should be. For the newest stockings are fine soft silk with gold or silver embroidered net set in over the instep. Gold with gold, or black with silver.

Main floor, Old Building.

Young Women's Suits Unusual at $23.75 and $25

One an adaptation of a Lanvin model with three rows of buttons down the front of the coat and a rolling white pique over collar. The other taffeta banded with serge.

Both are lined with peau de cygne and are remarkably good for $23.75 and $25. Sizes 14 to 20 years.

Second floor, Old Bldg.

The New Madras Curtains are Here

36 plain designs, white and ecru.

12 pretty patterns in pink, gold or blue, on ecru grounds.

$1.25 to $6.75 pair.

From the same mills in Scotland where our madras curtains and curtainings have been made for years. Each year we look at the world's offerings, and each year come to the same manufacturer.

Third Gallery, New Building.

Clean-Up Week

Will Be Here—Before You Know It

Look about your home, see if it is properly equipped, if it is absolutely sanitary, according to the sanitariest sanitation—one cannot be too particular about such matters.

Have you an old-fashioned large kitchen table that occupies too much space? If so, buy an oblong one or one with drop-leaf shelves. It will only occupy half the room, all the time, and when a larger table is needed, simply lift the shelf. Round or square drop-leaf kitchen tables, 3 ft., $4; 3½ ft., $5; 4 ft., $6.

In the March sale we have full width ironing boards; some plain, some covered with felt.

| | Plain | Felt-covered |
|---|---|---|
| 3 feet..... | 40c each | 60c each |
| 3½ feet..... | 45c each | 70c each |
| 4 feet..... | 55c each | 85c each |
| 4½ feet..... | 65c each | $1.00 each |
| 5 feet..... | 75c each | $1.15 each |
| 5½ feet..... | 85c each | $1.35 each |
| 6 feet..... | $1.00 each | $1.45 each |

The Wondrous Wise Woman will delight in the smooth hard wood—the "Wooden Wares" in this sale. She will see—

White knife boxes, 25c, white wood pastry boards with dovetail ends—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 12 x 14, 25c | 15 x 22, 35c | 19 x 28, 55c |
| 14 x 20, 30c | 18 x 24, 45c | 20 x 30, 65c |

Step ladder chairs, $2.40 and $3.85, will appeal to her. She will see library steps in ash, varnished, 28 inches high, top 10 x 15 inches, $2.50.

Subway floor, New Building.

10,000 Pieces Fancy Imported China at Half

Extraordinary good fortune in the March Sale for Monday—an opportunity that will not occur again for years.

Plates, cups and saucers, ramikins, teapots, sugar and cream sets, cake dishes, chop dishes, salad dishes—

5c to 40c—were 10c to 80c

Comprising certain groups and patterns that because of war conditions we cannot re-order and make complete—so out they go at half price.

Special Dinner Sets

We are closing out two open-stock dinnerware patterns in French china—12 complete dinner sets in two fine border designs:

Sets which have always sold for $67.50—
Monday $50

Sets which have always sold for $57.50—
Monday $40

Also a number of odd pieces which will be put on a special table at a fourth below regular prices. First come, first served!

Second Gallery, New Building.

Sets of Well-Known Authors' Works---Sale

Considering the rise in the price of paper and binding these sets are marked notably low.

In many instances there are but two or three of a set so it is impossible to mention them all here.

Very special are a number of sets in morocco binding offered at about the cost of the binding.

P. H. S. QUINTETS LOSE AT NEWARK

McDowell Only First String Man Able to Score on St. Benedict's.

SCORES 50-29; 46-25

Defeat of Second Team First One Suffered by the Scrubs—Dunham and Coudray Used on Seconds—Home Guards Stick.

Both the first and second teams of the Plainfield High School fell before the onslaught of the St. Benedict's Prep School forces at Newark yesterday afternoon, the first team taking a 50 to 29 defeat and the second string men being trimmed 40 to 25. It was the first defeat that the second team had submitted to this year, but with one verdict from earlier in the season the P. H. S. basketeers went to pieces on the Newarkers' court and played the worst game of the season.

The home five early obtained a lead in the first team game, and never relinquished it, although the Red and Blue players tried hard in the second period to even matters and forced the Saints into a terrific pace to keep at the top. They outscored the homesters in that period, but the lead of the first half was too great to be overcome.

McDowell was the one real shining light on the locals, and if anything, was the best man on the floor. With the exception of a little help from Dunham upon his entrance into the game in the second half, "Mac" did all of the scoring and was all over the floor. The Newark schoolboys tried in vain to stop him, but came far from doing it. Nearly everyone on the Newark squad scored at least once, with Boyle leading the pack.

The absence of McDowell from the second team lineup, where he has been playing all season, was felt keenly by the P. H. S. boys and they could not seem to get going until Newark had amassed a considerable lead. O'Toole and Daley, the two Saints' forwards, were responsible for the majority of the damage done. Although he shot but one goal, Noonan added quite a few points with his foul shooting. Dunham and Coudray did some good work, but guards hanging like leeches prevented their getting away very often for a good shot.

ENTWHISTLE, EX-BRUNSWICK PRO, GOES TO SYRACUSE CLUB

William Entwhistle, former professional at the New Brunswick Country Club, has taken a similar position with the Bellevue Country Club at Syracuse. He will take up his new duties in April, when he returns from the South, where he is playing at present. In a recent tourney at Rockledge, Fla., Entwhistle won, after an extra-hole match with Jack Jolly, of Newark. Both men went around in 75, William Gourley, of the Suburban Club of Elizabeth, having 77.

INTERCITY HOCKEY LEAGUE.

The International Skating Union of American, affiliated with the Amateur Athletic Union, will hold its annual meeting and election of officers this afternoon in New York. Delegates from many of the largest cities of the United States and Canada will be present, and an effort made to form major hockey leagues similar to the major baseball leagues.

Schedule.

Tuesday night—Jersey City at New Brunswick.

Elizabeth Elks' Junior League pinners captured two games at Jersey City last night in a series of high-class bowling. The Betsytowners shot 913, 944 and 1002 for an average of 953. Henry Gathman rolled 258 in the third game, and had a three-game average of 217.2.

Jersey City averaged 942. The visitors took the first game by 25 pins, 913 to 888. Scores went up to 961 and 944, with Jersey City on the long end, in the second game, and soared still higher in the third, when the champions went two points over the thousand mark.

Doc Epstein rolled with the Elizabeths. McCaffrey hit 214 and 200, and Van Bergen 216. Tommy Corydon broke away from business long enough to roll two games for the Skeeters, and the former captain of the Seniors shot 219 and 218. Hisor put up 210, and Caldwell 234.

GAMES FOR P. H. S. FIVE.

Plainfield High School's cohorts will have plenty of rest next week, as there are but two basketball games scheduled. On Wednesday, the boys' team will travel to Elizabeth to play Battin High School, and on Friday night, the return game with Westfield High School will be played at that place. The girls have no games scheduled as yet for the coming week.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL.

College basketball games played last night resulted as follows: Princeton, 24; Yale, 19; Cornell, 44; Columbia, 13.

BRUNSWICK SENIORS WIN TWO AT NEWARK

Take Odd by Four Pins, 960 to 956—McCormick Has Average of 211.1.

New Brunswick won the odd at Newark by four pins last night, 960 to 956. The champs took the first by 22 sticks, 910 to 888, but the homesters went up to 981 in the second, winning easily.

Greenewald was unable to bowl on account of blood poisoning in a finger, and Harding, of the Junior League team, took his place. Charley McCormick was the star of the evening, with counts of 225, 205 and 204 for an average of 211.1.

DREW TO RUN IN NEWARK.

Howard P. Drew, the world's champion sprinter and admittedly the best short distance man ever developed in America, will appear at the Central High School meet in Newark next Wednesday. The coming of Drew rounds out one of th strongest squads of entrants ever made in a Newark meet. The entry of Dave Caldwell, of the Boston A. A., is also assured. Drew will run in the 70-yard dash handicap.

NEW YORK SCRIBES CONFUSING MARTIN OF THE GIANTS' SQUAD WITH OUR OWN JACK

The first inkling that anyone was confusing Bill Martin, the youngster on the Giants' squad, with Jack Martin, the Plainfield infielder, comes in a despatch from Sid Mercer, who is at the New York club's camp in Marlin, Tex.

Writing in yesterday's Globe, Mercer says:

"A strange case of mixed identity has just been straightened out here by William Martin, one of McGraw's young men who is at present engaged in the business of infielding for the Giants. He explains the mystery of how Jack Martin, formerly of the Yankees, is supposed to be down here trying for a job, while the St. Paul carries him on the reserve list. The answer is easy once you know it. Jack Martin is still in St. Paul, while the Jack Martin down here is not Jack Martin at all, but Bill Martin.

"It came to be an accepted fact last winter that the Jack Martin who played with the Boston Braves last season was the same athlete who pastimed with the Yanks. Bill Martin wishes it distinctly understood that he was a student in Georgetown University when Jack was a big leaguer. This is Bill's third season as a professional, and if he hadn't broken a leg last spring he might now be one of Stallings's regulars.

"Bill Martin is not old enough to vote yet, but he has applied valuable experience to natural ability, and is in a fair way to land a job as one of McGraw's extra infielders. The young man has a great pair of hands that follow the ball instinctively, and he seldom perpetrates a fumbel. In fact, McGraw remarked yesterday that Martin is one of the surest fielders the club has picked up since Artie Fletcher was lifted from the Texas League several years ago.

"It is a question of hitting with Martin, and he hopes that his long-deferred opportunity is at hand. For two seasons he sat on the bench with Stallings and hardly knew what it was to swing a bat.

"So far there appears to be no serious fault with Martin's batting. He stands up well and has a choppy swing that brings good results.

"At bat and on the field Martin is a ringer for Jimmy Williams when that athlete was in his prime. Like Williams, he is short and sturdy, and has Jimmy's old habit of hanging his cap in one ear.

"'I joined the Braves a year ago last fall,' says Martin, 'and was with them when they were the world's champions, though only a few people knew it. Last spring I was just getting started in spring training at Macon when I broke my leg. That accident gave me a serious setback.

"'I rejoined the team in July, but had to favor my leg. Had I been on the job when Johnny Evers sprained his leg just after the season started I believe I would have made good. You remember that Stallings was so hard up for infielders then that he had to take Dick Fitzpatrick from the Toronto club and play him at second base. There were other times when Red Smith went bad, and I might have had a chance to play third. I went to the Braves as a shortstop, but have had some experience at third and second.

"'Stallings always treated me well, but I had some trouble with Gaffney later in the season and the club asked for waivers on me. Three clubs claimed me, and last fall I met McGraw in New York and he said he would give me a job. It was shortly after that when the Boston club sold my release to New York.'"

Monday night—Paterson at Newark.

Two Elks' Senior League games were run off last night, Hoboken cleaning up here, and New Brunswick winning two games at Newark.

Hoboken averaged 940 on the local alleys, putting a 1014 tally in the third game. Walter Vail rolled 248 for Plainfield in this game, the locals totaling 980.

Hoboken led all the way in the first game, being 133 pins ahead in the fifth frame. Plainfield made a good finish, every man striking out in the ninth and having a clean frame in the tenth, and cutting the visitors' lead down to 59 pins. The final score was 912 to 853.

Plainfield led in the second game for five frames, being 34 pins to the good in the fifth, but the homesters broke in the sixth and seventh.

Hoboken was ahead of the thousand mark all the way in the last game. Miller started with five strikes, and finished with a count of 224. Steinbruck started with two strikes and ended with a double, his score being 223. Vail wound up with four wallops for a mark of 248. The Plainfield line-up was changed in this game, Kiely leading off and Vail going in at anchor.

Plainfield is now in a triple tie with Jersey City and Rutherford for seventh place.

CHURCH RETAINS TITLE.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 5.—George Meyers Church, of Tenafly, yesterday won for the third time the tennis championship of Florida. He received from the Palm Beach Tennis Club the silver bowl offered in 1910 by Mrs. Henry M. Flagler to the one winning the State championship three successive times. Church defeated Irving White, of Boston, 2—6, 8—6, 6—4.

BASEBALL NOTES

John Dots Miller, of the Cardinals, left yesterday for the St. Louis training camp. Gus Getz, of the Superbas, and Martie Kavanagh, of the Tigers, will hike southward next week.

President Frank J. Navin, of the Detroit Tigers, is authority for the statement that George Kaiserling has not signed with the Tigers. Kaiserling will probably be seen in a Providence uniform.

Manager Wilbert Robinson, of the Dodgers, believes he will find at least two stars among the many rookies training at Daytona.

The Washington Senators will have to do most of their training indoors during the next week. Rain is the cause of it all.

The Boston Braves departed yesterday from New York for Haddock, Ga., where they will train on Manager Stalling's plantation.

The Phillies are now en route for their training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., having sailed from New Yorfl.

Forty-seven Yankees are trying for places on the team. Baseball law allows each club twenty-five.

Manager Lee Fohl, of the Indians, yesterday discarded the routine warming-up workouts and lined up the regulars against the Papooses for a regular game. Mayor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, arrived yesterday to witness the first contest.

Eddie Grant, of the Giants, has retired from baseball and will devote his time to his law practice in Boston.

Charles H. Wagner, formerly shortstop of the Boston Red Sox, has signed a contract to manage the Hartford team of the New England league.

Hal Chase has an offer to play first base and manage the Warren, Pa., club in the Interstate league at a salary of $5,000 a season. Hal has a contract calling for $8,000 a year, which has two more years to run, and Harry F. Sinclair is responsible for it.

Byron Houck, with the Brooklyn Feds last year, has been signed by the Portland Coast league team.

Manager Huggins, of the Cardinals, intends to send Cozy Dolan to the St. Paul Club of the Aemrican Association.

Pitcher Louis Schettler and Outfielder Tom Miller have been signed to play with the Terre Haute Central League Club this season.

Six of the managers in the big leagues received their early baseball training under Charles Comiskey and Ned Hanlon. Each turned out three. John McGraw of New York, Hughey Jennings of Detroit and Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers are of the Hanlon school of baseball. Fielder Jones of the St. Louis Browns, Clark Griffith of Washington and Jimmy Callahan of Pittsburgh, received their schooling from Comiskey, the old Roman.

PARK CLUB WINNERS.

In the weekly ten-pin bowling on the Park Club alleys last E. M. Daniel won three points, Wardner Carpenter two and C. D. Gilman one.

FRANK HAND'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

While Frank Hand's decision to stick to his present position, where he is sure of steady, remunerative employment twelve months of the year, was arrived at after long consideration, his many friends among the ranks of local fandom will be sorry that the Plains receiver will not join Connie Mack's forces. Hand has deliberated on the subject for several weeks, and has reached the opinion held by nearly everyone acquainted with the situation, that this season will be harder on the ball player in general, and on the youngster in particular, than any year since before the advent of the Federals. Although there is undoubtedly a place in organized ball for a player as good as Hand, success is not anywhere near as certain at the present time, much less in the future, and Nibs is taking into consideration those days when he will have passed the age when diamond performers start to go back. Working at his regular line five and a half days a week, and playing independent ball week-ends may, after all, be the program that will serve Hand's interests the best.

IMPORTANT BOWLING TILTS HERE NEXT WEEK.

Two bowling championships will be decided in this city next week, and both blue ribbon events will furnish all the features found at any titular struggle. On Wednesday night, members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles from all over the State bowling circuit will gather here, headed by their bands, to see the Newark and Elizabeth teams roll off their first-place tie. Plainfield is fortunte in being awarded such an important series, and anyone who doubts that breathing space will be at a premium around 119 East Second street that night should just wait until 9 o'clock, and try to get in.

The second title at stake will be the city championship, between the Plainfield Eagles and the Imperials, of North Plainfield. These first place disputants will cross hooks in the Columbus Club, Friday evening. If the size of the crowds at the regular City League matches is any criterion, the turnout Friday night will be the biggest jam the Columbus Club alleys have ever accommodated.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE ATHENIANS.

If there is any basketball team in Plainfield that has improved by leaps and bounds in the last two or three seasons, it is the Athenian outfit. When the colored combination first appeared on the court, it was a crude machine, indeed, but experience gained in action, and coaching by Benny Rosenson, has produced a bunch of finished players who now have their minds set on no less an honor than the colored championship of the State. If Daniels, Greene, Vaughan and Company continue to improve at the rate they have come forward during the last two seasons, it will be only a matter of time when they will be as good as the best senior teams in other Jersey towns, and at the present writing, Plainfield has no quintet of that calibre.

George Taylor was one of the K. of C. League pinners who came in for prizes at the league reception in Newark, last night. Taylor's work this year is the one bright spot in the record of the Plainfield team. Averaging 180.22 for fifty-one games, including some on very hard alleys, is a performance that deserves a medal, and all that goes with it.

Jake Deinzer, Rutgers Prep star, dropped in twenty-four foul shots in a game against Pennington the other day. At last, there has been found a coach who has seen the importance of developing one good foul shooter. Foul shooting has been the greatest weakness of most local school fives.

Sousa, the band master, is an enthusiastic shooter.—News item.

Now, we wouldn't be surprised to hear that about Sousa's drummer; he spends so much time banging away at the traps.

BENNY KAUFF REFUSES TO OBEY COMMAND TO REPORT

Notwithstanding the many reports to the contrary, "Bennie" Kauff elected not to pay any attention to the orders to report for spring training and therefore was not on hand to travel with the Giants who left New York yesterday for the South. This oversight automatically costs Kauff $100, a fine stipulated in each contract to cover this offence.

Should Kauff continue to ignore the offers and orders of the Giants until after the opening of the season, April 12, he, according to the National League constitution, must be placed upon the ineligible list. This means that Kauff will be "blacklisted" as far as organized baseball is concerned. He is considered part and parcel of the New York Baseball Club and as such it will be impossible for him to dicker with any other organization under the national agreement.

This does not worry Kauff to any degree, according to his own statements. At his hotel last night he said that he had received orders to start for Marlin, but that he ignored these orders because he did not recognize the right of the Giants to issue any such commands. He insists that he is not signed to any contract, is not under any obligation to the Giants; that Harry F. Sinclair has no right to sell his services and that he is a free agent, because the Brookfeds held no contract over him after he had jumped to organized baseball for a few hours last June.

CHICAGO NEEDS CATCHER.

The Chicago National League team is seeking a new catcher, word having been received that Harvey Russell, reported purchased the other day, has signed with an Eastern club.

EUGENE M'CARTHY RETURNS 87 AND 89 AT BELLEAIR

Eugene K. McCarthy, former professional at the Plainfield Country Club and now attached to the Jacksonville links, had a medal of 176 yesterday in the first half of the Florida West Coast open championship over the No. 1 course of the Belleair Country Club. In the morning round, played in a downpour of rain, McCarthy returned an 89, and in the afternoon, when a gale of wind handicapped the golfers, Eugene went around in 89.

PLAINFIELD BASKETBALL GIRLS OFF TO HARTFORD

The Plainfield Five basketball girls left Plainfield on the 12:12 train this noon for Hartford, Conn., where they will line up against the Susquehanna girls of that city tonight. The latter team is the acknowledged champion of the New England States playing under the Collegiate code of rules. The local young women will return to Plainfield tomorrow night. Those who went on the trip are the Misses Helen Hummel, Helen Bryniarski, forwards; Mildred McAuliffe, center; Clara Smith, Theresa McCullough and Elsie Debele, guards.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The high standard set for the Sunday meetings conducted by the Boys' Division of the Young Men's Christian Association will be more than maintained in the meeting planned for tomorrow.

A stereopticon talk on "The Moral Teaching of Newspaper Cartoons" will be the main attraction. A song service in the dark, with the songs, some of them illustrated, thrown on the curtain, will be another feature, and orchestral music and solos will add to the pleasure of the afternoon. These meetings are limited to Y. M. C. A. members, nor to boys, but are open to all boys and young men. Some of the boys are getting the good habit of bringing their fathers with them.

The finest occasion the local Y. M. C. A. has ever conducted for its Employed Boys will be a big banquet and jollification to be held Monday evening. Clarence C. Robinson, international secretary for Wage Earning Boys, and Charles R. Scott, StState secretary for Boys' Work, will be guests at the supper, which is given under the auspices of the Employed Boys' Brotherhood. Every working boy in Plainfield and vicinity is invited regardless of whether he is a member of the association. With the program that provides not only a great feed, but a popular "songfest," games and a swim, those present will have the time of their lives.

A nominal charge brings this feast within the reach of all.

The boys are working hard for the coming Y. M. C. A. circus which is to be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium March 30 and 31. Tickets are on sale and can be secured from any of the association boys. Reserved seats will be placed on sale March 10 at the association office.

There will be many new features and from present indications everything points to a successful affair. Posters will be placed in conspicuous places showing the tricks that will be performed in this city when the Y. M. C. A. circus comes to town.

MUSICIANS WANTED FOR THE BEIDERWOLF CAMPAIGN

Arrangements are under way to organize an orchestra of at least seventy-five pieces to play at the Biederwolf revival services, and it is desired that all the musicians of our city and vicinity participate in this campaign by giving their servces n the orchestra, and the committee solicit co-operation. Those wishing to do so are requested to communicate with the committee, giving the name, address and kind of instrument played at the very earliest opportunity. It is planned that several rehearsals will be had with the choir. Notice will be given as to the place and date of such rehearsal. The orchestra committee is Arthur B. Cole, 31 Fairview avenue, 'phone 722-J; H. B. Henderson, 603 Spooner avenue.

J. T. M'MURRAY TO RETIRE AS CITY CLERK AFTER LONG SERVICE

RESIGNATION TO BE PRESENTED AT THE MARCH MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL THIS EVENING.

ALSO SEVERS HIS CONNECTIONS WITH POND'S

Becomes Manager for the International Arms and Fuse Company, of Bloomfield, Which Employs a Force of 6,000 Men—Was Long Recognized as Political Leader—Mayor Calkins' Words of Praise.

James T. MacMurray, who is serving his twenty-third year as city clerk of Plainfield, will present his resignation at the March meeting of the city council tonight. This action, the announcement of which comes as a great surprise, is necessitated by the fact that Mr. MacMurray has severed his connection with the Pond Machine Tool Works, where for many years he was the manager of the plant. Within the past week he has taken the position of manager for the International Arms and Fuse Company, which has a large plant at Bloomfield, and within a short time he and Mrs. MacMurray will remove to that place.

That Mr. MacMurray intended leaving the city had not been even hinted at, and when members of the city council, as well as others, learned of his plans today, it occasioneed considerable surprise. As the office is an important one in the city government, it is expected that the council will take steps immediately to appoint a successor to Mr. MacMurray. In the meantime, it is expected that George B. Wean, who has been the clerk's assistant, will act in that capacity.

Mr. MacMurray was first appointed clerk in 1894, during the administration of Mayor Alexander Gilbert, who served as the city's executive for six years, and he has been re-elected continuously every three years, under the administrations of Mayors Charles J. Fisk, George W Rockfellow, Olin L. Jenkins, James F. Buckle, George W. V. Moy, Percy H. Stewart and Leighton Calkins.

For a number of years Mr. MacMurray was the recognized political leader in the Republican party in this city and the success of the party ticket was in no small measure due to his hard work. His knowledge of city government and especially local conditions gave him a decided advantage and in more ways than one he has been a most valued city official.

Early in the present year when the question of re-electing Mr. MacMurray was before the Council, his term having expired, he gave the Council a surprise by resigning and at the same time George B. Wean also tendered his resignation, the trouble arising over the question of fixing the clerk's salary. After several conferences the matter was finally adjusted, the clerk being put on a flat salary, and all fees going to the city treasurer. Prior to that time the fees went to the clerk.

At the time John J. Carroll, the present chairman of the City Republican Committee, became a candidate for the clerkship, but in view of the adjustment of differences between Mr. MacMurray and the Council, Mr. Carroll's name was not voted upon in public.

During the many years that Mr. MacMurray has been associated with the Pond Machine Tool Works as works manager the success of the company's business here has been largely due to his efforts. There were times when a "shut-down" was threatened, but Mr. MacMurray was always able to secure sufficient contracts to keep the works running, although there were times when it was found necessary to operate with a reduced force. It is said that Mr. MacMurray's salary at the plant was $12,000. The International Arms and Fuse Company, with which he is now associated, employs a force of 6,000 men and his salary is reported to be a very substantial advance over that which he received here.

Mayor Leighton Calkins, in commenting today on the retirement of Mr. MacMurray as city clerk, said:

"Mr. MacMurrays resignation will leave a gap which we will find it very hard to fill. He is now in his twenty-third year of service and has a knowledge of city affairs, even in matters outside his own department, which no one else possesses. We shall find, until his successor becomes thoroughly familiar with our procedure and the law, that many questions and matters will have to be looked up constantly which he could answer and settle offhand, as a result of his long term of service and wide experience. Thus we shall pay the usual price for the loss of an exceptionally dependable official. It is just as easy to get accustomed to good service as to any other luxury; and we often do not fully appreciate a man until we try to get along without him.

"I am sure that all my predecessors in office and those of our citizens who have been in the Council during Mr. MacMurrays long term of service will know precisely how we feel about his retirement. While his loss will be felt generally, the Council will suffer most, because it has for years relied absolutely upon him for the preparation and due presentation of all business transacted; and nothing has ever gone by default while he has been in charge.

"Personally it is a pleasure for me to speak of his unfailing courtesy towards me since I have been associated with him in city affairs and of the many occasions when he has been of material aid to me in my own work. This has been the experience of all who have come in contact with him. If it is necessary for us to lose our city clerk in order to find out how valuable he has been to us, perhaps in no other way would he be able to find out how many good friends he has in Plainfield."

MRS. WM. M'CANN DIES IN HER SEVENTY-FIRST YEAR

Mrs. Jane McCann, wife of William McCann, died at her home, 903 East Front street, Saturday, following a brief illness. She was in her seventy-first year, and had been a resident of Plainfield nearly half that time. The home where she died is what is known as the "lodge house" on the John Taylor Johnston property, opposite Johnston avenue. Mrs. McCann had a wide acquaintance throughout the city and borough, and by all her friends was held in high esteem. Beside her husband she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Matthias Miller, of Westfield, and two sons, Harry McCann, of Newark, and James McCann, of New York.

The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow morning at 8:30, and and half hour later in St. Mary's church, where a high mass of requiem will be said. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

BOROUGH COURT CASE.

Anthony Carara, 29 years old, of 45 Pearl street, was fined $5 by Recorder Hand in the borough court this morning for being drunk and disorderly Saturday evening. Carara was arrested by Officer Keller on complaint of his sister, Mrs. Church, who alleged that he came into her home while drunk and started to fight with everybody in the house.

RECEIVE NEW MEMBERS.

The First Methodist Episcopapl church received sixteen members into the church at the service yesterday. Of this number two were from probation, nine on probation and five by letter.

Communion was observed yesterday morning at the Grace M. E. church and twenty new members were received into the church, sixteen of these being on probation and four by letter.

GREAT INTEREST AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH SERVICES

Yesterday was one of the greatest days in the history of Grace church. A large congregation attended the communion service in the morning, and a number of persons were received into the church membership. In the afternoon there was an attendance of 242 at the school. Rev. C. S. Gillespie preached on "The Church Militant" in the evening. The singing was under the direction of Robert Boyd. The male quartet assisting was composed of Messrs. Joseph O. Lear, Virgil P. Heath, Thomas Wallis and Peter Mauger. They sang "The Little Church in the Wildwood." A solo, "Nobody Like Jesus," was sung by Irving Manley

Warren chapel and Grace M. E. church will hold a union prayer meeting Wednesday night in Grace church. Reev. Mr. McKivey, pastor of Warren chapel, will lead the service. The large chorus choir will be under the direction of Mr. Wallis. Mrs. E. D. Young will be the soloist.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS BAZAAR GREAT SUCCESS

The Knights of Columbus bazaar was brought to a close Saturday night, and was the mast successful of any affair ever conducted by the organization. The attendance was the largest of the whole week. The country store made the biggest success financially, while the other booths were all well patronized. The total profit has not been ascertained as yet, but within a few days the receipts will be made known.

Much credit for the success of the affair is due William Schaefer, chairman of the entire bazaar committee, who conducted the fair in a most efficient manner.

LOCAL MAN HELD AFTER GIRL DIES

Automobile of Warren T. Newcomb Crashes Into Limousine on Brooklyn Road.

MISS HYLAND KILLED

Another Plainfielder was Passenger in Machine—Others in Accident Are Only Slightly Bruised and Cut.

Warren T. Newcomb, of Truell Inn, Plainfield, is being held under $5,000 bail by Coroner Healy, in the Bronx, New York, as a result of an automobile accident Saturday night, in which Miss Margaret Hyland, of Brooklyn, was killed. Miss Hyland had accompanied Mr. Newcomb, Miss Ellen V. Collier, of Weehawken, and Frank Gore, of Plainfield, on a dinner party. They were returning at an early hour Sunday morning, when the machine, with Newcomb driving, crashed into a big limousine owned by Miss Georgiana Iselin, of New Rochelle. Miss Hyland was instantly killed.

Mr. Newcomb has been living at Truell Inn for several months. He is an insurance adjustor, and is known here to only a small circle of friends. Mr. Gore refused to discuss the accident when called by a Press reporter.

Newcomb and Gore were cut and bruished slightly as was also Miss Collier. Miss Hyland was engaged to marry a man in Boston and the wedding was to have been in June, according to her mother, Mrs. Margaret Hyland.

Miss Hyland, who was twenty-six years old and bookkeeper for a large Manhattan corporation, telephoned to her mother Saturday afternoon she was going with an automobile party and would not be home until very late, perhaps Sunday morning. The party had been at Hunter Island Inn.

Miss Hyland was a graduate of Erasmus Hall High School and before the death of her father, who at one time was wealthy, she was prominent in the younger society of Brooklyn. She had known the young man to whom she was engaged to be married since their days at high school. He became engaged only about a month ago. Mrs. Hyland would not reveal the name of her fiance.

FAKER SOLICITS IN NAME OF COMPANY K

Capt. Peterson Learns of Local People Who Give Money to Crook.

That some "faker" is at present active in New York city soliciting funds for Company K, of Plainfield, was revealed to Capt. Charles A. Peterson, of Plainfield, when he received a check last week. The donation was from a local man. He explained that he was glad to give to so worthy a cause as gymnasium improvements for the local military organization. Capt. Peterson was astonished and immediately called upon the giver of the check. He learned that an elderly man representing himself as a solicitor for Company K had been working in New York for some time. He asked for contributions to a fund to enlarge and improve the gymnasium here. He asked that he be given the funds and in cases where this was not done askee that checks be made payable to "Capt. John P. Pierce." The "fake" solicitor showed this Plainfielder a long list of subscriptions received, ranging from $10 to $100.

"We have authorized no one to solicit funds for any purpose," said Capt. Peterson this morning. "We have no gymnasium and have never asked the people for funds for any purpose. This man is a crook and I would appreciate assistance in catching him."

THE ARMY OF THE REFORMED REPUBLIC TO BE GIVEN

"The Army of the Reformed Republic," a one-act musical comedy, will be presented by the Parent-Teacher association of North Plainfield in Columbus Hall this evening. Among those who will take part are Dorothy Lee, Emily Pleydell, Gladys Sullivan, Mildred Smith, Adelaide Hull, Marion Aver, Marion Chandler, Marjorie Burtis, Muriel Dunham, Adelaide Ricketts, Agnes Griffiths, Margaret Ewart, Grace Townley, Helen Yates, Helen Thompson, Dorothy Martin, Marion Blair, Lillian Spencer, Bertha Keller, Madeline Blair, Emily Pilger, Margaret Smith and Marguerite Barkelew.

Following the play there will be dancing, the music for which will be under the direction of Fredirick Smith. The affair is given for the purpose of raising money to purchase a Victrola for the North Plainfield schools.

GARDEN CLUB MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Garden Club will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. James DeGraff, of Central avenue.

—The Borough Board of Health meets this evening.

MOTHER AND SON ARE DRUNK TOGETHER

She Bought Whisky for Boy—Both Are to Be Given Treatment.

Mrs. Mary and Joseph Stevens, mother and son, were arraigned in police court this morning on charges of being helplessly drunk. They were arrested by Lieutenant Higgins Saturday night on Front street, after they had tried to vain for more than an hour to get home, and finally sat down on a church steps to sleep. Stevens has been repeatedly in court on a charge of drunkenness, and was put on the black list some time ago. When Judge De Meza asked him this morning where he got his whiskey Saturday night, he replied, "My mother bought it for me. The woman did not deny this, but pitifully bemoaned her responsibility for the drunkenness of her son.

Judge De Meza sentenced the son to ninety days in the county jail, saying that he had tried for years to reform him by kindness, and that he believed a jail sentence would result in alcohol being completely driven out of the system. The mother was remanded until tomorrow, and meantime Chief Kiely will make an effort to have her received in some institution that will care for her and combat her thirst for whisky.

PROTEST AGAINST PREPAREDNESS PLAN

S. S. Swackhamer and J. Hibberd Taylor Address Friends.

A large audience gathered at the Friends' meeting house yesterday afternoon to hear addresses on "Limitation of Armaments." S. S. Swackhamer delivered an eloquent talk against militarism and "peparedness." He said in part: "A greater responsibility rests on every man and woman now than ever before. Ideas rule in human affairs. The thought and action of a few may determine the destiny of the United States for years to come. The symbol of this great republic is the soul. Two years ago when the great nations of Europe were all piling up armaments, Sir Edward Grey said, 'If this thing keeps on we shall have international war.' He tried to call a halt. Now Europe sees they have made a mistake. Preparation is not in the shield and fort, but in the practice of justice and humanity. There is no such thing as international law—for war abrogates all law. Principles of morality are suspended. I would that every such question be submitted to the man who carries the busket. If only the United States had eighteen months ago placed an embargo on all munitions for Europe hte war would have stopped long ago."

J. Hibberd Taylor, speaking from the Quaker viewpoint, soid in part: "The Quaker believes that the killing of human beings is wrong. Hysteria is rampant over the country. What has coused it? Profits from munitions. Preparedness is a political asset. The warlike spirit caused by the presence in Washington of great numbers of retired army and navy men. Why was not mediation of value in this war? Because Europe wanted to use her preparedness. We want to get the idea we are not going to have war, and make for conditions that do not breed war."

COMPLETES 31 YEARS AS A SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL

Somerville, March 6.—On March 25 nevt George West, supervising principal of public schools in Bridgewater township, will have rounded out thirty-one years in the Raritan School. Then eighteen years old, Mr. West began teaching school at New Center on December 10, 1866. After remaining there for one winter, he accepted a position at Sunnyside, Three Corners and Three Bridges, and also taught for four years in Hunterdon county.

Later, he went to Washington Valley and remained there two years; then to Bound Brook for twelve years, after which he went to Raritan. On March 25, 1873, Mr. West began teaching graded schools. He has been supervising principal since formation of township school districts were established.

He has always been deeply interested in social and civic work, and has served as secretary to the board of trustees of the Somerset Hospital since 1902.

MISS FREULER ENTERTAINS.

Miss Martha Freuler, of Bound Brook, gave a birthday party at her home Saturday evening in honor of the nineteenth anniversary of her birthday. Miss Freuler received a number of gifts. During the evening, Ned Partridge and Miss Mary Lotz sang pleasing solos. Refreshments were served. There were about fifty guests present from Plainfield, Somerville, Dunellen, Bound Brook and Gateville

CONSTABLE WAS ATTACKED TWICE

Had Strenuous Day Taking Furniture Away From Local Householders.

WILSON USED AN AXE

Negro Woman Had Pistol With "Green" Barrel and Ran Officer Away, But Turned Out to Be Only a House Slpper.

Two Plainfielders, one a man and the other a woman, were arraigned in police court this morning on charges of assault with deadly weapons upon the person of George J. Harrison, a constable who came from Elizabeth, Saturday, to replevin furniture from a number of homes here on action of installment houses.

Harry Wilson, of 27 Johanna place, attacked the constable with an axe in defense of his furniture, and Rosie Cook, colored, of East Third street, used what the constable and his aides thought was a gun, but which turned out to be a green felt slipper. Both defendants were released on suspended sentences and Judge De Meza admitted that Wilson, at least, had been "oppressed to a degree" by the installment house, although this did not excuse his resistance of a duly authorized officer of the law.

Rosie Cook, big, black and brave, put not only the officer, but his two husky helpers, to rout when they came to her house for a stove, which Rosie admitted was "not exactly quite all paid for." There was no fire in the stove when the replevin servers called, but Rosie made it so hot for them that they did not want to carry it off. She had wind of their coming, evidently, for the limb of the law almost wore himself down to a twig knocking on the front door without enticing Rosie to answer. He then sought to gain admittance by the aid of a number of keys he carried, but none would fit and he scouted around to find an open window. One in the rear was unlocked and the brave constable raised it to force an entrance. No sooner than he stuck his head in the window than he stuck it back out again, for in front of him there loomed the bulky Rosie.

"Get out of my house," she ordered.

"What did you do then?" Judge De Meza asked the driver of the truck this morning.

"I got," was the prompt reply. The constable also "got." He reported at police hearquarters immediately and wanted a policeman to accompany him. Chief Kiely asked him why he wanted a policeman and he said he was afraid the woman might shoot him.

"She might shoot a policeman, too," replied the chief, "and I would rather she'd shoot you than a policeman. If you make out a complaint against her, I will send a man to arrest her, but unless you do I am not going to order a man to invade her home." Constable Harrison made out the complaint and Patrolman Martin Welsh served it. He found Rosie a model of courtesy and respect toward the law.

Constable Harrison was sure Rosie had a pistol and so was the truck driver. The other man wasn't so certain. He didn't have time to take a good look. "It had a green barrel," the officer said.

"I wasn't goin' to shoot him," Rosie explained smiling. "There never was a pistol in my house. I never had my hands on a gun in all my life. This is all I had," and from the commodious folds of her dress she pulled a harmless looking slipper—green with a big green bow. "He thought that was a gun," and Rosie laughed.

Judge De Meza told Rosie he believed her story about the slipper, but that she had not dealt fairly with the law in locking herself in the house and denying converse with a legally armed officer. However, he let her off with a suspended sentence.

In the case against Wilson, Constable Harrison asked that the defendant be dealt with leniently by the judge. He said that Wilson was evidently high strung and lost his temper at the thought of his furniture being carried off. Wilson had paid $87.50 on the furniture and only woes $45. He lost his job recently and has been unable to make the payments. Wilson has a wife and four children and the furniture for which the replevin warrant called included everything in his house. The constable and Wilson shook hands after the case was dismissed and the officer promised to see that Wilson's furniture was given back to him.

BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

Edgar Parsons and Elmer Mantz, charged with attempted burglary, were given a hearing in police court this morning, and each held to await the action of the grand jury under a bond of $500. They were arrested on evidence worked up by Lieutenant Higgins after an attempted robbery of the office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, in the Woodhull-Martin building last week. They will be sent to Elizabeth to await trial there.

WILL ESTABLISH SEPARATE CHURCH

Everything in Readiness to Set Warren Chapel Apart as Independent Body.

TERMS OF AGREEMENT

Congregational Meeting to Be Held at Crescent Avenue on March 16 When Final Action Will Be Discussed and Approved.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, on Thursday, March 16, an agreement looking to the establishment of Warren chapel as an independent church, will be submitted for discussion and approval. The matter has been under consideration for some time by the session and trustees of the church and chapel, and a tentative form of agreement has been prepared. This will be presented at the meeting on March 16.

For the past four years the chapel has been maintained to some extent by the Crescent Avenue church. The average yearly expense has been $3,202 for its work, of which sum the chapel has contributed annually $1,440, and the church $1,760.

It is now deemed to the interests of both the chapel and the church that the former become an independent body. According to te proposed agreement, the church is to turn over to the chapel the church property it now occupies, and the members of te chapel are pay all expenses of the work to be carried on by it as a church, including repairs of the property and its maintenance.

It is further set forth in the agreement that the church shall pay to the chapel the following sums, beginning April, 1916, to be applied to current expeness: — 1916, $1,5560; 1917, $1,460; 1918, $1,360; 1919, $1,1260; 1920, $1,160; 1921, $1,060; 1922, $960; 1923, $860; 1924, $760; 1925, $660; 1926, $560; 1927, $460; 1928, $360.

If at the expiration of the thirteenth year it is shown that the chapel is then able to carry on its work as an independent church, and upon request, the property shall be deeded to the chapel by the Crescent venue church. The church further agrees to satisfy a mortgage of $5,500 now on the property. On the transfer of the premises at the end of the thirteen-year period, the church agrees to contribute to the expenses of the chapel the sum of $360 for th first year, $260 for the second year and $160 for the third year, when all further payments are to cease.

For some time the members of Warren chapel have felt their ability to continue as an indeepndent church, under the guidance of Rev. J. O. McKelvey, its pastor. They have been doing excellent work for several years, and the chapel has continued to grow in membership and influence. Several conferences have been held by the officers of both the church and chapel, and everything now seems to be in shape to take the formal action making the chapel an independent church body.

"THE ROMANCE OF MAN" TO BE SUBPECT OF LECTURE

B. L. Baumgardt will appear at the Plainfield High School, Thursday night, under the auspices of the Board of Education free lecture bureau. This lecture will afford a most unusual opportunity for the person who delights in obtaining a birdseye view of the development of the human race, described as only a man of Mr. Baumgardt's ability and attainments can describe it. A resume down the course of human progress, from early Egypt to the present day, touching spots in philosophy, art, science and letters.

His lecture will be of incalculable benefit to the student who wants a guide for general reading. tl takes one from ancient Alexandria to Athens, Florence, through the periods of ascendancy of Egyptians, Greeks, Moors, and the northern peoples; bringing out a degree of development for which each stage in history was marked—its men, their work, and their influence upon the world.

The opportunity presented in this lecture for an evening of pleasant and profitable enjoyment is one that should not be missed by the people of Plainfield. The auditorium will be opened at 7:30 and all seats are free.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice the drinking of phosphated hot water before breakfast, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons in the bowels which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but it is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.—Adv.

AN ORDINANCE FOR THE WIDENING AND IMPROVEMENT OF SOMERSET STREET FROM THE CENTER OF JACKSON AVENUE NORTHWESTERLY TO THE CENTER OF JOHNSTON'S DRIVE.

The Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Somerset street in said Borough from the center of Jackson avenue northwesterly to the center of Johnston's drive, be and the same is hereby ordered widened and improved as hereinafter specified, that is to say:

Widened (as shown by the map prepared under the direction of the Council, accompanying this ordinance when introduced, and showing the location and character of the improvement, the lands and real estate to be taken therefor, and the names as far as can be ascertained, of the owners of such lands and real estate, which said map is entitled: "Map showing proposed improvement of Somerset street from Jackson avenue northwesterly to Johnston's drive and Borough line, Borough of North Plainfield, N. J., 1916," made by H. C. VanEmburgh, Borough Engineer, so that the side lines thereof shall be sixty (60) feet apart instead of fifty (50) feet, as at present; such widening to be accomplished by setting back said side lines on each side five feet from the present location thereof from the center line of Jackson avenue to the center line of Johnston's drive; and so that said side lines shall be everywhere distant at right angles thirty feet from the center line of said section of said street beginning at a point at the intersection of the center lines of Jackson avenue and Somerset street said point being distant in a magnetic course of north 70 degrees 30 minutes east 138.41 feet from the easterly corner of the Methodist Episcopal church situated on Park place; thence north 39 degrees 54 minutes west 1647.57 feet to the center line of Mountain avenue; thence north 39 degrees 43 minutes west 1105.85 feet to the line between lands of L. M. Codington and the Union County Investment Co.; thence north 39 degrees 53 minutes west 714.30 feet to the center line of Jenning's lane; thence north 38 degrees 29 minutes west 929.90 feet to the center line of Johnston's drive.

And by moving back from the center and re-establishing the curbs on said section of Somerset street so that said curb lines shall be located twenty feet from said center line on each side of the street from Jackson avenue to Johnston's drive.

Also by removal or moving back of all fences, buildings, or parts of buildings, necessary to be removed back in order to so widen said street; the removal and resetting of all curbing, the removal and relaying of all sidewalks, the removal of all trees, poles, blocks, or other articles or things of whatsoever character, and the doing of all work whatsoever necessary to be removed or done for the proper accomplishment of such widening. And by grading, guttering, macadamizing to a depth of eight inches with crushed stone from center to curb on both sides of said section of said street so widened, and the placing thereof of first-class condition both as to roadways, gutters, curbs, sidewalks and in all other respects.

Approved March 3, 1916.

N. Y. CARRIERS TO BE HERE IN MAY

More Than 1,500 Will Attend Local Convention, is Promise.

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

J. W. A. Bauersacks Wins Over Meeting—Pledges City to Entertain Big Delegation—A Check From California.

The New York Association of Letter Carriers yesterday officially accepted the invitation to come to Plainfield on May 30 and promised to send between 1,500 and 2,000 delegates here in uniform. In addition, there will be the New York Carrier band of from seventy to eighty pieces and the drum, fife and bugle corps.

J. W. A. Bauersacks was at the head of the local committee that extended the invitation. With him were George Keene, John Hines and A. B. Dunham. They appeared before the regular meeting of the New York association yesterday afternoon. Plainfielders found little enthusiasm over the New Jersey state convention to be held here May 30 when they arrived at the meeting hall, because it had been heard there that this city would not take care of its visitors on that day; but Mr. Bauersacks assured them that Plainfield people were a generous folk, hospitable and entertaining, and promised them a real treat if they would but visit here. He won them at once. National President Thorpe also spoke on behalf of Plainfield, as did an officer of the New York Association and the editor of the Hudson County Despatch. The Jersey editor assured New York carriers that he would be in Plainfield on May 30, with his wife, and that all who came would be well entertained. When a vote was taken on the invitation, much enthusiasm was shown and the 1,000 members present arose and unanimously voted their acceptance.

"It is up to Plainfield people to make good now," said Mr. Bauersacks this morning. "We have pledged the city to entertain from 1,500 to 2,000 men who will come from New York, in addition to delegates and visitors from all parts of New Jersey; and after having secured their promises to come, local people must prepare to entertain them. It will be a test of Plainfield hospitality and progressiveness, but I am confident, as is every other man interested, that this city will come out with colors flying."

Assurances that New York carriers are coming means that the local committee must redouble its efforts for the reception of visitors on May 30, according to one of the workers. Contributions to the fund necessary for the proper entertainment of these guests are not coming in as fast as they should, this man said, and local merchants are urged to send in checks at once. This member of the committee called attention to a contribution received from a former resident now in California. He sent a check, saying that while he was away out on the Pacific coast, he wanted to see his home city make a good showing and knew that money was needed. In the same mail there came a letter from a resident here who said he would be out of the city on May 30, and therefore could not be expected to contribute to the fund.

AUTOMOBILE RUNS DOWN RIG AT SCOTCH PLAINS

As the result of a collision between a horse and wagon in charge of C. H. Sutterline, of Scotch Plains, and an automobile, the authorities of that place are looking for the owner of the machine which got away. Sutterline was driving toward Scotch Plains and as he neared Watson road was run down by the automobile, which he claims tried to pass on the wrong side of the road.

Sutterline landed in one gutter and his rig in the other. The horse broke away from the wagon and ran away. Sutterline escaped with cuts and bruises.

ARRESTED FOR STIRRING UP WORKMEN OF PLUCKEMIN

Somerville, March 6.—Andrew Martin, Adam Parog, James Bodde, Emery Bodner are all in the county jail here on a charge of disorderly conduct. They were arrested by County Detective George Totten at Pluckemin on Saturday. The manager of the Superior Thread and yarn Works, where the men have been employed, complained that they were trying to stor up trouble among workmen.

G. O. P. MEETING TONIGHT.

At tonight's meeting of the North Plainfield Republican Club the affairs of the recent banquet to the former mayors of the borough will be cleared up.

INTEREST AROUSED IN BABY WELFARE

Local Committee Makes a Strong Appeal to Fathers of Plainfield.

An attractive program has been arranged for the observance of "Baby Week," March 4-11, including various exhibits, a display of appropriate pictures in the local theatres and distribution of literature bearing on the subject. The committee in charge announces that during 1915 there were 609 births registered at the Plainfield Board of Health office and 60 deaths of babies under one year registered by the board. In other words, Plainfield loses 101 babies out of every 1,000 born. The following appeal is addressed to the fathers of Plainfield:

"Tradition has, in the past, left all the care of the baby to the mother. The conditions of our present day society require that, in addition to providing food, shelter, and other material things, the father must share with the mother the responsibility for the health of his baby. The following are some of the things that he should understand and do:

"He should understand the importance of prospecetive mothers having care and advice at as early a period as possible so as to insure the health of the mother and protect the coming baby.

"He should see that the mother has adequate care during and after the birth of the baby, so that the mother's health may be continued or restored as quickly as possible, both for her own sake and that she may be able to give proper care to the baby.

"We should know the importance of the mother nursing her baby. Breast fed babies have a much greater chance of living and becoming strong, healthy children than have bottle-fed babies. This is so important that anything that would alter or lessen the mother's milk supply, such as overwork, excitement, shock, or worry, should be avoided.

"If, after every effort is made, the mother's milk supply is not adequate the father should know that clean, fresh cow's milk is the best substitute, and should see that the baby gets such milk and that the mother has the advice of the doctor in its preparation.

"He should know that nearly one-third of all infants' deaths occur as the result of digestive disturbance brought on chiefly by faulty feeding.

"He should know the importance of good surroundings to the baby. The baby needs fresh air and sunlight as much as any plant. Like a plant the baby will droop and die if kept in a dark, close room, deprived of nature's best health tonics—fresh air and sunlight.

"He should know that soothing syrups are dangerous, that pacifiers are both needless and injurious, that the baby needs rest and regular hours of sleeping, and should not be kept up late or handled too much.

"Cleanliness in and about the home is even more important to the baby than to the adult. Baby cannot protect itself against dust, dirt and flys. Flys bred in the open garbage can or in the rubbish heap in yards may carry germs to the baby's mother or milk and cause diarrhea or other diseases.

"The father should not fail to have his baby's birth registered at the health department. A certificate of birth will be necessary for school attendance, going to work, inheritance and citizenship.

"Lastly, every father should know of and take an active part in promoting conditions in our city which will give every baby a better chance. Some of these things are better industrial conditions, better housing, improved municipal sanitation, improved milk supply, milk stations and visiting nurses, nurseries, and other agencies for the protection and conservation of infant life.

"Have you seen some of the window displays on Front street and in some of the other stores? Tepper has a fine window, very artistic, very complete. The Paris is getting up another interesting window which it would be well worth your while to see. Randolph was the first to arrange a window with things that the baby needs. Tuesday night the papers will contain a list of the things that are going on in Plainfield for the parents to see. Be sure and look at the exhibit in the window of the store on the corner of Madison avenue and West Front street. Are you going to the exhibit at the High School, domestic science department, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 3.00-5:00?"

GIRL AND BOY MISSING; PARENTS FEAR ELOPEMENT

Somerville, March 6.—Barney Coreno, aged 19 years, and Teressa Taranzelo, aged 18 years, disappeared from their homes here Saturday night and it is believed that they have eloped. The girl went to a moving picture theatre with her parents, but lef tthem to go to a dance. She has not been seen. Coreno has been employed by J. C. Wyckoff, a plumber of Raritan. He had $500 Saturday afternoon. Parents of the girl believe they have gone to the Pacific coast.

NEWTON BAKER NAMED AS SECRETARY OF WAR

Cleveland, March 6.—Newton D. Baker, former mayor of Cleveland, received notification today that he had been appointed secretary of war by President Wilson.

EXCEEDED SPEED LIMIT.

Jacob Klein, of Perth Amboy, was arraigned before Recorder Hand in the borough court this morning charged with exceeding the speed limit on Somerset street Wednesday, March 1. Credit for Klein's arrest goes to Chief Weiss who succeeded in obtaining the number of the machine as it dashed by him at a rate of fully forty miles an hour. Klein was severely reprimanded by the court and released under a suspended sentence.

MASQUERADE DANCE.

he masquerade dance held under the auspices of the Sokol Society in T. A. B. Hall, Saturday night, was the most successful of any held by the organization, a capacity number of attendants being present. Prizes were awarded to Miss Stella Powlak, Joseph Lukszta and Stanley Pontus for the most unique costumes. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

DAVID FERTIG TO WIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Canter, of West Fourth street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rae Cantor, to David Fertig, of New Brunswick. No date has been set for the wedding. Mr. Fertig is engaged in the wholesale dry goods business in this city. Miss Cantor was graduated from the Plainfield High School with the class of 1915.

DELEGATES ENDORSED.

The Union County Democratic Committee at its meeting Saturday night endorsed former Congressman W. E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, and Richard T. Potts, of Elizabeth, as delegate and alternate to the National Democratic Convention. The Morris county Democrats will endorse a delegate and alternate from that county.

George Scott and family, of Watchung avenue, have returned from a visit with out of town friends.

CARRANZA TO BE IN MEXICO CITY

To Preside Over Cabinet Session on March 15.

JAPAN IS GETTING UNEASY

Recalls Envoy to Obtain a Definite Line on Situation — Foreigners Are Deported From Tampico Oil Fields. American Physician Under Sentence to Be Shot.

Mexico City, March 6.—Japan has recalled Secretary Mikura to report on the present situation in Mexico.

In official circles it is reported that General Carranza will arrive in Mexico City before March 15. It is understood he is coming to preside over a cabinet meeting at which the financial situation will be fully discussed and steps taken to improve the rate of exchange that has been going down daily.

Carranza probably will remain here a couple of weeks, then returning to Queretaro.

Currency continues to depreciate, pesos closing at 2.9 cents, while prices of necessities are continuing to rise. Acting Minister of Finance Niete said that he will confer by telegraph with Carranza and Minister Cabrera, report the situation to them and find out what measures he will take to remedy it.

The minister of war reports that the forces of Generals Romero and Capeda are actively continuing their advance toward Cuernavaca. Heavy fighting occurred south of Adjusco, where the advance force continued along the Mexico City-Cuernavaca railway. The Zapatistas are losing heavily, it is reported.

Foreigners Deported.

San Antonio, Tex., March 6.—Agitation in the Tampico oil fields, where immense shipments of oil are being made to England, has resulted in the deportation of four Germans and two Spaniards, according to an official dispatch made public by the Mexican consulate.

The message said General E. P. Narrate had been compelled to order the deportion because of activity in inciting trouble among the laboring classes in the Mexican oil fields. When the agitation, centering chiefly on the shipments to England, finally began to threaten the oil industry the Carranza government began an investigation which led to the arrest of ten or twelve men. The six foreigners were deported.

Superior, Wis., March 6.—Dr. J. A. Rene, formerly of Superior, who has been at Mazatlan, on the west coast of Mexico, for the last three years, is to be shot on March 15 by Carranza authorities, according to a message received here by Dr. J. A. Adams, formerly a partner of Dr. Rene. Dr. Adams has appealed to the United States authorities in an effort to save Rene.

New York, March 6.—Thirty nuns expelled from their convent at Morelia, Mexico, by the Carranza government arrived from Vera Cruz by the Spanish liner Antonio Lopez. Francesco Chacon Y. Antequera, mother superior, said that the property, which was worth $250,000, had been confiscated by the Carranza forces and that all the peon children the nuns had been caring for and educating had been turned adrift.

AIM BLOW AT MORMONISM.

Resolutions Adopted at Two Y. M. C. A. Meetings.

New York, March 6.—Audiences at the west side and the Twenty-third street Y. M. C. A. unanimously adopted resolutions aimed at the Mormon church in general and calling for the expulsion from the senate of Reed Smoot of Utah.

The resolutions call for the exclusion of Mormon literature from the mails, compelling the Mormon church to account for large sums it holds in trust for the government and for a constitutional amendment prohibiting polygamy.

FRENCH CHECK GERMAN DRIVE

Kaiser's Troops Attack In Woods Without Result.

VERDUN STILL UNCAPTURED

Invaders Hold Douaumont Village, but French Command the Positions Above the Village—Bombardment Lasts All Night—Germans Shift Their Position to the Westward.

Paris, March 6.—The French successfully resisted the attempts of the German troops to break through their line at the north of Verdun. The Germans were forced back to their trenches by the French artillery. An attack by the enemy in the woods east of Vacherauville resulted in naught.

In the contest for the possession of Verdun the operations have narrowed for the time being in the short sector comprising the plateau of Douaumont. The Germans concentrated their artillery fire on the restricted front between the Haudraumont wood and Douaumont village. The bombardment was very violent.

After great quantities of heavy shells had been fired, the German infantry charged at 6 o'clock in the evening. The attacking waves at once were brought under the barrage fire of the French 75's and machine guns, as well as rifle fire, and were unable to reach the French trenches.

At the village of Douaumont itself, where the Germans hold the village proper and the French are intrenched in the southern outskirts, fighting of considerable liveliness lasted well into the night without changing the situation.

All Night Bombardment.

The German artillery continued its firing with some intensity throughout the night on the whole front east of the Meuse and west of the river at Le Mor Homme and the Cote de l'Ole.

The bombardment increased in violence along the whole of this front, especially on the sector which was the scene of the last attack. But the attack was not repeated here. Instead the Germans shifted their assaulting columns to the west and sought to make an opening through the woods east of Vacherauville. Here again they were completely repulsed.

German troops advancing to the fighting front were brought under the fire of the French artillery to the north of Vacherauville and near Louvemont, northwest of Douaumont.

No infantry action is reported from the Woevre, but the artillery of both sides was very active about Fresnes and east of Haudemont.

The French artillery conducted a heavy bombardment of the German positions near the Binarville road, north of La Harazee, and at the Haute Chavauchee, in the Argonue.

British Are Advancing.

London, March 6.—The following report from the British headquarters in France was issued by the official press bureau:

"Grenade fighting continued in the craters northeast of Verdun. The enemy artillery was active about Loos and to the northeast of Ypres. The situation on the Ypres-Comines canal is quiet. Our troops retain the ground gained on March 2." According to a belated Athens dispatch, seven French aeroplanes bombarded the Smyrna forts on Feb. 28. They covered a distance of 375 miles. One of the aeroplanes dropped into the sea, but was rescued by a torpedo boat. The damage done by the bombardment is unknown.

Berlin, March 6.—Army headquarters issued the following statement regarding the situation in the east:

"In the neighborhood of Illuxt an attack planned by the Russians following some mining operations against our positions could not be carried out. Advances by reconnoitering parties of the enemy at other points were repulsed."

Kills Her Priest in Church.

St. Paul, March 6.—Mrs. Agnes Dudsse shot and killed the Rev. Peter Henry Jaffsky in a Polish Catholic church here. While at confessional she drew a revolver and fired five shots, one of which took effect.

FIRST DEFENSE BILL ASKS 140,000 ARMY

Congressman Hay Reports Bill In the House.

Washington, March 6.—The first of the national defense bills providing for the increase of the regular army and the expansion of the military system was reported to the house by Representative Hay.

The bill provides for a regular army with a peace strength of 140,000 men and a war strength of 170,000, an increase of 40,000 men and 7,439 officers. A bill drafted by the senate committee provides for a regular army with a peace strength of 178,000 men and a war footing of 250,000 men.

By providing for the gathering up of all men who have served with the regular army or who have received military training in one form or another and adding them to the regular army and militia forces Mr. Hay estimates that on the enactment of the house bill there will be at once available for defense 1,324,790 men.

Like the senate measure, the house bill provides for the expansion and reorganization of the national guard as a defense force. The cost of the house committee's plan when carried out is estimated at $141,704,846, an increase of approximately $46,000,000 of the regular army estimates for the fiscal year 1917. The estimated cost of the plan for the first year is $116,000,000 and at the end of the fifth year $137,000,000.

ARM SHOOTS SPARK; 2 DEAD

Electricity From Man's Body Starts Factory Fire.

Stamford, Conn., March 6.—Electricity from the arm of Samuel Rocco caused his death and the death of Peter Saltalguto of this city. It also started a fire that did considerable damage at the British-American Raincoat Cloth factory.

Rocco disobeyed a rule of the company when with his arm bare he poured naphtha into a churner containing a compound. Electricity in the bare forearm caused a spark, according to the finding of Coroner John J. Phelan, which set the naphtha on fire. The garments of Rocco and Saltalguto, who stood near him, were quickly aflame. The fire spread to the building.

ZEPPELINS RAID ENGLAND.

Two Airships Reported Officially on Northeast Coast.

London, March 6.—The war office issued the following statement:

"In a Zeppelin raid two hostile airships crossed the northeast coast. At present the movements of the raiders are not clearly defined.

"Some bombs dropped fell into the sea near the shore. Information is not yet available as to the damage done on land."

Miss Ping Now Mrs. Pong.

Harrison, N. J., March 6.—Miss Suey Ping, eighteen years old, was married to Chin Pong of Waterbury, Conn., at the home of her grandfather, Chin Sin, a Chinese merchant, of this place. The Rev. W. Arthur Howden of West New Brighton, Chinese missionary to the Third Presbyterian church, where the bride attended Sunday school, performed the ceremony. Bride and bridegroom are both Americanized, and the wedding was American throughout.

Swiss Fear Food Famine.

Geneva, March 6.—Switzerland will be compelled to charter transatlantic steamships to bring her own food across the sea under protection of her own flag if the war continues much longer, is the opinion of many persons here.

SET DATES FOR POSTPONED MATCHES IN ELKS' LEAGUE

Dates for New Brunswick's four postponed matchs were set at a meeting of the Elks' Senior League executive committee in Jersey City yesterday. The Plainfield-at-New-Brunswick series, postponed from January 17, will be rolled Saturday night of this week; the New Brunswick at Jersey City match, postponed from February 23, will be rolled tonight; the Hoboken at New Brunswick tilt, deferred from February 23, will be shot next Monday night, March 13; and the Rutherford at New Brunswick games, postponed from last week, will take place a week from Saturday night and will wind up the season.

New Brunswick put in a claim for the three Rutherford games, claiming the Rutherford team failed to appear without sending word. The executive committee decided the games should not be forfeited.

Nine more matches remain to be rolled, these four postponed tilts and the five regular matches scheduled for this week. The match at New Brunswick Saturday night will end the season for the Plainfield seniors.

CO. M FIVE TRIUMPHS OVER FORMER NEMESIS

Somerville, March 6.—The Company M basketball tossers defeated Greenpoint Arrow Five for the second time this season, Saturday night, 34 to 25. The game was clean, with both teams displaying good floor work. Never before this season have the local soldier boys defeated the Arrows.

FIGHT ON CANAL QUESTION DUE

Argument Comes Up In Senate This Week.

WARM CONTEST EXPECTED

Opinions Differ Widely on New Provisions Embodied Over Original Bill. Godfrey Gives His Views—Measure Is Likely to Come Up In Debate Tonight.

Trenton, March 6.—Questions which involve the much vexed Morris canal problem have arisen in connection with senate bill No. 49, which provides for two water supply commissions to take over the general control of the potable water supply in north Jersey and south Jersey and which is to come upon its final reading in the senate tonight. It is understood that high legal authority in the state has taken the view that some of the provisions of the bill are so farreaching that they may if enacted in law have an important effect upon the canal situation and may even furnish a means for the abandonment of the canal without other legislation.

The situation has aroused considerable alarm in certain quarters, and steps are to be taken in a day or two to call together members of the Morris canal investigating committee to discuss the bill and the dangers which are said to lurk in certain of its provisions. The committee made a report at the last session of the legislature and bills providing for abandonment were introduced at that time, but failed to pass. The committee has not been active since, but is still in legal existence.

One of the provisions of bill No. 49 in its original form would have made it possible for the water supply commissions to condemn canal property without regard to any previous rights granted to corporations owning or operating the canals. It was held by certain legal authority that this would have opened the way directly to abandonment of the Morris canal in that the commission for northern Jersey could take enough of the canal property, water rights, etc., to make it impossible to operate the canal and thus automatically force its abandonment.

This provision was so amended as to leave out the reference to previous rights granted by the legislature. But it is maintained by those who claim to see danger in the bill that as its provisions now stand it might still be possible for the commission to force abandonment. Here is one particular section of the amendment upon which this view is based:

"If the district water supply commission shall decide to construct any reservoir which may intercept or interfere with the flow of waters that may be a part of the feeder of any canal or which may be claimed by any canal corporation the commission is authorized to acquire from such canal corporation the necessary water rights for said reservoir by agreement with such canal corporation, and if it shall prove impossible to make such agreement, then the commission shall have the right to acquire by condemnation the necessary water flowage or other rights from such canal corporation."

Assemblyman Carleton Godfrey of Atlantic county is chairman of the Morris canal investigating committee and Surrogate Fred G. Stickel of Essex county is secretary. Mr Stickel was asked whether he thought that under the provisions of the bill as amended it would be possible for the proposed water supply commission to force the abandonment of the canal.

MILITARY DRILL OPPOSED.

Jersey Education Board Tables Bill Affecting High Schools.

Trenton, March 6.—By a vote of 4 to 3 the state board of education at its meeting here tabled consideration of the bill introduced by Assemblyman Pierson of Union county providing for two hours' military training a week for all high school boys.

Several members declared themselves plainly before the vote was taken. Dr. Sturtevant of Bergen county said the state board should not consider a bill that would "train people to be butchers" and announced that he would "fight it to the last ditch."

WAR SHIPMENTS FREED.

Nixon Nitration Shipment Case to Go to Higher Court.

New Brunswick, March 6.—An attachment of $1,405,250 on the plant of the Nixon Nitrogen works in a suit by Henry Laying on a contract, was vacated. The case will be carried to the county court. Since the serving of papers all shipments from the plant have been held up. The vacating of the attachment permits these to be resumed.

PNEUMONIA ENDED LIFE.

Tried Suicide, but Youth Had a Natural Death.

Passaic, March 5.—Charles Uhlermann who attempted suicide several days ago, died of pneumonia. The boy wrote a note to his parents telling them they "soon would know the reason" for his act, then shot himself. The wound was not serious, but pneumonia developed soon afterward.

Russian Ship Sunk; Eight Perish.

London, March 6.—The Russian steamship Vasilij Velikij, formerly the German vessel Prinz Gustaf Adolph, was sunk with the loss of the captain and seven members of the crew. The ship was built in 1897 and was of 1,414 tons.

Hot Coffee Burns Kill Child.

Stamford, Conn., March 6.—Edward Heuciar, four years old, died from the effect of burns sustained when he overturned a pot of hot coffee.

WARREN S. VAN DOREN DIES AT EAST BOUND BROOK

Warren Smalley Van Doren, administrative manager of the Pathe-Freres motion picture plant at Bound Brook, died of Bright's disease yesterday at his home in East Bound Brook. He was born near Bound Brook forty-eight years ago.

Mr. Van Doren became connected with the Pathe Freres' plant about eight years ago. Prior to that time he was maanger of the Bound Brook plant of the Ideal Cash Register Company, which was absorbed by the National Cash Register Company about ten years ago. He was a member of the Somerset County Club and the Somerville Lodge of Elks. He leaves his wife, two sons and one daughter.

BAPTIST TEACHERS TO MEET.

The annual meeting of the teachers of the First Baptist Bible School will be held tonight. All members are requested to be present.

ALCOHOL AN EFFICIENT ALLY OF PNEUMONIA

The United States Public Health Service brands strong drink as the most efficient ally of pneumonia. It declares that alcohol is the handmaiden of the disease which produces ten per cent. of the deaths in the United States. This is no exaggeration. We have known for a long time that indulgence in alcoholic liquors lowers the individual vitality, and that the man who drinks is peculiarly susceptible to pneumonia. The United States Public Health Service is a conservative body. It does not engage in alarmist propaganda. In following out the line of its official duties it has brought forcefully to the general public a fact which will bear endless repetition. The liberal and continuous user of alcoholic drinks will do well to heed this warning, particularly at this season of the year when the gruesome death toll from pneumonia is being doubled.

MRS. AUGUSTA P. FOSTER DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Mrs. Augusta Plummer Foster, daughter of the late John L. Foster, of Brooklyn, and sister of Mrs. Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, died at her home on East Ninth street yesterday after a brief illness. She was born in Brooklyn, where she lived for a number of years.

The funeral service dependent on the arrival of a daughter from the Far West will be private at the home of Mrs. Foster's sister on Watchung avenue. Beside a sister there survives a son, Philip Foster, of this city, and a daughter, Mrs. George S. Brown, of Reno, Nevada.

EDISON'S FIRST GRANDCHILD.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eyre Sloane (Miss Madeleine Edison), of this city, are being congratulated upon the birth of a son on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Sloane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, at Llewellyn Park, Orange. The baby is Mr. Edison's first grandchild. The wedding of Miss Edison and Mr. Sloan was celebrated in June, 1914. Mr. Sloan, who is a son of Dr. and Mrs. T. O'Connor Sloane, of OOrange, is an inventor, and worked with Mr. Edison.

WILL TELL OF HIS TRIP TO THE MEXICAN BORDER

Charles E. Rice, Eagle Scout, will be in charge of the Troop 5 meeting tomorrow evening at the First Presbyterian chapel. A full attendance is looked for because this scout has just returned from the Mexican border, where he was in close touch with the United States troops patrolling the border and has brought back with him an interesting story of the bandit fighting tactics of Villa, the Mexican rebel chief. At that meeting the formation of new patrols will be tentatively made preparatory to establishing the troop on new lines. The membership for boys twelve years old or over is now open for a limited number of scouts.

POLISH RELIEF COMMITTEE MAKES AN URGENT APPEAL

Russia and Germany have both made promises of autonomy for Poland. If the lands of the Poles continue much longer to be a great battlefield there will be no Poland left to which the grant self-government when peace comes—there will be few Poles left to enjoy it. On their retreat the Russians did whatever they could to strip the country. Germans and Austrians following after continued the devastation. Thousands of farm houses were burned, hundreds of villages were destroyed. Cities did not escape the fire and dynamite. The inhabitants have lost their small stores of grain; their cattle have been butchered more often to feed the soldiers than the owners.

It is true and admitted by the military occupants that thousands of people already have perished for want of shelter and the need of food. Every account of the situation of that stricken land emphasizes the disappearance of children. They seem to have vanished from the earth. It has been broadly asserted by many eye-witnesses that children under the age of seven years are hardly to be found at all in Poland today. That means that a third of the present generation is dead.

The local Polish Relief Committee appeals to you for help for the starving civilians of Poland. Your little mite may save a life, perhaps many of them. Send donations and checks to the "Polish Victims' Relief Fund" in care of the City National Bank, Plainfield.

PRESUMES HE IS SINGLE.

THE CITY IS THE LOSER.

City Clerk James T. MacMurray will present his resignation to the Council at the March meeting tonight, and the city will lose the services of a conscientious and valuable official. His acceptance of a position with a great manufacturing plant in Bloomfield will necessitate his leaving the city, and he resigns with nearly two years of his term yet to run.

Mr. MacMurray has held the office for over twenty-two years, during which time has has given painstaking and careful service to the public at a nominal salary. He has helped to familiarize many an incoming councilman with the work required, and there has never been a member of that body who did not praise his efficiency and ability.

Mr. MacMurray was first elected to the clerkship in 1894, and has held the office continuously for more years than any one who occupied it before him. Most people had come to look upon him as a fixture, and had he remained a citizen of Plainfield, he no doubt could have had the office as long as he wanted it, as has been shown on the two or three occasions in the past when there were movements on the part of a few disgruntled politicians to oust him from the office.

As superintendent of the plant of the International Arms and Fuse Company at Bloomfield, Mr. MacMurray will in a short time be in executive control of 6,000 men and women who with their families would populate a city nearly as large as Plainfield. With his hundreds of friends all over the State, the Daily Press extends congratulations to him, at the same time expressing regret over the loss of his services to Plainfield. It will be some time before anyone can be broken into the work of his office, who can be relied upon to as accurately attend to the affairs of the city.

FOOLISH OPPOSITION.

Declaring that the board should not consider a bill that would "train people to be butchers," and that he would "fight it to the last ditch," Dr. Sturtevant, a member of the State Board of Education, succeeded in getting that body to go on record on Saturday against Assemblyman Pierson's bills calling for military training in the schools of New Jersey. The board tabled, by a vote of 4 to 3, all consideration of the Union county man's bill, which if passed, will provide for two hours a week of military training by all boys in the high schools of the State.

Snch opposition is hard to understand. If the law was passed it would mean that the growing young men would have a preliminary training that would be invaluable in case this nation were plunged into war. Instruction in the rudiments of military drill can hurt no one, and the attitude of the majority of the State education body is hard to understand. In these days when fully three-quarters of the people are convinced that preparedness is a mighty necessary evil for this country, it is indeed surprising to see a body, created by the people, take such an attitude. The Pierson bill is a good measure, and should have the support of the Legislature, in spite of the opinion of a bare majority of the State Board of Education.

We sometimes wonder whether all of our women readers realize the excellence of the series of articles appearing in the Press each Thursday under the head of "Mothers' Work." This is not a stereotyped syndicate column, made up weeks in advance by a man who thinks he knows how to edit a woman's column, as is so often the case in features of the kind. Instead it is carefully prepared by members of the Plainfield Mothers' Association, who give their time to a painstaking completion of articles which they know from experience will be of interest to their friends here in Plainfield. The Daily Press has always prided itself on the splendid contributions which are frequently furnished for its columns by thoughtful and public spirited men and women of the city, and this column is one that is well worth reading every week. From the women's point of view it is fully as interesting as are the excellent Saturday editorials which we are privileged to print from the pens of the well known citizens of Plainfield.

According to a canvass made by the New York Herald, and published yesterday, backed up by what one hears from persons who travel all over the United States, Theodore Roosevelt is the most talked of as the candidate of the Republican party for President this year. There are scores and hundreds of men who voted for Wilson or Taft in 1912, who have come to the conclusion that the doughty ex-President should be again placed at the head of the nation. At the same time there is apparently no one who voted for him in 1912 that does not favor him as the candidate this year. If he does become the regular Republican candidate, it will be a bitter pill for the old-line crowd who stole the nomination from him in 1912.

The city officials can take a lesson from the borough in the matter of widening Somerset street. It was only about a year ago that that question was seriously taken up over the brook, and the Council has completed all details, and authorized the work. In this city, the Madison avenue widening improvement has been dragging along for ten or fifteen years, and the end is not yet in sight. All sorts of delays, necessary and unnecessary, have been put in the way of the improvement, and it is hard to tell when it will be accomplished.

According to reports there is a movement on foot to start a new Democratic daily newspaper in Elizabeth. Evidently the Collins-Russell fued has reached a serious point, when anyone tackles a thing of that kind in this age. With the cost of everything required for the operation of a newspaper going up at a rapid pace, it will take a mighty substantial bank-roll to successfully launch any kind of a newspaper in New Jersey, or anywhere else in the East, and it will be especially hard for a political organ.

The First National Bank is now planning extensive improvements to its building, as was exclusively told in the building page of the Press on Saturday. This will make available much more commodious offices for its rapidly increasing business. The great success of this bank, as well as all the others here, is mute testimony of the prosperity which Plainfield continues to enjoy. We doubt whether there is another city of this size in the State which has so many excellent banking institutions, with equal deposits.

Plainfield Kennel Club officers and members are to be congratulated upon the great success of the dog show which was held in this city on Saturday. Like everything else that Plainfielders undertake there was nothing left to be desired in the way in which the affair was handled.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

Now is the Time.

Responding the country's needs,
Our Congress sends out garden seeds.
Appropriation has been made,
Two hundred dollars paid
For seeds that will be quickly sent
To every known constituent.
They will remember then the name
Their Congressman has borne to fame.
Without the seeds, it's ten to one—
They'd hardly think of Washington.
Of course, the seeds are not much good—
Some folks use them for breakfast food.
But still they keep from growing cold
The memory of the statesman bold.
The statesman's name is in large print;
Constituent need never squint,
For there's the name, plain as can be;
"From Eben Cuddleford, M. C."
The Congressmen are passing wise;
They know it pays to advertise.

Uncle Abner

When a woman can't find any other place for any little old ornament she picks up around the house, she puts it on her hat.

What has become of the old-fashioned feller who used to wear a horsehair watch chain and go around with his mustache dyed and lard in his hair?

It used to be that a woman could wear almost anything, but now she can wear almost nothing. When a woman can forgive her husband for coming home hilarious at 2 o'clock in the morning, love is more of a habit than an emotion.

So long as Uncle Sam allows automobiles set to Mexico the destruction will go on, firearms or no firearms.

Judging by the exhibit at the style shows, the height of fashion is a little low in the neck.

It is getting so that an election don't make no more impression on this country than an ordinary camp meeting.

Musicale—An event which turns optimists into pessimists.

Mistletoe—The last resort of a spinster.

Muskellunge—A sort of fish that nobody knows how to spell without looking it up.

They Like It.

The actors of England, Germany and France,
Come traveling over the wave;
The dancers of Russia are glad of the chance
To twirl in the land of the brave.

They sign for their own native shore,
And call us "uncultured" and "brash;"
They sneer at our manners, our ways and our lore,
But still—they come over,
Oh, yes, they come over
To get our commercialized cash!

- Proctor's Theatre -

Starting today, the management of Proctor's inaugurate a policy whereby the greatest and most famous photoplay productions made will appear at that popular playhouse, the entire program being changed each day. These wonderful features are presented at bargain prices, which doubtless will result in Proctor's being taxed to its utmost capacity at each performance in order to accommodate the overwhelming number of enthusiastic theatregoers who wish to see the unparalleled list of features. Today's feature is an example of the high type of productions which the patrons may expect to see at Proctor's in the form of the first episode, one of the most widely discussed of present-day screen successes, in which Clara Kimball Young, the peerless queen of the screen, is seen in the leading role. A rollicking Keystone comedy will also provide variety today, in which the comic capers of Charles Murray will evoke hilarious storms of mirth. Tomorrow, Wilfred Lucas, one of the most versatile of Triangle stars, will appear in a picture admirably suited to his talents, entitled, "Acquitted," a thrilling and intensely interesting production exposing the brutal methods used by many police officials in enforcing the "Third Degree" upon innocent prisoners. There will also be "The Strange Case of Mary Page," the most widely advertised serial production of the season, will make its debut at Proctor's in the for mof the first episode. Henry Walthall, the famous hero of "The Birth of a Nation," and a score of other screen success, and Edna Mayo, who, aside from her versatile talents as an actress, is known as the fashion plate of filmdom, are the costars, and, with a wonderful story of mystery and intrigue at their disposal will at once captivate the spectators by their excellent work. On Wednesday, Vivian Martin, the most dainty heroine of the screen, will appear in a William Fox production entitled "Merely Mary Ann," adapted from Israel Zangwill's masterpiece of that name. The second episode of "The Iron Claw" will also be shown in conjunction with the above on Wednesday. Thursday, the management announces the presentation of what is doubtless the most famous stage and screen success ever conceived by the brain of man. It is "Madame X," the greatest drama of the modern stage, which will appear on Thursday in film form at Proctor's, with Dorothy Donnelly, the famous star of the original cast, in the leading role. tI is the intention of Mr. Proctor to present the type of photoplays like those listed above at his local playhouse, and with such wonderful productions as these appearing there, that ecry theatre will doubtless enjoy the greatest prosperity of its career.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Alma Fleming, with the "Gay New Yorkers," tonight.

Mary Ellen, with "The Society Circus," Plainfield Theatre, tomorrow and Wednesday, matinee and night.

There is no excuse for gloom when the Gay New Yorkers are in town. It washes out care and irons out wrinkles. It eclipses in splendor and magnificence all former efforts of its owner and producer, Jake Goldenberg. The coming of the Gay New Yorkers' Company each season on the burlesque circuit is the signal of joviality to arise and assert itself. All the important musical extravaganas of the season are parodied, in addition to which will be found a huge conglomeration of fun, frolic, and extravaganza ,such as has made the Gay New Yorkers show the delight of the theatregoers.

Sheer fun, downright,comicalities, unrestrained merriment, and undisguised drollery, are the chief delights of this delectable revue. The Gay New Yorkers in a two-act farce, Madamme, Who Arê You? serves to crack the shell of the reserved, tickle the ribs of the grave, electrify the glum and send a warm glow through the veins of the frigid. The cast of the Gay New Yorkers with the tantalizing giddy girls in an uproarous upheaval of lingerie and laughter, goes to make up one of the best burlesque shows that play the Columbian Circuit—in fact, it is the topmost of musical extravaganza in a reeling riot of resplendent reverry. The presenting company names Fox and Stewart, Danny Murphy, Dolly Morrisey, Alma Fleming, Ed. Jerome and Helen Van Buren. The show opens an engagement at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening.

MASTER SILBERT TO PLAY AT CONCERT

Will Be Heard at Columbus Auditorium in Aid of War Sufferers.

The concert which will be given tomorrow evening in Columbus Hall in aid of the sufferers of the Central Empires of Europe, has aroused considerable interest. Great preparations have been made for the artistic success of this affair, and the programme presented will be appreciated by music-loving Plainfielders. Miss Queenie Tillotson, an operatic star of the first magnitude of the future, and pupil of Mme. Marcella Sembrich, is a Plainfield girl and was graduated from the Plainfield High School. She will sing selections from Brahm's songs, and an aria from "La Sonnambula."

Walter Silbert, the second artist of the evening, is a Plainfield boy of most remarkable attainments in the musical field. He is a pupil of E. Arthur Janke, of this city, and has attained a surprising degree of skill in the technique of the pianoforte, as well as a masterful interpretation of the composers whose works he will present. Those who remember Master Silbert's recital of two years ago, he being but eleven years old at the time, will find an added charm in what he will present. Though the audience was surprised at the masterul interpretation and maturity of effort on the part of Master Silbert at that time, they will find the past two years to have given a most decided enhancement in the artistic value of his musical performances. The young artist will render a group of compositions by Schuett, Poldini, Chopin, Schumann and the Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 11 by Liszt.

The singing section of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein will round out the program in a most acceptable manner by the rendition of songs by well-known composers. This society has acquired an enviable fame for high class work, their artistic singing having won a number of trophies within and out of the state.

Taken as a whole, the evening will be one of the artistic presentations of the season in Plinfield, and will delight those who come to hear it. There is also the charitable side of the affair that is deserving of the whole-hearted support of Plainfield. Suffering disaster—the moral and physical breakdown of peoples and governments—all this leaves its effect upon the more fortunately-situated neutral nations. Every little helps, and by lending one's presence and help to this worthy charity the lot of many of the poor will be alleviated to at least some little extent.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Originality has entered into the speeches given by members of the Senior class before the pupils in the chapel exercises. Margaret Ewart on Friday recited an original poem relative to the thoughts and actions of the Seniors when they make their debut in this capacity. The poem follows:

It is a great and glorious thing
To make a speech, I hear;
But it takes a lot of practice
Or else the bunch will jeer.
And I suppose that it is right
That they should make this rule,
But what of us poor Seniors
Who have to play the fool.

When you think of how the other fellow sufferers were dismayed.
How some just stood on one foot
And from their subject strayed.
How some would hold their hands
In front, and some in pockets deep;
And you wonder where your own are,
But you dare not take a peep.

The eyes of Mr. Earley are digging
In your back,
And you see the swarm of people,
Composure's what you lack;
And you know your knees are shaking and the others know it, too;
And your brains have parted from you,
Then you don't know what to do.

So if you're sitting down in front
And listening to the one who's floundering in the deep up here;
(It isn't any fun)
Just think, perhaps you'll be here next,
And maybe you'll be worse.
But must stand here all alone
And feel your brains disperse.
So have a heart.

Knelt Before Father Jupiter and Begged.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Dawn Goddess Loved A King's Son.

"GREEK story night, daddy! Don't forget!" cried two children.

So daddy sat down in his armchair, with Jack on one knee and Evelyn on the other, and this is what he told: "Aurora, the dawn goddess, and her sister, the moon, both fell in love with mortal men. Now, Aurora, who always wore gorgeous robes of lavender and pink, loved the king of Troy's son, Tithonus. One beautiful spring morning she left her home among the clouds and, trailing her lovely robes behind her in the dawn light, crept down to earth and stole Tithonus. Then, happy as a bride, she knelt at Father Jupiter's throne and begged him to grant immortality to Tithonus so he might be her mate always."

"Daddy, what means immortality?" asked Evelyn.

"To live forever," daddy explained to her. "But, alas, for Aurora's beautiful, generous love! In her delight of finding Tithonus she forgot to ask Jupiter also to grant him youth, and as the years stole by and each morning she awoke to her duty of bringing dawn to earth people in all the freshness and glory of her own immortal youth she sadly saw that Tithonus was growing to be an old man and no mate for her. Little by little his teeth fell out, his hair became thin and gray and his beautiful body shriveled and grew dull. At last the lovely, radiant Aurora had to leave him as a companion. But she still took very good care of him. She kept him in the finest rooms of her palace, clothed his feeble body in beautiful robes and had him fed on ambrosia, which with the gods stood for our ice cream. Finally Tithonus lost all power in his legs and arms. He became so silly that she had to lock him in his room. When he lost even his voice and grew so unlovely that no one longer cared to look at him Aurora repented her plea to Jupiter and turned Tithonus into a grasshopper.

"Now, before Tithonus became an old man Aurora had a wonderful son of the name of Memnon. Like Odysseus, he fought bravely in the Trojan war, only Memnon fought for Troy instead of for Greece. Aurora every morning watched her son fight from her palace in the sky. When victory went to the Greeks and she saw her beloved son fall she ordered the winds to snatch his body from the battleground and bring it to her for a beautiful burial. The Winds and the Hours came with Aurora, and to show her sympathy Night spread the heavens with clouds. Then Jupiter turned the sparks from Memnon's funeral pile into night birds. But in spite of all this beauty and love and sympathy Aurora still mourns her son, and every morning her tears may still be seen in the form of dewdrops on the grass," daddy finished.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Marian Townsend Makes a Sacrifice to Help Her Father.

"Daddy," said Marian as Jacob Townsend threw himself into a chair in the den over the store, "I have something to tell you." She sat down on the arm of his easy chair and slipped her arm around his neck.

"Well?"

"You know school begins ten days from Monday." A cloud passed over Jacob's face. "But I am not going," she added quickly.

"Not going?" Jacob turned to look full in the girl's face.

"No, dear Daddy; I am going to finish high school here. Dudley says you are hard pressed for money, and I would not think of making conditions harder than they are."

Jacob took the girl's hand between his own and patted it as he said:

"You know I sent back the automobile Ortrude ordered because I could not afford to make payments on it. My chief reason for doing that was because I could not pay for the machine and send you to school, too. I felt that I owed it to you to send you where you could be happy since you and Ortrude cannot get along together. It breaks my heart that you are practically homeless."

"I am not homeless. This den is my home." The girl tightened her arm around her father's neck. "We come here and have the nicest visits, and while I have you and Dudley I certainly am not homeless."

Jacob sat silently holding the little hand and she continued:

"I shall study in my own room or here and so shall keep out of Ortrude's way. You will not be troubled with any fussing. We will keep our paths as far apart as possible."

"I surely thank you for your thoughtfulness, dear little daughter, and I want you to know that a great burden has been lifted from my shoulders. I do not remember a time in fifteen years when it has been so hard to get hold of money. If I can pull through this winter things will surely straighten out. It was so foolish to use up all my reserve in that elaborate home, a home that is a mere eating and sleeping place for all concerned." Jacob's tone was bitter.

"There, Daddy, no post mortums. We will all pull together and everything is going to come out all right."

"You are like your mother," said Jacob in a low voice.

"Thank you, Daddy; that is the highest compliment you can pay me," whispered the girl, kissing him.

"What will your young friends say when they learn that you are not going away to school?" asked Jacob after a long silence.

"Oh, I'll tell them that I could not leave my mother," laughed the girl, going over to the window to arrange the curtain. "I am going to have little Saturday afternoon affairs up here; a club, and this will be our club room. Dudley said I might. I want the big cupboard that used to stand in the cellar put out in the hall, and I will fill it with mother's dishes and then I will have everything handy to serve light refreshments." Marian put a two-step on the old horn phonograph and commenced to dance about the room. Jacob watched her with a contented expression on his face.

THE TABLE

Steamed Eggs — Butter small molds or tiny cups. Sprinkle each with chopped parsley. Break an egg into each and place in sauce pan with boiling water to come half way up. Put lid on pan and let eggs steam until set. Have toast hot and buttered and slip an egg carefully on each.

Baked Cabbage—Cabbage, cream sauce, bread crumbs, butter. Chop cabbage fine, boil to tenderness in hot water, salted. Drain and pour over cream sauce in a baking dish. Sprinkle bread crumbs over all and also dots of butter. Bake in oven about fifteen minutes or until it is browned.

Pepper Salad—Peppers cut in rings with dull scissors. Mix with lettuce and French dressing.

Prune Tart—One pound of prunes soaked over night; two eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately; half teaspoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful sugar, half pound English walnuts chopped. Bake twenty-five minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Devil's Food—Grate one-fourth cake of unsweetened chocolate in a bowl; add one-half cup of boiling water and a teaspoonful of soda and let stand until you get the following ready: Take two cups of sugar, one-half cup butter, two eggs, one-half cup sour milk and two and one-half cups of flour. Mix with chocolate and bake in layers. For frosting, take one cup of pulverized sugar, butter size of an egg, and cream. Flavor with vanilla.

"Hop-in-John" (southern dish)—Soak one pint red beans overnight; drain, cover with cold water and cook slowly. After two hours add half pound fat bacon, a chopped sweet pepper, salt if needed and one pint rice. Cook two hours longer, or until all is tender and nearly dry. Serve on platter, bacon in the center.

Veal Loaf—Three pounds lean beef, one-half pound veal, six soda crackers, four teaspoons poultry seasoning, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, few drops of onion juice. Put meat through chopper and add other ingredients. Mix well and pack in bread pan. Smooth evenly on the top. Brush with white of egg. Bake slowly three hours, basting with one-fourth cup fat. Prick frequently while cooking.

Charlotte Russe—One-fourth box gelatine, one-half cup cold water, one teaspoon vanilla, whites of two eggs, speck of salt, one-half cup hot milk, four tablespoons of sugar, one cup of cream, two cups of whipped creap, four tablespoons powdered sugar. Soak gelatine in cold water one-half hour, add hot milk, vanilla and four tablespoons sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved, add cream and put on ice. When it begins to stiffen beat with an egg beater until very light, then add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, to which the powdered sugar and salt has been added. Beat well and add whipped cream. Pour into wet mold lined with ladyfingers or sponge cake and put on the ice to stiffen.

Fried Cream—Milk, one pint; sugar, one-half cup; butter the size of a hickory nut; yolks of eggs, three; cornstarch, four tablespoons; flour, one tablespoon; vanilla, one-half teaspoon. Let milk come to a boil, add sugar and flour wet with a little extra milk; stir over fire for fully two minutes. Stir in beaten yolks and let cook long enough to set. Take from fire and add butter and vanilla, pour on a buttered platter to the depth of one-half inch. When cold and stiff cut into squares, roll in beaten egg and cracker crumbs, fry a delicate brown in deep fat, place in oven a few minutes and sprinkle with sugar.

Stuffed Egg Plant—Boil until soft one egg plant, make a dressing of one egg, two cups crumbs, one-half cup celery, one-half cup nuts, one-half cup cream, two tablespoonfuls of butter; cut egg plant in half and scrape out center; separate seeds fro mpulp; add pulp to dressing and place all in the halves of the egg plant again. Bake for thirty minutes in buttered dish. Baste with milk.

Creamed Cauliflower—Two cups cooked cauliflower, two cups milk, one teaspoon salt, one-third teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon butter, one-half tablespoon flour. Break cauliflower into branches and season with half the salt and pepper. Put the butter in a saucepan. When hot, add the flour, and stir until smooth, then add the milk, stirring all the time—when sauce boils, add salt, pepper and cauliflower. Cook ten minutes.

CANVASSERS GO OVER THE CITY

Religious Workers Visited All Homes in Plainfield Yesterday.

350 AID IN THE WORK

Information to Be Used by Ministers in Getting Ready for Biederwolf Campaign—Cottage Prayer Meeting Places.

An interesting experience for the people of Plainfield was the religious canvass held yesterday afternoon in connection with the Beiderwolf campaign. Over 350 canvassers were used in this work going in pairs to each home in the city and borough. Work began about 2 and was completed shortly about 5 p. m. A large force is now busily engaged in sorting and tabulating the information obtained. This will be used by the ministers of the different denominations.

The cottage prayer meetings for tomorrow night and the leaders are as follows:

Mrs. Bergman, 1132 East Second street; Claude Gounod.

P. A. Neilson, 1467 East Second street; O. P. Wahleg.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WOODCOCK.

The funeral of Mrs. Clarence Woodcock, whose death occurred at her home on West Seventh street, Friday, was held at the late residence yesterday afternoon. The service was extremely simple and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends from this city, New York, and other places. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman. Many handsome floral tributes were sent by friends of the family. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, the following acting as pall bearers: Asa F. Randolph, Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, Dr. Frank T. Clawson, Rev. Charles H. Fountain and I. D. Rice, of this city, and Morton Woodcock, of New Rochelle.

FOWLER IS OUT FOR U. S. SENATOR

Former Congressman Makes Announcement of His Candidacy.

OUTLINES HIS POLICIES

Has Long Been Advocate of Preparedness, Stable Tariff, Merchant Marine and Banking Law Reform. He Tells the Voters.

Charles N. Fowler, for sixteen years a member of Congress from this district, has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator from New Jersey, subject to the action of voters of his party in the primary elections of this year.

In his announcement, which does not come as a complete surprise, Mr. Fowler calls attention to the fact that he has long been an advocate of these great national reforms that are now pressing upon the country for a solution—a merchant marine, a stable tariff condition by means of a tariff commission, an adequate de[illegible] a financial and banking system founded upon the principles of [illegible] economies and American experience. His statement to the voters follows:

"To the Republicans of New Jersey:

"Realizing that the work to be done in congress at the close of the world-wide war now raging is of the most vital importance to our country and believing that I can be of some real service at this crisis in our national affairs to the people, I shall be a candidate in the primaries for the nomination to be a candidate for the United States senatorship.

"The relations of all the powers of the world are undergoing radical changes. Treaties made 100, 50, yes, even 25 years ago, will be out of date in the new and changed conditions that must arise through the present upheaval. All of our international treaties should be recast in the light of the future needs of our country.

Tariff Revision.

"The tariff should be revised immediately to prevent the inundation of our country by foreign made goods—the production of the enforced poverty of the nations of Europe at the close of the war.

"An intelligent and wise revision of the tariff now will increase the government revenues from this source by at least $150,000,000. We greatly need the money to make up the waste and deficits of this Democratic administration.

"Starting with this revision we should establish a tariff commission to work out the complicated problem of tariff adjustments and trade relations. This work will take five or six years, therefore the proposal to delay revision until the commission has completed its work would be most unwise. It would be suicidal. At the end of five years, under the Underwood tariff law, there would scarcely be left one single industrial stone upon another. Revision should be made at once for the purpose of securing us a safe margin of protection all along the line and for the purpose also of establishing a sound basis for any trade treaties into which we may see fit to enter.

Merchant Marine.

"We should proceed immediately to rebuild our merchant marine by adopting the same policy followed by the founders of the government in 1789, by which 93 per cent of our imports and 88 per cent of our exports were carried in American ships for nearly forty years. Through the legerdemain of diplomacy we lost practically all of it. What was left was a source of actual contempt of other nations. In 1910 only 10 per cent of our imports and 7 per cent of our exports were carried in American bottoms. If this policy of the founders of the government should now be adopted it would bring into the treasury of the government approximately $200,000,000 annually. We need this money very greatly for our army, coast defenses and to build up an adequate navy.

"These two additional resources to our government revenues would bring into the United States treasury $350,000,000 annually and at the same time guarantee our prosperity and the upbuilding of the American merchant marine. Again, we should carry away all the goods that we want to sell in our own ships and bring back what we want to buy.

Financial and Banking Reform.

"We should proceed at once to repeal the alien and obnoxious Federal Reserve Bank Act which is today costing the American people $100,000,000 more every year than a right banking system would. But more than that financial loss, this ill advised foreign scheme is in no way adapted to our particular needs and peculiar conditions. Furthermore, it is fundamentally unsound, structurally wrong and will certainly, without the possibility of escape, result in overwhelming disaster.

National Preparedness.

"These various proposed legislative enactments call for a complete reconstruction of our foreign relations and of our economic policies. But beyond and still more important than all these combined, but at the same time involving them, is the question of a true national preparedness which consists of a potential citizenship in character, intelligence, physique and patriotism; of economic efficiency in men, production, commerce and banking; of efficiency in government which guarantees equal opportunities, equal justice and complete and adequate defense.

"How these great and vital ends of our economic life and our governmental administration are to be achieved I shall at a proper time bring to the attention of my fellow citizens of New Jersey.

"The election of 1916 will be the most important held since the constitution was adopted in 1789, with the single exception of that of 1860.

"Patriotism should and will, in this hour of stress, inspire the voters and lead them to express their honest opinions when casting their ballots. This will be no time to pay a compliment to friends at the expense of a nation. Honor and devotion to country call for a vote of convictions in the exercise of your choice of a United States senator. Only by being honest with yourselves and true to your conviction can you be truly patriotic and prove yourselves worthy citizens of this great republic, in which the people are the royal rulers. Vote as you honestly think, that's all, and the nation will be safe, for the only sure defense of this country is in an unsullied public opinion."

PLEASING PROGRAM FEATURES SOCIAL

Employes of Morris Shop Are Hosts for Many Out of Town Guests.

The employees of the Morris Shop from this city and Orange entertained a number of friends yesterday afternoon and evening at the home of Arthur Kienzle, local manager. The young folks whiled away the hours singing and dancing, while the Harmony Four quartet, composed of Messrs. H. Lunger, James Goodwin, A. Fisher and A Kienzle, entertained with many catchy ballads.

The feature of the day was the entertainment of Arthur Fisher, noted musical genius and cabaret singer from Orange. Mr. Fisher, as guest of honor, entertained in a wonderful manner by playing the sextette from "Lucia" on a violin composed of a cigar box, broom handle, clothes pin and one string. After playing several numbers from popular operas, Mr. Fisher then gave a demonstration of the new Hawaii music, now the latest fad in New York, concluding with several cabaret numbers as played on the "rag-time violin."

"Auf Weidersohn," a beautiful solo, was rendered by Miss Louise Eckert, of Jersey City, followed by "The Garden of the Gods," duet by Miss Eckert and Arthur Kienzle. Harold Lunger, also from the Morris Shop, gave a very clever impersonation of Charlie Chaplin, followed by piano solos by Miss Florence McWade. A. J. Squires accompanied the several artists on the piano. It is needless to say that Mr. Squires' playing carried the house by storm.

Among the guests present were the Misses Marguerite O'Callahan and Louise Eckert, from Jersey City; Miss Florence McWade, Edith Talford and the Misses Glaser, of this city; Arthur Fisher, from the Morris Shop, Orange; Fred Hoagland, from New York and this city; and Messrs. H. Lunger, J. Goodwin, E. Terry, A. Squires, M Berg, C. Cole, Chas. Kienzle and A. Kienzle, of Plainfield.

Concluding the list of entertainers, Mr. Fisher played several solos on the zolophone, a whistle of rare sweetness. After a dainty collation served by Mrs. Kienzle, the party broke up, singing "Auld Lang Syne."

CHILDREN'S PARTY IN HONOR OF VISITOR FROM ILLINOIS

Mrs. A. T. Runyan, of 109 East Fifth street, gave a children's party at her home, Saturday afternoon in honor of her five-year-old nephew, Ellsworth Wyckoff, of Bradey, Illinois, who has been visiting in Plainfield for the past two weeks. There were eight little guests in the gathering and they enjoyed parlor games for an hour or more, after which refreshments were served. The dining room and parlor were decorated in pink in a manner calculated to attract the fancy of juveniles. Master Ellsworth proved to be somewhat of an entertainer himself and greatly assisted Mrs. Runyan. The young man has made two previous trips East and will return to Bradley at the close of another week. He was accompanied the last time by his grandmother.

Those in the gathering Saturday, beside the guest of honor were Emily Alice Crist, Margaret Blair, Daphne Doane, Mildred Larrson and the Masters Harold Taylor and George Moore, all of Plainfield, and Arthur and Carlton Apgar, of Westfield. Daphne Doane is a grand-daughter of Chief T. O. Doane and is herself a visitor in Plainfield, having come East from Montana with her mother, Mrs. Hervey Doane, several weeks ago.

ROAD CONVENTION DELEGATES HOME

Freeholders Find Experts at Pittsburgh Favor Solid Concrete Highways.

GIFT FOR STEVENS

Auto Road Commissioner Presented by Jersey Attendants With Silver Loving Cup—R. A. Meeker, of Plainfield, Toastmaster.

Verification of the Union County Board of Freeholders' belief that solid concrete will be used extensively in the future in construcing much-traveled highways was gained by the freeholders' committee attending the American Road Builders' Association Congress held at Pittsburgh last week. The delegation, which was composed of Director Cady, and Members Wilbur, Krause and Meisel, returned home Saturday, declaring that all the articles read by experts contained statements that solid concrete had already proven its efficiency and durability in many western States and that roadbuilders would make no mistake in making free use of this material, especially where heavy traffic is to be encountered.

Union county at the present time has but two pieces of concrete roads. Both were built about a year ago. One stretch of a quarter of a mile is located at Linden and the other, of a half a mile, at Summit, the home town of Director Cady. The Board determined within the past few months to build a stretch of solid concrete three and one-half miles long on Mountain avenue, between Scotch Plains and Mountainside, bids for which are to be opened at Elizabeth on March 8.

A total of seventy men represented New Jersey at the convention, among them being Col. Edwin A. Stevens, of Hoboken, New Jersey commissioner of public roads, who is also president of the American Road Builders' Association; Robert A. Meeker, of Plainfield, State highway engineer; Ephraim E. Vail, of Plainfield, engineer of the northern division of the State highway system; E. E. Reed, of Trenton, engineer of the central division of the State highway system; Lloyd McEntire, of Trenton, division engineer in charge of bridges; Town Engineer Alexander Vars, of Westfield, and Street Superintendent Miller, of Westfield. J. L. Bauer, of Elizabeth, road engineer for Union county, was to have been in attendance, but was prevented by illness from going.

All the men mentioned as well as the freeholders' committee declared on returning home that the gathering was one of the most successful of the kind ever held in America. The meetings were held in Exposition Hall, Pittsburgh, with a total of 448 delegates representing 27 different States. Two representatives came all the way from Russia to the meeting and another one from the Isthmus of Panama and one each from the provinces of Ontario, Ottawa and Winnipeg, Canada. Other attendants interested in road building and road building machinery swelled the numbers at all meetings held from Monday until Saturday to a total of 2,500. On two evenings the doors were thrown open to the Pittsburg public and the big hall was crowded to its capacity. Scores of interesting papers pertaining to road matters were read by the leading engineers connected with the association and each article was discussed separately, permitting the good and bad points of the subject broached to be threshed out for the benefit of the whole. The exhibition of road machinery, especially that of the up-to-date motor class, was one of the features of the gathering. An instance of the interest taken in these vehicles was evidenced when an agent told Highway Engineer Meeker that he had sold one automobile road machinery at the New York automobile show and had already booked six orders at the Pittsburgh meeting, with prospects of as many more.

Despite the fact that he was kept constantly by his duties as president of the association, Col. Stevens invited the New Jersey delegates to the convention to a luncheon at the Fort Pitt hotel Thursday noon. Robert A. Meeker was elected to the position of toastmaster and sprang a complete surprise on Col. Stevens before the affair terminated. After a few introductory remarks, New Jersey's leading road man was presented with a beautiful silver loving cup, bearing a suitable inscription one one side and the name of every man present on the other. The Colonel was greatly taken back but after regaining his composure expressed his thanks and gave a very interesting speech. Being of an old New Jersey family and thoroughly conversant with State traditions, he deplored the fact that New Jersey did not have a State historian to record the deeds of its citizens. He pointed out that everyone is familiar with what were really skirmishes at Concord and other places around Boston in the Revolution but that few know the decisive battles of the war of Independence were fought on Jersey soil. He lauded New Jersey's worthy sons and asserted that she has many who will be heard from in the near future. Reverting to the topic of roads, he reminded his hearers that New Jersey was the first to give State aid and that as road matters stood she had been the front rank for more than twenty years in providing good highways for her people.

LOG CABIN SHOOTERS FEW; CUPS NUMEROUS

Five Men Shoot for Trio of Trophies, Two of Which Are Won by Weems.

David G. Weems won the point cup, the chief season competition, by taking first place and five points at the Log Cabin Gun Club traps Saturday. He has accumulated 17 points during the season, and although the event has one more Saturday to run, cannot lose the trophy.

Two other mugs were won at the Woodland avenue traps Saturday. The Anderson Cup was also won by Weems, while A. D. Honeyman won the Take Home Cup in the quail shoot.

In the Anderson Cup shoot the donor himself had the best score, but he was not a competitor for the trophy. A high wind and the glare of the sun on the snow made good shooting difficult, and held down the size of the field.

The summaries:

Point Cup (25 birds)—D. G. Weems, 24; Harvey Fisk, 22; N. Anderson, 19; A. D. Honeyman, 13.

Anderson Cup (25 birds)—Weems, 23; Honeyman, 21; Van Boskerck, 21; Fisk, 19.

Quail Shoot—Honeyman, 14; Fisk, 13; Anderson, 12; Van Boskerck, 12; Weems, 9.

HONORS EVEN BETWEEN LOCAL DOGS AND OUT-OF-TOWN ENTRIES AT P. K. C. SHOW

Hooley Setters Win Most Specials, But Best Entries in Show Are From New Brunswick and Bayonne—More Than 250 Entries—Wilmerding, Neilson and Boreas Kennels Score—Show a Huge Success, to the Smallest Detail.

English setters of Abram G. Hooley's Meadowview Kennels, of North Plainfield, carried off the major portion of the special prizes at the Plainfield Kennel Club's second indoor open match show, held in Company K armory Saturday. The borough kennels had the best pair, best brace, and best team of four in the show, and Albert's Dan was crowned the best setter and sporting dog. The trophies for best dogs in the show, however, went out of town, Champion Seedley Stirling, a collie from Mrs. McCurdy's Pinewood Kennels, of New Brunswick, getting the President's Cup for best dog in the show, and the English bulldog Flirty Westal, of William E. Oakley's Oakwall Kennels in Bayonne, being judged the best bitch.

Success with a capital S crowned the deserving efforts of the hard working committee headed by A. Clinton Wilmerding and John J. O'Donohue, president and secretary, respectively, of the Plainfield club. The way everything went off left little to be desired, and the results of the day contributed a bright page to the history hook of a growing dog association.

About one hundred and seventy-five dogs were benched, making more than two hundred and fifty entries. The leading exhibitor was Mrs. W. P. Jenks, of Bernardsville, who showed a string of a dozen Scottish deerhounds and cocker spaniels. The second largest string came from the famous Walescott Kennels of Bernardsville, the Lloyds showing their Sealyham and Scottish terriers.

Cocker spaniels were numerically supreme, thirty-four of them being benched. Airedales, of which there were twenty, came second. There were eighteen bulldogs, seventeen setters and fifteen Pomeranians, the number of entries in the other classes being as follows: Boston terriers, 13; French bulldogs, 11; English toy spaniels, 10; St. Bernards, 8; collies, 8; Scottish terriers, 7; Russian wolfhounds, 6; foxhounds, 6; bull terriers, 6; fox terriers, 6; Scottish deerhounds, 5; pointers, 5; poodles, 5; Sealyham terriers, 5; beagles, 4; Pekinese, 4; Maltese terriers, 4; dachshunde, 2; German sheepdogs, 2; wire-haired fox terriers, 2; black and tan terriers, 2; toy poodles, 2; variety class under 20 pounds, 2; and one each of the following classes: Great Danes, greyhounds, and variety class over 20 pounds. There were no entries in the divisions for mastiffs, sporting spaniels other than cocker, Old English sheepdogs, chow-chows, Dalmatians, Irish terriers, West Highland white terriers, Schipperkes or Japanese spaniels.

The juvenile classes were a feature of the show, the youngsters ruling during the time they held sway. The Bray children, of Westfield, carried off both firsts with Vancroft Redfern. Every child exhibitor was presented with a box of candy from Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue, the little ones, as they paraded around the ring with their dogs, creating an unusual scene.

Airedales, fast becoming the most popular breed with local fanciers, furnished some of the keenest competition of the show, and one of the biggest surprises, C. Frederick Neilson's Rosecroft Nora scoring for best in the breed over J. J. O'Donnhue's Kenwyn Pennant, the best dog, and a Philadelphia and New York winner. Thomas K. Brady's dog Fairplay took the reserve. Mr. Neilson's Rosecroft Thankful was the best puppy.

William E. Oakley's Champion Flirty Westal, a fine specimen of bulldog, won in her class over A. M. Abell's Huck Finn's Tom Sawyer, and was a worthy contender for best-in-the-show laurels. A white heavyweight, Will de tanu, also from the Oakley kennels, carried off winners in dogs.

The classes for setters were swept by Meadowview kennels, and A. C. Wilmerding's cocker spaniels won over many rivals, Watnong Matterhorn winning the big honor of being the best dog of any breed or either sex, owned and exhibited by a member of the Dog Lovers' Association of America.

Boreas kennels took their usual place at the top among Russian wolfhounds, Ch. Draco of Boreas being the best.

A future champion Sealyham terrier was introduced by the Walescott kennels in the shape of Senny Peter, a son of Ch. Ivo Caradoc.

Hounds of the Watchung Hunt club, exhibited by a huntsman in livery, claimed their prize as quickly as if it had been a fox. Louis Batjer's beagles made a clean sweep, Meadowlark Melody being the best, and Leader and Fancy next.

Wex Jones' First Blood showed the way to the bull terriers; St. Crispin's Heelball, owned by W. G. Porteous, headed the Scottish terriers, with Frances Lloyd's Walescott Daredevil runner-up.

Other leading winners were the Pomeranian Bobby Boy, belonging to Mrs. H. Grasers, of Union Hill; the German sheepdogs Toll of Ittertal, of Charles G. Edwards, and Frital Scheff, belonging to Mrs. Katherine Abbe, both of which were shown by the Westfield woman: English toy spaniels, Neesbank Halmish of Neesbank kennels, and Overcross Bridget of Mrs. T. S. Conser; the Boston terrier Caledonia Pansy, from the Caledonian kennels in New Brunswick; Nan Gow kennels' Oh, poodle Bon Bon Buddy; Harry Ungerer's French bull Enguie de Luxe; and the terriers of Miss Lillian L. Doty, Frances A. McCahill, W. Little and Mrs. Julia Dunham.

Howell G. Lord's White Star Reggie won the puppy novice, and was second in American-bred St. Bernards. Charlie Messler's Major was second in the open for dogs, while John Amman's Beauty won the open for bitches and was second in the American-bred class.

Walter A. Breidenbach's Czar Nicholas won first novice and first American-bred in Russian wolfhounds, Boreas kennels getting everything else.

Mrs. W. P. Jenks had clear sailing with her Scottish deerhounds Kemble Brook and Kemble Scott.

The English setters class was a popular one, exhibitors who carried off ribbons, besides A. G. Hooley, being Thomas Phelon, Mrs. Philip Hone, F. L. Hadkins, Fred Bimble and S. S. Adams.

The biggest entry was in cocker spaniels, among winners of ribbons being the entries of Mrs. John J. Serrell, R. H. Armstrong, H. H. Wood, Mrs. W. P. Jenks, Miss Hazel Gardner, Harry C. English and Herbert Kuscomb.

E. H. Ferguson, Ernest Truslow, Wallace Jernee, Richard J. Harrigan, Albert M. Abell, were exhibitors who scored with bulldogs.

A score of Airedales were shown, Edmund Kiely, W. H. Campbell, Louis Bertschinger, F. L. Seaman, James E. Church, H. B. Venn, Jr., H. W. Taylor and Miss Ella K. Bray being among those who showed.

French bulldogs brought out F. N. Anderson, John A. Conway, Haworth kennels, S. C. Reynolds and F. A. Mills. In Boston terriers were the entries of Miss Pauline Gates, J. G. Voorhies, Mrs. E. D. Boehin, Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen and Caledonia kennels.

Mrs. Philip Hone's Pomeranian Chocolate Cream took two firsts and a third. Other winners were Miss Dorothy R. Jewett, Horace H. Wainwright, Mrs. Rufus C. Finch and Mrs. George M. Sheppard.

English toy spaniels shown were Bert Glaentzer's Tango, which won first novice; Retta L. Rosenthal, Arthur Lane and Mrs. H. Whittaker.

The judges, Theodore Offerman and E. Freeman Lloyd, did their work as only two such experts could. After a dinner, at which covers were laid for thirty-five, President Wilmerding presented the judges with engraved medals. At the conclusion of the presentation of the prizes, the show superintendent, Wilbur Purcell, also was presented with a gift, and in his speech of acceptance, struck a responsive chord when he spoke of a big three-point A. K. C. out-door show, which will probably be held here in the summer.

The winners of the special prizes follow:

PLAINFIELD GIRLS LOSE AT HARTFORD TO NEW ENGLAND BASKETBALL CHAMPS

Make Excellent Showing, Playing Under Many Handicaps—Game Witnessed by Six Hundred Enthusiasts—Only Three Points Tallied in Second Half—Connecticut Girls May Come Here This Month.

Yielding every possible advantage to the Susquehanna girls' basketball team, champions of New England, the Plainfield feminine challengers who went to Hartford, Conn., Saturday night, for the purpose of adding new laurels to their collection gathered hereabouts, learned the painful lesson of self-sacrifice in the 12 to 7 verdict which was handed to them. Agreeing to tackle a new set of rules designed for male competition and the disadvantage of a foreign playing floor spelled defeat for the Jersey combine, for the visitors failed to overcome either handicap. Coupled with these setbacks was the clean-cut, flashy, aggressive style of male basketball staged by the five sturdy feminine athletes of the Nutmeg State.

Summarized, the New England champions' demonstration was worthy of many a Jersey male contingent cherishing the distinction of a title. The Connecticut girls played an unrestricted style of boys' basketball; dribbling, passing and shooting in a manner that verged on the sensational. Their floor work was speedy and illusive and to say that their game baffled the Plainfielders is sizing up the situation charitably for the losers. Five hundred homesters cheered the defending aggregation on to victory, but soon after the game started it was plainly evident that they needed nothing but their sheer ability and confidence to turn the tide toward the winner's goal.

While the Plainfielders' opponents were performing with a familiar set of rules and on a court to which a majority of them were introduced when they were toddling infants, the New Jersey girls were fighting doggedly for every inch of ground and their game, uphill scrap called forth many a cheer of commendation from the big gallery. Woeful weakness in foul shooting and their inability to "get loose" from their ever present guards were prime factors in keeping the visitors on the bottom of the heap. Both teams missed try after try from the foul line, and the Connecticut aggregation fell down on many an easy try for a field goal. To the credit of the Plainfield players it must be said that they missed few tries at two point counters, and if there was one point in which they excelled it was this one.

Guarding was an outstanding feature of the champions' game, neither Miss Helen Hummel nor Miss Helen Bryniarski being allowed an open shot during the entire thirty minutes of fighting. Miss Clara Smith was particularly strong on the defense for the visitors, her playing being the most prominent feature of the combat. It was largely due to her clever guarding that Miss Reardon, heralded as the greatest of girl basketball players in the Nutmeg State, was held to two field goals.

Of the combat, yesterday's Hartford Globe commented in the following manner:

"It was a game in which both teams 'covered up' to perfection, so much so that during the second half not a field basket was made by either team. Plainfield was first to score, Miss Helen Hummel getting a point on a free try after three minutes of play, but Miss Jones, the speedy center of the Susquehannas, came right back with a pretty basket from the center of the floor. The Susquehannas then set the pace and kept in front of the Skeeters until the final whistle.

"In the second half the Plainfield maidens came on the floor with a do or die spirit, but they were covered in such a manner by the Hartford girls as to be practically helpless. The Susquehannas outplayed the visitors again in this half, but missed a dozen or more easy tries for the basket. Miss Hummel threw two foul goals for Plainfield, and Miss Jones registered another for Hartford, and this was the net scoring for the half. Clara Smith, the chubby guard of the Plainfield quintet, made a hit with the male portion of the audience by her dogged style of play. The fans gave vent to their enthusiasm by paraphrasing the cheer of the Susquehanna girls on the side lines, as follows:

"'One, two ,three, four;
Who are we for?
The fat one, that fat one,
Rah, Rah, Rah.'"

The Courant, of Hartford, said: "In justice to the visiting army, it was explained at the beginning of the battle that the Plainfield girls were wholly feminine and did not play under the men's rules, which handicapped them to some extent. However, the New Jerseyites certainly picked up the game in quick fashion for they had the Susquehannas and their many supporters on the anxious seat for awhile at the end of the first period. Two goals from the floor in quick succession and one other from the foul line brought the score dangerously close to that of the defending team which called forth all of its strategy in order to put the battle safely past defeat.

"The defensive work and general aggressiveness of both teams was well above par, making the game a mighty interesting one to watch."

The Plainfielders were entertained at the Hotel Bond over night and returned to this city last evening, stopping off at New Haven on the return trip. Every comfort was looked out for with the true Nutmeg State gallantry of "Chick" Whitney, the manager of the Susquehanna girls. Beside the team the following Plainfielders registered at the Hotel Bond: Miss Ida Hummel, Mrs. Frank Linke, James McNamee, and Miss Madeline Booth, of Elizabeth. Among the spectators witnessing the game were Walter Scribner, formerly of East Front street, this city, and George A. McCombe, another former Plainfielder.

Arrangements are under way to have the Susquehanna team appear here the latter part of this month.

SPEARY CERTAIN OF MARKOWITZ PLAQUE

Newark Elk Can't Be Beaten Out for Average Honors of Senior League.

John Speary, of Newark Lodge, has won the Markowitz Plaque, which goes to the individual average champion of the Senior Elks' League. Speary will conclude his seaso nof fifty-four games tonight, when the Paterson Elks are slated to roll here, and there isn't a chance of any other pinner finishing ahead of the present leader.

Speary's average of fifty-one games rolled to date is 197.2. The Newark Elks are leading for the Radel trophy, the team average prize. Their mark is 941.44.

The Newark team is two games ahead of Elizabeth, and only by winning three games from New Brunswick while Newark loses to Paterson can the Elizabeth Antlers finish ahead of the locals. New Brunswick is the only other team well in the running, but the College Town Bills will have to win practically all their remaining games to retain the championship they now hold.

The averages follow:

ATHENIANS BOW TO OPPONENTS

Forge Ahead of Incorporator Seconds, but Then First Team Men Enter Game.

STRUGGLE ENDS 24-18

Killing Pace Maintained in Game Played in Manhattan Casnio, New York, Before Large Audience—Locals in Montclair Tomorrow.

The Athenian basketeers were outpointed but not outplayed by the "Incorporator" Tigers, the second string men of the famous world's champion "Incorporator" team, in New York Friday night. The score ended 24 to 18.

Playing in the spacious Manhattan Casino court, the local boys kept pace with the fast-going Tigers, and in the last five minutes of the game brought the vast throng of rooters to their feet, when, with the last bit of strength, they overcame the two-point lead held by the Tigers, and slipped into the van. However, this advantage was short-lived, for Mose, Scisco and Moore, of the first team were sent in fresh to stop the mad dash for a victory.

The appearance of these new men was a signal for the Tigers to rally, and the Athenians, with the effect of the terrific pact that characterized the battle plainly showing, were powerless before the onrush of the Tigers, and succumbed to a six-point lead.

Though forced to swallow defeat, the Athenians, together with Coach Rosenson, are much elated over their creditable showing before New York fans, and are now confident of trimming the Montclair Y. M. C. A quintet tomorrw night in Montclair, a game that will do much to decide the State championship.

HOPE CHAPEL WINS ONE-SIDED SET-TO

Hope Chapel's basketball team, playing at home, captured a one-sided game over a scrub team from the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, 51 to 12. Just how one-sided the contest was may be learned from the scoring done in the second half, when the Hopes ran up 30 points while their opponents were accounting for a solitary basket, dropped in by Campbell.

Marsh alone made enough points to defeat the visitors single-handed, and Porter did the same thing, while T. Snyder, playing center, made more field goals than all the members of the losing side put together, and Hunter, at guard, chucked in as many baskets as the losing five. Brandt made nine points for the Y. M. C. A. tossers in the first half.

CAR STRIKE TIES UP NATIONAL CAPITAL

Washington Trolley Cars Are at a Standstill.

Washington, March 6.—Not a street car in Washington is running. For the first time in the history of electric railyway traction this city is having the experience of a real street car strike.

Although a few cars were operated by motormen and conductors who had stuck to their posts, the ranks of the strikers gradually swelled. Fear that violence might occur caused the officials of the Capital Traction company and the Washington Railway and Electric company to stop all cars temporarily.

Whether traffic is to be resumed will depend on the outcome of efforts being made by the commissioners of the District of Columbia and officials of the department of labor to bring about arbitration.

The car company officials indicate that they will try to operate the cars at long intervals by strike breakers. The prospect is, however, that most if not all the army of government workers will walk to their work in the morning.

Members of congress living at a distance from the capital and not owning automobiles are in a particularly bad plight. They are dubious about political consequences that may come to them if they should be found riding on cars operated by strike breakers.

PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION MUST CONTINUE FREE LIGHTING TO THE CITY

COURT OF ERRORS AND APPEALS DECIDES THAT PLAINFIELD'S AGREEMENT WITH COMPANY IS VALID AND MUST STAND.

PUBLIC UTILITY ACT IS NOT RETROACTIVE

Chancery Court Rather Than Utility Board Proper Tribunal to Maintain Rights Granted—Many Municipalities Affected—Great Victory For Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, Who Represented City.

Trenton, March 7.—Municipalities of the State won a distinct victory yesterday by a unanimous decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals, holding that the contract by which the Public Service Electric Company agreed to furnish free lighting to the municipal buildings of Plainfield is valid and enforceable.

The essence of the opinion written by Chancellor Walker is that the language of the public utilities act is prospective and not retroactive, and hence that it cannot operate upon the contract made with Plainfield in 1898, which was concededly lawful when made.

The effect of the decision is to sustain other contracts made between municipalities and public utility corporations prior to the enactment of the public utilities law. This would presumably include the five per cent. tax on trolley receipts in Newark, which, it was contended, would fail if the Supreme Court's decision in the Plainfield case were sustained upon the ground taken by that tribunal.

Although the Court of Errors and Appeals today affirmed the Supreme Court decision upon other grounds, the opinion by the chancellor indicates a reversal in so far as the more important questions involved are concerned. The Court of Errors held that the Public Utility Commission, in effect, ordered the specific performance of a contract, which is an equitable power exclusively residing in the Court of Chancery. Hence, while sustaining the validity of the contract, the court held the city had not sought the proper tribunal to maintain its rights.

The contract of 1898, including the provision for free lighting, was part of the consideration under which Plainfield granted a franchise to the Public Service Electric Company. After carrying out the terms of the contract for more than fifteen years, the Public Service Company discontinued the free service upon the ground that it was prohibited from granting gratuities under the public utilities law. This was followed by an appeal to the Public Utility Commission, which ordered the company to resume the free service.

On appeal the Supreme Court held that the provision for free service was voided by the public utilties act and that the language of the act was not broad enough to confer power to enforce specific performance of contract. The Court of Errors agreed with the latter contention, but not with the former.

When Plainfield granted a franchise to the Public Service to operate an electric light plant in that city in 1898 an agreement was entered into by which the corporation contracted to light the City Hall, the fire houses and other public buildings free of cost. It was in December, 1913, that the Public Service served notice on the city that after February 1, 1914, it would discontinue the free lighting service. This was followed soon afterward by the contention of the corporation that the public utility act of 1911 prohibiting undue and unreasonable discrimination, vitiated the contract with the city for free lighting of public buildings.

By order of the City Conucil the city contested the cancellation of the contract by an appeal to the Public Utility Commission. After a full hearing the commission on April 4, 1914, upheld the city's contention that the free lighting provision was not a discrimination, and decided that the corporation was bound by the terms of its contract to afford such lighting service to Plainfield without charge.

An appeal from this decision was taken to the Supreme Court, where the case was argued on June 4 of that year and decision was reserved. Nearly nine months later—on March 27, 1915—the Supreme Court handed down a decision reversing the findings of the Public Utility Commission on the ground that the spirit of the utility act had been violated by the giving of free service to the city. The opinion was written by Justice Kalisch, who declared that one of the objects of the utility law "was to abrogate the granting of gratuities to municipalities and thereby prevent reciprocal favors fom being granted to the donors. The evil sought to be eradicated was the insidious influence which might be exercised on municipal bodies and officers against the general public welfare by the donors of such grautities."

The city immediately took an appeal from this decision to the Court of Errors, and it was this appeal that we decided yesterday. Plainfield was joined in the litigation by the Public Utility Commission and by a number of municipalities which were indirectly affected by the decision, including Newark, Jersey City and Passaic. Later the New Jersey State League of Municipalities joined in the appeal on the ground that the issues involved were widespread and would affect every municipality where permission to operate a public utility had been granted. It was contended, for instance, that many contract agreements and contract ordinances existed between public utility companies and municipalities in all parts of the State, and that of the Supreme Court decision should be upheld, then every special advantage received by the municipalities in return for granting privileges to the utilities would be voided. In Newark, it was claimed, the trolley company would no longer be compelled to give transfers, to keep the fare within the city limits at five cents, to carry policemen and firemen free, to give a three-cent fare to school children, or to run a direct line from South Oorange.

The argument was also put up that the sustaining of the Supreme Court in the case would mean taking away from the municipalities of rights to impose a tax on utility property because of tax exemption by charter; to compel trolley companies to pave between their tracks and keep the pavement in repair; to regulate the headway of cars; to require an annual license fee for cars, and to insist on the extension of service to terms that had been promised by the company.

P. H. S. TEAM TO DEBATE WITH EAST ORANGE HIGH

Having reached the semi-finals in the Rutgers College Debating League, the Plainfield High School debating team will meet East Orange on March 17. The debate will be in the local High School auditorium with the same question under discussion as before, national prohibition. The P. H. S. arguers have been assigned the affirmative and East Orange the negative.

The results of the meetings in the league last Friday night follow: South Side lost at Plainfield; Hackensack lost at Passaic; Central High School lost at East Orange, and Barringer won at Bayonne. The schedule in the semi-finals is, besides East Orange here, Barringer at Passaic.

EXAMINATION FOR NAVY.

HOPES OF SUFFRAGISTS RECEIVE DECISIVE BLOW

Trenton, March 7.—Hopes of the suffragists to vote at the next presidential election received a decisive blow last night, when Senator Hennessy's bill, giving them this right, was defeated. The bill was reported adversely by the Senate Judiciary Committee, but Senator Hennessy made a motion that the bill be given a second reading in spite of the adverse report. His motion received only three votes, Colgate of Essex, Pierce of Union and Senator Hennessy voting in the affirmative, while there were ten against.

ASKS PROBE OF CITY FIREMEN

J. G. Lyle, in Letter to Council Makes Bitter Attack on Department.

CHIEF DOANE A TARGET

Uses Names of Many Prominent People, Including Two Councilmen, Who Saw Work at His Home, Which Prompted the Letter.

Charging that the Plainfield fire department was "poorly directed," "poorly drilled," "incompetent" and "inefficient," and that its present head should have been retired years ago, J. G. Lyle, who lives at 1200 West Seventh street, last night filed with the Mayor and Common Council a formal demand for an official investigation.

The charges came as a result of a fire in the Lyle home on the evening of January 18, when the house was badly damaged and a maid in the home was so seriously burned that she was confined to Muhlenberg Hospital. Mr. Lyle filed his charges with Mayor Calkins on the first day of the present month, and they were referred to the Council last night. They have been referred to members of the fire committee, of which Councilman John H. Cose is chairman, and a public hearing will probably be held within the near future, although no action has been taken.

Accompanying the views of Mr. Lyle, and they were but views, he admitted, as he was in New York when the fire took place, were statements from a number of eyewitnesses to events of the evening on which he based his charges. He even brought in the names of Councilmen Hylan and Graves, and one of the witnesses quoted by him is Donald Hylan, a son of the Councilman. Those quoted

COUNCIL PLANS TO IMPROVE STREETS

Madison and Central to Be Widened and Stelle Extended.

Steps in the widening of Madison and Central avenues and the extension of Stelle avenue were taken by members of the Common Council at the meeting of last night.

The report of Commissioners Arthur E. Smith, Albert H. Atterbury and J. Fred MacDonald, on the Madison avenue improvement, was received and approved. This contains the asssessments of benefits and damages. There are no changes over the amended reports of commissioners on this work that was approved by the Council but was later declared illegal by the Supreme Court of the State on an appeal taken by Fred Endress, a property owner, who attacked the procedure of the Council. The total benefits for the city at large amount to $5,539. The damages assessed against the Drier estate amount to $11,626, while the net damages against this estate total $10,000. The total cost to the city will be $36,101.25. By resolution the Council agreed to act at once in this matter, and the treasurer was instructed to pay all benefits and the collector to receive all damages and receipt for same.

An opportunity was given all property owners on Central avenue to treat with the Council or object to the widening of that street. W. S. Angleman appeared for the Calvary Baptist church, colored. He said that the church did not want to oppose the improvement, but that because of the construction of the building it would take away steps to the basement used as a Sunday-school room, and necessitate the cramping of Sundayschool quarters.

Wm. V. W. Nash, Jr., appeared as attorney for Mrs. L. B. Benson, who owns a house on the northeast side, and offered to treat with the Council for damage that will be done the property. He said that because of the small lot and the fact that the house sits on the sidewalk the property would be practically ruined. Mr. Nash opposed the improvement because, he said, there was no real reason for it at this time. He said Mrs. Benson fixed the damages to her property at $1,500 and offered to treat with the Council on that basis.

A proposition from the Kenyon Garden Association, that has acquired a tract of land between Union and Arlington avenues, offering to give the city all land necessary to open Stelle avenue to Arlington avenue was received and referred to the street committee. P. Frank Stone and other property owners filed a petition requesting that Stelle avenue be opened and paved from Grant to Hobart avenues.

A resolution later introduced gave to the street committee authority to go ahead with a survey for the opening of Stelle avenue, having all maps and drawings made. This work is to be done at once.

RUSSIAN ARTISTS CHARM AUDIENCE

Mme. Dimitrief and Symphony String Orchestra Heard at Plainfield High School.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM

Affair Given Under the Auspices of Art Department of Monday Afternoon Club is Attended by a Large Audience of Music Lovers.

The Plainfield High School Auditorium was more than three-quarters filled yesterday afternoon with an audience most appreciative of the numbers rendered by the Russian Symphony String Quartet and Mme. Nina Dimitrieff, the soprano soloist. The concert was arranged by the art department of the Monday Afternoon Club and was without a doubt the most pleasing of any affair given under the auspices of the club. The program contained a choice selection of music, taken from the collections of some of the greatest of Russian masters. The performers included Michael Gusikoff, first violin; Michel Bernstein, second violin; Jacob Altschuler, viola and Modest Altschuler, 'cello, members of the string quartet, and the famous Russian soloist. The latter won the unstinted applause of the large audience, her charming personality and rich soprano voice full of strength and beauty enhancing the recital which was given with the feeling that only a native Russian can give to the songs of that country. Mme. Nina Dimitrieff was accompanied on the piano by Miss Marie Louise Sutorius. Both the quartet and the soloist were repeatedly encored and responded generously.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Second String Quartet (Tschaikowsky), Andante, Moderato assai, Scherzo, Finale, Russian Symphony String Quartet; Aria by "Tamara," (Rubenstein), from opera Demon, Mme. Nina Dimitrieff; Andante Cantabile (Tschaikowsky), Allegretto (Afanasieff), Russian Symphony String Quartet; Songs, "Had I Known That," (Tschaikowsky), "She Is Thine," (Greischaninoff), "Mother Darling," Folk Song, "Hopak," little Russian dance (Musorgsky), Mme. Nina Dimitrieff; Intermezzo Russe (Ippolitoff-Ivanoff), Scherzo-Humeresque, (Ippolitoff-Ivanoff), Russian Symphony String Quartet.

In her rendition of "Had I Known That," Mme. Dimitrieff poured all the despair of a young Russian girl whose love had gone away, into her song and gave a realtisic note of sympathy to the selection. Her "Mother Darling" proved to be another pleasing selection, the awakening love in a young baby's life being portrayed in an excellent manner. The rendition deals with a young girl who confides to her mother of a new experience and sensation which she has never felt before. The mother answer "You are ready to love." In "Hopak" (little Russian dance) the singer forced all the feigned liveliness of a young Russian girl, who by force is married to a Cossack whom she despises, but despite the fact enters into all the revelry at her command in order to drown her sorrow.

The musical numbers were equally as popular, the various stringed instruments blending with a radiant sweetness and the difficult selections being rendered with the ease of masters of their instruments.

WEAN MAY SUCCEED JAMES T. MACMURRAY

Acts As City Clerk Pro Tem—Will Not Leave the City.

George B. Wean, for many years assistant city clerk, acted as clerk of the Common Council last night in the absence of Clerk James T. MacMurray. The resignation of Mr. MacMurray was read to members of the Council. It was referred to the finance committee and will be reported back at the next meeting. Council members discussed the resignation of Mr. MacMurray in conference last night, but decided upon no man for the place. Practically all of them are in favor of offering the position to Mr. Wean, although there has as yet been no no discussion of a successor to Mr. MacMurray. It was reported yesterday that Mr. Wean would go with the former clerk, but this is unfounded. He is to remain in the city of Plainfield.

MUSICAL PLAY MAKES BIG HIT

"The Army of the Reformed Republic" Given By Boro P.-T. Association.

AN EXCELLENT CAST

Ensemble and Solo Numbers As Well As Selections by the Orchestra Are Well Received By a Large Audience.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the North Plainfield schools realized a considerable sum from the one-act musical comedy, "The Army of the Reformed Republic," given under its auspices at the Columbus auditorium last night. The hall was occupied by about three hundred people, who applauded the various participants in a hearty manner. Encores were numerous throughout the evening. The proceeds will be added to the fund that is being raised to purchase a Victrola for the borough schools.

Much of the success of the production is due to the efforts of the executive committee of the Parent-Teacher Association and the chairmen of the various committees. These included: President, Mrs. W. O. Taylor; first vice-president, Mrs. Guy Peck; second vice-president, D. Fred Aungst; secretary, Mrs. Frank Rowley; treasurer, Mrs. Judd Stewart; Mrs. Warren Townley, Mrs. E. D. Hutchinson, Mrs. E. P. Wisch, Mrs. William Demarest, Mrs. Andrew Kenney, Mrs. J. H. Buchanan, Mrs. L. Townley, Mrs. M. Ewart and Mrs. F. Bach. These were assisted by the following advertising managers: Alfred Seidel and C. Spear Roll; stage managers, Douglas Stewart and Alexander Milne; electricians, C. Spear and S. Chandler, and property managers, Alfred Seidel and C. Spear

COAL AND FEED TO COME FROM HARRIGAN

Council Awards Contracts For Present Year—Other Business.

The bid of Joseph Harrigan for hay, oats and straw for the city for the remainder of this year was accepted by members of the Council last night. His prices are: Oats, $1.34 a bag; hay, $1.30 for 100 pounds; rice straw, 95 cents for 100 pounds. Mr. Harrigan will also furnish coal for the city during this year. His bid was $6.37½ a ton, while that of the Consumers' Coal Company, the only other bidder, was $6.75 a ton.

Bids for crushed stone to be used in building culverts and crosswalks were submitted by the Watchung Stone Company and the Plainfield Trap Rock Company. They were referred to the street committee.

The application of Ysbrand De Dood to install three gasoline tanks at his cleaning establishment on Park avenue was granted.

The report of the clerk of District Court, giving receipts as $136.41, and disbursements as $37.51, for the month of February, was received and filed. Seven building permits were issued during the month according to the report of Building Inspector Doane.

A communication from Mayor Calkins, appointing John McGauley and William S. Torrey as special policemen, to serve for one year, was received and approved.

A request from Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., that it be allowed a room in the New City Hall was received and referred to the building committee.

Mayor Calkins sent to the Council a petition from taxicab owners asking that they be allowed to raise local rates. It was referred to the committee on public affairs.

Upon resolution of Councilman Cose a fire hydrant was ordered installed at Woodland and Putnam avenues and a street light on Greenbrook road. The fire committee was authorized to buy a pulmotor at a cost not to exceed $150, and also to purchase a 500-gallon gasoline storage tank, with self-measuring pump, for fire headquarters. It will cost $234.55.

The Council adjourned until March 28.

HOURS OF LABOR FOR WOMEN TOPIC

Business Men Hear Talks on Subject by Mrs. Andrews and Henry Rosenbaum.

SCHOOL IS SUGGESTED

Merchant Says that Best Thing to Improve Efficiency Would Be to Give Girls Instruction in Salesmanship—More Members Elected.

Declaring that the average twentieth century business man realizes that a short day for shop girls is a big factor in developing efficiency, providing his business is properly systematized, Henry Rosenbaum summarized in brief an issue that had awakened considerable interest at the monthly meeting of the local Business Men's Association last night, which was attended by a number of women interested in the welfare of girls working in Plainfield stores. Mr. Rosenbaum's concise resume of the situation under discussion followed a number of short pleas by the women and defensive remarks by the business men. His words were confined largely to straightening out a mistaken idea as to the association's attitude toward the ten-hour law, and when he concluded it was plainly evident that the Plainfield merchant was willing to line up with any movement designed to help the shop girl rather than to fight it.

Mrs. Irene Osgood Adrews, of New York city, who was brought here by interested Plainfield women to combat a supposedly antagonistic spirit among local business men, gave a statistical survey of woman's labor conditions in other parts of the United States. Her figures bore out the statement that a country-wide tendency toward the eight-hour day had developed, and that the standard of

ASK PROTECTION AGAINST ALIENS

Good Americans With Unpronounceable Names Oppose Foreign Competition.

Demanding that citizens of the United States and residents of Plainfield be protected from unfair competition from aliens, Harry Rosenthal, L. Rosenthal, I. Shrager, John Giletto, B. Frankel, M. Seinul, and two men whose names Councilman Graves was unable to pronounce, all good Americans engaged in the junk business, last night, in applying for a renewal of licenses, protested against the influx of outside dealers. The petition declared that the junk business in Plainfield was limited, and that there was hardly enough for local residents. All were granted a renewal of licenses, and five applicants who have not been in business here before were held up by Chairman Graves for an investigation. The license committee intends to protect local citizens, even if it cannot pronounce all their names. Other licenses granted were Robert Murray and William A. Sdroth, to conduct the business of auctioneers.

CONGRESS TO VOTE TO TABLE TONIGHT

The Lemore Resolution Will Come Up Under Special Rule.

Washington, March 7.—By a vote of 271 to 138 members of Congress this afternoon adopted a special rule under which the McLemore resolution warning Americans off armed liners is to be brought up tonight on a vote to table. The vote is a victory for President Wilson in that it will bring about a decisive vote on the warning resolution, as he has requested. Those who voted no on the special rule are Wilson foes, and the majority was about what was expected by those who polled Congress for the President ten days ago.

Republicans and Bryan Democrats sought to substitute the Campbell resolution and thus complicate procedure, but they were decisively defeated when a motion to call up the previous question came before the House, thus fortelling a victory for Wilson. The vote tonight to table the McLemore resolution will be substantially the same as that of this afternoon.

7:07 INCHES OF SNOW.

According to Weather Prophet John Neagle, there was a total snowfall yesterday of 7:07 inches. Last night it looked as though there would be a blizzard, but luckily it stopped snowing early in the evening, and today a milder temperature caused much of the snow to disappear about as fast as it came.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bebout, of 1252 Cameron avenue, have removed to 423 West Fifth street.

MARTINE NOT IN RACE FOR DELEGATE

Asks Voters to Nominate Wilson and Avoid Party Suicide.

Senator James E. Martine will not be a candidate for delegate-at-large from the State of New Jersey to the Democratic Convention. Recently, papers in all parts of the state have printed stories of his candidacy, but they are denied in an emphatic statement sent out from Washington yesterday. The statement of Senator Martine follows:

"I have seen my name mentioned in the press several times in the last few weeks as a possible candidate for delegate-at-large from the State of New Jersey to the Democratic National Convention to be held at St. Louis on June 14 next. While I deem it a dignified honor to be even mentioned for this post, yet, in view of the fact I have already announced my candidacy before the people of my state for the United States Senatorship to succeed myself after March 4, 1917, I hereby declare that I will not be a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Democratic National Convention.

"I take this opportunity to urge upon the Democrats of my state and the country at large the wisdom of nominating again for president of the United States, Woodrow Wilson. To this end I shall bend my most earnest efforts, for I believe that any other course would be political suicide to our party."

LEROY CARL LARSEN.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alpaugh, of New Germantown, returned Saturday, after visiting their daughter, Mrs. Daniel Coughlin, at Califon.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Methodist church, in East Whitehouse, will hold a box social March 18 in the basement of that edifice.

Peter Lane, of the Ridge, who has been suffering a month from an affection of the knee, caused by a fall on the ice, was taken Saturday to Somerset Hospital in Somerville.

Members of the old Whitehouse Gun Club went to the Fountain House, near Easton, Pa., Saturday for a live bird shoot. Those who made the trip were John L. Weinrebe, Samuel D. Skillman, Jacob C. Dorland, Charles Tomson, Miller S. Apgar, Raymond C. Stryker, Bert Lindsley and George H. Cramer.

A meeting was held Friday night in the Bungalow restaurant in East Whitehouse of those interested in the organization of a homestead of the Brotherhood of American Yeoman here. Addresses were made by W. T. Morgan, of Plainfield, the State deputy, and others from Bound Brook and Plainfield, and quite a number of residents of the town expressed their willingness to join such an organization. Another meeting will be held in the near future, when the work of forming a homestead here will be taken up.

Miss Laura Cole, of Centerville, was the recent guest of various relatives in Somerville.

Eight sharpshooters and thirteen marksmen were also awarded medals. It was the wish of the entire company that Captain Case make the presentation of medals.

ELECT REPUBLICAN MAYORS.

Democrats Lose Seven Out of Ten City Elections In Maine.

Portland, Me., March 7.—Republican mayoralty candidates were successful in seven out of the ten city elections. Colonel Frederic E. Boothby, former Republican mayor of Portland, was elected mayor of Waterville, his present home, by a margin of only two votes over his Democratic opponent.

Other Republican mayors elected are Henry R. Porter at Auburn, Fred T. Eldridge at Eastport, Alexander C. Hagerthy at Ellsworth, John M. Robinson at Hallowell, James H. Fenderson at Saco and Charles E. West at South Portland.

The successful Democratic candidates are John A. Small at Bath, Louis J. Brann at Lewiston and Frank C. Flint at Rockland.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

--U. S. Astor Theatre--

"Still Waters," with that roguish little ingenue, Marguerite Clark, in the leading role, was the magnet that attracted a capacity audience to the U. S. Astor theatre last night despite the show. Miss Clark has a legion of friends in Plainfield, and "Still Waters" was a positive treat for them. It is just the kind of picture for which Miss Clark is best fitted. One of the finest films of the season will be shown Thursday and Friday at the Astor, in "Mme. Butterfly," with Mary Pickford, many of the scenes of which were taken in Plainfield. The photoplay adheres closely to the story of the opera until the end when, instead of stabbing herself to death as Cho Cho San does in the opera, she walks slowly into a lake and is drowned. This in no way detracts from the dramatic value of the tale. Mary Pickford, for the first time in her career, is seen in the role of a Japanese maid.

WILL GIVE OUTLINE OF HIS PLATFORM

H. Otto Wittpenn to Speak at a Testimonial Dinner in Newark Tonight.

Newark, March 7.—Naval Officer H. Otto Wittpenn, of Jersey City, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is expected tonight to go into the complete outline of the platform upon which he is seeking the support of the voters at the September primaries. His address will be delivered at a testimonial dinner tendered him by the Democratic members of the Legislature at the Hotel Washington in this city.

While the sale of tickets for the dinner has been restricted to a limited number an immense crowd is expected and the seating capacity of the big dining hall will probably be tested. Responses to the invitations sent out by the dinner committee have come from all parts of the State, and particularly large delegations will attend from each of the State's northern counties.

Mr. Wittpenn, since the announcement of his candidacy for the governorship, has visited several counties and met his Democratic friends, in each instance being received with great enthusiasm and pledges of support, but his address tonight will signal the real opening of his campaign. Because of this his address is being awaited with great interest by the people of the State.

Other speakers at the dinner will discuss national and State issues in the campaign that is just opening.

PRESENTS CLAIM FOR DAMAGE TO AUTOMOBILE

Somerville, March 7.—The Borough Council of this place held its monthly meeting last evening in Engine Company No. 1 room, and among the matters considered and disposed of was a claim of $100, made by Martin B. Stutsman, of Plainfield, for damages alleged to have been sustained to an automobile by it running over a manhole on North Bridge street. It is charged by Mr. Stutsman that the manhole projects to far above the roadway. Borough Attorney A. M. Beekman informed the Council that it had no authority to reimburse Mr. Stutsman.

Committees from the engine company at West End Hose Company were present regarding the purchase of new apparatus, but were informed by Mayor Steele that nothing could be done until the Council had been advised regarding the law governing the situation. The West End Hose Company complained to the Council a month ago about its horse as being unfit for fire service, and would like a motor-driven combination fire-fighting machine, which would cost about $7,000.

The company would like to have a steam fire engine, but to alter its quarters would mean a large outlay of money and cause an additional salary to be fixed to maintain an engineer to operate the engine.

Many of the large taxpayers of the borough have expressed the opinion that the Council would not make a mistake if it replaced the engine at No. 1 house, which has been in service for many years, with a new steamer, capable of throwing 900 or 1,100 gallons of water per minute.

A WEATHER MYTH

The Idea That the Old Fashioned Winter Was a Fury.

FAMOUS FROSTS WERE RARE.

Records Show That Remarkable Snowstorms and Long Seasons of Hard Freezing Were Not All the Rule. Testimony of Pepys and Evelyn.

Perhaps the greatest of weather myths is the legend of the "old fashioned winter"—that prolonged season of ice and snow which is supposed to have held the land in its grip every year. So firmly has this idea been held for many years that it came as a shock when meteorologists first began to delve into the records of the past and prove its inaccuracy.

There can be no doubt that Charles Dickens, Washington Irving, artists who depicted winter scenes, and, in a later era, the Christmas number and the Christmas card are mainly responsible for the belief that up to about half a century ago the British winters were always extremely severe.

Such records as we possess prove the fallacy of the idea. No records of the weather were kept up to about fifty or sixty years ago, so that we have to rely on the statements of private diaries and old family records, and therefore it takes a lot of research to obtain any data at all.

In olden times no one troubled to make note of average weather, for writing was an art possessed only by few, and writing materials were hard to obtain; hence it is that mention is made only of something unusual, some abnormally mild winter or heavy fall of snow or prolonged frosts.

And when all is said there are comparatively few of the latter, although they were likely to be recorded, while the milder ones would be passed over. A few years ago there were published in France some notes concerning very mild winters in early times. Gregory of Tours tells us that 584 was exceptionally mild, as were the winters of 808, 834, 844 and 1007, when influenza was rife.

Another mild season occurred in 1229, when the birds are said to have hatched their young by February, while the weather journal of the Rev. William Merle, which is in the Bodleian library at Oxford, shows us that during the middle of the fourteenth century the weather was very much as it is now and that mild winters were not uncommon.

There were one or two mild winters during the next hundred years, the most notable one being that of 1495, when barley and corn were in the ear at the end of January. Writings of the sixteenth century have similar testimony to offer, the one or two exceptions only going to prove the rule because they aroused so much comment.

Pepys and Evelyn come to our aid from the middle to the end of the seventeenth century and prove conclusively that the old fashioned winter is a myth. The dairies of these famous writers have been analyzed, and as a result it is found that falls of snow are mentioned only thirteen times over nearly sixty years, while exceptionally heavy storms are referred to only three times.

In the same period there were but six prolonged frosts, and apparently only the famous one of 1683-4 and another a few years later were so severe as the modern ones of 1890-1 and 1895. In January, 1661, Pepys comments on the mild winter, and in December of the following year he notes that he awoke to find the roofs covered with snow, which he had not seen for three years.

Evelyn has the same story to tell—a few hard winters and many mild ones. Such years were 1686-7, Dec. 29, "Little appearance of winter as yet," and 1692-3, Feb. 4, "Hitherto an exceedingly mild winter—an extraordinarily dry and warm season, without frost and like a new spring, such as has not been known for many years."

Here and there we come across references to the weather which are just like the lettters written to modern newspapers informing readers that "roses and primroses were in bloom in my garden on Christmas day." Gilbert White's record of the weather between 1768 and 1798 helps to end the myth, for the same number of years at the present day would show pretty much the same sort of weather, as thirteen of the Decembers were mild and wet.

There were mild winters in the beginning of the nineteenth century, as well as one or two severe ones, so that we may rest assured that the "old fashioned winter" was just like the new fashioned ones.—Ernest C. Pulbrook in London Family Herald.

Stuck to His Rule.

He had just been discharged from the service, owing to wounds, and thought to raise a few pounds by writing his reminiscences of twelve months' fighting. Having completed the manuscript while in hospital, he offered it to a publisher for £100. It was a very small volume, and such a price made the publisher raise his eyes in surprise and inquire the reasons for such a demand. "My dear sir," replied the author, "it has been a point of honor with me, as a soldier, always to sell my life as dearly as possible."—London Chronicle.

It is his whole life, not a few incidents of it, that proves the man.—Bovee.

A Want Ad Is Often the First Link in a Chain of Consequences

It initiates something of far-reaching importance to you. You meet someone with whom you will do business for years—or you buy or sell property that changes the currents of your daily affairs. Many a want ad is of but transient importance of course. But others influence your life for years and years.

DOMESTIC LIFE IN AFRICA.

A Warning to Little Boys Who Would Like to Be Heathens.

I went with my lantern into Ze's little hut, says Jean Kenyon Mackenzie in the Atlantic Monthly. I sat down by the fire, and there was the family too. Mendom was heating some water in a big black kettle. The youngest, Mpioga, still without teeth, was howling in the arms of little brother. Presently to the light of my lantern Mendom brings her three-year-old. She empties her hot water into a wooden bowl; with a sponge of crushed leaves she washes first one little foot and then the other. Kid bowls.

His feet are sore, poor little duffer! He holds out his hand for his father to hold. Mother is relentless until both feet are soaked; then she opens a little leaf packet. There is salve made of the bark of the redwood tree. She adds a little palm oil to this, and very carefully she anoints the little feet. The sobs subside, and the child walks off on his heels.

Now the mother pours more water into the bowl, takes the fretful baby out of the hands of little brother, stands the weeny thing in her belt of beads on the clay floor and swabs her down with water. There is the familiar initial gasp. With her maternal hands she cleanses that little person all glittering with wet, and she says, looking at me and smiling, "God has sent me much trouble." And the father says, apropos of nothing, "All these have been baptized." I sit on my stool by the fire and feel steeped in the most human domesticity.

Everywhere in the world at this hour little children are whimpering over their evening ablutions. It is a mistake to think that any child of a good mother escapes. So much for the illusions of little boys who would like to be heathen.

COLOR OF SEA WATER.

From Tropical Azures to the Vivid Greens Near the Poles.

Why is the ocean blue? Reflection of the sky, you say. This accounts for some of the color, but not all. It is well known that the tint varies greatly in different localities. Persons taking sea water baths on ocean liners are always surprised by the very noticeable color of their morning tubs.

Color in sea water is largely a matter of saltness and density. In the tropics the tremendous evaporation induced by the blazing sun causes the water to be much saltier than in higher latitudes. For many miles north and south of the equator the water of the world's oceans is a deep blue which fades and changes to green the further one goes toward the poles. In the Arctic and Antarctic oceans the greens are almost as vivid as the tropical azures. China's Yellow sea derives its color partly from the muddy water poured in by its great rivers and partly from small organisms which exist there in numbers which exceed the 120,000,000 living creatures to the square mile found on the average.

The question of salt in water brings up our old friend the Dead sea, which contains 23 per cent of solid matter and, bulk for bulk, is heavier than the human body. Many believe, even in Jerusalem, that bathing in this famous body of water is harmful and swimming impossible. This is not the fact. The chloride of magnesia in the water possesses medicinal qualities if it is not permitted to get into the eyes. It is true that the density of the water renders fast progress in swimming difficult, but the impossibility of sinking more than makes up for it.—Agwi News.

Women and the Arts.

I believe that woman loves the arts better than does man. She is better ground for the development of a great artist, for she approaches art with sympathy, while the great bulk of men approach it with fear and dislike, shrinking from the idea that it may distort their self complacency. The prejudice goes so far that, while women are attracted to artists as lovers, men are generally afraid of women who practice the arts or they dislike them. It is not a question of sex; it is a question of art.—W. L. George in Atlantic.

THE PLAY IN CHINA

It Is a Curious Mixture of Noise, Costume and Strut.

DIN FROM START TO FINISH.

It Begins When the Curtain Rises and Continues Until the Last Scene Ends the Agony—The Property Man a Mighty Important Personage.

I was all tired and knocked out when I reached China, so I thought to myself, "I'll just go to a Chinese theater and spend a quiet evening. I won't understand anything, so I can doze off when I want to and come out as refreshed as a sprig of celery."

"What time does the play begin?" I asked as the guide led the way to the gallery, for in a Chinese theater the farther away you are the more aristocratic. No Chinese of caste would be caught in orchestra A.

"It have begin," he answered.

"How could that be?" I demanded, for it was still a few minutes of 8.

"It begin yesterday. It run two piecee days. It No. 1 play."

And so I found out. The better the play the longer it lasts. A Chinaman doesn't think he is getting his money's worth unless the play lasts a couple of days. Some of them continue a week. They consider a play that lasts only a night a curtain raiser and tag it on to a real play just to try it out.

The Chinese believe in noise. A theater isn't a theater to them unless it has a ladies' annex to a boiler factory just off stage. The hammering begins when the curtain goes up and continues until it falls. I soon found out that I erred seriously in coming to a Chinese theater to sleep. A person might drop off for a few minutes in a car shop, but he could never get near the knitting up of the raveled sleeve in a Chinese theater.

Chinese acting consists of the actors coming on again in another outfit of clothes. They come on, whirl a baton a couple of times and exeunt. While they are off another delegation of actors arrive with another collection of clothes. They whirl their clubs a few times and file out Indian style as another lodge arrives. There is no more expression on the face of a Chinese actor than on a punching bag.

When they want to show that the intrepid hero with a handful of men is trying to take a fortification against a vastly overwhelming enemy the property man hurries around in front of the hero with a black cloth stretched over a frame. This is the fortification, even though you can see his fingers gripping the breastworks. The dauntless hero marches across the stage, stops before the impregnable barrier, casts his eagle eye over it, draws his long sword and rips it asunder with one fell blow, the property man holding the swaying corner, while the hero marches through to victory. The intrepid hero stops to explain to his subordinates how he was able to accomplish the feat, while the property man drags the ramparts into the wings and begins pinning them up for the attack in the next act.

In a Chinese play there are no girls, their parts being taken by boys, speaking in a high, quavering voice as if something were too tight. When an actor wants to show that he is old he ties on a beard that comes to his waist. The beard works off to one corner and hangs grimly by one string, but the audience doesn't worry about that. They know that he is an old man because he has a beard.

I was constantly alert to figure out what kind of show it was. When I first got there and saw the constant change of costume I thought that it must be a musical comedy, but after studying it more closely I saw that it was a farce. When they began to kill people I came to the conclusion that it was an operetta. Later, when the hero found his wife in another man's arms, I decided that it was a problem play.

The most important person in a Chinese show is the property man. Alongside him the lead sinks into insignificance. He has charge of the show. The show opens when he says and closes when he wants to go out to a tea house. He keeps his properties where they are handy—down stage by the proscenium arch—right out where the audience can lean over and almost touch them. To know what is coming next all the audience has to do is to look over and see what the property man is getting ready.

Hour after hour the play continued without an intermission. Midnight came, and the actors seemed to be just getting into the spirit of the play. When I remembered that the play had been running for two days I felt sure that the next five minutes would see the last costume, but the show still continued.

I clung desperately on, determined to be in at the finish when the last hot, feverish kiss was pressed on the upturned lips, but it didn't end that way. It ended when the leading man came rushing out with a cheese cutter and killed twelve men in breathless succession, the maimed and wounded thoughtfully crawling to the wings to die, thus giving the leading man the center of the stage until the envious property man came up and spitefully yanked the curtains to.—Homer Croy in Leslie's.

In Want Ads Do Not Use An Unnecessary Word, Nor Omit a Necessary One

A want ad may be too short as well as too long. There ought to be, always, a rational brevity—but this should not preclude a touch of "human interest"—the statement of such facts as will give the advertisements a certain DEFINITENESS instead of vagueness.

BUILDING PLAN FOR CITY HALL

C. A. Jackson Is Named As Architectural Adviser In Drawing Plans.

The building committee of the Council has selected C. Aubrey Jackson, associated with Mr. Doun Barber, of New York city, as architectural adviser. Before the selection was made, the committee went over space and arrangement requirements with heads of departments, and roughly mapped out the kind of building needed. The committee then held several meetings with the adviser to enable him to become familiar with the requirements so as to state them in professional terms for the program for the competition.

It should be understood that the purpose of the competition is not to select a final design or final plans. The purpose is to select an architect.

The purpose of the competition is to avoid all favoritism in selecting the architect; and also to have the benefit of a competition among a number of competent men, to discover who can best solve the problems which are presented so as to give us a building of refined appearance, with interior arrangement best suited to the city needs.

The reason for limiting the competition to a few invited architects is to make sure that no one will be selected that the committee would not be satisfied to entrust with the work.

The Council, with the advice of the adviser, has provided that the jury of award shall consist of three non-competing architects, and in addition two members of the building committee. This will insure a professional award, and thus appeal to competitors; but it will also give the committee a voice in the discussion preceding the award.

It is the intention of the building committee to give local architects an opportunity to take part in the competition. The Mayor and members of the Common Council have no choice or preference of their own. Their only desire is to select good men for the competition, which will be anonymous and absolutely fair and impartial.

INSPECTION OF CO. K; BANQUET NEXT MONDAY

At the annual inspection of Company K, in the local armoy last night, the inspecting officers, Lieutenant Col. Henry D. Styer, of the Seventeenth United States Infantry, and Col. David B. Hill, of the quartermaster corps of the State, highly commended the Plainfield citizen soldiers. They said the officers and men deserved much credit, considering the adverse conditions under which they are compelled to work. Previous to the inspection last night, the visiting inspectors were the guests of the company officers.

The annual banquet of Company K will be held in the Babcock building next Monday evening. Local veterans will be guests of honor.

BOARD OF TRADE PLANS TO ADVERTISE PLAINFIELD

On the night of Tuesday, March 21, representatives of the various commercial organizations in Plainfield, and others who are interested, will meet in the Council chambers in the city building for a discussion of the best methods to advertise Plainfield. The meeting is to be held under the auspices of the Board of Trade, and a call will be sent out by President Newcorn, of that body. He will invite the co-operation of all other organizations. Recently E. F. Feickert conveyed to the Board of Trade an offer from the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey to appropriate one dollar for every one spent by local organizations in advertising Plainfield, and it is believed that the meeting will result in a goodly sum being set aside for this purpose. Although there was no precedent for it, members of the Council last night granted Mr. Newcorn authority to use the Council chambers for the meeting.

The other man was released.

EARNEST APPEAL TO MOTHERS OF THE CITY

Their Interest is Invited in Advancing Cause of "Baby Week."

Following up the campaign for "Baby Week," which is being observed this week, the local committee today makes the following appeal to the mothers of Plainfield:

"Out of every 1,000 babies born in Plainfield, 101 die before the end of the first year. Why?

"The fundamental causes of infantile mortality are mainly the result of three conditions—poverty, ignorace and neglect.

"There are three groups of disease which together cause about three-fourths of all the deaths among babies. These groups are:

"Digestive diseases, which cause most of the deaths of babies in summer. (Bottle fed babies are the most often affected).

"Diseases of the lungs. Diseases due to conditions affecting the child before or at birth.

"Some of the causes which lead to these are: Of the digestive diseases: lack of breast feeding; improper feeding; impure milk; carelessness of the mother; hot weather; overcrowding; bad housing and bad sanitary conditions. Of the diseases of the lungs: infections, bad air. Of the diseases due to conditions affecting the child before birth: sickness of the parents, overwork of the mother, improper care before or at birth.

"Infant mortality is the most sensitive index we possess of social welfare and of sanitary administration.

"How to prevent a high infant mortality rate.

"We are told that about one-half of deaths of the babies under one year may be prevented. How?

"If you are interested in this question, visit the exhibit at the High school between 3 and 5 either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday of this week. Or else see the one in the store on the corner of Madison avenue and Front street. Look into our store windows and see the exhibits that the merchants have prepared. There is a very good one at the Paris and another at Tepper's. All the drug stores have exhibits and all have kindly consented to distribute publicity matter.

"Mr. Whiting, of the Astor Theatre, will run a film telling all about clean milk. This film will be exhibited Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is loaned for the purpose by the Borden Milk Company. The Proctor Theatre is running another film entitled 'The Long vs. the Short Haul.' This began Monday night and will run through this week. These films are very interesting as well as instructive and the public should avail themselves of the opportunity to see them.

Responses to the appeal for Baby Week have already come in.

P. S. CORPORATION WANTS TO IMPROVE MAIN LINE SERVICE

In order to improve its service on the main line the Public Service Corporation plans to put down double tracking at Fourth and Watchung and at Fifth and Richmond streets, thus making a stretch of double-tracking from Fifth and Richmond to Front and allowing Main line cars to pass without interference from the local lines. Plans for the improvements have been filed with the street committee of the Council, but were not received in time for a report to be made at last night's meeting. The matter is in the hands of Chairman Hylan and members of his committee and a report will be made at the next meeting. The street committee has also decided to accept bids for the resurfacing of a number of streets already designated at the next regular meeting, which will be held April 3.

DR. R. B. TEUSLER WILL SPEAK HERE

Founder of St. Luke's Hospital, Tokio, Japan, to Tell of His Work.

Fifteen years ago a young physician was sent to undertake medical work in the district of Tokio, Japan. He found on his arrival a small unfinished cottage hospital, unpainted, unplastered and without furniture. With undampened enthusiasm he set to work to make bricks without strak—and today St. Luke's is a modern hospital, with eighty beds, well equipped, open to rich and poor, irrespective of creed or nationality; while Dr. R. B. Teusler is not only recognized as the foremost foreign surgeon in Japan, and one of the foremost in the Far East, but also one of the most influential men in Tokio.

Three years ago a movement was started by some of Tokio's leading men—both Japanese and foreign—to erect a large international hospital—the effort has been signalized by a Emperor, which, as soon as this fact was made public, was supplemented by an additional gift of $50,000 from the Japanese Council.

Dr. Teusler is in this country now, and will speak at Grace Episcopal church, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, for the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies of Plainfield.

FUNERAL OF MRS. McCANN.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane McCann, wife of William McCann, whose death occurred at her home at 903 East Front street, Saturdayafternoon, was held in St. Mary's church this morning. A requiem mass was said by Rev. Father B. M. Bogan in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends many of them coming from Westfield, Bayonne, Newark and New York. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, two noticeably large set pieces having been extended by members of the family. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall-bearers being Stephen Babin, Thomas Dee, Frederick Wintelhalter, William Cole, George Miller and Joseph McCormack.

CZAR'S WARSHIPS ATTACK SEAPORT

Trebizond Is Bombarded by Destroyers.

TURKS' GUNS HARMLESS.

Shell Fire Causes Inhabitants to Flee City—London Hears Germany Is Anxious For Separate Peace With France as Result of Verdun Battles.

Petrograd, March 7.—Russian warships bombarded Trebizond, the Turkish seaport toward which a Russian army is advancing from the interior of Armenia.

Several vessels were sunk during the bombardment, it is reported. Although the Turkish land batteries defending the city replied to the fire of the Russian vessels, no damage was done, it is stated.

Almost all the inhabitants of Trebizond left the city on account of the Russian advance and also because of the rioting and disorder of the demoralized Turkish soldiers.

The Russian Black sea fleet which is patrolling the coast from Trebizond to the Termeh river, about 150 miles to the west, has sunk within the past week thirty sailing vessels laden with munitions and supplies for the Turks.

The fleet has bombarded the mouth of the Termeh river, it is announced, and damaged sailing vessels which have taken refuge there. The barricades and other defenses thirty miles to the east of the town of Termeh have been destroyed, together with Turkish stations and vessels.

The Russian advance has spread out fanlike from Erzerum as a center, and the front is now 270 miles long, the Lake Van country forming one and the district in the neighborhood of Trebizond being the other. The main army in the center is moving in the direction of Sivas, about [illegible] hundred miles south of Termeh. Great care is being observed, Russian military critics state, to keep the front straight and unbroken.

More Peace Talk.

London, March 7.—An unexpected explanation of the attack on Verdun is furnished by the German papers, which contain numerous tributes to the courage of the French, express regret over the shedding of French blood and hint strongly that Germany would be willing gladly to conclude a separate peace with France.

Major Moraht, military expert of the Berliner Tageblatt, strongly recommends this course to the French, as does Maximilian Harden in his Zukunft. The latter said:

"France has been cleaned by the war. She can no longer be accused of decadence and degeneration. She needs a strong statesman who will not miss the opportunity to save France and Europe, and save France for Europe.

"Even if Germany should, which is not improbable, suffer reverses, France could not dictate a lasting peace. There is a second possibility if the German advance breaks through the stone walls and the walls of men and presses forward it will separate the British from the French and effect an enveloping movement of either the center or one end of the long front and disarm a whole army."

Still held at Verdun, the Germans have launched fresh assaults at the French lines in the Champagne and the Argonne. Paris admits that slight gains have been made in these attacks, while west of the Meuse, in the Verdun sector, the capture of the village of Forges is conceded.

Berlin, March 7.—The German airships that visited England bombarded the naval depot at Hull, according to one official statement of the German admiralty.

Washington, March 7.—A native Persian was killed and considerable damage was done when a shell from a Russian torpedo boat bombarding Trebizond exploded in the grounds of the American consulate.

A fragment of a shell struck the consulate, killing the Persian, who was standing within twenty feet of the consul's desk.

MUSICAL PLAY MAKES BIG HIT

Roll.

The program of the evening began with the song number, "Tenting Tonight," by the entire company; after which the "Star-Spangled Banner" tableaux was presented by the company, Alexander Milne and Douglas Stewart. The latter two represented the army and navy, and were garbed in the uniform of a United States soldier and sailor. Another number which produced laughter from the audience was the kitchen band, which was composed of the basketball players of the school. Included in the orchestra were the Messrs. Oscar Dilts, Warren Townley, John Dawe, Harry Kirch, Alfred Willett, William Seidel, Andrew and Martin McDonough. Performing on various kitchen utensils, the youthful musical artists rendered selections highly pleasing to the musical ear.

Solo dances occupied no small portion of the program, the artists performing in a graceful manner. Among these numbers were a gypsy dance by the Misses Elizabeth and Henrietta Englehart; butterfly dances by the Misses Mabel Townley and Emily Pleydell; solo dance by Helen Laporte and the "Mazurka Divaut" and "The Clown Dance" by Miss Emma Ryno. Master Charles Pagliuca, who is well-known to the local theatre-going public, gave another of his song and dance numbers. He was billed as "The Dancing Kid."

The remainder of the program was made up of the following: "Yankee Doodle" (parody), quartette; "Battle Cry of Freedom," entire company; recitation, Miss Gladys Sullivan; "The Lorely" (solo), Miss Helen Thompson, with tableaux by Miss Mildred Smith; "Reuben, Reuben," by eight girls; medley, ten girls; "Battle Hymn of the Republic," by the entire company, and a tableaux by Elizabeth MacDonald, Alberta Dolliver, Agnes Sheelan and Helen Laporte; "Home Sweet Home" by entire company, with tableaux by Alfred Armstead and Robert Ewart; "Robin Adair" (parody), by entire company. The production closed with the singing of "America" by forty-eight little girls, standing around the goddess of Liberty (Miss Irene Duchesne). Each girl represented one of the states of the union. The cast of characters in the army consisted of the following: captain, Miss Dorothy Lee; lieutenant, Miss Emily Pleydell; sergeant, Miss Gladys Sullivan; cook and postman, Miss Mildred Smith; girl, Miss Adelaide Hull. The privates were the Misses Marion Avery, Marion Chandler, Marjorie Burtis, Muriel Dunham, Adelaide Ricketts, Agnes Ricketts, Agnes Griffiths, Margaret Ewart, Grace Townley, Helen Yates, Helen Thompson, Dorothy Martin, Marion Blair, Lillian Spencer, Bertha Keller, Madeline Blair, Emily Pilger, Margaret Smith anr Marguerite Barkelew. The tableaux were arranged under the direction of Mrs. Charles Dolliver and Mrs. E. H. Boyer. S. Frederick Smith presided over the musical numbers, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Voorhees at the piano. Dancing followed until a late hour.

MASS MEETING FOR PURPOSE OF ADVERTISING PLAINFIELD

The city of Plainfield is advertsing for bids for a new motor-driven combination engine, chemical and hose wagon for the fire department. It is to be located at the Netherwood station. The engine must have a maximum capacity of 750 gallons a minute, must be of 100 horsepower, carry 1,000 feet of hose, a forty-gallon chemical tank and 300 feet of chemical hose. It must also be capable of a speed of thirty miles an hour. Specifications were prepared by the fire committee, of which John H. Cose is chairman. The bids are to be received at a special meeting to be held March 28. Chairman Cose last night introduced a resolution accepting the engine bought from International Motor Company, and located in the Fourth street station. A check for $3,842.55 will be drawn for it at once.

MISS RACHEL CADMUS DIES IN 94TH YEAR

One of Plainfield's Oldest Resident's Succumbs to Infirmities of Old Age.

A few hours more than one week after she had celebrated her ninety-third birthday, death came this morning to Miss Rachel Lenox Cadmus, at her home, 229 East Front street. She was not only one of the oldest residents of Plainfield, but the last immediate member of one of the oldest Plainfield families. She had resided here all her life and with the exception of a few years of it spent her days at the old Cadmus homestead facing Greenbrook, just east of West End avenue. Miss Cadmus' health had been failing for some time owing to the infirmities of age, but almost until the end at four o'clock this morning she retained all her faculties. At her birthday celebration last week, she received calls from quite a number of friends despite the fact that she was confined to her bed and spent several hours in reminiscent talk.

Miss Cadmus was a daughter of one of three Cadmus brothers, who were descendants of a Holland family, who settled in this vicinity in the middle of the eighteenth century. The original Cadmus farm extended from West Seventh street and about Central avenue, to the summit of the Watchung mountain, and westward, including what is now the West End Park section. The homestead of Miss Cadmus' father, Abram Cadmus, still stands on the brow of the hill rising from Greenbrook and extending back to Myrtle avenue. It was here that Rachel Lenox Cadmus was born and where for many years her father conducted a large grist and saw mill, operated by the race way running from the Greenbrook dam on the Cadmus meadow. This mill was torn down only a comparatively few years ago. The water rights for the mill were granted by King George at about the same time other grants were given for the Hyde, French and Randolph mills, all located in the present confines of Plainfield. Of these four, the French mill on Somerset street is the only one standing.

The home where Miss Cadmus died was that of her sister, the wife of the late Cornelius Boice, one of Plainfield's early lawyers. It is located directly next the First Presbyterian church to the west and for many years was one of the show places of Plainfield. It was built after the style of the typical planter's home in the South of ante-bellum days. It was in this East Front street residence that final organization of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church was perfected and of which Miss Cadmus was the oldest member at the time of her death.

Miss Cadmus had a number of relatives in this vicinity and at points farther away. Those living nearby include nices, Mrs. Joseph B. Coward, Mrs. Robert Cook and Mrs. George Underhill, of this city, and Mrs. Frances Bell, of Brooklyn. The funeral and interment will be private.

BIG CHOIR READY TO BEGIN PRACTICE

Chorus of 1,000 Promised to Great Evangelist Biederwolf.

The work of organizing the Beiderwolf Campaign choir is progressing splendidly. The first rehearsals will begin during the week of March 12. To facilitate the handling of this large body of singers and to eliminate any hardship from frequent rehearsals, the committee in charge of the music have decided to divide the choir into four units. Unit No. 1 will take in the churches in the center of town, including the Temple Baptist and Netherwood Reformed churches; Unit No. 2 will take in the churches south of the railroad; Unit No. 3 will take in the churches of North Plainfield and including the Wilson Memorial chapel of Watchung, and Unit No. 4 will take in the churches in the west of town. Choir Units Nos. 1 and 3 will rehearse in the Vincent chapel of the First Methodist church on Monday eevning, March 13. Choir Unit No. 2 will rehearse in the chapel of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, March 14, and Choir Unit No. 4 will rehearse in the Monroe Avenue Methodist church on Friday night, March 17.

The following week the places of rehearsals will be changed and announcement of time and places will be made later. The books to be used by the choir will be ready for distribution on the evening of rehearsals and each member of the choir is expected to purchase a book, the price of which is twenty-five cents. Rehearsals will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and will last for one hour only. All persons of fifteen years of age or over who can sing, are urged to send their names and addresses to the music committee of any church interested in the campaign, or to Clifford A. Braider, vice-chairman of the music committee. In other cities where Dr. Beiderwolf has conducted a campaign the call for singers has met with ready response, and the committee do not want Plainfield to be an exception to this rule. A choir and orchestra of at least 1,000 is desired to welcome Dr. Beiderwolf.

A cottage prayer meeting will be held this evening at the home of J. A. Powlison, 203 Somerset street, North Plainfield, with Mr. LaBoyteaux as leader, in addition to the meetings announced in last evening's Press.

LOOK OUT FOR VILLA ON U. S. BOUNDARY

Mexican Bandit Chief Seeking Refuge on American Soil.

El Paso, Tex., March 7.—Francisco Villa, the outlawed Mexican chief, is making for the border with the intention of seeking refuge in the United States in the opinion of General Gabriel Gavira, Carranza commandant at Juarez, who said that he had requested General John J. Pershing, commanding the American troops here, to keep a sharp watch for him west of El Paso.

Villa was reported in the vicinity of Janos, seventy-five miles below the boundary. Gavira said Carranza troops had been disposed in his rear on his left flank, preventing him from retreating back to the mountains or entering the state of Sonora. For several days past it has been understood that Villa was headed for the American border. Should he attempt to cross directly north of his present location he would enter New Mexico close to Columbus.

Declaring the reported Diaz revolt ridiculous, General Alvaro Obregon left El Paso for Eagle Pass, where he will enter the country and go south to rejoin General Carranza at Queretaro. "We do not expect the revolution to spread beyond the confines of Oaxaca," said the chief commander of the Carranza forces, "and yet we are positive that Zapata will not affiliate with Diaz. Villa cannot join Diaz as he wishes because the Carranza forces have cut him off in the north."

The Term "Bully."

The term bully in the days of Shakespeare had quite a different meaning from that which it has at present, being an expression of endearment and good fellowship. Some suppose that the word, when it is used in approval, is derived from the Dutch boel or German buhle, which stands for the English lover. The harsher use of the word is, however, to be traced to bellow, the root of bull, with a significance of noisy blustering.

'GO SLOW,' ADVICE OF COL. HOUSE

Tells President Germany Should Not Be Bluffed.

CONGRESS ACTION AWAITED

Colonel Informs Washington That Submarine Negotiations With Berlin Must Be Handled With Greatest of Care, Although Germany Had No Desire For War With the United States.

Washington, March 7.—A stand is expected to be taken within the next few days by the United States on Germany's declaration of the new submarine campaign against armed merchant ships.

According to present plans, diplomatic negotiations on the subject are to follow a settlement of the controversy in congress.

Because of the necessity of translating some of the documents appended to the German declaration Secretary Lansing and President Wilson have not yet had an opportunity to consider them in their entirety.

Colonel E. M. House, who returned from Europe after visiting officials in London, Paris and Berlin for President Wilson, is understood to have told the president and Secretary Lansing that the German government believed itself justified in its new submarine policy and was not bluffing.

Must Be Handled Delicately.

Colonel House is believed to have strengthened the view already held by both the president and Secretary Lansing that the submarine negotiations must be handled with the greatest care if a break with Germany is to be avoided, although he reported that Germany had no desire for war with the United States. He discussed the issue frankly with Herr von Jagow, the German foreign minister, and Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, the imperial chancellor.

The appendices to the German memorandum arrived at the state department. The Berlin foreign office contends that British merchantmen armed ostensibly for defensive purposes have been using their armament offensively against German and Austrian submarines. They are said to include three or four sets of instructions to armed British merchantmen, including those dated October, 1915, which recently were made public by the British government and sent to this country in press dispatches.

Hinges on a Definition.

It was authoritatively stated that the British government would contend that none of the instructions in any way violated the assurances which were given to the United States that merchantmen would use their armament only for defense. It seemed clear that the issue hinges largely on the definition of defensive action and defensive armament. The British instructions, as published, set forth in effect that the commander of a British merchantman was justified in taking defensive action when a submarine approached within torpedo range.

The case of the Lusitania being bound up with the German declaration officials find themselves in the position of being obliged to accept or reject the tentative communication submitted by Count von Bernstorff and the subsequent assurances which were asked for. It is known that the latest assurances are not regarded as being as satisfactory as those originally given and which officials consider have been somewhat modified by the German declaration.

Virtually all of the documents which arrived in German and which now are being translated are understood to be affidavits of German naval officers and sailors relating the circumstances under which various alleged attacks were made by British merchant ships upon German submarines and how the confidential British instructions came into German possession. The translation probably will be completed some time tomorrow.

REPORT LOW DEATH RATE FOR THE YEAR

State Department of Health Believes it Will Be 13.86 Against 14.02 for 1914.

Trenton, March 7.—Rough tabulations made in the office of the State Department of Health indicate that the death rate for 1915 will be the lowest in the history of the state. Official figures cannot be given as yet until checking is complete, but it seems that the total number of deaths for the year will not be far from 39,492, giving a death rate of 13.86 as against 14.02 for the preceding year which was the low point reached up until that time.

The tabulations for the month of January of the present year have shown a marked excess over the number of deaths for preceding months. A total of 4,468 deaths occurred in the State during the month, of which 29 were of non-residents and 4,439 were of residents. This is the largest number of deaths for one month in the history of the State and gives a resident death rate of 18.48 for the month. The most marked increase occurred in the diseases of the respiratory system, the increase in pneumonia alone being 467 over the preceding month. There was also an increase of 236 in the number of deaths from diseases of the circulatory system.

As for age periods, an increase is shown for all ages, but the increase is more marked in the deaths of persons aged 60 years and over. The increase for this age period being more than 400, as compared with the preceding month. It would seem from the data at hand that the high death rate for January was due in a large measure to the prevalence of acute respiratory diseases during that month.

ASKS PROBE OF FIREMEN

by Mr. Lyle in his official communication are: James Harris, James Peacock, Herbert Peacock, D. J. Galbraith, Donald Hylan, C. C. Randolph, H. N. Merriam, W. J. Boyd, C. C. Peacock, Mrs. Norman Stringer, Albert E. Marshall and Fred J. Harris. He stated that many others would be willing to testify if called by the Council.

Accompanying the Lyle letter was a communication from Mayor Calkins calling attention to the "charge of incompetence" made against the fire department. It was suggested that the demand for an investigation was too long to read in open meeting, but Councilman Graves insisted that it be read and that every step of the proceedings be given the utmost publicity, so that every taxpayer in the city might have an opportunity of knowing all facts.

The sentiment of eye-witnesses to the fire at his home on the night of January 18 was that the fire department was "poorly directed," said Mr. Lyle. He admitted that there was little question but that the force as a whole was made up of good men, but stated as his opinion that they were poorly drilled, and that their work at his home demanded that some important changes be made in the department.

He called attention to the fact that in making his complaint he had secured no statements from members of his family or from others who might "have been excited or prejudiced" on the night of the incident.

The first charge made by Mr. Lyle was that Donald Hylan, in sending in the telephone alarm, asked that the department be sent at once as the "Lyle home at 1200 West Seventh street is burning up," but that only the Fourth street apparatus was sent at first. When Chief Doane arrived he ordered other companies out. He asserted that Chief Doane had defended this by saying that the telephone call at headquarters was that there was "a small fire." No water was put onto the fire for at least twenty minutes after the alarm was turned in, he charges, and some of the witnesses said thirty minutes. Even then they allege that the water was misapplied and the work of hosemen misdirected, resulting in a spreading of the flames. Mr. Lyle contends that the fire was burning in one corner of the basement when the firemen arrived, but that by opening doors, breaking windows and otherwise creating air drafts, they caused it to spread to other parts of the building.

According to one witness quoted by the property owner the firemen refused to rescue a couple on the roof of the building. When asked to do so, he says, they inquired, "Why don't they open the door if they want to get down." He insists that the rescue was brought about only when a policeman and Councilmen Hylan and Graves forced firemen to enter the building. Although blaming practically all members of the department for failure to rescue the maid before she was badly injured, he says that he "cannot speak too highly of the good and brave work of Captain Townley" in finally bringing her from the burning building. He calls attention to the fact that she was in the building forty-five minutes after the alarm was turned in, according to witnesses.

"If the firemen had been sent to my home with instructions to ruin it, they could not have done a better job," continued Mr. Lyle, and he summed up the work done by saying the the loss should have been just 20 per cent. of what he really suffered.

In referring to the executive of the department he said, "The man at the head of the department should have been retired years ago. He is entirely too old for the work."

Accompanying the other statements was a letter from the Allan B. Laing Electrical Company denying that fire stops in the building had been removed by electricians. This statement was made, according to Mr. Laing, by the head of the fire department.

The charges created no sensation on the floor of the Council, probably because they had been discussed in conference before being read in open meeting. As two members of the body live in the immediate neighborhood of the Lyle home and were witnesses to all events on the night of the fire, the Council has some eyewitnesses on whom it can rely without fear of prejudiced statements, and an investigation may be expected at once.

NEW "FIRST LADY" RECEIVES.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 7.—Mrs. Martin Grove Brumbaugh, the bride of Governor Brumbaugh, is tendering a public reception at the executive mansion today. No invitations have been issued to her first social affair, and it is believed this precedent will be followed in future afternoon events. Mrs. Brumbaugh and the Governor were married last January. She was Miss Flora Belle Parks, his ward, and for many years a member of his family. She is highly talented, and like her husband, is democratic and popular.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

OLNEY ARNOLD.

American Diplomatic Agent to Cairo Dies on Way to U. S.

Mr. Arnold was granted leave of absence recently by the state department and was on his way to the United States. At the time of Mr. Arnold's departure from Cairo his conduct was under investigation on charges made by American residents at Cairo. It was reported then that he was in ill health and on the verge of nervous breakdown.

CLEARY, IN PRISON, STILL IN POLITICS

Haverstraw Reformer Nominated Through His Efforts.

Haverstraw, N. Y., March 7.—It was said that the nomination for village president on the Democratic ticket of Martin A. Driscoll, a reformer, was accomplished by Cleary's aid from Sing Sing prison.

The one time followers of Cleary, who killed Eugene Newman, his son-in-law, and is now in Sing Sing prison for forgery, said that, directing his forces from his cell, Cleary has come out for the uplift.

Driscoll's nomination was opposed by friends of District Attorney Thomas Gagan, against whom Driscoll was a witness when Gagan was tried for alleged neglect of duty in the Cleary murder trial.

Since the murder trial Cleary has fallen out with the Gagan faction, and it was Cleary's chief lieutenant, Bernard Fox, who rejected Thomas Freeman for renomination and named Driscoll instead. Driscoll, who is wintering at Palm Beach, was not consulted.

The Gagan-Freeman adherents are now in open revolt against the Cleary-Fox element and say they will bolt the Democratic ticket.

Court Refuses to Stay Action For Wireless Owned by Germans.

Trenton, N. J., March 7.—Refusal of Vice Chancellor Stevens to stay the action of the French company which is seeking to gain possession of the Tuckerton wireless station, now controlled by a German corporation, was upheld by the court of errors and appeals. The French company based its right to the station on a contract of purchase with the German company.

800 Strikers Return to Work.

Do You Want a "Guest-Tenant?"

When you rent a room of your home to someone, you secure a "guest-tenant." Your "roomer" is a guest of your house, on a business basis—but still a guest, somewhat in touch with your home, and this makes it highly important that the person should be of the right sort.

In advertising a furnished room it is a simple matter to indicate that the tenant-to-be must have reasonably convincing credentials as to character. You will thus have applications from a desirable class of people while a door sign or window card would merely bring to you the chance passer-by.

CANDIDATES GALORE.

Charles N. Fowler, one of Union county's favorite sons, is the latest to add to the complex political situation by announcing his candidacy for the United States Senatorship. Mr. Fowler has had wide experience as a member of the House of Representatives, and he will undoubtedly poll a substantial vote. With former Governor Franklin Murphy, of Essex; former Governor Edward C. Stokes, from Mercer; former State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, from Somerset, and Mr. Fowler in the field, the indications are that Mr. Stokes will land the nomination because of a divided vote for the other three due to all coming from the northern part of the State. On the Democratic side no one has as yet come forward to oppose Senator James E. Martine and there is some talk that he will be given the nomination. If he is that party's standard bearer, Mr. Martine can easily beat Murphy, but his chances with any one of the other three are not so good.

There has been some talk recently about the leaders of the Republican party getting together, and by a process of elimination trying to unite on one candidate, but we doubt whether the friends of any of the four men mentioned would agree to such an arrangement. This would apply to the candidates for Governorship, as well as the United States Senatorship. As the Paterson Call suggests, it might be well to wait until the Legislature has completed its labors, as there will then probably be more candidates for both offices.

There is said to be a slight possibility of clearing the way for some one of the three or four Democratic candidates for the nomination for governor, but the bitterness between the factions of that party is just now so pronounced that outsiders can scarcely see an outcome. On the Republican side there are strong men pitted against each other—strong from a party standpoint and strong from a personal standpoint—and there is hardly a chance for any of them to step aside.

A year ago the Democrats confidentally told us that there would be nothing to Senator Martine' candidacy, and that he would be easily put out of the way, but they have awakened to a realization of the fact that his statement that he will seek another term means that he will make a determined campaign, despite the knowledge that both the leading factions in the party would rather tie up to some one else for the office. The Westcott boom for the nomination may solve some of the difficulty. Some Democrats think that Governor Fielder ought to be persuaded to become a candidate for the senatorial nomination. Thus far he has declined to permit the use of his name in that connection, declaring that when he leaves the office of chief executive next January he will return to the practice of law. Other names are being suggested and it is the hope of the leaders in both factions that some big man can yet be induced to make the fight for the place now held by Senator Martine.

THE NEED CONTINUES.

There would be wholesale starvation within three or four weeks if the importation of food into Belgium were stopped. The clothing situation demands very serious consideration. Unless the work of providing clothing is kept up at a regular rate there will be very serious suffering in the fall. I have seen thousands of people lined up in snow and rain, soaked or chilly, waiting for bread and soup. I have returned to the distributing stations at the end of the day and have found men, women and children sometimes standing in line, but later compelled to go back to their pitiful homes, cold, wet and miserable. It was not until eighteen weary hours afterward that they got the meal they missed.

This is the condition in war stricken Belgium and Northern France described in an interview given a few days ago to the Associated Press by Frederick C. Walcott, who spent three weeks in that country for the Rockefeller Foundation, investigating the work of the American Relief Commission, of which Herbert C. Hoover is the head.

Plainfielders have already done a great deal to relieve the suffering of these people, but there is much more to be done. The public spirited women who form the local Belgian Relief Committee are striving in every way to raise funds for this work. There have been a number of benefits, appeals have been made through the columns of the Daily Press, and money has been raised by personal solicitation. But the need is there, and it will be there until peace is declared and the thrifty people are given a chance to help themselves once more. Those for whom the appeals are being made are not beggars. They would be glad to be able to earn their living, but there is no way for them to do it. If you have not recently sent in a contribution, there is no time like the present to send it. One contribution last year was a fine thing at the time, but the money was used many months ago to keep some starving woman or child alive for a few days. Funds to help along the local relief work can be sent direct to the Daily Press office, and will be promptly turned over to the local committee, or they may go direct to Miss Enclyn B. Hartridge, the treasurer. SEND YOURS NOW!

Congressman John H. Capstick, of this district, is making good, as his friends said he would do, when he was a candidate for the office. The Newark Sunday Call, in its "men and affairs" column on Sunday said that he "has become thoroughly acclimated to the Capitol atmosphere, and takes time to attend to the needs of his constituents, and displays considerable interest in the debates. That he is not strange in the House of Representatives is probably due to the fact that he had a lot of experience dealing with legislators while connected with the State Board of Health of New Jersey, of which he was president from 1908 to 1914. While holding this position he was at the State House, Trenton, and met many of the members of the Legislature when the sessions were being held. Capstick is fast becoming familiar with his duties and because of the conscientious manner in which he attends to his duties he will be in line for nomination for another term next fall. He realizes that it takes a new Congressman some time to become thoroughly posted regarding his duties, the rules of the House of Representatives and the routine of the departments. Since he went to Washington the Congressman has made many friends among the minority members, who appreciate him as a man of good, sound business judgment and a man who has the interests of his constituents at heart."

This is baby week. No more fitting observance of it could be made than to make a contribution to the work of the King's Daughters' Day Nursery, which is annually doing its part to save the lives of hundreds of little tots.

Just when the cartoonist has completed a picture of Spring driving old man Winter over the horizon, the latter spoils the work by handing us the biggest snow storm of the season.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton.

Coming.

The poets sing
Of early spring.
Their singing gives us glee,
For, don't you see,
The winter fan,
Yes, to a man,
Has had enough of ice;
He hasn't got the price
To buy more coal.
Alas, poor soul,
He's had a long tempestuous trial,
His patience has begun to bile,
He's shoveled snow until he is lame,
And he is weary of the game.
He's sick of ills,
He's sick of chills,
He's sick of all the winter bills,
He longs for gentle Annie
He thinks she is a damsel grand.
We love the winter sports and such,
But 'nuff is 'nuff, in fact too much.
So let the bard
Sing just as hard
As he may wish just now.
An optimist
With nimble wrist,
He writes sense you'll allow.
Old Boreas comes to see us
Quite too often. That is flat.
What's your hurry, O. F. Winter?
Here's your hat.

The Onion Hat.

Now they are putting live onions on hats, which induces a contrib to gurgle as follows:

They are undoubtedly useful as well as ornamental. Any woman may secure a seat on the car or in the movies by simply tasting an ornament. If on occasion it is necessary for her to develop tears, the onion may be appealed to. If the grocer boy does not arrive on time a few ornaments in the soup, boiled or raw, will save the day. Then, again, a hat ornamented with onions certainly ought to prove of value in giving a rival a black eye.

The ever-wise milliners have concluded that wheresoever there is anything green, there should be something to prey upon it. They have placed imitation caterpillars on the headgear foliage. Woman now has nothing to fear from starvation, for she will always have the grub on her hat.

Spring Styles.

A number of feminine readers have written in asking us concerning the spring styles for women. It is our constant aim to please, although we may seldom hit the mark, and we take pleasure in handing out the following absolutely accurate fashion hints:

Bustles will not be worn in the best circles this year.

Hips and curves are coming in again to some extent. Those who laid their hips on the top shelf of the clothes press some years ago can take them down, dust them off and use them with perfect propriety.

Gowns will button up the back as usual, no gown being really swagger unless it has 5,674 buttons. These are recommended especially to married women who have impatient husbands.

Red flannel chest protectors will be in vogue, especially in the pneumonia belt of Northern States.

Porous plasters will be much worn in exclusive circles, especially during the early spring.

Earmuffs are considered passe by the smart set of polite society, but they are still being worn by those who don't want to hear what their friends are saying about them.

Sry on Etiquette.

A traveler slips this report to us. Sand your track; here is comes:

A girl, rather hoydenish, is sitting in a street car. A rough-neck enters and sits beside her. She begins to laugh boisterously. "Well," says he, "what the h—— tickles you?" Gallant youth, across the way, arises and addressing the rough-neck says: "Hey, bo, you want to say 'lady' after that there remark."

A Rude Awakening.

My love lies dreaming in her bed,
But very soon she'll get a shock,
For mother, standing by her head,
Is yelling, "Say, it's 9 o'clock!"

My love lies dreaming in her bed,
But gee, it won't take any shock
To get her started raising "Ned"—
'Cause I've been out till 2 o'clock.

- Proctor's Theatre -

That the new policy installed at Proctor's of presenting the foremost photoplay productions made, in a flawless manner and amid refined surroundings has the enthusiastic sanction of the film fans of this vicinity, was plainly attested yesterday, when that popular playhouse was taxed to its utmost capacity with hundreds of delighted amusement seekers. The dramatic feature today is an exceedingly strong Triangle production entitled "Acquitted," and starring Wilfred Lucas, one of the most versatile screen stars now appearing before the public. This picture deals with a subject close to the hearts of every person, both young and old, and incidentally exposes the brutal methods employed by many ignorant police officials in enforcing "The Third Degree" on innocent prisoners. Today, also, will be the debut of that wonderful serial creation, "The Strange Case of Mary Page," with Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo in the leading roles. Anyone witnessing this episode today will be completely enthralled by the intensely interesting theme and the excellent acting on the part of the superior cast, with the result that he or she will overcome all obstacles in order to follow "The Strange Case of Mary Page" to the end. Come today, and you will come to see this feature every Tuesday of each week. Tomorrow the dramatic feature will be a William Fox production, with Vivian Martin, the daintiest of screen heroines, assuming the principal role. It is Israel Zangwill's masterpiece, "Merely Mary Ann," a story that is familiar to every lover of good plays and books. The second episode of "The Iron Claw" will be an added attraction tomorrow. This latest effort on the part of the Pathe people in the way of serials is a masterpiece of its kind, and exceeds all its predecessors when reviewed even from every angle. Pearl White, Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis are the leading stars, an aggregation of artists that cannot be beat. On Thursday, the management announce the presentation of the most popular play ever produced, "Madame X," starring Dorothy Donnelly, the leading lady of the original stage production. This announcement will evoke the intense interest of the whole populace, and patrons are requested to attend in the afternoon to secure choice seats, as eevryone will want to see "Madame X." In addition to the above features, there will be presented daily a pleasing program of comedy and dramatic creations that will tend to provide a variety of pleasing entertainment. Attend once, and you'll become a regular patron.

MINNIE AND PAUL MAKE UP.

Minneapolis, March 7.—"Minnie" will entertain "Paul" tonight at a leap-year party. It will be the first get-together of officials of the Twin Cities. The St. Paul officials will be the guests of the Minneapolis officials, and in order to find room for the crowd, the courthouse has been requisitioned.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

NEGRO GAMBLER GETS SIX YEARS

Conducted Well Known Atlantic City Resort.

MUST ALSO PAY $2,000 FINE

To Appeal From Sentence—Bail Fixed at $5,000—Alleged Backer of Convicted Man Held on Contempt Allegation of Trying to Influence Witnesses. Mathis' Hearing on Friday.

Mays Landing, March 7.—Convicted at his second trial for conducting a gambling house at 1139 Baltic and 202 North Chatfont avenues, Atlantic City, Andrew Terry, first of the colored men to be arraigned by Prosecutor Charles Summer Moore in his renewed effort to break off organized gambling in the resort, was sentenced by Judge Clifton C. Shinn to not less than eighteen months nor more than three years on each charge, making his maximum sentence six years, and a fine of $2,000 imposed.

Terry gave notice of an appeal, and his bail was fixed at $5,000 pending the same.

Mike Green, one of the alleged backers of Terry, was arraigned on a writ of contempt growing out of alleged attempts to influence Lester Lewis, a witness for the state in the Terry trial. Lewis said Terry "cussed him and called him a stool pigeon" and threatened to "get him and was prepared to go the limit."

Judge Shinn issued a writ of attachment, returnable March 20, when a list of interrogatories will be submitted by the prosecutor to Green to be answered why he should not be adjudged guilty.

The hearing of Tax Collector Lewis Mathis of Atlantic City for attempting to influence William Conover, a juror in the first Terry trial, was postponed until next Friday, when Mathis will be given his final opportunity of disproving the charges.

BEGIN WORK ON SHIPYARD.

New Gloucester Plant to Build Two Large Vessels.

Gloucester, March 7.—Construction of the shipyard of the Pennsylvania Shipbuilding company was started on the twenty-five acre tract of land owned by that company. It is expected that the keels of two 600 ton vessels will be laid at the yard on Aug. 1.

The Pennsylvania Shipbuilding company has contracted to build six 6,000 ton ships destined for use in the transatlantic trade of a Norwegian line. The ships will be built of standard steel construction and electrically equipped.

BANDIT LEADER CONVICTED.

Hoboken Youth Stole $3,000 Worth of Silk From Erie Freight Train.

Hackensack, March 7.—William Beader, twenty-one years old, one of the leaders of the gang of bandits who terrorized Erie railroad detectives and freight crews last October, was found guilty by a jury in the Hackensack court of stealing $3,000 worth of silk from an Erie freight car at Woodridge on Oct. 4 and with destroying an electric block signal on the main line of the Erie at Glen Rock on Oct. 24.

WOMAN SUFFOCATED IN FIRE.

Camden Negress Dies, and Ill Woman Is Carried Out.

Camden, March 7.—During a fire in their dwelling Mary Walters, colored, sixty years old, was suffocated and another occupant who was ill in bed was rescued by being carried down a ladder from the second story. She was Minnie Morris and was taken care of by a neighbor.

RICHARD A. M'CURDY DEAD.

Was For Many Years President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Morristown, March 7.—Richard Aldrich McCurdy, capitalist and president of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York from 1885 to 1906, is dead. He was eighty-one years old.

Orange, March 7.—A badly scared burglar tumbled down a flight of stairs in the home of William Lord when Mrs. Lord asked who was prowling about. He dropped a loaded revolver and got away before the police arrived.

Congestion of Freight.

Gibbstown, March 7.—There is a congestion of freight here, attributed to the embargo on freight cars. One magazine at the powder plant stored a million pounds of powder, and two other magazines are being built.

WAR.

Prudence K. Jamieson.

A day, a quarrel, and a shot or two—
A mind that would conquer the world anew—
A khaki cap on a tousled head—
Two eyes that shine through the tears unshed—
And the war begins.

A blinding flash when the winds were still—
A lonely cross on a moonlit hill—
A black-clad figure that cannot weep—
A tiny boy in his crib asleep—
And the war goes on.

A name that shall live in the souls of men—
A woman who smiles at the world again—
A soldier lad with his heart aglow
At the thought of the father he did not know—
And the war is done.

His Satanic Majesty Turns His Back

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

The customary vaudeville program at the Plainfield theatre will be on a different scale than usual during today and tomorrow. For these two days only, Shea's society circus is to be the big feature. All the best things seen under the canvas in the summer time are given in conjunction with high-class vaudeville acts, the complete program forming an entertainment of more than an hour and a half, suitable to either old or young.

"Mary Ellen," the five-ton comedy elephant, is one of the headline numbers in the circus program and is a special delight to the children. The sagacity of "Mary Ellen" is duplicated by "Jenny," the tango skating bear, another wonderful performing animal. "Androcles," and his lion, "Bengal Prince," make up the animal acts. Beside those already mentioned, other features on the program are the Lousings, in feats of strength, and Moors and Jenkins, concert singers and dancers, and Cal Davis and Co., late of Barnum & Bailey, comedy jugglers.

Every program at the Plainfield theatre includes feature pictures, either one or two reel comedies and dramas or serial films; the continued story of "The Iron Claw" is shown every Thursday, and "The Strange Case of Mary Page" every Friday. The Pathe semi-weekly animated newspaper is presented Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Bert Baker and the Bon Ton Girls Company will be the big musical show of the coming week in this city. This is said to be the largest and best organization of its kind in America. Mr. Baker is supported by a cast heretofore unequaled in modern travesty or burlesque. The engagement is for the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, matinee and night.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

TO FIGHT FOR DELEGATES.

The conference held in this city, Thursday, at the office of former Governor Fort, indicates that the election of delegates from this state to the Republican National Convention is not to go by default to the machine candidates. Final decision was postponed, but there is every reason to believe that not only will there be progressive candidates for delegates-at-large, but also in every Congressional district.

While the men who have taken the initiative in this movement are admirers of Theodore Roosevelt it is unlikely that his name will appear upon the primary ticket. In every state where an attempt has been made to place him in nomination at the primaries he has taken steps to have his name removed and there is no reason to doubt that he would take similar action here. Nor is the movement for a progressive delegation necessarily a Roosevelt movement. Although Mr. Roosevelt is admittedly the first choice of those behind it, they are not tied up to his candidacy. What they seek is a delegation that will represent progressive sentiment, support a progressive candidate and which cannot be delivered, hog-tied, to any candidate selected by the reactionary bosses.

Most of the men present at Thursday's conference supported Roosevelt in 1912, but not all. Former Senators Bradley of Camden and White of Burlington have always been known as organization men—even though they have at times exhibited independent proclivities—and it is understood that both were Taft adherents four years ago. Their presence on Thursday was evidence of the conviction that is rapidly permeating the ranks of the regulars that party necessity may compel the nomination of Roosevelt even in the face of personal dislike.

In view of the delegate contest now indicated those progressive Republicans who have put George L. Record forward as a candidate for Governor would do well to reconsider their determination to take no part in the delegate fight. Mr. Record cannot hope for any help from organization Republicans, and he must look to progressives for support. For his immediate friends to hold aloof in the fight for progressive delegates will not strengthen him in the fall primaries.

EMPLOYED BOYS' BANQUET A SUCCESS

Clarence C. Robinson and Charles R. Scott Make Addresses.

The employed boys' banquet, held in the Association rooms last night, proved to be beneficial and interesting to those that braved the storm to be among those who heard Clarence C. Robinson, international secretary of wage-earning boys. Mr. Robinson spoke of the relation of the boys in the shops, stores, offices and their other places of occupation, with the relation of the Y. M. C. A., and the work that the association is doing for the boys who are struggling along to help support their parents, brothers and sisters; boys who have not been able to keep up their schooling throughout high school, and are forced to enter the world of wage earners to support themselves and part of the family.

He cited instances of men who are now at the top of the ladder in the world of men who started out in life when a boy as errand boys, in factories or in the mines, and succeeded to where they are now because they kept the Y. M. C. A. and their goal hand in hand.

Charles R. Scott, boys' state secretary, said to the boys that he always thought it an honor to be among boys, and especially the employed boys. He spoke of the work that Mr. Robinson was doing and preceded the speaker of the evening. Mr. Lynn, boys' secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., made an appeal to the boys to come out to the Friday evening suppers and Bible studies that are held in the association. He spoke of the work that has been going on, and of the work that he hopes will be accomplished with the Friday evening suppers to come.

The Boy Let Bibbley Wah Beat.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Bibbley Wah Played Croquet All Winter Long.

"OH, daddy, please tell us a Bibbley Wah story!" begged Evelyn.

So daddy took his armchair, a girl on one knee and a little boy on the other, and this is what he told: "Probably Uncle Ben's farmhouse had the nicest front hall that three children ever played in. It ran right through the whole big house, with great white splendid doors that had brass knockers at both ends. At sunrise and sunset there was always sunshine in it, for it faced east and west. It was as wide as our library and high airy, with charming old carvings all along its sides. Anne kept the floor polished. But the feet of many generations of Uncle Ben's family kept it polished better still, and you may feel sure that Bobbie and Bibbley Wah, romping, sliding and dancing with Jim, did their young share toward keeping the old hall smooth and happy."

"Did they have carts to drag in it, daddy?" Jack wanted to know.

"Better than carts! They had a croquet set that Uncle Ben had bought for them. Days when the north wind howled through the dooryard and almost blew children right off up into the clouds and days when the rain pelted so it flattened down all the young things in the garden, so that Anne used to worry lest it soak little Bibbley Wah right down into the earth, out of sight, Uncle Ben used to tell Hank Fritz to fix the croquet set so the children could play indoors. He had the most interesting little iron holders that kept the wickets in the right place without scratching the floor. Bobbie had a red mallet and ball, Jim a brown one, and Bibbley Wah's was blue to match her frock. And how the balls would slide and spin on the hard floor! It was almost impossible to send one through a wicket. So guess what Uncle Ben did?"

"Waxed the floor!" cried Jack, who had just been to dancing class.

"He went to town and got a very nice wide, long strip of grass matting, so that when Hank spread it along the hall and then set the wickets the rough matting behaved rather like real grass and the balls acted less wild and lively."

"Didn't the children make a lot of noise hitting the balls, daddy? When I play croquet I sound just like small thunder," said Jack.

"Yes; they made lots of noise, but it was happy, healthy noise. And that was what Uncle Ben invited them to his home for—to make happy noises in the old, big, rather empty house, you see. And when the children had finished two games of croquet and the boys had let Bibbley Wah beat them because she was a little girl Anne used to let them go into her nice white kitchen and make a panful of popcorn balls."

"Oh, daddy, what fun the children used to have!" cried Jack and Evelyn.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

One Hundred a Month for Personal Expenses Will Satisfy Mrs. Townsend.

"It is very humiliating to me that we should live in a constant state of friction. I detest quarreling," Jacob Townsend spoke with heat.

"I am a very peaceably inclined person, and it surely is not my fault that relations may at any moment break into open rupture," replied Ortrude coolly.

"If you would only be reasonable——"

"Which of course means, if I would only be governed in all things by your good judgment," interrupted Ortrude.

"If you would use your head, Ortrude, you would see that I am in a position to know what we can afford and what is beyond our means. I did not ask you to take my word for it, but tried to explain conditions. You were bored, you said, with business details. I cannot understand your attitude. Do you think I am lying to you?" Jacob thrust his hands into his pockets and strode up and down the room.

"Don't use such a strong word, J. C. Men think any means used to protect their pocketbooks perfectly legitimate. It is part of the unwritten law of husbands. All statements made about money contain mental reservations." Ortrude was cool and cheerful.

"One would think your experience with husbands had been extensive," blurted out Jacob bitterly.

"Oh, I have read, and I have married friends. There are more ways to learn than by experience. The fact that your symptoms tally with the theory confirms me in my opinion." Ortrude bestowed her most brilliant smile on the wretched man.

"Do you think I would give up sending Marian to school if my hard times were all imaginary?" he asked, stopping in front of her chair.

"You might have your reasons for keeping her at home." She looked keenly at her husband.

"As for instance?" he asked.

"Oh, a girl with Marian's attitude toward me would make a very convenient spy to report on my actions." Ortrude looked sharply at her husband.

"Spy! One would suppose you were leading a double life and I was going to all lengths to detect you in it. What could she report in heaven's name?" was the disgusted reply.

"She might report on my expenditures," replied Ortrude scornfully.

"I surely do not need anyone to report on them. The bills come in fast enough."

Ortrude laughed. The mention of the bills seemed to be amusing to her. "You spoke of putting me on an allowance. Perhaps it would be more satisfactory in some ways, provided it was large enough."

"I certainly should like to know where I stand; what I could depend on." There was a cheerful note in Jacob's tone. "What would you consider large enough?"

"For you to keep up all the household expenses, pay Tupper and give me one hundred and fifty or even one hundred dollars a month for my personal expenses." Ortrude watched her husband out of the corner of her eye, while she pretended to embroider.

"A hundred a month!" exploded Jacob. "Do you know that the net income from the store is not three hundred a month? Of that only half is mine."

"Oh, well, there is the block of stores and the income from two farms——"

"The crops are a failure this year and one of the stores is vacant," interrupted Jacob. "My expenses have been so high that I have not the large sum of money needed to make my fall payments." Ortrude raised her hand as if to ward off a blow.

"I've stood all the business I can for one day," she exclaimed, rising and leaving the room.

Household Hints

CAKES AND COOKIES.

Pepparkabor (Swedish Cookies)—Boil one cup sirup, one-half cup sugar and one-half cup butter. Beat one egg, add two tablespoons cream (condensed milk can be used), one teaspoon cloves and one teaspoon cardamons. Mix one teaspoon soda in one tablespoon warm water and enough flour to make dough easy to handle.

Potato Fried Cakes—Two cups sugar, three eggs, one cup sweet milk, two tablespoons melted butter, three rounding teaspoons baking powder, five cups flour, two cups mashed potatoes, a little salt. Sprinkle with granulated sugar.

Mac-o-chee Rocks—One and one-half cups light brown sugar, one-half cup butter, two eggs, one and flour well sifted, pinch salt, one cup flour wel sifted, pinch salt, one cup hickorynut meats, one teaspoon soda dissolved in one-fourth cup hot coffee, one teaspoon cinnamon. Mix well, drop by spoonful on pan; bake slowly.

Orange Cake—Two eggs and their weight in sugar; butter, flour, grated rind and juice of one oragne, one teaspoon baking powder. Beat sugar and butter to a cream, add flour and eggs alternately, then stir in grated rind and juice of orange; lastly add baking powder. Bake twenty or thirty minutes. Icing: Six ounces icing sugar, grated rind of orange, juice sufficient to dissolve sugar.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When cooking rolled oats, if a little piece of butter is put in it will add to the taste.

For removing fishy odors from hands and kitchen utensils, dissolve tablespoonful of dry mustard in dish water. Rinse well and dry.

To Prepare Pumpkin — Wash pumpkin, cut in two through center and place the flat side on a baking pan. Bake in hot oven 2½ hours or until done. When tender remove from oven and the whole can be easily scooped from the shell without any waste, and it is ready for use.

To Steam Corduroy and Velvet Coats—Take large basin, fill part full of boiling water, place crushed part of coat over basin and let steam from three to five minutes. This is harmless and successful. Be sure to place right side to the steam.

ADVICE FOR YOUNG HOUSEKEEPERS

Begin by carefully planning each day's work.

Do not plan to work so hard that you cannot have a couple of hours each afternoon in which to rest, and be refreshed at "his" homecoming.

Each day brings its work, such as washing, ironing, mending, sweeping, dusting and baking. But do not try to work more than eight hours a day. Overwork makes you so tired that your disposition becomes soured, you speak sharply, you are unable to be well dressed and looking forward to your sweetheart's homecoming.

Consequently, your husband may tire of you in time and be spirited away by some fresh face that knows how to keep young.

THE TABLE

Steak for Club Dinner—Take five pounds round steak, cut a little over one-half inch thick. Cut up into pieces large enough for one serving. Pound and dip into egg, then cracker and bread crumbs mixed (crumbs rolled very fine). Have skillet hot with butter browned, fill skillet with meat, season, let brown nicely, take out and put into roaster. When you have all the meat fried and in the roaster, add a little water, cover and put into oven for 2½ hours, when it is ready to serve. For gravy take the trimmings and bone, fry and make cream gravy of this. This serves twenty-five people and is fine. Nice to serve at a club meeting, instead of chicken.

Fried Turnips—Parboil turnips sliced one-half inch thick, in salted boiling water until tender. Drain dip in beaten egg and cracker crumbs (seasoned) and fry in salt pork drippings. This is real tasty and a change in serving white or yellow turnips. Good with roast beef.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by

THE W. C. T. U.

Heads of the big industrial concerns of Chicago see a very direct relation between the enforcement of the Sunday-closing law and the physical and mental condition of their employees on Mondays, and naturally they are not inclined to agree with the liquorites' caustic criticism of the puritanical, undemocratic law and its enforcement. The men who manage the great industries tell us that Sunday drinking has meant lessened efficiency, decreased mental and moral stamina, depreciated physical vigor and the wasting of money and consequent worry over financial conditions.

"Our workmen now come to the plants on Monday morning with clear heads and rested bodies," said a foreman of Armour and Co., the big packing house. "It was the complaint of all packers before the saloons were closed that many of the men either did not show up at all on Monday or reported with 'hangovers' that reduced their efficiency 50 per cent. during the day, and affected it for several days thereafter. Now the men are on hand Monday morning with steady muscles, rested bodies and minds, fit for their tasks."

"Our workmen were all on hand last Monday for the first time in years," said one of the foremen of the Illinois Steel company, the week after the Sunday-closing law was enforced. "When we asked them what caused the change they said they had nothing to do Sunday but rest for Monday. Besides, most of them had enough of their wages left not to need to ask for advances before the next week ended."

"The closing of the saloons is a boon to industry," said one of the department managers of the International Harvester works. "When the employees have had time to note its effect, they will give it their heartiest support."

"The direct effect on the building trades is that about 25 per cent. more workmen were on hand last Monday than at any time during the period I have been handling large numbers of workmen," said a member of the Contractors 'Association of Painters and Decorators.

Butler, Mo., is another town which is demonstrating that prosperity follows prohibition. It is today, says the Kansas City Star, "a better, richer and more prosperous town than ever. The merchants carry beter stocks, the business houses are neater, cleaner and better; the people live in better and more attractive homes and enjoy life in more rational and healthful ways. There are fewer idle people and merchants have fewer bad debts.

"When the saloons were voted out Butler had a bonded debt of something like $20,000 on its electric light plant, and notwithstanding the 'revenue' from its four saloons, it was a hard matter to meet interest payments, and the liquidation of the principal seemed a long way off. Since the closing of the saloons the debt has been paid and many needed public improvements have been made, and all without increasing the tax rate one penny. In fact, the tax rate is now lower than ever before."

An interesting bit of testimony comes from the section of Minnesota which recently became dry through what might be called an automatic application of prohibition to a region where no election was held to settle the question, namely, the enforcement of an old Indian treaty. Because of this action there is now an open saloon in Itasca county, and as a result a marvelous reformation has taken place. One year ago seventy-nine tons of beer were shipped in. This year there was no beer; but the books show that seventy-nine tons more of groceries were consumed at this point than during the corresponding month of last year. The Minneapolis Journal says that the records of the mining companies, which employ the large population of foreigners, show fewer layoffs among the men than ever before, and the stores report larger and more profitable business from these employees.

Governor Lister, of Washington, after the state had had only on month's trial of prohibition, expressed himself as "mightily well pleased" with results.

"I frankly confess that I had expected some trouble in the larger cities at first, but I have been agreeably disappointed. In Seattle and Tacoma, seaport citiees, the condition has been accepted without any marked disturbances.

"I believe that the people of the state, generally speaking, had come to realize several months ago that the saloons were doomed and they were prepared for the situation that resulted when the prohibition law went into effect. And I don't think the citizens will ever go back to the wet conditions again."

Speaking to the students in the high school at North Yakima, the governor called attention to the fact that the prohibition law will save the state much of the money which it will lose by decreased revenue from saloon licenses. "The state institutions at present contain 6,000 people and cost the state $3,000 a day," he said. "I believe that under the new law we will have less use for the state penitentiary and reformatories. You have already had illustrations of the fact that the police force of the state may be decreased."

LARGE SALE OF TICKETS FOR TONIGHT'S CONCERT

Judging from the gratifying sale of tickets for the concert to be given this evening at Columbus Hall for the benefit of the Vaterlandshilfe Society of Plainfield and vicinity, the appeal to the charitably-inclined citizens has not been in vain. Moreover, the artistic success will be unquestioned in view of the talented artists whose services are freely given for this good cause.

The society in question is actively engaged in raising funds for the relief of the suffering in the Central European empires, and has repeatedly sent over large sums which have been most gratefully received and have helped when most needed. Moreover, in serious cases of destitution in this country, where brought about by the fearful war now raging, active support has been rendered. The society hopes for a very substantial realization from tonight's concert, and knows that the patrons will be more than satisfied for having attended.

LEHIGH ERECTS MODERN ROUNDHOUSE AT SAYRE

An old brick roundhouse at Sayre, Pa., has been replaced with a modern and up-to-date reinforced concrete structure by the Lehigh Valley Railroad without any interruption to business. As a new stall was completed, a locomotive was housed there instead of in the old structure, and its former stall was demolished to make way for another new one. In this way a new roundhouse has grown, together with oil and locker houses, a modern repair shop and an office building.

The new roundhouse has accommodations for forty-six large locomotives and represents the last word in construction of buildings of the sort. Some idea of its size may be gained from the fact that the diameter of its inner circle is 107 feet. A new electric turntable, a new transfer table, and all the latest ideas in roundhouse construction have been included.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN TO MISS JENNIE SHUPECK

A farewell party was tendered Miss Jennie Shupeck at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S Hirsch, of Watchung avenue. The party was arranged by Aaron and Leo Hirsch, cousins of the guest of honor. Miss Shupeck leaves today for Hazelton, Pa., having been in this city for a three weeks' visit. There were solos rendered by Miss Dorothy Augenblick, Sadie Moskovitz, Bessie Adelberg, Jennie Shupeck. Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

The guests were Misses Sadie Rotherberg, Sadie Moskovitz, Dorothy Augenblick, Mildred Weintrob, Gussie Bloom, Ida Sachar, Bessie Adelberg, Reba Meyers, Rae Canter, Nettie Solomon, Minnie Solomon, Sadie Richards; Aaron Hirsch, Leo Hirsch, Benjamin Adelberg, Israel Reiner, Morris Canter, Philip Moskovitz, Arthur Richards, Sol. Weintrob, Morris Seigel, Benjamin Berse.

BESLER SEEKS TO AID IN REDUCING CAR SHORTAGE

In view of the shortage in box cars, W. G. Besler, president and general manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, has addressed a letter to all officers, agents and other employes of the road, as well as to shippers and consignees, urging that cars be unloaded immediately upon receipt, so that they can be put back into service. There is a serious shortage of freight cars in the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, where crops are to be moved, and it is claimed that this is due to a congestion of cars in New England.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease. —Adv.

NEW JERSEY ASS'N IN ANNUAL SESSION

Plainfielders in the South Meet and Elect Officers for the Year.

Owing to the fact that there are so many Jerseymen, especially Plainfielders, located at or near Daytona, Fla., led to the formation of a New Jersey Association. The annual meeting of the organization was held last week in the Daytona Beach Town Hall on Harvey street, Daytona. The members re-elected the former board of officers, with H. F. Thompson as president and D. D. Rogers and William Stillman, of Plainfield, vice presidents; N. J. Wilson, of Red Bank, secretary, and George Phelps, of Newark, treasurer.

The resolution was passed to invite all Garden State people to attend the annual outing to be held today. This will take the form of a boat trip to the Lighthouse.

D. D. Rogers, who will be remembered by the older Plainfielders as a former resident, has just been making an extended business trip down the East Coast of Florida, taking in Palm Beach, Miami and as far south as Big Pine Key, where he has a large plantation. He stopped at Fort Myers on his return and visited several friends.

Mr. Rogers, in commenting on his trip, says that they are building wonderful roads in that section of Florida and otherwise developing that part of the west coast, and that all the east and west coast resorts are overflowing with tourists. Mr. Rogers stopped at Orlando to visit his son, Walter Rogers, and returned home pleased and benefitted by his trip.

EXPLOSION IN JAIL KILLS 20 PRISONERS

Jail Officials Says Convict Is Responsible For Horror.

El Paso, Tex., March 7.—Twenty prisoners were burned to death and a score of others seriously injured when fire, starting from a large tub containing a solution of gasoline and kerosene used for fumigation exploded in the city jail.

Many of the victims were thoroughly saturated with the solution when the flames enveloped them, and their cries of agony were heard by a great crowd which had assembled on the outside of the jail.

In their first report jail officials attributed the origin of the fire to the deliberate act of a prisoner in throwing a lighted match into one of the containers holding the explosive fluid.

Surrounding the bath quarters are rows of cells, and it was in these that most of the fatalities occurred. Locked in, the prisoners were unable to escape the blinding sheet of flame. Those who were rescued were found unconscious and terribly burned.

BAKER WAR SECRETARY.

Cleveland's Former Mayor to Succeed Lindley M. Garrison.

Washington, March 7.—Newton D. Baker, former mayor of Cleveland, was selected by President Wilson for the office of secretary of war. Mr. Baker will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Lindley M. Garrison of New Jersey.

Mr. Baker is a member of a number of peace societies. However, it is taken for granted that he is in harmony with President Wilson's policy of preparedness.

Mr. Baker will come to Washington Thursday for a conference with the president as to a convenient time for his assumption of his new duties. Inasmuch as the thirty day commission of General Hugh Scott as secretary ad interim will expire March 11, it is believed the president will urge him to prepare to take the oath of office as soon as possible.

REFUSED TO JAIL A WOMAN.

Southern Judge Says the Idea Is Abhorrent to Him.

New York, March 7.—Judge Dayton of West Virginia, who was sitting here by special assignment, asserted that it appeared to his southern ideas horrible to send a woman to jail. So he sentenced Mrs. May Wilson Hale of Boston, in the federal district court, to pay a fine of $50 for undervaluation, although Assistant District Attorney Harper argued for a prison sentence.

CONDUCTOR ROBBED AND SHOT

Held Up Outside Trolley Car During Storm.

New Haven, March 7.—During a heavy snowstorm J. F. Orr, a Bridgeport trolley car conductor, was held up and robbed of several dollars and shot in the thigh by the highwayman when he made a sudden move.

The hold-up occurred at Devon, as the conductor was ringing the switch telephone. He was removed to the Bridgeport hospital.

TAYLOR'S COMET SPLITS.

One of the Parts 2½ Magnitudes Fainter Than the Other.

Cambridge, Mass., March 7.—A split in Taylor's comet, with one of the parts from two to two and a half magnitudes fainter than the main comet, was announced in a message to the Harvard observatory from F. B. Frost, director of Yerkes observatory. The measurements were made by Professor Barnard.

The Upholstery Store

Newly Arranged and Stocked, Asks the Honor of Assisting You in Fitting Up Your Home

—with new curtains and draperies of all kinds;
—with scrims, nets, muslins and curtain materials;
—with cretonnes from France, England and America;
—with antique laces a hundred years old;
—with lace and muslin bed sets;
—with furniture coverings, pillows and covers;
—with couch throw-overs and table covers;
—with awnings, shades and blinds;
—with cedar chests, cretonne and matting covered boxes;
—with everything that your home needs to "dress it up" for Spring and Summer.

Coming home from his war-time winter visit to Europe, our upholstery specialist looked over his floor with a fresh eye.

"I have so many new things to show, so many wonderful things," he said, "that we'll have to rearrange the whole Store."

It is done. A new, specialized, classified, harmoniously arranged Upholstery Store greets the visitor as she passes over the "Bridge of Progress" or alights from the elevator on the Third floor.

New, inspirational and suggestive settings; newly decorated and arranged rooms; new exhibits of upholsteries, the finest we could find in Europe and America.

One Hundred Year Old Laces

They draw one irresistibly to them in their crystal cabinets, and as treasure after treasure is brought forth from the hidden chest. Each piece is more than a hundred years old; brought in, therefore, without duty; and as moderately priced here as in Europe.

In the Metropolitan Museum there may be finer specimens, but surely not in any other store.

Filet laces Flanders laces
Bruges laces Cluny laces

Motifs for curtains, table covers, bed covers, pillow covers, boudoir table covers, lamp shades, parasols, bed canopies and borders of towels.

The Cretonnes

From France, England and America—no lack of European cretonnes now, but this is the last lot we believe that will come in for some time; production is greatly curtailed abroad.

Toile de Jouy and printed linens in stripes and floral designs in thirty-one and fifty-inch widths.

One of the cretonnes in a Chinese Chippendale pattern is copied from an old tapestry in the Kensington Museum. American cretonnes are coming strongly to the front, encouraged greatly by the large orders we have given for them.

Satin Damasks

The day after we placed our order for these damasks in Lyons they were advanced 33⅓ per cent. in price. Some manufacturers will take no more orders for delivery before 1917. These are our own designs.

Novelty Curtains

Also in our own designs—scrims, marquisettes and muslins—with lace edge, lace insertion, lace motifs and two-inch hemstitched borders—ranging from $1 a pair up.

Bed Sets

of muslins, marquisettes, scrims, many of them to match the curtains in the bedroom, $3.25 to $20.

Tapestry Panels

We took all the manufacturer had in Paris. Machine-made, but in good colors and patterns. Will fit a panel 18 x 18 inches, ranging up to three yards in length.

Window Shades

We use only John King's best Scotch Holland (linen finish) and our own opaque painted shades.

Awnings

Orders for awnings should be placed now to insure their being ready. John Boyle's non-fade stripes in green-painted materials, decorated with stencil—said by the maker to be sun-proof, water-proof and crack-proof,—on frames made of the best galvanized iron.

Our Workroom

is enlarged and reorganized—prepared to do anything pertaining to interior drapery work—and to do it well. As soon as the Spring opens up it will be crowded with work, and orders given now will have the preference.

Our trip to Europe was made at the psychological time to take advantage of conditions, and we are showing many things which cannot be duplicated, and which we believe will not come to America again until the war ends. Third Gallery, New Building.

HOURS FOR WOMEN TOPIC

production had been maintained with the short day. The speaker cited the decisions of several courts upholding the constitutionality of an eight hour working day law, and declared that there would be no question about it being supported if once passed.

Mrs. Andrews classed the short working day for both men and women as a vital step in the adoption of a satisfactory policy, claiming that a better supervision of industry would mean a better nation physically, morally and mentally. Her remarks were largely devoted to working out a plan for the betterment of conditions in factories, and applied only in a general way to the topic at issue here.

Mr. Rosenbaum touched on the psychology of store training for girls, and cited several examples of personal experiences. He urged a closer relationship between employer and employe; and suggested that each business man endeavor to aid, by practical talks and illustrations, the instruction of his salesgirls. He also suggested that a school be formed to teach the girls salesmanship. He deplored the necessity for an outside current of supervision over the hours of labor, and his arguments indicated that he had made an exhaustive study of the labor problem.

Other speakers on this subject were Miss Mabelle C. Phillips, Mrs. A. B. Jones, Miss Katherine Ball, President Hermann Schwed, John J. Varley, Samuel Rothberg, Leslie R. Fort and A. B. Jones.

On behalf of the association Dollar Day Committee, Chairman Varley made a complete report, describing the preliminary work and the success of the venture. It was decided to have the association represented at Board of Trade meeting to be held next Tuesday night for the purpose of devising ways and means of advertising Plainfield. A number of applications for membership were received at the meeting, and one resignation, that of Gustav Meisner, a contracting mason, accepted.

Representatives of the Credit Association, an organization that recently voted to consolidate with the Business Men's Association, attended the meeting, and a committee headed by J. L. Bennett was named to complete the arrangements for the merging of the two bodies.

Al Widoson, Local Giant, Training for Boxing Game

Alfred Widoson, former Plainfield High School boy, is now living in Newark, where he is training to enter the fighting game. Widoson, who has always attracted attention in local athletics by his size and strength, has been training for two months with Charlie Weinert and several other well-known heavyweights.

Widoson broke into the boxing game by pure accident. He was busy doing his usual work on his farm one day when Otto Engle, the Newark manager, happened to be in Plainfield and passed by where Alfred was working. The big Plainfield boy, as Engle afterward expressed it, "was carrying young trees on his shoulders." The Newark promoter, impressed by the size and strength of the young giant, induced Widoson to go in for boxing.

Although Widoson has had no experience in the ring, he is said to be learning fast. He has all the natural requirements of age, size and speed. He is twenty years old, six feet two inches tall and weighs 195 pounds. His weight is well distributed, and he is fairly fast for such a big man. Alfred expects to make his debut in the squared circle in a few weeks.

Widoson has participated in many lines of athletics in this city. His last appearance was on the Holy Cross Football Club last fall. He played a guard on the local eleven, and was one of the strongest forwards the Maroon and White combination had.

Alfred has played basketball on most Plainfield courts, being a member of the Mt. Pleasant quintet. He has also played on the Mt. Pleasant baseball nine, and has taken part in hockey tussles. He formerly attended Plainfield High School, but took little part in athletics there. His older brother, Joe, who is even larger than Alfred, was one of the biggest and best linesmen ever appearing on the gridiron for the Red and Blue.

BASEBALL NOTES

Jack Dunn has signed Pitcher Thormahlen, who was given a trial last spring by Washington.

Members of the Philadelphia Nationals arrived at Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday, and immediately boarded a train for St. Petersburg. Josh Devore is reported to have suffered considerably during the ocean voyage.

Nick Cullop is being hailed as a regular at the camp of the Yankees. The former Fed is looked upon as one of the best southpaws in the game.

Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Superbas, is waiting for the arrival of his regulars at Daytona. The first string men are slated to sail from Gotham today.

Baseball diamonds in the National League are to be laid out by surveying engineers. It is said that particular attention will be paid to the pitcher's box.

KOHLY IN HILL CLIMB.

William Unmack, of San Francisco, has invited Hannes Kolehmainen, of the Irish-American A. C., to visit San Francisco next summer to compete in the annual race up Mount Tamalpais, known as the "Mountain Climb." O. Millard, of the Olympic Club, who, it will be remembered, gave Kolehmainen such a hard fight to win the national five-mile out-door championship last summer, won the 1915 race.

GOLF CONFLICTIONS.

The Greenwich Country Club has been selected by the Connecticut Golf Association to hold the next Connecticut amateur championship tournament, the dates chosen being June 28 to July 1.

The dates conflict with the national open, the metropolitan junior, and the Sleepy Hollow invitation.

MISS MOLLA BJURSTEDT IS WINNER OVER MRS. WEAVER

The women's tennis tournament being held in New York as a prelude to the national championship at the Seventh Regiment armory next week began yesterday, Miss Molla Bjurstedt winning her match from Mrs. Spencer F. Weaver.

The summary:

Heights Casoino Invitation Tennis Touurnament; Women's Singles—First Round—Miss Molla Bjurstedt defeated Mrs. S. F. Weaver, 6-3, 6-4; Miss Edith Handy defeated Miss Florence Sheldon, 6-8, 6-2, 8-6; Mrs. Frederick C. Schmitz defeated Miss Gertrude Della Torre, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5; Miss Marion Vanderhoef defeated Miss Abbie Morrison, 6-3, 6-4.

Second Round—Mrs. David C. Mills and Miss Florence Bailin won by default.

SIX TOWNS INTERESTED IN UP-STATE BASEBALL LEAGUE

Dover, March 7.—Plans are under way to form a six-team baseball league in which Newton, Hacketts-town, Dover, Morristown, Summit and Boonton will be represented. A meeting to further the plans will be called in a week or ten days. This action is the outcome of the published plans of the Washington management of last year's Tri-County League team. When the league was formed last year it was generally understood that it would be continued from year to year, but this plan has been frustrated by the action of Washington officials in joining an up-state league.

Dover will be represented in the league by the Lincoln Giants, who played well last year, and also enabled the local organization to complete the season with a snug balance in the treasury.

SOPH. MADE RUTGERS CAPTAIN.

John N. (Mike) Wittpenn was elected captain of the Rutgers basketball team for next year at New Brunswick yesterday.

He has played only one year and is a sophomore. His work was the outstanding feature of the team's play this year and there was no doubt that he would be chosen.

Twenty of the Rutgers squad of twenty-five men will be lost by graduation this year and the team next year will be composed of all new men.

PENN QUINTET CHAMPION.

Pennsylvania won the Intercollegiate Basketball League championship by defeating Cornell at Ithaca last night, 10 to 9.

RAHWAY MASONIC LEAGUE WINNER

County League Ended Last Night, Tyrian Ending One Game Behind.

RACE VERY CLOSE

Essex, Winding up in Third Place, Finishes Three Games Behind New Champions—Murray Again Average Leader, Wright Second.

The Union County Masonic League, in which there is still much local interest because of the fact that Anchor and Jerusalem Lodges, of this city, were members of the league up to this year, ended its season last night, Lafayette Lodge, of Rahway, winning the championship by taking two games from Essex, on the German Lutheran alleys in Elizabeth.

Essex needed two victories last night to make Lafayette tied with first place with Tyrian, the team that won the title last season. The team totals last night were:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Lafayette | 894 | 885 | 818 |
| Essex | 869 | 806 | 874 |

The race was close, Tyrian finishing the season only one game behind Lafayette, and two games ahead of Essex. The final standing of the first three teams follows:

| | W. | L. | P. C. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Lafayette | 25 | 11 | .714 |
| Tyrian | 24 | 12 | .667 |
| Essex | 22 | 14 | .611 |

Clint Murray, of the Tyrian team, is again the individual average championship. His mark for thirty-six games is 180.23. Herb Wright, of Essex, had the next best average, finishing one point behind Murray. Jake Hoffman, of the Hermann, holds the high score record, a mark of 265.

Secretary Ring is now working on the season averages, which will be announced soon. It is believed that Tyrian won the team average honors.

JERSEY SQUASH CLUBS JOIN THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Five clubs which have been competing as the New Jersey Squash Tennis Association for several years joined forces with the National Squash Association at the latter's annual meeting yesterday in New York. This gives the national body a total membership of seventeen clubs. The Jersey organization incidentally has been dissolved.

Armin W. Reiley, of the Princeton Club, was elected president for the ensuing year; Augustus J. Cordier, of Yale Club, vice president; W. B. Chamberlin, Princeton Club, treasurer; while M. L. Cornell, of Columbia Club, retains the office of secretary. The new executive committee consists of Murray Olyphant, Englewood Field Club; Anderson Dana, Harvard Club; D. R. Noyes, Squash Club; R. E. T. Riggs, Heights Casino, and F. S. Keeler, Columbia Club.

NEWS OF THE GOLFERS

The Country Club of Glen Ridge has raised its dues. The board of governors has voted to climb from $60 to $75 a year. There is also a family membership proposition that is likely to prove attractive to many. For $85 a man will be able to secure the playing privileges for himself and the members of his immediate family.

Louis Tellier, the French professional, who was connected with the Canoe Brook Country Club last season, has been playing in excellent form in Texas of late. At the Houston Country Club he and Willie Maguire took part in a four-ball exhibition match against George V. Rotan, the Texas amateur champion, and Robert Peebles. Tellier and Maguire won by 3 and 1. Tellier was low man in the individual scores with a 76.

Isaac Mackie, who will shortly take up his duties as professional at the Canoe Brook Country Club, is back from the South, having finished his engagement at the Oakdale Golf Club of Lynchburg, Va. Isaac liked it there and in many ways regretted leaving. He was also popular with the club members, who, the other day, presented him with a gold watch.

It has been intimated that an effort will be made to get several thousand golfers to sign a petition protesting against the new amateur rule. This may or may not be so, but unless the U. S. G. A. officials should suddenly develop a weakness in the knees, there is little likelihood of this petition (mythical at present) receiving much consideration.

SKATES 300 YARDS in 25 SECS.

Chicago, Ill., March 7.—Roy McMcWhirter, of the Northwest Skating Club, made a new record for 300 yards straightaway skating yesterday in a skating meet at Humboldt Park between his club and the Norwegian Turner Society, when he covered the distance in 23 2-5s. The previous record was held by George D. Phillips, who skated the distance in 28 2-5s. in 1893, at Cortland, N. Y.

WELSH OUTPOINTS AD.

Freddie Welsh outpointed Ad Wolgast in Milwaukee last night.

HOLY TRINITY MEN DO CLEVER PINNING

Average 946.1 In Cleaning Up Congregational—Walsh Hits 205, 204 and 217.

The Holy Trinity team continued its fast pace in the Westfield S. S. League last night, averaging 946.1 and taking three games from the Congregationals.

Walsh hit 205, 204 and 217 for an average of 208.2. Keppler rolled 211 and 208, Jack Tobin 199 and 212, Montross 202 and Kennedy 213.

PRUDENCE IN EATING.

Healthful Diet For a Person of Indoor Occupation.

In the American Magazine Dr. E. F. Bowers gives a diet suited to the average wealthy person of indoor occupation.

"An ordinary domestic egg equals about eight grams of protein. This is approximately the amount contained in a cubic inch of steak or in a half pint glass of milk. A generous slice of bread contains about four grams of protein. The quantity of potatoes ordinarily dispensed at a meal equals two and a half grams.

"Allowing for our inability completely to extract all the protein from any given amount of food and convert it into assimilable pabulum, a liberal modicum of albumen would be twice Hindhede's protein formula, or fifty grams—this, remember, for an entire day.

"Therefore a regular egg, five ounces of beefsteak and a glass of milk should supply for twenty-four hours all the protein the system requires. The balance of the diet should consist of starches, sugars, fats and plenty of cellulose or hay. This can best be found in vegetables, such as tomatoes, carrots, celery, turnips, beets, lettuce, squash and all that grand group of horse foods containing much fiber and little nutriment.

"Try this regimen for awhile and see if fermentation, headache, insomnia, rheumatism, nervousness and "that tired feeling" do not disappear like snow upon the desert's dusty face. And, when they do, remember that the chances of later developing Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and heart failure have been reduced to the irreducible minimum.

"The eating game is the most important in life."

CHIMNEYS ON LAMPS.

Why They Prevent the Lighted Wicks From Smoking.

When a lamp is burning without a chimney it generally smokes. That is because the oil which is coming up through the wick is being only partially burned. The carbon, which is about one-half of what the oil contains, is not being burned at all and goes off into the air in little black specks with the gases which are thrown off. The reason the carbon is not burned when the chimney is off is that there is not sufficient oxygen from the air combining with it as it is separated from the oil in the partial combustion that is going on.

To make the carbon in the oil burn you must mix it with plenty of oxygen at a certain temperature, and this can only be done by forcing sufficient oxygen through the flame to bring the heat of the flame to the point where the carbon will combine with it and burn.

When you put the chimney on the lamp you create a draft which forces more oxygen through the flame, brings the heat up to the proper temperature and enables the carbon to combine with it and burn. When you take the chimney off again the heat goes down when the draft is shut off and the lamp smokes again.

The chimney also protects the flame of the lamp from drafts from the sides and above and helps to make a brighter light, because a steady light is brighter than a flickering one.

The draft created by the chimney also forces the gases produced by the burning oil up and away from the flame. Some of these gases have a tendency to put out a light or a fire.—Philadelphia Press.

The Septuagint.

Septuagint means seventy. The septuagint version of the Old Testament originated, according to Aristeas, as follows: Ptolemy Philadelphus (284-247 B. C.) when engaged in making a collection of the laws of all nations for the great Alexandrine library was advised by his librarian to have the Jewish Scripture translated into Greek, and the king had the work done by seventy (or seventy-two) learned Jews from Jerusalem. The letter of Aristeas is probably mythical, but the substance of the story it tells is probably quite true.—New York American.

Tonight—Rahway at Rutherford.

New Brunswick's chances of beating out Newark for the Elks' Bowling League championship were lessened last night, the present champions losing two games at Jersey City. This was the only match in the league rolled last night, the Paterson-Newark series being postponed indefinitely. The games would have been held tonight, but for the annual election of Newark lodge, which will be held this evening.

The Skeeters averaged 965 last night. The Brunswickers stopped at 948 in their first and third games. They won the opener by 35 pins, the home side totaling 913. The Skeeters hit 989 and 993 in the last two tilts.

Teddy Coyne returned to the New Brunswicks' line-up, but was in hard luck in his first game after his long vacation. Another veteran who reappeared in Senior League competition was Tommy Corydon, the Jersey City captain who has not been doing much rolling this winter. Among the big scores returned were Corydon's 223, Levy's 226 and 201, Delahanty's 218, Mahlenbrock's 211, Murphy's 212, Burton's 213, Harkins' 222 and McCormick's 219.

120 GOLFERS ENTER.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 7.—One hundred and twenty golf players entered in the qualifying round of the annual tournament for the Florida State championship. E. H. Bankard, Jr., of Chicago, secretary of the Western Golf Association, led with a card of 75. Reginald Lewis, runnerup to Walter J. Travis in the South Florida championship, tied for third with 79.

Geography.

Geography is the sum total of all the places in the map that we don't know about. Geography is made up of boundary lines, river lines, dots and dashes like a telegraph system and shaded places which represent the high spots. It is also colored to suit the taste and in such a manner that it takes a bacteriologist to make you know the difference between the sea and the dry land. Historical geography is ordinary geography with whatever you don't know about history added to it. Historical geography consists of migrations, cedings and other flora and fauna to suit. To make a historical geography get a few races and distribute them according to your fancy over a pink area in various shades to show how they spread out. As a matter of fact, they did nothing of the sort. But that makes the historical geography all the more interesting. In the hands of schoolteachers geographies are frequently believed in for years by confiding pupils.—Life.

Ballads as Newspapers.

The ballad, or that form of it which is associated with the broadside, was one predecessor of the newspaper as a commentator on events. It was written for the people and sold to the people. Printed on poor paper and passed from hand to hand, copies of early ballads were seldom preserved. Fortunately several men of the seventeenth century began to make collections of ballads, and the copies of broadsides printed before 1700 that are now in existence are supposed to number about 10,000. Soon after 1700 the printed form of the ballad was changed, the "black letter" disappearing, but the ballad continued as a chronicler of happenings and a commentator on political, military and other public events until the middle of the nineteenth century and in the United States as well as England. The "topical" song of today perpetuates the satirical function of the ballad.—Springfield Republican.

P. K. C. DEEDS——PAST AND FUTURE.

Talk of a three point American Kennel Club outdoor show here in the summer is now beyond the proposal stage, and as the time for such a venture draws nearer will likely become too insistent to be denied. A taste of the sweets of success has increased the sentiment of the Plainfield Kennel Club members in favor of a bigger affair, and Plainfield's importance as a dog center demands it. The local club has gotten away to a flying start to make 1916 its greatest year, and an A. K. C. fixture, which now seems to be a certainty providing a good place for holding the show can be found, will be a long step towards the goal. The measure of success attained by the Plainfield club's indoor show furnishes concrete encouragement for anything the club may attempt in the future.

PLAINFIELD FIVE STILL WITHOUT A SUPERIOR.

The trip of the Plainfield Five to Hartford, Conn., confirmed the opinion that the peer of girls' basketball teams in this neck of the woods has yet to find its superior. The defeat of the local girls is of no importance; the surprise is that they were not trounced by a larger margin. For sheer basketball ability, the Susquehannas, judging from their exhibition Saturday night, can be rated no higher—possibly, not as high—as the Plainfield Five. The Queen City girls were playing a style of game entirely new to them; were playing on a strange court before a large crowd, and after making a tiresome journey. At their own game, the local girls should win hands down from the New England champions.

The Plainfield Squash Club racqueters, who have yet to meet defeat in the Interclub League, will be put to their first severe test when they meet the Montclair Athletic Club in the next match. In former years, the Montclair players have had everything their own way, but their recent defeat at the hands of the Englewood Field Club holds out hope that the Plainfielders may be able to return some of the defeats suffered in previous matches with the Montclair experts.

If trophies stimulate competition—and it is generally acknowledged that they do—the enthusiasm of the Log Cabin Gun Club trap shooters can be attributed to the abundance of stimulus. There has been no lack of cups to entice the Woodland avenue club men to the traps this winter, and the fact that the members have been out in force in all kinds of weather indicates the interest taken in their cup competitions.

If there were any Westfield Bowling Leagues prizes Charlie Montross overlooked, it must have been because he couldn't carry more home. The final records for the season show the former Plainfielder to be the class of the league by several city blocks.

If these "masked marvels" become much more numerous, it will soon be the unhooded ath[illegible] [illegible]o will attract the most attention.

EX-NAVY OFFICER MAY BE CAPTAIN IN SECOND REG'T

The most likely successor to Captain Harry B. Kitchell, of Company F, Elizabeth, who died recently, is Clinton Gordon, of Chestnut street, Roselle, a teacher in the Westfield High School. Mr. Gordon was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1910 and served as an officer in the navy for three years. He was at one time a member of the staff of Admiral Fletcher, and also chief engineer of the U. S. S. Yankton.

It is known that Mr Gordon has been approached by members of the company and has expressed a willingness to accept the command, if elected. His chief supporter is First Lieutenant Harvey C. Robins, who has been commanding Company F since Captain Kitchell was taken ill. Robins has refused to accept the captaincy and was going to resign his commission. He says now that he will remain in the Guard under a man with the qualifications that Gordon has. Company F has gained considerable strength during the past month and will make a creditable showing at inspection Wednesday night.

The vacancy caused in the company by the resignation of Second Lieutenant Ralph Shaw has not yet been filled. Sergeant Wrightson Christopher will probably be Mr. Shaw's successor.

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED FOR DUTCH ARMS BANQUET

Fred E. Smith will be the toastmaster at the seventh annual banquet of the Dutch Arms of Trinity Reformed church on Thursday, evening March 16, in the church parlors, and the committee in charge today announced the list of speakers to be as follows:

Rev. Christian F. Reisner, A. B. S., B. D. D., pastor of Grace M. E. church, New York city, whose subject will be "Church Efficiency;" Judge Robert Carey, of Jersey City; Edward Livingston Barbour, professor of the art of speaking at Rutgers College.

It is now assured that more than 250 members of the Dutch Arms, with their wives and other guests, will attend the affair. Tickets may be secured from the members. The dinner is to be served by the Willing Workers' Class of the Bible school and there will be music by the Dutch Arms Band.

IMPROVEMENTS IN EAST END ASKED

Civic Association Presents a Formal Demand to Mayor and Council.

TO OPEN SECOND ST.

Call Attention to Flood Waters on North Avenue and Greenbrook Road—Resolution on Death of William Hand.

The East End Civic Association, at its meeting last evening, adopted resolutions of respect and sympathy regarding the late William Hand, who was a prominent and enthusiastic member of the Association. An invitation from the Board of Trade was accepted, to attend a meeting to consider methods of advertising Plainfield. The President and Messrs. Sminck, Marchant and Rush were appointed to represent the Association at that meeting.

The following petition to the Mayor and Council was unanimously adopted, and a committee appointed to present it at the next meeting of the Council:

"The East End Civic Association respectfully presents to your attention certain matters which imperatively demand immediate care, and which vitally concern the welfare and development of this part of the city, and therefore of the entire city. We do not ask for things that are unnecessary or extravagant, but for those things, without which this part of the city cannot expect such a quality of growth as shall be for the good of the city. We are reasonable in our requests, and we believe that you will recognize this and at once comply with them.

"First. We ask that you formally accept as a public street, East Second street, from between Netherwood and Leland avenues to Terrill road. Years ago this was granted to the city for a street. At the same time, the trolley company was granted a right of way through this street, on which it constructed its railway. This is one of the principal approaches to the city, yet it has remained absolutely without care. People have bought lots and built along it, in faith that it will be put in order by the city. Yet it remains at all times dangerous for vehicles, and sometimes almost impassable, without macadam, sidewalks or crosswalks. If the question was one of opening a new thoroughfare, we might hesitate to present a request. But here is one already opened, and waiting only to be put in order. We therefore ask that you formally accept it, and as rapidly as possible proceed to macadamize it and lay sidewalks and crosswalks.

"Second. We ask that you take steps at once for the leveling of the old railway embankment on Midway avenue, at least between Netherwood and Leland avenues and Emerson and Hillcrest avenues. This becomes more necessary each year, and especially now with the building of the new East End school and two churches. That this embankment should be removed, and Midway avenue put in proper and passable order cannot be questioned. The expense will be small, and the benefit great. We, therefore, ask that you take at once the necessary steps to have this done.

"Third. We ask that you appropriate in your budget such sums as may be needed to control and care for the flood waters of the brooks flowing through North avenue, and of Green brook. It will be apparent that these are a positive menace to the growth of the city. This is not a new matter to you. But the city says that the county has authority over streams, and the county says that these are in and concern only the city. The welfare of the city and its people must not be made to suffer longer because of this hybrid authority. A remedy is not hard to find. A storm sewer on North avenue will abate that nuisance. The clearing and straightening of Green brook will cure the other. We ask, therefore, that you set aside such sums of money as may be necessary for these purposes.

"All of these matters have been presented from time to time to your predecessors in the Council and its committees. If these were mere ornaments or luxuries for which we ask, that might account for the delay in granting them. But our requests are reasonable, and for things necessary and not of great cost. We, therefore, believe that you will include in your budget the cost of these, and will authorize the work this year. This we ask you to do."

After the business of the meeting, Edgar F. Sheppard told in an interesting manner the story of the making of Portland cement, showing samples of materials used, and of cement in various stages of its manufacture. A rising vote of thanks to Mr. Sheppard for his instructive and interesting address closed the meeting.

MUST GIVE WORK TO LOWEST BIDDER

Mr. Cox Explains That Board of Education Cannot Have Choice.

That public school contracts must be awarded to the lowest bidder, irrespective of civic interests, is the information contained in a letter recently sent to the Plainfield Board of Trade by Archibald Cox, of the Board of Education. At a recent meeting the Board of Trade urged that a contract for heating and ventilation in the new school be given to the lowest local bidder, so that most of the money would be spent here and if anything goes wrong the local contractor is here to attend to it. Mr. Cox's answer to this follows:

"At a meeting of the Board of Education held last night, your communication of the second instant embodying the resolution of the Board of Trade requesting the Board of Education 'to give the contract for the heating and ventilating of the new school to the local bidder in preference to the out of town bidder, there being so little difference in price,' was read and considered; and I was instructed to write you concerning the matter.

"The considerations which prompted the resolutions of your Board are of general application and have frequently been before the Boards of Education of Plainfield and other cities. They are, however, considerations which should be taken into account by the Legislature and cannot be acted upon by Boards of Education. The law does not permit Boards of Education to exercise any choice or discretion in awarding contracts. It fixes precisely the steps which must be followed prescribing advertisement, public reading of bids received at the hour specified, forbidding the consideration of any bid received after that hour or not meeting the advertised specification, directing that the contract be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, and making it a misdemeanor to depart from these directions. The law is entirely plain and not at all elastic. It follows that it is impossible for the Board of Education to award the contract to any one but the lowest responsible bidder.

"I think we all appreciate that there is much to be said in favor of having work done by local contractors, through local employes, and with material obtained from local dealers. Perhaps there is enough to be said in favor of that to suggest the desirability of a change in the statutes if our Board of Trade and the corresponding bodies in other cities would take the matter up with the Legislature. But with the law as it now stands, the Board of Education has no power to act upon such considerations; it is compelled, regardless of its preferences or desires, to award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder."

MRS. F. O. HERRING CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Plainfield Garden Club Holds Its First Annual Meeting and Elects Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Plainfield Garden Club, held at the home of Mrs. James DeGraff, on Central avenue, yesterday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. F. O. Herring; vice-presidents, Mrs. H. P. Stevens, Mrs. Edward J. Patterson, Mrs. Thomas P. Van Boskerck; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. H. C. McMillan; members of executive board, Mrs. John B. Dumont, Mrs. Howard Fleming and Mrs. Frederick W. Yates. During the meeting plans for next year's work were discussed, and the members exchanged ideas on beautifying the garden.

The Plainfield Garden Club has been in existence one year, being organized March 7, 1915, by Mrs. F. O. Herring, with an object to stimulate artistic gardening. The club membership is restricted to fifty, and meetings are held twice a month during the summer in the gardens of the members

LOCAL THEATRES DISPLAY "BABY WELFARE FILMS"

In order to widen the scope of work during the Baby Week Campaign, which will close on Saturday, "Baby Welfare films" will be shown at the local theatres on the following dates: Astor Theatre, Thursday and Friday; Proctor's, Thursday, Friday and Saturday; Plainfield Theatre, Thursday and Friday, and Lyric, on Saturday. In addition to these films, Proctor's Theatre is showing a serial, "Long vs. the Short Haul," a film particularly timely for this occasion.

POSTPONE MEETING.

The Brightside Circle of King's Daughters will postpone their meeting of today until tomorrow, to be held at the residence of Mrs. Daniel Clawson, 37 Brook avenue. All members are urged to be present.

LOCAL LEADERS ARE FOR EDGE

His Candidacy for Governor is Indorsed at Conference of Republicans.

ALSO BOOST BAUER

More Than Forty-five at Meeting Held in Hetfield's Office Last Night—To Promote Permanent Republican Club.

More than forty-five of the leading Republicans of Plainfield last night met in conference and after a general discussion of political affairs indorsed the candidacy of Senator Walter E. Edge for governor, and that of Edward L. Bauer for county clerk. The conference also indorsed former State Senator E. R. Ackerman for delegate from this district to the National Republican convention, with Assemblyman Arthur N. Pierson as alternate. Three delegates at large from the State were indorsed. They were Ira Kip, of Essex county; Hamilton Kean, of Union, and Newton K. Bugbee, of Mercer. The fourth man to be indorsed will be one selected by the Republicans of South Jersey.

County Register Frank H. Smith presided as chairman of the conference. It was held in the office of Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and was attended by practically all of the leading Republicans of the city. Among those present were William Newcorn, chairman of the county committee; Francis J. Blatz, president of the Council; Senator E. R. Ackerman, candidate for delegate from this district; Councilman E. H. Bird, John J. Carroll, chairman of the city committee; Harry Van Emburgh, Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, Judge William De Meza, William A. Gloak, William R. Townsend and others.

The organization of a permanent Republican club for Plainfield was discussed and it was decided to promote one at once. Chairman Carroll, of the city committee, was instructed to name one man in each district to serve as a committee.

DONEKER HERE TO BUILD TABERNACLE

Says Location is Ideal—Biederwolf Successful in Norristown.

O. C. Doneker, of Allentown, Pa., arrived in Plainfield, Monday afternoon. Mr. Doneker is the man who has built the tabernacle for gospel services in a number of cities in Pennsylvania and is brought here by the building committee in connection with the Beiderwolf Campaign. He has examined the site where the tabernacle is to be located and says it is ideal. His plans call for a seating capacity of 7,000 and 1,000 in choir and an orchestra of 75 pieces. The building committee will probably start the tabernacle next week and it is estimated the entire work can be completed in less than three weeks.

A prayer meeting for colored people will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. Sam Redd, 632 West Fourth street, with the Rev. E. W. Robertson as leader. Additional meetings for colored people in other parts of the city will be announced for Friday evening.

Dr. Beiderwolf, who will begin his campaign in this city Sunday, April 9, is having great success in Norristown, Pa. Up to the present time the attendance has been 68,253 and the offerings to date total $2,980.84, the number of decisions up to and including Tuesday night is 1,531. Dr. Beiderwolf's sermon for Tuesday evening was "The Whiskey Jug," in which he delivered a broadside against John Barleycorn and the manner in which the whiskey interests have usurped neighboring villages. Norristown has a population of 30,000 ,it has 6 wholesale licenses, 22 saloons and 7 hotels.

WILL BE ARRAIGNED IN BOROUGH COURT TOMORROW

Wilbur Warneck, 20 years old, of 163 Duer street, and Jeremiah Heffernan, 19 years old, of Howard street, alleged assailants of John Conshay and Willis Creager during the wedding reception at the home of Aaron Reed, of 10 Fritz place, Thursday night last, will be given a hearing before Recorder Hand in the borough court tomorrow morning. In default of bail set at $1,000 the young men have been confined in the borough jail since Friday afternoon, when they were arrested by Officer Keller.

The hearing was set forward until tomorrow to await the outcome of the beating administered to Conhay. For a time Conshay was in a precarious condition, but he is now able to be up and about his home. It is believed that his assailants will be bound over to the Grand Jury.

AUTO ROBE STOLEN.

Alfred Butfield, of 302 West Eighth street, reported to the police this morning that a black robe had been stolen from an automobile in front of his home.

BOROUGH COUPLE SIXTY YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. John DeMott Higgins Are Observing Unusual Event Today.

MARRIED AT STANTON

Owing to a Recent Accident When Mrs. Higgins Fractured Her Hip No Special Celebration is Being Held.

Mr. and Mrs. John DeMott Higgins, of Codington avenue, the borough, were married sixty years ago today, March 8, 1856, by the Rev. Horace Doolittle, then pastor of the Reformed church of Stanton, and grandfather of Mrs. E. G. Read, of this city. Mr. Higgins was the son of the late John W. and Elizabeth Smith Higgins, and Mrs. Higgins the daughter of the late Jesse and Elizabeth Fox Miers, both families owning large farms in Hunterdon county and were prosperous and well-known farmers of two generations ago.

The celebration of this unusual event is today taking a different form from what was planned a few weeks ago. Three weeks ago Mrs. Higgins fell in her home and fractured her hip, and since that accident she has been a patient in Muhlenberg Hospital. Mr. Higgins closed his home and is residing with their daughter, Mrs. George Hummer, in the borough. However, they are receiving many congratulations and tokens of remembrance from their family circle, old-time friends and from members of Trinity Reformed church, with which they are actively associated.

In each respective family there was a large circle of brothers and sisters, a number of whom are now receased. J. Britten Higgins, of this city, is a brother. Mrs. Higgins has but one brother living—Jacob F. Miers, of Clinton, and one sister, Mrs. Ellen Chamberlin, of Flemington. Their immediate family consists of six children, all of whom lived to grow up and settle in homes of their own. They are George C. Higgins and Joseph H. Higgins, of Flemington vicinity; Jacob Higgins, formerly of this city; Aaron M. Higgins, of Webster place, and George Hummer, residing in the borough. They also have twenty-two living grandchildren, the eldest of whom is John Higgins, a prosperous farmer of Higginsville, Hunterdon county. The youngest is Master Stanley L. Higgins, of Webster place, this city. There is one great-grandchild, Master John Higgins, 5th, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Higgins, of Barley Sheaf, N. J.

It is a coincidence that their children consisted of five sons and one daughter and in each of their children's families there is, with one exception, an only daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins located at Rowland's Mills, Hunterdon county, where their children were born and raised. In the spring of 1891 they sold their homestead and came to this city, locating first on Grove street. About twelve years ago they removed to Codington avenue, where they have since resided.

Their two strongest motives for selling out and leaving their native county were that their sons were already settled and following trades in Plainfield, and they also wished to be near a church of their chosen faith, as that privilege had always been a distance from their home. During these twenty-five years of their residence here they have made many warm friends in Trinity Reformed church and have always proved loyal to all its interests.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Higgins have enjoyed robust health, and from their earliest years have done their full share of the world's work. Mr. Higgins is a carpenter by trade, but through all the years he has found time and space for gardens and truck patches, as many residents of the borough know. Mrs. Higgins has also a love for gardening and has been especially successful in the cultivation of flowers. When she resided in the country her yard was a show place and her flower gardens were much talked of for miles about.

RICHARD A. CLAYBROOK IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

The Plainfield Democratic Club, at its annual meeting last night, elected these officers for the coming year: President, Richard A. Claybrook; secretary, James J. McCann; treasurer, William F. Taliaferro. The election of a vice-president was deferred to the next meeting. Owing to the stormy night the attendance was small last night, and not much progress was made in discussing campaign plans.

MRS CHAPMAN SURPRISED.

Mrs. L. F. Chapman, of Plainfield avenue, was given a surprise party last night by the members of the Missionary Society and Bright Hope Club of the Calvary Baptist church. During the evening a large chorus sang "Bringing in the Sheaves," led by Mrs. Brinkley. Mrs. Chapman received a generous donation of groceries, money and other useful articles.

CHIEF DEMANDS A FULL PROBE

Urges Council Committee to Investigate J. Irving Lyle Charges.

REQUESTS PUBLICITY

Doane Wants His Administration Cleared of Stigma and Requests That It Be Done With Despatch—His Letter to Councilman Cose.

Meeting charges of J. Irvine Lyle that the fire department is inefficient, Chief T. O. Doane this morning addressed a letter to Chairman J. H. Cose, of the fire committee, in which he demands that a full and complete investigation be made at once.

Chief Doane does not seek to influence the public by a lengthy statement in defense of his men, but merely asks that the Council, or its delegated committee, probe the methods employed at the Lyle home on the night of January 18 and learn for itself whether or not the charges of incompetence were well founded.

Chief Doane's letter follows:

John H. Cose, Chairman of the Fire and Building Committee:

In both the local papers of yesterday there appeared a story to the effect that one, John I. Lyle, of 1200 West Seventh street, had made a complaint to the Mayor and Council regarding the methods employed by the fire department in extinguishing a fire in his home on the night of January 18. The complaint is of a character that reflects upon me personally as head of the department, and on the department in general. I desire, sir, to have a full and complete investigation of my administration of the fire department, and earnestly request that your committee make such an investigation that the good name of the department may be relieved of the stigma that has been placed upon it by Mr. Lyle's complaint."

T. O. DOANE,
Chief Engineer, P. F. D.

BUSINESS MEN'S ASS'N "PROSPERITY DINNER"

Fine Addresses and Music to Feature Affair at Columbus Hall Tomorrow Night.

Addresses by men prominent in affairs of the state, as well as in the industrial world, together with a fine dinner, will feature the annual prosperity dinner" of the Plainfield Business Men's Association in Columbus auditorium tomorrow night. There has been an unusual demand for tickets and the affair promises to be the best of the many given by this active civic body of merchants.

Mayor Leighton Calkins will be the toastmaster, and the speakers will include former Governor Edward C. Stokes; Edward R. Carhart, former president of the New York Produce Exchange; Charles A. Dana, head of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, and L. D. Albin, sales manager for the Ingersoll-Rand Company.

In addition to this attractive list of speakers, there will be a fine program of music by an orchestra and a male quartet, which will enliven the occasion. Those who have not yet done so, can secure tickets from members of the association.

The committee in charge of the affair comprises George Finger, chairman; A. E. Force, E. F. Conshay, A. H. Osmun and Paul Collier. They have perfected all the details for the dinner and assure guests of an unusually good time.

A. O. U. W. CONVENTION TO CONVENE TOMORROW

The annual Grand Lodge Convention of the Ancient Order United Workmen will be held at Atlantic City tomorrow. Columbia lodge, No. 58, of this city, will be represented by the following delegates: J. W. A. Bauersachs, E. T. VanWinkle, Henry Nischwitz, Oliver R. Pierson, Jr., and Vincent W. Nash. The delegates from Central lodge, No. 48, will be Harry R. Thorne, William Newcorn and Theodore Mason.

Several of the Plainfield delegates will take an important part in the proceedings through their being members of committees and holding office. William Newcorn is grand trustee, V. W. Nash a member of the committee on rates, and Harvey Thorne a member of the committee on distribution. One of the principle matters to be taken up is a readjustment of the rates applicable to the subordinate lodges.

AUCTION SALE.

Remember the auction sale to be held tomorrow afternoon in the Lufburrow building at West Front street and Central avenue, beginning at 2 o'clock sharp. See list of useful articles advertised on another page of the ally Press.

NOT A DELINQUENT TAXPAYER, HE SAYS

Edmund Rushmore Objects to Being Advertised While Case is on Appeal.

Edmund Rushmore, of North Plainfield, is among those who are protesting against being advertised as delinquent taxpayers when, in reality, he claims he is not one. He has taken his tax assessments up on appeal to the State Board of Taxation, but notwithstanding this, the borough collector says he has no alternative but to advertise him in the delinquent list. Mr. Rushmore, in speaking of the matter today, said:

"I object to being advertised as a delinquent taxpayer when such in reality is not the case, but under the law the corporation counsel informs me there is no other course for the collector to pursue. I have taken my taxes on appeal from the Somerset County Board to the State Tax Board at Trenton. Although my appeal acts as a stay in paying my taxes, I have offered the corporation counsel to deposit my check in escrow for the full amount, or to hand the check to him personally, pending the decision of the State Board. This he will not accept, as he says there is no provision in the law for him to do so.

"I am always ready to pay my share of taxes, but what I object to is the unfair assessments made by our borough assessor.

"The poor man and the man who owns a small home is assessed nearer full value, while the ones who own large expensive places are assessed on about a fifty per cent. valutaion. I believe the county board will bear me out in this.

"There is one owner in the borough who has told me that to his certain knowledge he does not know of the assessor ever having been in his house, and yet he has been assessed on his personal property an amount he believes that the assessor thinks he will stand for. Yet the law requires the assessor to visit the property and assess as of the 20th of May each year.

"Our tax rate this past year was $2.54, and I have been informed on reliable authority that the rate this year is likely to be $3, or an increase of 46 points.

"I am of the opinion that if politics could be divorced from the office of assessor, and the assessor felt free to assess as he knows values to be, our rate would be very much lower, but such an assessor would not be re-elected, for the influence which dominates North Plainfield would see that he did not go back."

TEA IN HONOR OF ENGLISH COUSIN

Mrs. Bertrand Russell, of London, Here to Secure Funds for Relief of Refugees.

A delightful tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Bond Thomas, of 525 Madison avenue, in honor of her cousin, Mrs. Bertrand Russell, of London, England, who has been in this country but a fortnight. Mrs. Thomas was assisted during the afternoon by the Mesdames F. C. Ard, H. L. Conrad, George L. Babcock, Laurens H. Van Buren, Maybury Millor and Miss Edith Rowland, of this city, and Mrs. M. G. Worthington, of New York city.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Russell gave a very interesting talk on the work English women are doing in the invaded countries, dealing especially with the splendid relief work carried on in behalf of the Polish refugees in Russia. She came to this country at the request of the Constitutional Suffragists of England, to make a series of addresses appealing to Americans for subscriptions for the relief of these people, who number four million—Poles without home, shelter and food. The English women had done much in relieving the suffering of Belgians and Serbians, and now they are turning their attention also to the stricken Poles, to whom it is difficult to furnish relief. The Constitutional Suffragists, however, have [illegible]ged transportation so that mo[illegible] necessities go direct to these people.

Mrs. Russell spoke before the faculty and students of the Hartridge school yesterday morning, also presenting conditions in the warring countries and appealing for the aid of the Polish. Arrangements are being made to have Mrs. Russell speak before a concert which is to be given on March 20, at the home of Mrs. C. T. Lincoln, of West Eighth street, for the benefit of the Russian Poles.

ENJOYED SOCIAL PROGRAM.

Members of the Sobieski Society and their families and friends, to the number of about two hundred, enjoyed an evening of sociability in the society hall, on East Second street, last night. Dancing was the principal feature of enjoyment. At a late hour refreshments were served, and the following members made addresses: John Somlack, Vincent Wisnewski, John Henzel and Stanley Stroka.

Calls Attention to 100 Years of Friendly Relations With This Country—Von Bernstorff Wants Conference.

Washington, March 8.—Germany reaffirmed her position in the armed merchantmen controversy in a memorandum to the American government today, and made it clear she would not retreat from the stand she has taken in this new submarine decree. Germany concluded her statement with the following paragraph: "The Imperial government feels confident that the people of the United States, remembering the friendly relations that for the last hundred years have existed between the two nations, will, in spite of the difficulties put into the way by our enemies, appreciate the German viewpoint."

Germany makes it clear that she regards the new submarine decree as a justiable act of reprisal and retaliation, and in her memorandum cites in detail the various alleged violations of international law by Great Britain and her allies in infringing on the rights of neutrals.

Bernstorff Sees Lansing.

Washington, March 8.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, today requested a conference with Secretary of State Lansing. The request came as a surprise, inasmuch as the secretary had not expected to confer with the ambassador until tomorrow, which is regular diplomatic day, but an appointment immediately was made for later in the day.

London, March 8.—Under-Secretary of War Tennant stated in Parliament today that there are at present 13,821 German military prisoners in England. The aliens interned total 32,181.

CONCERT IN AID OF WAR SUFFERERS

Miss Queena Tillotson and Master Walter Silbert Give Pleasing Program.

An appreciative audience in Columbus Hall, enjoyed a rare musical treat last night, when a varied program was rendered for the benefit of the sufferers of the Central Empires of Europe. The principal artists were Miss Queena Tillotson, of New York, a former Plainfield young woman and a graduate of the Plainfield High School, and Master Walter Silbert, of this city. The sniging section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, which enjoys great popularity in this vicinity, rendered several of the best selections from their repertoire.

Miss Tillotson possesses a soprano voice of rare quality and the numbers she gave last night were all heartily encored. She is a pupil of Mme. Marcella Sembrich, and has been an operatic star for several seasons. Among her best numbers were selections from Brahms songs, and an aria from "La Sonnambula."

The popularity of Miss Tillotson was shared by Master Walter Silbert with his piano numbers. He is a pupil of E. Arthur Janke, who has perfected the natural talent in the young artist. His portion of the program included a group of compositions by Schuett, Poldini, Chopin, Schumann and the Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 11, by Liszt.

—Routine business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the borough firemen last evening.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Louis Coddington, of Park avenue, is recovering from minor injuries received Monday night in the snowstorm. Coddington, who has the contract for cleaning the walks in the borough, was riding on the snow plow along Martine avenue, when he drove too near the gutter and upset.

Mrs. Aspinwall Judd and children, of New York, are visiting Mrs. Judd's mother, Mrs. Charles Beardsley, of North avenue.

Borough Tax Collector Charles Sheelen has greatly reduced the highest delinquent tax list that Fanwood has had in a number of years, with visions of another 100 per cent. year to add to his record.

The regular meetings of the Belgian Relief Society and the Bible Training Class, with Miss Elizabeth Hopkins in charge, will be held at the home of the Misses Kyte, on Martine avenue, tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Henderson, who have been stopping at the Hotel St. Regis, New York, during the winter, are spending a few days at their estate in the township.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held in the Paptist church tonight, with the Rev. J. Madison Hare in charge.

Miss Katherine Todd, of Warwick, N. Y., has been renewing old acquaintances in the borough for several days, where she formerly resided.

About fifty members of the Methodist church Sunday school and Epworth League and their friends enjoyed a social, held in the Parish House, last night. A pleasant evening was spent, with various form of emusement, and refreshments were served.

Practically all discussion of the proposed new borough to be formed from a part of Fanwood township has been dropped, and it is not likely that it will be revived again, at least for the present. Indications seem to show that the majority of the township residents are pretty well satisfied with the present form of government, and cannot see any great benefit that would come from a change.

Service tonight at 8 o'clock in All Saints' Protestant Episcopal church.

South Plainfield.

The masquerade ball held by the Sodality of the Sacred Heart church in Washington Hall Monday evening proved to be a success. There were many attractive costumes. Music was furnished by Stuart's orchestra from Plainfield. The prizes were awarded as follows: Women's first prize, a pearl necklace, for the most elaborate costume, awarded to Miss May Purchase, "The Burlesque Queen;" second prize for the best comic costume, a gold bracelet, was given to Miss Elizabeth Geary, "Mother Hubbard;" the third prize, an ink stand, for the second most elaborate costume, was won by Miss Anna Bulis, "the bride;" fourth prize, a beautiful vase, for the second best comic costume, was given to Mrs. John Kaine, "the litte Dutch girl;" fifth prize was given to Miss Elizabeth Shrope, "the Indian girl." The men's first prize, a clock, for the most elaborate costume was awarded to James Caffrey, "The Red Devil;" second prize, a pair of gold cuff links, for the most comic costume was given to Harry Sofield, "the clown;" third prize, two pair of silk hose for the second most elaborate costume, was given to Arthur Geary, "the Puritan;" fourth prize, two pair of silk hose, for the second best comic costume, was given to Frank De Phillipo, "Charley Chaplin;" fifth prize, a silk tie, for the third most elaborate costume was awarded to Dan Geary, "the little Dutch boy."

Mrs. Joseph Miller and son, Francis, of Newark, are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Miller's father, Harry Sofield.

Edward Riely has taken a position as a clerk with the Spicer Manufacturing Co.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY HOLDS REUNION

"Reunion night" for members of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society and their families and friends last night proved to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the kind ever conducted by the society, over 250 being in attendance in St. Joseph's Hall. Addresses were made by Robert McCormack, president of the society, Andrew E. Kenney and several others.

Each related the history and aims of the society. Rev. Father P. J. Hart, pastor of St. Joseph's church, also made a short address. A feature of the evening were a number of selections rendered by the Young Men's Bible Class of the church. A social hour followed the regular program, during which refreshments were served.

ST. MARY'S SOCIAL CLUB ANNIVERSARY

Auxiliary to T. A. B. S. Celebrates First Annual Affair in Pleasing Manner.

In celebration of its first anniversary as an organization, St. Mary's Social Club, the young women's auxiliary to the T. A. B. Society, gave a reception and dance in T. A. B. Hall last night. The total attendance was more than two hundred. Many of the guests came from Elizabeth and other nearby places, and although it was the first attempt of this kind on the part of the club, the great success it attained produced enthusiastic praise for the committee which arranged it.

Squier's orchestra provided an excellent program of music, and one of the big features on the card was an up-to-date cotillion, led by Daniel J. Couraine and the club president, Miss Emma Sullivan. Mr. Couraine is an expert in the execution of cotillion moves, and he introduced a number of his own making last night. In addition to the customary favors as the various figures proceeded, the participants at one point were enmeshed in serpentine paper. It produced a novel and amusing situation. Every dance on the program was thoroughly enjoyed, and most of the young people quitted the floor reluctantly when "Home, Swet Home," was played at 12 o'clock. Refreshments were served during an intermission before midnight.

Father B. M. Bogan was numbered among the guests of honor who attended the reception. He took occasion to make a congratulatory address in which he reviewed the work of the club since its organization, and urged the young women to still greater effort in the months to come. When the club was started just a year ago it had a membership roll of fifty. This has grown to 150, and the indications are that before a second or third anniversary rolls around the three hundred mark will be reached. Father Bogan has aided the club in securing a foothold, and no one has been more pleased than he over the remarkable results achieved. The organization includes members of both St. Mary's and St. Joseph's parishes, and has done much for the social welfare of the girls, especially those residing in the West End. St. Mary's T. A. B. Society gives full use of its fine new hall on West Fourth street for the club's requirements, and here at regular intervals the members enjoy basketball, bowling, dancing, amateur dramatics and other innocent diversions.

The main auditorium of the hall was resplendent last night in decorations of blue and white, the club's colors, American flags and palms. The stage at the rear of the dance floor was a mass of potted plants and ferns. These decorations were arranged by John Ramsay, assisted by a committe from the T. A. B. Society.

Miss Alice McAfee was chairman of the committee which arranged the reception and dance. She was assisted by the Misses Agnes Mahoney, Theresa MacDonald, Kitty Ellis, May Murray, Helen Higgins and Julia Regan, and the following officers of St. Mary's Social Club: President, Miss Emma Sullivan; vice-president, Miss Jennie Higgins; treasurer, Miss Anna Howe, and secretary, Miss Kathryne McCauley.

JAPAN ONLY CAN LIVE UP TO LAFOLLETE BILL

Washington, March 8.—In an attack on the Administration Ship Purchase Bill in the House today, Representative Humphrey, of Washington, declared that if the provisions of the La Follette Seamen's Bill were not changed, all the shipping on the Northern Pacic coast would shift to the Canadian port of Vancouver. Japan, he declared, was the only country which could comply with the provisions of the bill.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffing, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid. —Adv.

IT IS "MAYOR" BLATZ THIS WEEK

Duties Don't Worry Him—Afraid He Will Not Have Anything to Do.

The Hon. Francis J. Blatz is thinking of having a sign printed to hang out over his attorney's shingle which will read "Mayoring Done at Reduced Rates." Mr. Blatz, by virtue of his positions as president of the Common Council, and the absence of Mayor Calkins, is enjoying the sensation of being Mayor. Of course he is only Mayor "pre tend," but he has all the weight of the duties of that responsible officer's on his shoulders for the remainder of the week. This does not bother Mr. Blatz. What he is worried about is that there may not be any duties to fall on his shoulders. If anyone needs a Mayor for the remainder of the week, Mr. Blatz is not only qualified but anxious to do the work.

E. H. GARY INDICTED BY AN OHIO JURY

East Youngstown Riots Find Way to Criminal Courts.

Youngstown, O., March 8.—E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, and six steel companies, were indicted by the Mahoney County Grand Jury today, charged with violating the Valentine Anti-Trust Act and conspiring to keep down the wages of common laborers. City officials were also indicted. The companies indicted were the United States Steel Corporation, the Carnegie Steel Company, the Youngstown Sheet Tube Company, the Republic Iron Steel Company, the Brier Hill Steel Company, and the Youngstown Iron Steel Company. The indictments grew out of the riot at East Youngstown last January.

VERDUN HILL TAKEN IN FIERCE BATTLE

12,000 German Troops Attack Stronghold of French.

London, March 8.—The army of the German crown prince attacking Verdun continued to make more headway on both flanks, while not attempting further progress for the moment on the desperately contested center, which now rests on the Douaumont plateau.

On the east the Germans took the village of Fresnes. The town is an important highway center and is on the railway from Montmedy to Commercy.

On their right flank, to the west of the Meuse, the Germans pressing on from Forges, which was taken Monday, took positions on both sides of the Cote de l'Oie, penetrating the Bois des Corbeaux to the west and taking Hill 264, between the Cote de l'Oie and the Meuse.

The French still hold the summit of the Cote de l'Oie itself, thus keeping a salient which projects into the new German line. The French also are still in possession of the village of Bethincourt, the groves to the east of the Bois des Corbeaux and the Bois de Cumieres.

The battle which gave the Germans possession of Hill 265 was an engagement of great intensity between large forces. The German attack was made with a full division (12,000 men). A bombardment of extreme violence preceded the attack and was of marked effect on the French defenses.

The French artillery and machine guns poured a constant fire into the advancing ranks of the Germans, inflicting heavy losses, but the Germans, by force of numbers concentrated on a narrow front, drove on in spite of their losses, and the French were unable to hold the hill.

A series of heavy attacks were made. The principal one was on the sector between Bethincourt and the Meuse. All but one were repulsed, the Germans only gaining a foothold in a salient in the Bois des Corbeaux.

To the east of the Meuse the Germans penetrated a French redoubt in the region of the Bois de Hardaumont, but were driven out immediately by a counter attack.

MICHAEL O'KEEFE HONORED BY FRIENDS

Popular West End Man Given Surprise Gathering on His Birthday Anniversary.

Michael D. O'Keeffe, of 685 West Fourth street, was given a surprise party, Monday evening, in honor of his natal day. The event was a complete surprise to Mr. O'Keeffe, who was called home by telephone to find his home transformed into a miniature ballroom and crowded with his friends.

Mr. O'Keeffe is well-known in Plainfield, having been born here, and has lived here all his life. He is one of the leading contracting builders of the city and is prominent in business circles. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and is at present commander of Camp Bagley, Spanish War Veterans. Mr. O'Keeffe has always been very active in social affairs and is a member of several fraternal organizations. He is a member of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, Independent Order of Foresters, a former president of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society, and at the present time, president of St. Mary's T. A. B. S. fife and drum corps. He is also past president of St. Mary's Holy Name Society, and is a trustee of St. Mary's church, and also a member of the board of directors of the Building and Loan Association.

The evening was spent in a very enjoyable manner, dancing being among the main diversions. James J. McCann, the local automobile license agent, and P. J. Melvin, were the chief entertainers of the evening. Mr. McCann and Mr. Melvin rendered several vocal selections and also gave recitations. T. J. Meaney was also a singer of the evening. Instrumental music was rendered by Misses Margaret Meaney, Betty Mara, Elizabeth Brown, and Hugh McDonald was the accompanist for Mr. McCann and Mr. Melvin. The general good time continued until a late hour, being interrupted only by the serving of refreshments.

Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCann Mr. and Mrs. Martell, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. La Rocke, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. O'Keeffe, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis O'Keeffe, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dunphy, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Meaney, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. O'Keeffe, Mr. and Mrs. T. Flynn, Misses Mary McDonald, Florence McDonald, Betty Mara, Helen Meaney, Margaret Meaney, Annabelle McAfee, Alice McAfee, Catherine McCauley, Elizabeth Brown, Elizabeth Flynn, Margaret O'Keeffe, Helen Walsh; John Hines, Dan McAfee, Thos. # MISS TILLOTSON SINGS AT PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

While it is always a pleasure to welcome back to the High School graduates who have done credit to themselves and the school, it is, indeed, a rare treat to receive an alumnus who entertains the school so brilliantly as did Miss Queena Tillotsen, a pupil of Mme. Sembrich, in her song recital this morning. The recital was educational as well as entertaining, in that the program consisted of songs illustrating national characteristics as portrayed in music.

To comment on the technique of a voice so highly trained as Miss Tillotson's is superfluous. The school appreciated especially those songs which displayed her brilliant upper register, and those in which there was an element of humor.

The school is to be congratulated upon the fact that Miss Tillotson has promised to give another recital next year. It is to be hoped that these educational recitals may become one of the regular features of the school year.

The program is as follows, "Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces," Carey; "Passing By," Purcell; "The Lass With the Delicate Air," Dr. Ame; "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak; "Sywetin," Sinding; "My Laddie," Thayer; "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," Cadman; "Lullaby," from "Jocelyn," Gounod; "Down in the Forest," Ronald; "Yesterday and Today," Spross; "The Cuckoo," Liza Lehman; "Juliet Waltz," Gounod.

BATTLESHIP FILM TO BE SHOWN HERE

"Defense or Tribute?" Will Be Produced Here Under Auspices of Daily Press.

Marjorie's Battleship Picture, "Defense or Tribute" will be presented by the New York Tribune, under the auspices of the Plainfield Daily Press, at Proctor's Theatre, on the afternoons and evenings of March 24 and 25.

"Defense or Tribute?" which, in addition to being timely, is moreover so dramatic, spectacular, exciting and beautiful that it deservedly takes place among the very greatest films every brought before the public. The plan of the presentation is a clever and a striking one. The shades of the dead Presidents of the United States shown discussing the question of preparedness—Washington, Lincoln, Grant, McKinley and others being easily recognized. Then their places are taken by a modern council, formed of prominent officers who fought in the Civil War and the Spanish-American wars. The chairman of this council acts as spokesman to his colleagues "between the acts," as it were, and there are very many of these acts dating back to the times of the Jews, the Gauls, the Romans, passing through the Middle Ages to French and American revolutionary times, and, of course, coming down to the present day.

The story of this multiple drama uniformly is the same; that a nation unprepared for war is always in peril of losing its independence; of going down before a superior foe.

The production has been staged with the utmost magnificence; battle after battle is rendered with impressive effect, and some of the most dramatic happenings of history are illustrated. Prosperous America is brought to the eyes of the audiences, who are asked if they are willing to lose their country through unpreparedness.

Besides being a powerful plea on behalf of self-preservation, the picture enlightens and entertains as well. For, read aright, what is more dramatic and interesting than authentic history, of which this picture is mainly composed.

"Defense or Tribute?" will accurately please and convince the millions who are to see it, and probably will do much to arouse the American public to a sense of its danger.

BOY SCOUTS TENDER LEADERS A RECEPTION

Troop No. 12 of Hope Chapel Entertains Gathering of 40 at Supper.

Boy Scout Troop No. 12 of Hope Chapel gave a reception in the Sunday school rooms last night to all the scoutmasters of the city, together with a number of others interested in Scout doings, to the number of forty. The troopers and their guests sat down to an elaborate supper at 9 o'clock, the various courses being served by seven young women volunteers from the membership of Hope chapel. It was after 11 o'clock before the affair terminated owing to a session of speechmaking.

William F. Richards, who is scout master of troop No. 12, acted as toastmaster, beside giving a review of Troop 12 since he assumed the leadership five months ago. At that time the members had practically nothing but a flag, and at the present time they have a full equipment and a cash balance in the treasury of nearly one hundred dollars. The names of twenty boys are on the roster.

Others who spoke at the gathering were: Scout Commissioner A. V. Searing, Jr., First Deputy Sproul, Second Deputy Bach, Scout Masters Powlison, Davis and Barker, Rev. Frederick L. Greene and others. One of the features of the table decorations was three large cakes decorated with special designs for the occasion. One of them bore the inscription beneath an American flag, "Troop No. 12"; a second one, "The Boy Scouts of Hope Chapel," and the third, "Boy Scouts of America."

The reception was arranged by a committee from the troop, composed of Grecian Peterson, chairman; William Terry, Walter Weber and Edward Jeffery.

ELKS TO PRESENT A COMIC OPERA

Will Give "The Mystic Rose" at Plainfield Theatre, May 2 and 3.

Instead of a minstrel show, the Plainfield Lodge of Elks will, this year, present a comic opera. It was announced by the committee this morning that a contract had been entered into with Robert P. Skilling to produce the Japanese-American comic opera, "The Mystic Rose." It will be produced in the Plainfield theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 2 and 3.

A comic opera has not been decided upon because of a lack of enthusiasm over the minstrels. These annual shows have been received with enthusiasm by Plainfield people year after year, and the Elks committee is certain that another would be just as popular; but they of the opinion that the public would appreciate a change from the usual performance.

Before selecting "The Mystic Rose," the committee thoroughly investigated the results where this production has been offered, including such cities as Seattle and Spokane, Wash.; Pittsfield, Worcester and Greenfield, Mass.; Portland, Oregon; Boise, Idaho; Newark and Long Branch and many other cities. In each city the highest praise was accorded it by both the critics and those under whose auspices it was produced.

One hundred persons, including the dozen leading characters, composed of both men and women, are required to produce the opera, and the committee feels assured that it will be the biggest event of this character ever given in Plainfield.

The committee in charge is composed of William C. Mulvey, chairman; C. F. Stout, secretary and treasurer; Edward J. Harding, Jr., Joseph C. Martin and John H. Cose.

FRUIT GUILD TO ELECT.

The annual meeting of the Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild for the election of officers will be held at the residence of Robert Love, 138 Grove street, the borough, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All members are urged to attend. The services which have been held at the Friends' meeting-house will be discontinued during March and April and the anniversary exercises have been postponed until after the Biederwolf evangelistic campaign.

LOCAL LEADERS FAVOR EDGE

Following the meeting a representative of the Daily Press asked former State Senator E. R. Ackerman to express an opinion about the approaching primary contest over the Republican nomination for Governor. Mr. Ackerman said: "The Republicans are indeed fortunate in having so many excellent, efficient and experienced men from which to make a choice. In my judgment, however, the best qualified and most available man for the position is Senator Walter E. Edge, who possesses all the attributes of a successful executive. His political career has been one of natural and praiseworthy progression, rising from a clerkship in the Legislature to the Presidency of the Senate, and has served as Acting Governor. Senator Edge has tact and sagacity gained from a long and splendid business career and acquired and practiced during the many difficulties incident to public life."

Mr. Ackerman, who served in the Senate for six years, was asked if he had had an opportunity to judge Mr. Edge's qualifications while a member of the Senate. He said that "Mr. Edge was one of the ablest members of the Senate and was very progressive in his ideas concerning legislation. The fight led by Senator Edge in backing his workingmen's compensation bills led to their final passage and made them the laws of the State. Up to the session of 1911, we were working on employer's liability statues which I had the pleasure of having introduced. The Edge measures were a step in advance the same as my bills represented a forward movement in that class of legislation at the time they were proposed. I shall never forget the force and ability of the arguments employed by Senator Edge in urging the adoption of the different sections of his bills.

"During the present session of the Legislature he stands focussed in the public eye for the Edge Budget and Central Purchasing Bureau Bills are directed toward economy, system and efficiency in the finances of the State. New Jersey has been well governed, but great advances in economy and efficiency are possible under the legislation which he has pushed to a conclusion. Up to this time there has been neither a State tax nor a State debt, and in that respect New Jersey shines among her sister states. Every business man knows that there is always room for improvement and it is that fact that has led Mr. Edge to try to master the problem of a State budget, and the success of his budget measure which has passed both houses and been signed by the Governor may mean much to maintain the high standard already fixed by this State in the matter of finances."

"Then in your opinion Edge would make an ideal Governor," the reporter said. "I think Mr. Edge would be a most excellent Governor," replied Mr. Ackerman, "he has had a successful political and business experience and is well acquainted with the public men of the State, and that knowledge together with his judgment and training would be apt to eliminate any experiments in the government of the State."

BILL WOULD GIVE VETS OVER 70 $20 A MONTH

Washington, March 8.—Pensions of not less than $20 a month for all Union Civil War veterans 70 years old or more and eligible for the pension roll are proposed in a bill which has been reported to the House.

The measure also would increase from $12 to $20 the pension of every widow who was the lawful wife of a soldier during his service in the Civil War; restore to their former pensionable status widows of Civil War soldiers dropped from the rolls because of their marriage to other persons and who are again widows or divorced on their own application, and amend by making the date 1905 the act of 1890, providing that women who married Civil War veterans after that date should not be entitled to pensions upon becoming widows.

No official estimate of the amount will read "Mayoring Done at Reduced priations has been made, but the total would be some millions of dollars.

Paired For Tabling—Clark of Florida and Taylor of Colorado.

Paired Against Tabling—Chipperfield of Illinois and Hilliard of Colorado

Brown of West Virginia and Hamilton of Michigan were paired, but without agreement on the vote.

Washington, March 8.—President Wilson was upheld in his conduct of foreign affairs, especially in the submarine controversy with Germany, by the house. The vote, after an all day debate, was 276 to 142 to uphold the president.

The magnitude of the majority in favor of tabling the McLemore resolution, achieved with the aid of many Republican votes, is interpreted as a decisive compliance with the request of the president.

The vote, which brought to a close a day of tumultuous debate, is regarded as disposing of the controversy between the White House and congress, leaving the president with his hands free to resume the negotiations concerning the activity of the submarines in the European war.

There is a possibility of a flareback in the senate over the resolution offered by Senator McCumber. Leaders of the upper house manifested some anxiety over the threatened revival of the controversy.

Senator Stone, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, conferred with the president on the situation. The president's assurance, however, that before any drastic action is taken he will lay the facts leading up to it before congress has measurably relieved the hostility aroused by the struggle over the Gore resolution.

Wilson Much Pleased.

The president's gratification over the outcome of the spectacular parliamentary fight in the house was described by those in close touch with him as being intense. Among the administration officials who have to do with the conduct of foreign affairs there is a general feeling of elation.

It is expected that as a result of the victory in the house Secretary Lansing will at once take up the problem that has arisen over the proposed extension of German submarine activities and formulate the stand which the United States will take.

At the state department attention was devoted to the translation of the appendices of the German declaration, said to contain the alleged secret instructions to armed merchantmen to attack submarines and data concerning actual attacks, supposed to have been made in pursuance of the orders.

Until these contentions of the German and Austrian governments have been analyzed and considered the answer of the United States to the new submarine decree of the central powers will be withheld.

If the new submarine campaign is held not to be justified the terms offered by Germany and Austria for the settlement of the Lusitania and Ancona cases will be rejected. If the German contentions are sustained another course will be taken. State department officials are unwilling to indicate what this may be.

Three Votes Were Taken.

Three votes were taken in the house during the more than seven hours it was in session, and on each of these a victory for the president's stand was recorded. By 256 to 160 the house decided not to permit any amendments to the resolution of Representative McLemore of Texas, which presented the clear cut issue that the president wanted determined.

The McLemore resolution provided in effect that Americans should be warned that if they took passage in armed belligerent ships they would do so at their own risk—in other words, that their government would wash its hands of them and afford no redress for them or their dependents if they were injured or lost their lives through the sinking without warning of an armed merchantman by a Teutonic submarine.

On its first vote, by a majority of 96, the house ordered the "previous question" on a special rule providing for limiting debate and making it impossible to becloud the issue by amendments to the McLemore resolution. Then came a vote on the rule itself. Here, too, the administration won, its majority of approval this time being 133. The final vote was on a motion called for by the special rule to table, otherwise reject, the McLemore doctrine.

That final vote was a surprise to those who were against the president on this great question of international policy. Even Speaker Clark had told the president that the house appeared to be opposed to him 2 to 1 and that "some enthusiastic gentlemen" prophesied that he would be defeated 3 to 1.

As things turned out, the exact reverse of what Speaker Clark had understood proved to be the case. Instead of a majority of 2 to 1 against the president's contention that American citizens had the right to travel without molestation on armed belligerent merchant vessels and that congress had no warrant for advising him in the matter, the majority was nearly 2 to 1 the other way. On the final vote, the real test of sentiment in the house, the McLemore resolution was tabled by a vote of 276 to 142, or just eight less than 2 to 1. A change of four votes to the president's side would have made the administration majority an even 2 to 1.

Party lines were disregarded. The Republicans who stood by the president were only nine less in number than the Republicans who were against him. The majority for the president's policy probably would have been larger if some of the Republicans had not been angered over the inflexible character of the special cloture rule, which prevented their offering amendments to the McLemore measure and indulging in the fullest and freest debate. Republican speakers contended that the president had indicated that he wanted the whole subject discussed without stint.

Fight Rages All Day.

All day the battle raged in the house. Practically the entire membership was present when Speaker Clark called the house to order. The contest began at once when Acting Chairman Pou of the rules committee reported the special rule providing that the McLemore resolution should be voted on. Time was allowed for debate on the rule itself, but much of the discussion pertained to the merits of the issue presented to the resolution.

It was soon apparent that party lines were not to be rigid. Republicans joined Democrats in opposing Republicans; Democrats stood side by side with Republicans in opposing recalcitrant Democrats. The lines swayed back and forth.

The galleries were crowded throughout the day. The corridors outside the galleries were packed with persons trying to gain admittance. Women seemed to be in the majority. It was a field day in the house and no mistake

At the outset the Republican leadership indicated an intention to try to amend the McLemore resolution so as to retain some form of warning to American citizens not to travel on armed liners. Leader Mann and Mr. Campbell of Kansas, senior Republican member of the committee on rules, gave notice that they would offer a substitute for the McLemore resolution. It would provide that in the opinion of the house "citizens of the United States, under existing conditions and irrespective of their legal rights, ought to refrain from taking passage on armed merchant vessels of belligerent nations except in cases of imperative necessity." But when the vote was taken it was demonstrated that many Republicans sympathized with the president and not with their leaders.

Short and Spirited Speeches.

All the speeches were short. Some of them were stirring—that is, the house showed enthusiasm over them. Mr. Decker, a Missouri Democrat, roused his auditors when he described the horrors of warfare in Europe. He was against the administration's stand. Mr. Pou of North Carolina, acting chairman of the rules committee, supported the president vallantly. He quoted ex-President Taft as advising congress and the country to get behind Mr. Wilson.

President Wilson, calm and confident, heard the early results of the voting in the cabinet room at the White House, with some of the cabinet grouped about him. He told them he was much gratified with the support of congress.

One of the unusual features of the struggle was the tribute paid by members of the house to Speaker Clark on the occasion of his sixty-sixth birthday. When the tide of discussion was at its height Representative Mann obtained recognition and with an apology for the digression called attention to the fact of the birthday by saying that under the shadow of the storm it should not be overlooked.

An extraordinary demonstration of enthusiasm followed. Members of the house, rising to their feet, applauded for several minutes.

The speaker replied by saying that the tribute was one of those that have been called the flowers of friendship that covered the wall of partisan politics and referred somewhat significantly to the solidarity of sentiment in the house on certain occasions.

"We are all Americans," he said, "and we are all patriots. When it comes to a vital question we are one. This incident recalls to my mind the occasion when every man in this house arose to his feet and voted to commit $50,000,000 to President McKinley to prosecute the war. And that trust was not violated."

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

CONTRACT KEEPING.

No utility corporation can now endeavor to evade its contractual obligations undertaken, as a part of its return for valuable privileges received from a community, by setting up the claim of undue discrimination. That was settled yesterday by the Court of Errors and Appeals, when it unanimously decided that the contract between the city of Plainfield and the Public Service Electric Company, under which the public buildings of the city are lighted free of charge, was a valid one.

When Plainfield began its litigation, little interest was taken in the case for the reason that it was believed to be merely a matter of local concern. As the case progressed, however, there was a sudden realization that the issues involved seriously affected every municipality in the state that had contracts with public utility corporations.

Practically all of these communities, therefore, joined hands with Plainfield, and the victory for that city in the court of last resort is a great victory for all. And while the court pursued a most unusual course in arriving at its conclusion, the conclusion is none the less satisfactory to the public interest.

Plainfield had appealed to the Public Utilities Commission against the stand taken by the Public Service that the lighting company was debarred from continuing the free lighting by the provision of the utility act prohibiting undue discrimination in rates. The commission held that the city was right about it and ordered the contract enforced. The Public Service appealed to the Supreme Court, which decided that the commission had no power to enforce a contract and that the contract with Plainfield was discriminatory.

The Court of Errors now unanimously sustains the Supreme Court in so far as the power to enforce the contract is concerned, but at the same time declares the contract is valid, as the utility act is not a retroactive one. In effect, the court says that the city went to the wrong party to enforce a contract that is enforceable—that is to say, the contract is a good one and must be carried out, but the Chancery Court is the tribunal to issue the order.

As a result of this decision, Newark can collect its five per cent from the Public Service Railway Company, can tax the trolley cars, can enforce transfer ordinances and can compel the company to live up to the terms of its other contracts with the city.

It is not so important that the court has held that the utility law will prevent any future discriminations like that in Plainfield, or that the Public Utilities Commission is not the proper body to enforce contracts. Since the utility law was placed on the statute books the regulations regarding the granting of franchises have been entirely changed. Every franchise must be passed upon by the state commission and the terms must be equitable.

In the old days, when perpetual franchises were the rule and there was great competition for these valuable privileges, municipalities were justified in making the best bargain they could. If the utility concerns had not offered concessions they would have been denied the privileges they sought. In the majority of cases they secured immensely valuable rights in return for a small outlay.

Perpetual franchises can no longer be granted in New Jersey, and companies applying for future privileges of a limited nature could not be expected to make as extended concessions, even though such consessions were legal, as their more favored competitors. The court decision merely gives notice that the terms of future franchises must be equitable, and that when a contract made under such a franchise is not lived up to, the Court of Chancery is the proper body to go to for the purpose of having the contract enforced.

REPORT 232 CASES OF DISEASE IN CITY

Of Which Number 194 Were Measles—779 Inspections Made by Health Board.

There were 232 cases of communicable diseases in Plainfield during the past month, according to the reports presented at the March meeting of the Board of Health, last night. Of this number 194 were measles, there being an epidemic of this disease recently. It now appears to have diminished somewhat. The following cases were reported:

Diphtheria, 4; scarlet fever, 6; tuberculosis, 10; typhoid fever, 1; measles, 194; whooping cough, 13; chicken-pox, 3; German measles, 1; total, 232.

Sixty-one cultures in all were examined as follows: Diphtheria, 39; tuberculosis, 15; malaria, 2; typhoid fever, 2; miscellaneous, 3. Twenty-seven of the diphtheria cultures were negative, 8 were questionable and 4 were positive. Twelve of the tuberculosis cultures were negative and 3 positive. The specimens for malaria and typhoid fever were negative. 24 disinfections in fourteen buildings were completed together with four miscellaneous disinfections. Three inspectors from the State Board of Health have been here during the month and inspections of soda bottling establishments were made and samples taken.

Samples of patent medicines were also taken and considerable work has been done in looking after the city's milk supply. Four hundred and twenty-one pieces of mail were sent out by the department, 140 letters, 18 postals and 263 miscellaneous pieces. The board expressed its regret that it was unable to assist in the Baby Week observance by the expenditure of funds, but it is co-operating in every way possible to promote the success of the campaign.

The following is a summary of the inspections made during the month: Milk supply, 80; food supply, 113; nuisances, 38; communicable diseases, 336; disinfections, 29; general work, 67; plumbing work, 116; total, 779. There was also reported 47 deaths, 58 births, 2 still-births and 7 marriages.

Somerville

The Somerville Merchants' Association are planning a gala "Automobile Day" to be held probably on May 18. Prizes consisting of gold will be awarded. Plans for the event will be announced this evening at the regular meeting of the association.

Charles Hamilton today announced himself as a candidate again for sheriff of Somerset county on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Hamilton was defeated by Sheriff Charles P. Sebring three years ago by a small majority.

Miss Mable Stryker, of Third street, was tendered a birthday party Monday afternoon. Music and refreshments were enjoyed.

North Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bunn and family, of Rahway, were the guests over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Beaty in North Branch.

At the meeting of the Branchburg Township Committee, held yesterday in Staats' Hall, road overseers for the coming season were appointed, snow bills paid and other business transacted.

Miss Anna Williams returned yesterday to Pluckemin, after a visit of a week to Miss Nancy Vreeland, in Plainfield.

Miss Florence Byrnes returned to near Pluckemin, Monday, from Caldwell.

Miss Elsie Neary, of Neshanic, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bailey, in Bound Brook.

Mrs. Harry Bacorn returned to North Branch Depot, yesterday, from Elizabeth.

A choir composed of the young people of the Neshanic Reformed and Methodist churches will be organized for the three-week revival to be started there Sunday.

Miss Mary Sanders, of South Branch, is spending a week in Somerville and Bound Brook.

Russell Cornell, of Readington, has returned from Peapack.

Walter Gillian, of New Brunswick, was an over-Sunday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gillian, of Neshanic.

Miss Emma Whitenack, of Neshanic, spent the week-end in Plainfield.

Miss Lena Gritzner, of Pluckemin, has returned from Garwood and Plainfield.

The literary circle will meet this afternoon with Mrs. James L. Stillwell.

RECEPTION AND DANCE.

The Italians of the borough held a reception and dance in Debele's hall last evening. Thirty couples were present and an enjoyable evening was passed. Music for the dancing was furnished by a six-piece band. Refreshments were served during the evening. Joseph Church and John Fioravanti composed the committee in charge of the affair.

BIG FIGHT TO START EARLY.

Tex Rickard, promoter of the Willard-Moran fight for the heavyweight championship of the world in Madison Square Garden, March 25, announced last night that the fight would start at 9:30 o'clock. This is earlier than big bouts generally start.

BILL FAVORED BY TAX ASSESSORS

Would Remove Positions From Politics.

PROPOSED ACT DISCUSSED

Provides For Appointment of Officials Instead of Election—Believed Assembly Measure Would Result In Better Equalization of Taxes Throughout State—State Association Meets In Camden.

Camden, March 8.—The New Jersey State Association of Local Assessors convened here in the rooms of the Camden city board of taxation, Camden, and discussed assembly bill No. 492, which provides for the removal of the tax assessors of New Jersey from politics.

The bill stipulates that assessors shall be appointed by local governing bodies instead of being elected by the people, as is now the case throughout the state except in second and third class cities, where the assessors are appointed by the mayor.

The bill provides that assessors shall not be removed from office unless just cause for such removal is presented to the state board of taxation and assessment.

The bill provides also for the appointment of assessors' instructors, who would travel over the state teaching assessors in the duties of their office. It is believed that the passage of the bill would result in a better equalization of taxation throughout New Jersey.

George F. Brensinger, president of the association and also president of the finance board of Jersey City, presided at the meeting. Robert R. Volk, secretary of the association and secretary of the board of assessors of Trenton, was among those in attendance.

Meetings are being held all over the state under the direction of the association to interest citizens in the passage of the bill.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Heart Disease Victim Told Wife Not to Awaken Him.

Redbank, March 8.—Telling his wife that he was very tired and not to awaken him if he did not get up, Ross Capen was found dead in bed by his wife. The cause of death was given as heart disease. Mrs. Capen's aunt who lived with her, died suddenly in bed three weeks ago.

Woman Gets Damages.

Trenton, March 8.—If railroad gates are lifted after a train has passed and a pedestrian starts to cross only to be run down by another train going in the opposite direction he is not guilty of contributory negligence. This was the ruling of the supreme court in the case of Susan W. Hatch, injured at the Ellison street crossing of the Erie railroad in Paterson. A verdict for damages was sustained.

Dead at Ninety-nine Years.

Rahway, March 8.—Bartlett Van Valkenberg Clarke, the oldest male resident of this city, died in his ninety-ninth year at his home. He was in the shoe business for many years. He was vice president of the Rahway Savings bank. Mr. Clark was a native of New Concord, Columbia county, N. Y.

General Day Dead.

East Orange, March 8.—Brevet Brigadier General Nicholas Wyckoff Day died suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Day Shead, from heart troubles following an attack of the grippe. General Day was born in New Brunswick, N. J., and was seventy-seven years old.

Convictions Set Aside.

Trenton, March 8.—The convictions of ex-Sheriff George M. Brewster and Walter Scott, road contractors, of Hackensack, who were found guilty of refusing to answer the subpoenas of the appropriations committee of the legislature in 1914, were set aside by the supreme court.

Woman's Will Upheld.

MISSION SOCIETIES IN ANNUAL SESSION

Women of First Presbyterian Church Elect Officers and Hear Addresses.

The annual meetings of the home and foreign missionary societies at the First Presbyterian church yesterday attracted a large number of members to the church. Reports for the past year together with the election of officers and interesting addresses on both home and foreign mission work combined to make the day one of considerable profit to the women who actively engaged in the spreading of the gospel.

The home missionary society met in the morning and elected these officers: President, Mrs. George Karner; vice-presidents, Mrs. T. C. Bodine and Mrs. Howard A. Pope; secretary, Mrs. W. A. Lippencott; treasurer, Mrs. Percy Banghart.

A feature of the morning program was the presentation of what was called a "missionary clinic" comprising doctors, experts and specialists, represented by members of the society. They discussed in a practical way the best methods of carrying on the work, explaining in detail what was being done and what should be done. Those who took part in the clinic were Miss Hazel Selby, Mrs. Leslie Bond, Miss Linda Cave, Miss Clara Karner, Miss Irene Dunham, Mrs. Howard Satterfield, Miss Ella Lounsbury, Mrs. C. E. Herring and Miss Ariadne Bicknell.

Following the various reports of officers all of which proved encouraging, showing as they did an increased interest and the raising of a substantial sum for home missions, Mrs. I. C. Pierson, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, made an address, which was in the nature of a resume of what is being done in Alaska and among the Mountain Whites as well as in other parts of the country.

At noon an excellent luncheon was served by a committee comprising the officers of the home missionary society, assisted by other members. Covers were laid for fifty women.

The afternoon was devoted to the interests of the foreign missionary society, the program including reports ,an address and the election of officers. The officers chosen for the year were as follows: President, Miss Julia Noll; vice-presidents, Mrs. T. C. Bodine and Mrs. F. L. Palmer; secretary, Mrs. W. A. Lippencott; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Spicer; secretary of literature, Miss Georgia Ricker.

The address of the afternoon was by Mrs. Pierce Chamberlain, who with her husband, has been engaged in mission work in South America for many years. They are now home on a vacation. Mrs. Chamberlin was stationed in Brazil, and her talk was chiefly the telling of her own interesting experiences in that country.

The missionary told of the different conditions to be met in South America and of the progress being made in carrying the gospel to the natives. She and her husband were stationed in a country district and she spoke in a hopeful way of their success. Rev. Mr. Chamberlin is at present in charge of the Presbyterian church at Verona. The return of the missionaries to this country was chiefly for the purpose of allowing their children to attend the American schools. They will probably go back to South America at some future time.

"MOSQUITO DAY" TO BE OBSERVED MAY 3

Public School Teachers and Children Will Co-operate in Big Movement.

Plans are taking shape rapidly for the observance of "Mosquito Day" in the schools throughout the county on May 3. With the co-operation of more than 1,000 teachers and various school authorities, the County Mosquito Extermination Commission will wage a campaign of education having for its purpose the enlistment of 40,000 school children in the work of eliminating the insect pests.

Russell W. Gies, chief inspector for the commission, today declared every public, parochial and private school in the county has consented to participate in the program of "Mosquito Day." The commission will distribute about 40,000 pamphlets about mosquitoes to the pupils of the schools, including about 27,000 in the public schools, and 15,000 to the parochial and private institutions.

These circulars will contain practical information about the mosquitoes, describing how they breed, where they breed, and preventive measures. Larger pamphlets will be furnished the teachers and a bottle of mosquito larvae will be supplied each classroom, so that all will be able to recognize the insects in their early stages of existence.

"The school authorities, public, parochial and private, have entered into the plan with splendid enthusiasm," said Mr. Gies, "and the campaign should bring excellent results next summer. The children can help wonderfully in eliminating breeding spots on private property that the inspectors are not likely to run across. Then, too, most of them will carry the pamphlets home and will talk about the subject with their parents, so that the effect of the work should be far-reaching."

ALL-DAY MEETING.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church held a successful all-day sewing meeting in the parish house yesterday. Twenty members reported at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Luncheon was served at noon. Sewing continued until 4:30 in the afternoon. Many useful articles were made for the mission in Georgia, which the association is assisting in supporting.

W. L. SAUNDERS TO SPEAK.

William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, will be the principal speaker at a "preparedness meeting" to be held at Westfield on Wednesday, March 22. Organizations in Westfield, Elizabeth, Roselle and Plainfield will be represented at this meeting. The guests of honor will be the clergy, mayors and town officials. The public is invited to attend.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water, and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twings of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides, with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

THE WHARTON TRACT AGAIN

By a decisive vote the people of New Jersey last November decided that they did not want to bond the State for a large sum for the purchase of the Wharton tract in South Jersey for a water shed. Yet there is a movement on foot in the Legislature to again submit the question this year. The very persistency with which the scheme is being pushed creates suspicion that there may be an ulterior motive in the project, and that perhaps some one is going to get part of the $1,000,000 which it is proposed to spend for the land.

Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of this county, has taken a decided stand against the purchase, declaring that in his belief it would be a great error to take over a lot of swamp, sand and forest land, and coming from a man of such excellent judgment as Mr. Pierce, the opinion cannot fail to have great weight. The Senator believes in conservation—his past record proves that—but he does not believe that the State should take great risks and spend a large sum of money for something which has a doubtful value.

The people of that section of the State in which the tract is located, Burlington, Camden and Atlantic counties, all voted against the bond issue last year, and they would be the first ones to benefit if they could see any good in the scheme. Every other South Jersey county voted the same way, and the only ones in which a majority was given in its favor were Essex, Hudson and Passaic, where by no possible stretch of the imagination could it be figured that the ownership would be of any use. If the land is so valuable, some private water company would long have have taken it over. The people do not want the State to go to the expense of another election on a matter which they have decided within such a short time.

BABY FACTS.

An exchange has published a list of statistics in connection with baby week, which is being so ably exploited in Plainfield, that are of more than passing interest. Some of the reasons why the plan should have the ardent interest and support of every citizen are:

Three hundred thousand American babies die every year before they are one year old. At least 150,000 of these could be saved under proper methods.

One hundred and twenty-four out of every 1,000 babies die in steel-making and coal-mining towns as against eighty-four out of each 1,000 in suburban residential sections.

Even greater contrasts prevail between the death rate in the congested parts of big cities and the choicest residential districts.

In New Zealand, where babies are cared for more scientifically than in any other place in the world, the death rate is but fifty in every thousand; there being a loss there of but two to our five.

Until now no concerted action by us as a nation-at-large has been taken to prevent these inroads into our next generation. "Baby Week," being conducted nationally by Uncle Sam, under the direction of Miss Julia Lathrop, is the first of such recognition of this necessity of conserving our infant life.

We spend more on battleships and pigs than we do on babies. The figures have been often quoted. Many Congressmen fought an extra appropriation of $25,000 to collect statistics on infant mortality, while voting for many times that amount to cure hog cholera.

THE RACE IS ON.

With the election of thirty delegates to the Republican and Democratic National conventions from the State of Indiana, pledged respectively to former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks and President Wilson, the 1916 campaign was formally launched yesterday. Minnesota and New Hampshire follow with their primaries next Tuesday, and North Dakota will elect on March 21. Other States will follow right up to the eve of the Republican National convention, which opens in Chicago on June 7. In fact the South Dakota and West Virginia delegates will not have time to leave their States to reach the convention on the opening day, as their primaries are set for June 6. Here are the primary days in various parts of the country: Michigan, April 3; Wisconsin, April 4; Iowa, April 10, Illinois and New York, April 11; Nebraska, April 18; Montana and Oregon, April 21; Massachusetts and Ohio, April 25; Maryland, May 1; California, May 2; Pennsylvania and Vermont, May 16; New Jersey and Texas, May 23; North Carolina, June 3.

* * * * * *

The proposition to advertise Plainfield is one that every commercial organization in the city should put above all others for a short time. President Newcorn, of the Board of Trade, is soon to issue a call for a general meeting to be held in the Council chamber, the purpose of which is to decide how much money can be appropriated by this city for publicity purposes, and how it shall be spent. He has asked the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Association and other similar organizations, and for once these different branches of the city's business interests should forget all else in helping to make the project one of good for the entire city. To every dollar that Plainfield will give, the New Jersey Central Railway will add another and the city is in a position to get double value for its money.

* * * * * *

That Senator James Martine has cleverly dodged a trap laid for him by political enemies, is the opinion of all who read his statement yesterday, in which he emphatically announced that he would not be a candidate for delegate at large to the Democratic convention. Senator Martine was proclaimed a candidate in all parts of the State and some Democratic leaders were already predicting that he would run second to Mr. Scully, but the latter will have to go it alone, insofar as the Farmer Orator is concerned. He explains that he is going to be awfully busy this year and that one primary is enough for any man. This means that those who are out to defeat Senator Martine for re-election must do it in the Senatorial primaries or not at all, for he refuses to give them two chances at his political head.

* * * * * *

That the Biederwolf campaign, which starts in less than a month, already has had a tendency to quicken religious work in this city, goes without saying. It is safe to predict, from the interest already displayed, that it will be a great success—fully as much a one for Plainfield, as have been the Billy Sunday services elsewhere. Even in a community where the churches are as strong as they are in Plainfield, revivals of this kind serve a splendid purpose.

* * * * * *

Former Senator Ackerman is to be a candidate for delegate from this district to the Republican convention at Chicago in June. We know of no better man to represent the voters. This has been shown by his past record.

Editor Sim R. Wilson, of the Saline Observer, is a lucky man. The other day he picked up a Winchester rifle and started up the street to deliver the weapon to its owner. Somehow the delinquent subscribers got it into their heads that he was on the warpath, and everyone he met insisted on paying him in full, one fellow going so far as to wipe out ten long years of delinquency. And that was not all. When he got back to the office he found a load of hay, fifteen bushels of corn, ten bushels of potatoes, two cords of wood, a barrel of turnips and seven muskrat hieds. Back out the machine gun, Hiram, we're going to try it, too.—Pewamo News.

THEIR CHANCE TO LAUGH

- Proctor's Theatre -

Announcement is made by the management of Proctor's Theatre that they are prepared to present for their patrons' approval the cream of the photo-play market, which statement is certainly borne out by a glance at the program of wonderful attractions which are being presented at that popular playhouse this week. Today for instance William Fox presents Vivian Martin, the daintiest of screen heroines, in Israel Zangwill's masterpiece, "Merely Mary Ann," in which her pleasing personality is most predominant. Today also the second episode of "The Iron Claw" will make its appearance with Pearl White, Creighton Hale, Sheldon Lewis and last but not least "The Laughing Mask." Tomorrow will be a gala day for local film fans, for the greatest dramatic triumph in the history of theatricals will appear in film form upon the screen at Proctor's. It is that extremely popular production, "Madame X," and an added incentive will be given the enthusiastic fans by the announcement that Dorothy Donnelly, the star of the original stage production, will assume the lead in the photoplay version. In conjunction with this feature a laugh provoking Keystone comedy will also be shown entitled, "Fido's Fate." On Friday, Lillian Drew, the fer famed Vitagraph star, will appear with the assistance of a superior cast in "Vultures of Society," an intensely engrossing picture play. As an added attraction all this week, Gilletti, the famous Italian tenor, has been engaged to appear at all performances, with the result that lovers of this sort of entertainment will be delighted to hear this wonderful artist's rendition of both classical and popular selections with the air of his rich, mellow tenor. Announcement is also made of the fact that next week, the management have arranged to present at enormous expense, a screen adaptation of Elinor Glyn's two famous novels, "Three Weeks" and its sequel, "One Day." These attractions are to appear on consecutive days, and will doubtless attract hundreds of film fans from miles around, for two such productions as these are indeed worth many miles of travel to see.

"UTTERLY PREPOSTEROUS," SAYS MARTINE OF STORY

Washington, March 8.—"It is utterly preposterous."

That is Senator Martine's answer to the story in yesterday's New York World connecting him with pro-German lobbyists in the agitation against the administration foreign policy.

Mr. Martine is mentioned in the letter purporting to be from T. L. Marsalis, pro-German agent, to Alphonse G. Koeible, of New York, president of the United German societies. Marsalis, writing about his interviewing Congressmen, is quoted as describing "Our friend Senator Martine" as being favorable to the cause.

"I don't know this Marsalis and don't remember ever having met him," says Mr. Martine. "I am not in the habit of doing business with lobbyists and no one has the right to put me down as being with them in anything that adversely affects the integrity of my country.

"I have declared for sustaining the President, and that ought to be sufficient answer to any insinuations of the sort contained in this article."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

At a meeting of the school council held yesterday afternoon it was decided to hol da school leap year dance in the auditorium on March 18. It will be similar to the one held last month, and arrangements will be made by committees. It was also decided to assist in whatever way they can to keep the school building tidy, and a committee, including the Misses Coddington and Good, and DeWitt Swackhammer and Gerald Linke, was appointed to have charge of the move.

Nearly all of the characters in the Senior play cast have been selected and active rehearsal for the production on April 18 started. The cast is as follows: Christopher Sly, Minor Trowbridge; the hostess, Catherine Taylor; the page, Marion Lockwood; Baptista, Herbert Peacock; Petro, Louis Starkweather; Hortensio, Richmond Ritterbusch; Biondello, William Sowden; Grumio, Harold Seal; Walter, Eustace Eggle; Nathaniel (undecided); Gregory, William Victorson; a music master, Elizabeth Chickering; Katherine, Ruth Vorhees; Bianca, Florence Neilson; Curtis, Marion Simlock; the tailor, Leon Weintrob; the messenger, Richard Thomas; extra ladies, Edith Rosenson, Dorothy Peacock, Olive Lawrence, Margaret Burnett, Iva Waldrof and Lillian Heideloff.

The finishing touches are being put on the Junior play and everything is ready for the presentation of "The Sleeping Car" and "Proposals Under Difficulties" in the High School auditorium Saturday night. A dress rehearsal will be held on Friday afternoon to which the members of the school will be admitted.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Shea's Society Circus, which appeared for the first time at the Plainfield theatre yesterday afternoon and evening, delighted scores of little ones and is today the chief topic of discussion among old and young theatregoers. All that goes to make up the big three-ring show is worked on a miniature scale and the animals perform some hair-raising stunts.

"Mary Ellen," the big comedy elephant, proved the big hit of the opening performances, appearing in feats that indicated careful and patient training and required nervy handlers. Androcles and her equestrian lion, Prince Bengal, entertain with novel stunts.

Every program at the Plainfield theatre includes good motion pictures and a fine list of film hits is in store for those who are planning to attend during the remainder of the week. "The Iron Claw" will be shown tomorrow afternoon and evening, and "The Strange Case of Mary Page" is booked for every Friday afternoon and night.

According to all advance representation, there will be presented at the Plainfield theatre, Monday (matinee and night), March 13, a noteworthy production of burlesque under the heading of "The Bon Tons." Bert Baker, the well-known comedian, will appear in a new play written for his exclusive use by George Totten Smith. It is said the production will compare favorably with any presentation of musical comedy ever given in "first-class" theatres. The title of the new piece is "Copper at 64," is in two acts and seven scenes, which gives unlimited scope for the most elaborate stage embellishment. The spectators are shown Wall Street promoting offices, cabarettes in which eight vaudeville acts appear, opium dives, and finally finish in a beautiful Japanese garden of two hundred years back, of Oriental type. This Japanese scene is said to have been painted from photographs of the place pictured, and the management is credited with having provided a furnishment for all of them that perfectly accords with their character in these surroundings. This burlesque show is made up of the best available talent that could be employed. Bert Baker, the star, appears as Mr. Buttercup, who falls into all sorts of mishaps. Complications arise which are said to be extremely funny. The dashing soubrette is played by Babe La Tour, who is one of the most beautiful and accomplished comedians on the burlesque stage. The cast also embraces several people who have been seen with good effect in other productions, among them being Lucille Manion, Mabel McCloud, Rose Ford, Mike Forster, Micky Feeley, Sam Hyams, Leo Hoyt and Bill Wilson. These names give assurance of a rattling good performance. Of course, there is the customary chorus of pretty girls, who sing and dance in elegant costumes.

R. J. WYCKOFF TO BE HEARD THURSDAY IN MURDER CASE

Flemington, March 8.—William H. Wyckoff, who has been held here for several days pending the investigation into the murders of Richard J. Wyckoff, the East Amwell Township farmer, and his housekeeped, Miss Katherine Ann Fisher, on February 11, will get a hearing before Justice of the Peace Asa Jones in the grand jury room here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Wyckoff has employed former Prosecutor George K. Large to defend him. Mr. Large demanded a hearing for his client and appears to be confident that Wyckoff will be released at the close of the hearing.

Although the authorities have been continuing their search for the slayer of the old people, it is said, there have been no new developments during the past few days. The authorities, it is said, have thus far been unable to ascertain who made the tracks near the building, which were traced to the mountain, where they were lost.

The ownership of the blood stained overalls which were discovered while following the trail has not been determined. There was a snowfall about noon on the day the crime was committed, and the tracks leading to the Wyckoff farm, it is said, were made before the snow stopped falling, and the footprints leading from the property were made after the snow had ceased. Snow had not fallen upon the blood-stained overalls.

WILL TELL OF CONVENTION.

Mrs. Mary J. Tomlinson will address the Lawson W. C. T. U. tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the W. C. T. U. rooms, 10 Madison avenue. Mrs. Tomlinson will give an account of the National W. C. T. U. convention held recently in Seattle, Wash.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

What Happened to A Butterfly Beside A Snowbank.

The Warm Room Livened the Poor Thing.

"DO you know of two children who would like to hear a story I read in the newspaper today?" inquired daddy.

"We would! Oh, please, daddy!" cried Jack and Evelyn.

"Well, in New York city there is a huge public square full of nice trees, park benches and people. After a week of unusually warm weather, when folks ran around without their top coats and the air was like spring, there came a swift snowstorm that left banks on all four sides of Union square and clogged the walks badly. A man was crossing the square on the day after the storm on the way to his luncheon when, fluttering on the walk in front of him and banked by snow on both sides, he saw a beautiful butterfly. Yellow rimmed its purple-brown wings as they fluttered in the winter sunshine, and because the man knew how short lived it would be, left there in the snow, he caught it and put it for safety in the top of his derby hat."

"If he met a lady could he tip his hat, daddy?" grinned Jack.

"After he had luncheon he went back to his office and let the butterfly flutter around in the warm room, which quite livened the poor thing after snowbanks, you see. Then when night came the man put his butterfly in his derby and carried it home to his little girl, who refused to believe in winter butterflies. But when it flew around her room, too, she believed and ran for some honey to feed it. Then to keep it from harm she put it in an empty birdcage covered with gauze, and here the small stranger lived all night. Exactly what the little girl wants to know is how she may feed a winter butterfly when all the flowers it loves best are asleep under the snow."

"Oh, daddy, won't you please find me a butterfly and bring it home on the train in your hat?" cried Evelyn, who always wanted what everybody else had.

Daddy smiled. "It may just be that this butterfly, asleep in his chrysalis, which may have hung on the bark of a park tree, lay just so he felt the wonderful warmth of that winter week and got sadly befuddled about his birth date, which should have been much later. Anyway, he probably will meet an early fate this winter, although Mother Nature meant that all butterflies should lay eggs to be hatched into all sorts of interesting crawly creatures which you children know by the name of caterpillars. These crawlers dig in the ground and often destroy beautiful things in the gardens and fields. When they grow tired of their earthy life they spin a little hard, horny shell around themselves and go to sleep till Mother Nature awakes them in the spring, and out of their shells they flutter—beautiful, happy butterflies. But it is a fatal mistake for a chrysalis to break his shell in Union square in February," daddy finished.

Household Hints

CREAM SOUPS

Cream of Potato Soup—Four medium-sized potatoes, one sliced onion, the green portion of a head of celery or a saltspoonful of mashed celery seed, one tablespoonful flour, one tablespoonful butter, one quart milk, one bay leaf, one teaspoonful salt, one saltspoonful pepper. Pare the potatoes and drop into boiling water; boil rapidly five minutes; drain, throw the water away. Return the potatoes to the kettle; cover with a pint of water, add the onion, the bay leaf, celery and pepper. Cover the kettle and cook until the potatoes are tender. Press the whole through a colander. Put the milk in a double boiler; add the butter and flour, rubbed together. Add the potato and salt; cook until simmering hot and not a moment longer; strain the whole through a fine sieve. This soup may be kept warm in a double boiler for about ten minutes; it cannot be reheated after it is once cold.

Cream of Tomato Soup—One quart milk, one pint strained tomatoes, one bay leaf, one blade mace, one teaspoonful sugar, one-quarter teaspoonful baking soda, two tablespoonfuls butter, two tablespoonfuls flour, one teaspoonful salt, one saltspoonful pepper. Put the tomatoes in a sauce pan; add bay leaf, salt, pepper and mace; simmer gently ten minutes. Put the milk in a double boiler; add the butter and flour, rubbed together; stir constantly until smooth and creamy. Strain the tomatoes into the tureen; add the sugar and soda and pour in quickly the hot thickened milk. Serve immediately. This soup cannot be kept long and cannot be reheated.

Cream of Celery Soup—Two heads celery, one pint water, two tablespoonfuls butter, two tablespoonfuls flour, one slice onion, one quart milk, one bay leaf, one teaspoonful salt, one saltspoonful pepper. Remove the outside stalks or the green portion of the celery, saving the tender portion for eating raw. Wash and chop the green stalks; put them in the kettle; add the water; cook slowly thirty minutes and press through a colander. Put the milk in a double boiler; add the butter and flour, rubbed together [illegible] leaf; stir constantly until creamy. Add the celery pulp, salt and pepper; cover, and let the water in the under boiler boil for ten minutes. Strain into the tureen and serve at once.

Cream of Mushroom Soup—One-half pound mushrooms, one tablespoonful cornstarch, one saltspoonful pepper, two tablespoonfuls butter, one quart milk, one teaspoonful salt. Wash the mushrooms, but do not peal them; cut into thin slices, using all the good portion of the stem; put them, with the butter and salt, into a sauce pan; cover closely and cook slowly twenty minutes. Add the milk and pepper. Moisten the cornstarch with a little cold milk; stir it into the hot mixture and cook slowly until the soup is the consistency of thick cream. Serve at once, adding a few squares of toast, or pass with it whole wheat bread.

THE TABLE

Hot Potato Salad for Winter—Pare six good-sized potatoes, cook in more water than you usually use, salt the potatoes a little when cooking. When done drain off water and put potatoes on back of stove; chop them the size you like. Have ready one small onion, one hard-boiled egg, half cup celery, all chopped fine; add these to chopped potatoes. Then add the dressing, which is made as follows: Half cup sweet cream, half teaspoon salt (scant), two teaspoons sugar, one-fourth cup vinegar. Mix salt, sugar and cream, then vinegar; mix thoroughly. After adding the dressing, put on front of stove, let get hot, then serve.

Yellow Cake—Cream together two cups sugar, one-half cup lard and two eggs. Sift in three cups flour to which have been added two level teaspoons cream of tartar, one level teaspoon soda and a pinch of salt. Pour in one cup sweet milk, and beat well. Flavor, and bake in layers.

Cream of Tartar Biscuit—Sift four cups flour, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons cream of tartar and scant teaspoon salt. Add two heaping tablespoons lard and crumb well into flour. Add two cups cold water and work into smooth dough. Roll half inch thick, cut into rounds and bake [illegible] in hot oven.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Ortrude Townsend Finds It Easy to Circumvent Her Husband.

"Daddy," exclaimed Marian excitedly, "Ortrude just returned from Kansas City driving the machine; the very one you sent back because you could not pay for it."

"Did she come alone?" asked Jacob shocked and surprised.

"Yes, and she called up the garage and made arrangements for them to keep it." Marian was flushed and indignant.

"I'll call up the firm long distance." Jacob left the girl and she flew to tell Dudley the latest developments. They waited impatiently for the father's return.

"Well?" asked Dudley.

"She has paid three hundred down and has assumed the full responsibility for future payments. I can not understand it." Jacob leaned against the counter in deep thought.

"I know where she got the three hundred all right," said Dudley after a pause.

Marian and her father looked up inquiringly.

"You know I told you that I did not see how she could have spent five hundred dollars in three weeks at Atlantic City. It was as I thought. She planned to keep the three hundred dollars and bleed you for money to put with it by telegraphing that she was sick and out of money. She got only her railroad fare home because wise counsels prevailed." Jacob did not look up and Marian and Dudley exchanged pitying glances.

"I suppose she plans to work some scheme to get the rest of the money or to stave off payment till times are better," continued Dudley after a pause.

"I presume she thinks she can raise the rest of the money by putting a second mortgage on the home." Jacob sighed wearily and went to attend to a customer.

"Of all despicable money grabbers!" exclaimed Marian fiercely. "Isn't there any way to make her behave herself like a decent woman."

"She has made up her mind to have what she wants and it will take a sharp one to get ahead of her. Daddy is so kind and so used to women being considerate, that he is utterly broken up over every new dodge of hers. He can't scheme against her. He is too sincere and kind for that." Dudley turned to his work, and Marian went up to the den to wait for them.

When they returned home for supper no one mentioned the machine, and an air of cheerfulness pervaded the supper table. Ortrude was very gay and told of funny things she had seen in the city, and gave an account of a play she had attended. After they were alone she expected Jacob to speak of the automobile, but he did not, and she finally said:

"Did Marian tell you that I brought the machine back, J. C.?"

"Yes."

"Aren't you glad I could make arrangements so I could have it? I did enjoy it so much. I really could not endure life here without it."

"What arrangements did you make?" asked her husband.

"I am to assume the responsibility of the payments."

"How do you expect to meet them?" he asked.

"Oh, I expect my husband will get better natured when he gets more used to my bills and then he will give me more money." Ortrude looked archly at her lord.

"And if not?" asked Jacob.

"If worse comes to worst, I can raise some more money on the house," she said, tossing her head defiantly.

"And when the mortgage is foreclosed, what then?" he asked.

"Oh, you would never see the home go," she said easily.

"You are mistaken. I certainly should." Jacob left the room without looking at her.

MORE CHILDREN SEND DIMES FOR MARJORIE STERRETT BATTLESHIP

Three little ones from the same family have sent in their contributions to the Marjorie Sterrett battleship, "U. S. S. America" fund. Elsie, Harry and Lois Rogers being the latest to place the stamp of approval on big enterprise. S. L. Crossing has also sent in a dime since the last announcement of contributors was made. A keen interest has been awakened among the young folks, and many are saving up their pennies. The names of all little ones who have given their aid, together with their letters, are being published in The Plainfield Daily Press, and a grand list of contributors will be printed during the next two weeks. Send in your dime now and have your name on the first honor list.

The following letters were received today:

Dear Marjorie: I am Elsie Rogers, your friend, and I like the idea of building a battleship and would like to help, too. I am seven years old and am sending you ten cents.

(Signed) ELSIE ROGERS,
Highland Farm, R.F.D. No. 3.

Dear Marjorie: I have just read your letter in the Plainfield Daily Press, and I will send the dime to the editor to send to you. Will it be all right. I will be very willing to send the money for the battleship; although I am only nine years old I can help, too. I wonder, too, how you thought of it.

LOIS ROGERS.

Dear Sir: Enclosed find ten cents for the battleship America. I think this is a fine idea and hope many other children will contribute. I think the United States should have a navy large enough to whip any navy on earth.

HARRY ROGERS.

Dear Sir: I am sending you a dime for the battleship "U. S. S. America," and hope all the boys and girls will do so.

S. L. CROSSING.

FOWLER WANTS TO SUCCEED MARTINE

Essex Republicans Say They Are Glad Former Congressman is in the Race.

Former Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, who is a candidate for United States Senator, to succeed James E. Martine, said at his home in Elizabeth yesterday that he intended to open headquarters in the near future and to make a vigorous campaign for the Republican nomination. Mr. Fowler's entry into the race has added another element of uncertainty to the outcome of the contest in the Republican ranks. Essex Republican leaders professed to see in his candidacy a factor that would aid, rather than injure, the chances of former Governor Franklin Murphy.

The theory of the Essex crowd is that every additional candidate for Senator weakens former Governor Edward C. Stokes, whom they have regarded as the most formidable opponent of Murphy. They figure that the progressive faction might prefer Stokes to Murphy, but with other candidates to vote for, would choose neither. Hasty references were made today to the figures of the first Senatorial primary in New Jersey in 1910, when Fowler was a candidate with Murphy and Stokes for the popular indorsement for the Senatorship. In those days the highest man in the primaries went before the Legislature with only a recommendation, however. Martine won the recommendation in the Democratic primaries that year and Woodrow Wilson made it stick.

Fowler ran less than 1,000 votes behind Stokes, the leader in 1910, for the popular indorsement. Stokes polled 39,554, Fowler 38,818 and Murphy was close behindwith 36,400. If Fowler is as strong as he used to be he is certainly a factor in this year's contest, his supporters point out. The Elizabeth man found his great strength in Essex in 1910, where he received 13,700, representing the power of the progressive element, which would vote for neither Murphy nor Stokes. The machine rolled up a larger vote for Murphy here, but Stokes ran hopelessly behind. In Union, Morris and Warren, which formed the Congressional district he represented, Fowler ran away from his rivals.

The progressive element in Hudson gave him more votes than to Murphy and Stokes combined. Is the progressive vote as strong today as it was then in the Republican party, and if so, can Fowler command it? were questions politicians were asking themselves today about the Fowler candidacy. The candidacy of former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen will, in the view of many observers, draw from Fowler.

Should Fowler win the party nomination he may meet in the general election Martine, who was his opponent in the old Fifth district for a seat in the House of Representatives.

CONSTANTINOPLE SCENE OF RIOTS

Enver Pasha Wounded by Mob's Fire.

ANTI-GERMAN OUTBREAKS.

Many of Kaiser's Subjects Reported to Have Been Killed—Rioters Are Quelled by Teuton Gunfire—Turkey Said to Be Anxious For Separate Peace.

Rome, March 8.—A dispatch from Constantinople said that many Germans were killed in war riots there. Among the wounded is said to be Enver Pasha. The anti-German feeling is said to be bitter.

The mob pillaged the army stores, barricaded the streets and damaged the railroads. The German troops repressed the rioting with gunfire.

Meanwhile the developments in Turkey, which are likely to lead to a separate peace sooner than was expected, are bound to hasten the intervention of Roumania, which is no longer conditional on the Russian offensive in Galicia and Bukovina. Because of these facts Bulgaria is striving to improve her relations with both Roumania and Greece.

In diplomatic circles it was said that the efforts of Germany and Austria to arrange a visit of the king of Bulgaria to Bucharest for the purpose of setting at rest the rumors of the imminent intervention of Roumania on the side of the entente allies have failed, owing to the opposition of Premier Bratiano of Roumania.

The Roumanian pretext for preventing the visit was the fact that the court was in mourning for Queen Mother Elizabeth (Carmen Sylva).

Russians Unopposed.

The Turkish army is not opposing the Russian advance from Erzerum, but is retreating westward, setting fire to villages and cities, including Sivas and Mosul.

An unconfirmed rumor reached here that Enver Pasha's life was attempted at Jerusalem, where the troops destined for an expedition to Egypt mutinied.

Washington, March 8.—Information was received here to the effect that Turkey, her resources exhausted by the European conflict and powerless to resist the steady and rapid advance of the Russian Caucasian army, is anxious for a separate peace with Russia.

Turkey's firm defense of the Dardanelles and her long stand against the advance of the Russian Caucasian army before the fall of Erzerum is believed to have almost completely exhausted the military resources of the nation. The fact that the Turkish people as a whole never were eager for the entry of the nation into the war is one of the reasons why such a report gains credence here and abroad.

Athens and Rome correspondents of English and French newspapers frequently reported news of disorder and anti-war demonstrations in Constantinople and other parts of Turkey.

The situation arising from lack of grain and other foodstuffs in Turkey is also thought to have become exceedingly critical. Not only have the crops in all parts of Turkey been exceedingly poor recently owing to the smaller area under cultivation since the mobilization of the Turkish army, but also large quantities of foodstuffs of all sorts have been sold by Turkish officials to Germany.

TROOPS WENT DOWN ON LINER CHEERING

Survivor of La Provence Disaster Describes Its Sinking.

Paris, March 8.—Maurice Bokanowski, a member of the chamber of deputies and one of the survivors of the French auxiliary cruiser La Provence, formerly a French liner, which was sunk by a mine or torpedo in the Mediterranean on Feb. 26, has written a letter to President Poincare describing the last moments of the big ship and the heroism of those aboard her.

M. Bokanowski, who is a reserve officer and was on his way to Saloniki at the time of the sinking, saved himself by swimming out of the suction of the vessel when she went down.

"Commandant Vesco of La Provence," he says in the letter, "remaining on the bridge to the last second, dominated the tumult by his voice, crying, 'Adieu, my boys!' The men grouped together on the forward deck responded with enthusiastic shouts of 'Vive la France!'"

In describing the sinking of the ship M. Bokanowski said:

"All around the ship seamen and soldiers were swimming or were safe in the boats or clinging to the rafts and on seeing La Provence plunge beneath the surface of the water joined in the cry of 'Vive la France!'"

PROHIBITION DEFEATED.

Vermont Votes to Stick to Local Option Law.

Rutland, Vt., March 8.—Local option won over prohibition in this state by a margin of 14,366 votes.

The prohibitory amendment was first placed on the statute books in 1852 and was repealed in 1903 by a majority of 729. The vote on the question of reenacting the amendment was: Yeas, 17,601; nays, 31,967.

Every county in the state, with the exception of Orleans, gave a majority in favor of local option.

GOOD YOUNG PITCHERS MUST BE SCARCE

Good pitchers must be very scarce when Miller Huggins of the St. Louis Cardinals hands over three players to St. Paul in order that he may have a right to the services of Carlos Hall, who started to pitch fourteen years ago and has been in and out of the big show twice. If the deal is strictly on the level and Huggins does not intend to ship Hall back to St. Paul about the time the season starts, manifestly it is an admission that the caliber of young pitchers in the minors did not appeal to the Card pilot.

TRINITY CHAMPION OF S. S. LEAGUE

Race Decided Last Night by Defeat of Baptists—H. T. Terry Averages 224.

The Westfield Sunday School Bowling League race was decided last night, the Baptist team, which was the only outfit that had a chance to beat out Trinity, losing two games to the Methodists, thus making the Trinitytes champions of the league. The Baptists needed nine straight victories to win the title, but were put out of the running in the first game last night, the Mets totaling 955.

H. T. Terry set a new league record for a three-game average, his big tallies of 215, 223 and 235 giving him a mark of 224.1. Hyslip and Allen hit 201, C. Ortleb 200, Gilmore 209, and Worth 208.

BOXING NOTES

Tommy Touhey, the Paterson featherweight, who has been winning bouts with regularity, will box Willie Jones, of Brooklyn, in a ten-round bout at the Olympic A. C., New York, Monday night.

Jim Flynn, the veteran heavyweight, is to be a busy man this month. He will face Jack Dillon at the Manhattan A. C., New York, Friday night. He will battle with Battling Levinsky in the ten-round semi-windup to the Jess Willard-Frank Moran contest in the Garden, March 25, while on March 17 he will face Fred Fulton, the Western heavyweight, in Milwaukee.

The Manhattan Opera House in New York will be thrown open for boxing beginning probably on March 17. Billy Gibson and another well-known promoter and fight manager, will have charge of the shows. It is more than likely that Charley Weinert will face either Carl Morris or Gunboat Smith on the opening night. Benny Leonard and Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, also have been mentioned as the opening attraction.

Johnny Kilbane, who outpointed Johnny Ray in six rounds in Pittsburg Saturday night, is to go against Johnny Dundee in a six-round bout in Philadelphia, March 22. Dundee, who boxes Benny Leonard in the Garden, New York, tonight, is also matched to meet Joe Mandot in a ten-round bout at the Broadway Sporting Club, Brooklyn, April 4.

"THAM" AND WILLS DRAW.

Sam Langford, of Boston, and Harry Wills, of New Orleans, fought ten rounds to a draw at the Broadway Sporting Club, in Brooklyn, last night. Wills landed oftener than the squat Boston man, but the latter was strong in the clinches, and several times shook up Wills with vicious uppercuts.

MISS BJURSTEDT, GETTING BETTER, BEATS MISS HANDY

Having become accustomed to the uncertain light at the Heights Casino indoor courts, Miss Molla Bjurstedt, national champion, gave a more impressive exhibition, if anything, in defeating Miss Edith Handy yesterday than in her first round match of the New York invitation tennis tournament against Mrs. S. F. Weaver. She appeared to ge up to the ball much faster than on the previous afternon, her returns being made so swiftly that Miss Handy had no alternative but to employ a defensive stroke to get the ball back over the net. In addition to this Miss Bjurstedt had overcome the tendency to hit the top of the net. As a result the best Miss Handy could do was to earn one game in the first set and two in the second, while Miss Bjurstedt was getting twelve games on hard hitting and clever placements.

The victory placed Miss Bjurstedt in the round before the semi-final. Five others made a similar advance, among them Mrs. Frederick C. Schmitz, one-time indoor champion, who scored rather easily over Mrs. Theodore Cassebeer.

E. O. H. S. WON'T MEET PASSAIC.

East Orange High School, winner of the basketball championship in the New Jersey Interscholastic League, has declined the challenge of the Passaic High School team, champions of the Northern New Jersey Interscholastic League, for a post-season series between the teams. Passaic has won a long list of games, and is the leading contender for the state championship.

TEACH DOG JUDGING.

At the first open match of the Pekinese Club of America, held yesterday afternoon at the Martinique Hotel, fanciers had the opportunity of seeing the first "lesson" in judging given by this organization. More than sixty dogs served as models for Miss Isabel Benjamin, of Irvington-on-the-Hudson.

These matches were gotten up with the sole object of developing latent judging ability among Pekinese enthusiasts.

Carelessness near the end of the second half cost the Athenian basketeers their game with the strong Montclair colored Y. M. C. A. team, at Montclair, last night. The local boys put up a good exhibition, but became too confident near the end of the game, and trusted to too many long shots. The contest ended 30 to 22.

The two teams will play here Friday night, as a preliminary to the Plainfield A. A. game against the St. Christopher's, of New York. The curtain raiser will start at 8:15 o'clock.

RONALD CONROY N. P. H. S. CAPTAIN FOR NEXT YEAR

The N. P. H. S. boys' basketball team voted on the captaincy for the next season yesterday afternoon and Ronald Conroy, of the sophomore class, was elected to fill that capacity. Conroy was unable to play during the past season, owing to an operation, but made a fine record during the season of 1914-1915.

Pictures of the squad were taken yesterday afternoon at the Stone studio. The members of the regular five were taken individually, while the entire squad was also snapped. Those in the picture were Manager John Dawe, Andrew McDonough, Harry Kirch, Oscar Dilts, Coach George Townley, Martin McDonough, William Seidel, Alfred Willett, Assistant Manager Alfred Seidel, and Captain Warren Townley.

THREE HARVARD FOOTBALL STARS DROPPED YESTERDAY

Cambridge, Mass., March 8.—Harvard's football squad for next fall received a heavy blow yesterday when three of its strongest candidates, Captain-elect J. A. Gilman, of Honolulu, a guard; Thomas H. Enwright, of Fall River, and W. J. Boles, of Boston, both back field stars, were asked by the college administrative board to withdraw from college because of failure to pass the mid-year examinations.

Under the faculty rules this means that Gilman and Boles, even though they are able to return to college, will not be allowed to represent Harvard on the gridiron. Both have been in scholarship difficulties before.

NEW RECORD OF 1127 MADE IN THE ATHLETIC LEAGUE

Roseville Athletic Association bowlers rolled 1,127 in an Athletic League match against the Passaic City Club pinners, on the Roseville alleys, Monday night. This is a record tally for the "Millionaire Circuit," which was organized twenty-six years ago, back in 1890. The previous high score in the circuit was 1,094. This total was accounted for by the now defunct Elizabeth club. The Elizabeth bowlers rolled their towering mark on December 9, 1913, on the alleys of the North End club, in Newark. The Roseville team cleaned up against the Passaic pinners last night, winning all three games and tieing the New York Athletic Club pin knights for first place in the league standing. Each club has won twenty-nine games and lost thirteen.

Two matches were decided last night in the Elks' Junior League, Elizabeth dropping two games at Somerville, and Jersey City losing a pair at New Brunswick. The result of the night's rolling gave New Brunswick a stronger grip of first place, the College Towners being almost certain of the title. Jersey City has now finished its season, with a record of twenty-three games won and thirteen lost.

Somerville took the first game by twenty pins, 919 to 899. Elizabeth went up to 936 in the second game, but fell to 788 in the third. John Van Bergen rolled 225, Doc Epstein 211 and J. Schaub 209.

In the series at New Brunswick, the homesters had winning totals 929 and 935, the little Skeeters taking the sandwich with 901.

Caldwell put up 235 in the first game. Harding hit 220, Hogarty 203 twice, and Carberry 203 and 211.

Local Sport News, Views, Reviews and Interviews

PLAINFIELD'S HEAVYWEIGHT POSSIBILITY.

One of the few games in which Plainfield has not had one or more representatives among the best in the field is boxing, and now the Queen City may have a worthy product in the squared circle if Alfred Widoson does as well with the padded mitts as his manager thinks he will. Widoson has all the physical advantages. He has an ideal build for fighting, not being too heavy, and his weight is well proportioned. He is strong, and healthy, and has great staying powers. He is a rank novice, and has much to learn, but if he can develop a defense, should be some kind of a success in the ring, for his strength will provide him with the necessary punch, once he is taught how to box.

It's not so long ago that Jess Willard, the present world's champion, was about as hopeless a looking fighter as could be found, but he took his natural asset—his great size—improved a whole lot in his footwork and with his hands, and met a tottering champion at the opportune time to gain the heavyweight crown—and the many thousands of round iron men that go with it. Widoson may prove too slow for the game; he may discover that he has a Coffey jaw, with no defense to protect it; or he may have some other weakness that will hold him back. And then again, he may some day come prodigaling back home wearing a championship crown. Who knows?

• • • • • •

WHERE THE CROWD WILL BE TONIGHT.

At this writing, the most densely populated spot in the State is supposed to be Hoboken, but the "Mile-square" city will be a poor second tonight to the hangout at 119 East Second street, this city. If you don't know it, 119 is the home of Plainfield Aerie of Eagles, and on their bowling alleys tonight the Eagles' League championship for this year will be decided between the Newark and Elizabeth teams. Plainfield won't come in for any of the championship melon, but for all that, there will doubtless be a packed gallery around the lanes when the title-seekers start working on the maples.

• • • • • •

Among the winners at the Plainfield Kennel Club's indoor show were a number of young dogs that appear to have championship qualities. One of them is Albert's Dan, the Meadowview entry which was judged the best sporting door in the show, in addition to the distinction of being the best setter. Impressive as he is, Albert's Dan has had to relinquish first honors in his previous times out to the late Ch. Bob Roy, but with this unbeatable dog no longer his rival, Albert's Dan gives every promise to claiming a place at the top of his class.

• • • • • •

Any casual reader who might judge from the scores of the Dunellen Bowling League that the pinners in that organization are second raters should shoot a few games on the Dunellen alleys some time. On the Presbyterian church strips a pinner has to earn all he gets as he does on no other lanes in this vicinity, and while the scores, as a general rule, average up a bit lower than most of the figures for other alley competitions hereabouts, the competitors themselves stack up as Class A performers.

• • • • • •

SPORTING NOTES

The Chicago bowling experts will have their inning the next few days at the American Bowling Congress at Toledo. Four thousand picked bowlers are showing their speed in the big tournament. Nine clubs from Chicago go on the alleys tomorrow, twelve on Friday and fourteen on Saturday. The big bowling meet is breaking all records, and will last until March 27.

It is now assured that Duke Kahanamoku, the great Hawaiian swimmer, will compete in the coming national championship. The Duke will be seen at many of the baths in the United States during his tour, for several match races are already arranged.

The origin of the shin-guard in baseball as a means of protection from spikes has up to now been credited to Roger Bresnahan. But even this pet theory has been upset by the revelation that one Bud Fowler, a gentleman of color, who played with Binghamton back in the eighties, wore the first shin-guards. Bud had his troubles, we are now told, for there were those who resented the intrusion of the colored player, and it was a regular thing to come into second base spikes first. Bud found he couldn't last more than five innings in any one game, so he got some barrel staves and donned armor.

Jess Willard's spectacular training sets a new record. There are those who hark back to the good old days, when fighters were fighters and not the idols of giggling girls and society folk. The idea of charging so much per head to see the great and only champion heavyweight going through his stunts never occurred to the old-fashioned manager. Times do change.

Cornell rules favorite in the intercollegiate championship track meet, which will have its forty-first annual run-off on May 7 and 8. Increased interest in the meet comes from the announcement that Leland Stanford will join the University of California as competitors from the Pacific Coast. The advent of these two high-class teams will mark a red-letter day in college sports.

A swimming race between Miss Dorothy Becker and Miss Frances Cowells will divide attention with the match between Ludy Langer and Duke Kahanamoku, at San Francisco, next Friday, in the championship meet of the Pacific Coast. Several other mermaids will be seen in the women's events, and the Duke will meet some of the fastest swimmers on the coast.

Frank Gotch is due to show on Friday at Los Angeles whether he shows any class in his come-back from his Iowa retirement. He is matched to meet De Metral, the Greek, who is going in great shape. De Metral is not claimed to be in the Stecher class, but he will make it sufficiently interesting for the champion to develop the one big solution whether the husky Iowan is there with the goods.

TELLS OF HER WORK AMONG THE INDIANS

Mrs. Biller, of South Dakota, Addresses Large Audience at Grace Church.

The crying need for more help in the work among the Indians of South Dakota was presented to the neighborhood meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions in Grace Episcopal church yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Biller, widow of Bishop Biller, who has been carrying on this work since the death of her husband last October. The missionary told an impressive story of her efforts to carry the gospel to the Indians and how responsive they are. She declared that when they become Christians they make the best of church members and are always loyal to their God and the church.

Mrs. Biller related an interesting incident as to how water was secured on the reservation by her late husband. He had to sink a well 2,200 feet before he found water, and when he did he discovered "burning water" because it was so full of gas. Mrs. Biller is now securing funds to purchase a gas separator so that the water can be used when drawn instead of being compelled to let it stand to cool.

Mrs. Biller told of the great desolation on the reservation and how much is needed to make the Indians and their families comfortable. She declared that not only the United States, but the church, has a great responsibility in this work.

She pictured many of the hardships in the life of a missionary as well as the joys; adding that she always felt well repaid for her efforts because the Indians are so appreciative. During her trip east, Mrs. Biller has succeeded in raising $25,000 to carry on this work. This money will be used to pay the salaries of missionaries and meet other necessary expenses.

Mrs. F. W. Iredell, as president of the Women's Guild of Grace church, was in charge of the meeting, the program for which was arranged by Mrs. S. K. Monroe, chairman. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector, introduced Mrs. Biller.

DISCUSS THE PROBLEMS OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

The meeting of the Bryant-Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association, in the Bryant School Auditorium, last night, was the most successful yet held, the large auditorium being crowded with parents and teachers, who came together to discuss the problems of the school children.

During the evening William D. Murray gave a most instructive and interesting address on "Children's Play." Miss Lillian Lamson, of the Public Recreation Committee, also entertained with a portrayal of various parts of "Peg o' My Heart." Refreshments were served in conclusion.

GERMANY AT WAR WITH PORTUGAL

Official Declaration Handed to Consul in Berlin This Morning.

HAS BEEN EXPECTED

Seizure of Ships in Portugese Ports Led to Break—Other Acts Are Cited as Having Provoked Berlin to Step.

Berlin, March 9 (Wireless) —Germany today declared war against Portugal. Formal notice to this effect was handed by the German Foreign Minister in Berlin to the Portuguese minister accredited to the German court. Germany took this action because of recent seizures of German ships in Portuguese ports, which the German government declares constituted the gravest breach of neutrality and of special treaties.

"Germany is, therefore, obliged to give up its former forbearing attitude which had been maintained on account of Portugal's awkward situation," says the official notification. The declaration of war enumerates a long series of alleged breaches of neutrality by the Portuguese government, such as granting free passage to British troops through Mozambique, the use of Portuguese ports by English warships for a longer length of time than permitted to combatants, and the use of Madeira as a base for the British, and attacks made by Portuguese troops on German forces at the frontier of German South Africa, German West Africa and Anola. It also cites the insults directed at the German nation by members of the Portuguese Parliament without their receiving any reprimand. It states emphatically that the seizure of German ships in neutral Portuguese ports was contrary to all law and to treaties that have been concluded between Germany and Portugal.

Berlin, March 9.—German war statement:

Western theatre: "Artillery activity on both sides has increased to the greatest of violence. The French recaptured the western part of the trench at Maisons de Champagne, where we reported hand grenade fighting yesterday. West of the Meuse we have cleared the Corbeaux forest of all the French that remained there. East of the Meuse, in order to shorten the connections between our positions south of Douaumont and our lines in the Woevre district, the village of Vaux, the armored fort of Vaux and numerous adjoining fortified positions of the enemy were captured in a night attack delivered by a Posen reserve regiment under General Hans von Cornitz. In aerial engagements in the neighborhood of Verdun we were the victors. Three enemy aeroplanes were shot down, all our machines returning safely to their base. Enemy troops in the villages east and south of Verdun were heavily bombarded from the air. Two civilians were killed and several private houses damaged in the attack upon Metz by a French aeroplane squadron. The aeroplane carrying the commander of the squadron was shot down. The commander was made a prisoner, but the observer was killed."

Lines Holding, Says Paris.

Paris, March 9.—French war statement:

"In the Argonne our artillery has continued its bombardment of the enemy's lines of communication, particularly in the eastern Argonne and in the region of Montfauco and Nantillois. West of the Meuse the enemy attempted several attacks in the course of the night seeking to overcome his reverses of yesterday. Two attacks were launched, following a violent artillery preparation, against the village of Bethincourt, but were stopped by our curtains of fire. East of the Meuse the battle has continued with tenacity yesterday evening, and in the course of the night the Germans directed several attacks with powerful forces against our positions in the region between Douaumont and the village of Vaux. Despite the violence of his artillery fire and the violence of his assaults, the enemy was unable to break our lines.

Will Not Warn Americans.

Washington, March 9.—Denials came today of published reports that the administration was planning to warn Americans either directly or indirectly from traveling on armed merchantmen. Secretary of State Lansing denounced the story, and Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary of the President, also said it was untrue.

McCumber Resolution Withdrawn.

Washington, March 9.—Further interference with President Wilson in handling the U boat controversy was ended in the Senate today when Senator McCumber withdrew his resolution warning Americans off armed merchantmen, giving as his reason that the resolution, under the changed conditions in the foreign negotiations, would clearly cause embarrassment to the President.

COOPER PLACED ON TAX BOARD

Governor Names Former Sheriff of Somerset County to Succeed Bathgate.

ENDS LIVELY CONTEST

New Appointee is Chairman of County Republican Committee and Active in Party Affairs—Terms is for Three Years.

Much to the surprise of the politicians in Somerset county, especially in Warren township, former Sheriff Edward E. Cooper, of South Sterling, was yesterday named as a member of the Somerset County Board of Taxation to succeed James E. Bathgate, Jr., of Basking Ridge. Both are Republicans. There has been a lively contest on for some time over the appointment, and it is said that a reappointment was promised Mr. Bathgate, but Mr. Cooper had the endorsement of State Senator W. W. Smalley, and when the time came Governor Fielder promptly named Mr. Cooper.

The reason why Mr. Cooper's appointment was urged was that many people believe that there should be a farmer on the Board, one who is familiar with farm property, which makes up a large party of certain sections of the county. Mr. Cooper is reported to be thoroughly qualified for the position, and his appointment is said to meet with satisfaction on the part of a majority of the residents in this end of the county. His term is for three years.

Mr. Bathgate, whom he succeeds, has been postmaster at Bernardsville, and has also received other political favors. Beside Mr. Cooper, the other members of the Board are William J. Demond, of Somerville, and Andrew E. Kenney, of North Plainfield.

Mr. Cooper is at the present time chairman of the Somerset County Republican Committee, and for a number of years has been active in the work of his party. Prior to becoming an office-holder he was a successful farmer in Warren county, where he is highly esteemed by all who know him.

It is understood that during the coming year several important tax matters will be presented to the tions should prove valuable to the Board for a decision, and Mr. Cooper's familiarity with property conditions should prove valuable to the other two members of the Board.

PICTURES OF LANDSCAPE PAINTER ON EXHIBITION

George H. Macrum is one of the young landscape painters who was honored at the Panama Exposition by receiving a silver medal awarded on group exhibits rather than on a single picture. His pictures on exhibition in the studio of the Hartridge School are views of New York and Brittany chiefly. Number 26, "A religious procession in Brittany," is the original sketch for a large canvas that was exhibited at the Spring Academy in New York in 1915, and was purchased by the Canadian government. Number 5 was the inspiration for a large canvas that received a silver medal at Knoxville.

Color is the most striking note of Mr. Macrum's work, and his successful handling of street scenes and buildings. The most important canvas at the exhibition is his picture called "Towers of New Manhattan," which is shown to advantage on the north wall of the studio. Mr. Macrum has caught all the charming color and wonderful variety of line that the water-front of New York offers, and the sordid, commercial city is absolutely forgotten in viewing this picture.

The opportunity for enjoyment and for constant study such an exhibit offers for the students is rare, and they consider it a privilege to have such masterpieces as these pictures of Mr. Macrum's in Plainfield.

OVERHEATED RANGE STARTS FIRE IN BOROUGH HOME

While at work in her kitchen this morning, Mrs. Theodore Roth, of 161 Duer street ,was alarmed by smoke pouring out of the partition over the kitchen range. She ran to the home of S. H. Vail, the owner of the house, a few doors away and Mr. Vail turned in an alarm from box 146. Chief McCullough and his men were soon on the scene and cutting through the partition they extinguished the fire with the contents of one chemical tank. The damage is estimated at $50. The fire was caused by the range which was built against an unprotected wall, becoming over-heated.

SELLS HIS HOME.

C. M. Hummer has sold his home at 15 Linden avenue to Louis Stites, and has purchased the home of Robert H. Barnard, at 71 Fairview avenue. Mr. Hummer will move into his new nome about the middle of April.

RUNYON NOT IN RACE FOR DELEGATE

Has Already Indorsed Candidate From Union County, He Says.

Assemblyman William N. Runyon this morning denied that he would become a candidate for delegate to the National Republican Convention. Newark papers last week printed a story in which his name was used as one of four who would possibly seek to be sent to the Republican Convention as Roosevelt men, representing an effort on the part of the Progressives to win the convention for Roosevelt. This story was untrue, according to Judge Runyon. "I will not be a candidate for delegate to the Republican Convention as a Roosevelt man or on any other platform," he said this morning. "I have never considered such action and have already endorsed a man from Union county for delegate-at-large from the State. That endorsement shall stand."

BABY WEEK CAMPAIGN AROUSES MUCH INTEREST

Baby Week is still going on, and with very good results. The exhibit at the High School closes today but there will be a meeting for the mothers at St. Mary's Social Hall at 4:15 tomorrow afternoon. The films at the Astor and Proctor's Theatres are interesting and instructive. Money is coming in all the time to carry on the summer work of milk stations.

Previously acknowledged, $106.20; from Italian Mission (Pros), 90 cents; from individuals, $25; total received to date, $132.10. More of the stores have exhibits and although the weather has been poor for the entire week, many people have seen these window displays.

HOUSE FAVORS MILITARY TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

Trenton , March 9.—Two bills passed last night place the New Jersey House of Assembly on record in favor of military training in public schools.

The Pierson bill, providing for two hours' training each week was passed by a vote of 37 to 10. It is proposed to have the State Board of Education and the military department outline military subjects for boys and hygiene and nursing courses for girls. The other measure calls for an investigation into the advisability of military training in high schools.

IMPORTANT ELECTION.

Hackensack will hold today the most important school election in its history, for a vote will be taken on the School Board's recommendations to issue bonds in the sum of $205,999, with which to build a new high school, remodel the present high school for a grammar school, and build an addition to the Fairmount Avenue school to cost $43,000. The Woman's Club, with a membership of 350, is being urged by its president, Mrs. Charles F. Adams, to support the recommendations at the polls. The Community Council and other organizations favor the proposal.

ADOPT BUDGET SYSTEM.

The members of the First Presbyterian church, at a congregational meeting last night, adopted the Duplex envelope system for raising the budget for church expenses. This action was taken after a full discussion of this method of securing funds. It is proposed to raise $7,000 for church maintenance, and perhaps an additional $,000 for other expenses. The new system will go in effect April 1, when the fiscal year begins.

"QUESTION BOX" MEETING.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Washington School met yesterday afternoon in the school auditorium. A "Question Box" was held and many questions concerning pupils were answered by Miss M. E. Humpston, F. W. Cook and Mrs. W. N. Bandford.

W. L. SAUNDERS TO SPEAK.

William L. Saunders, of this city, will address a gathering of Knights of Columbus in Westfield on March 22. He will speak on the subject of "Preparedness." The guests of honor will be clergy, mayors and town officials. The public is invited to attend.

APPRECIATE HEAVY SNOWS.

The farmers of Washington, Warren county, are particularly pleased with the heavy snows this month. They say that it will be worth many thousands of dollars to them. The snow, they say, carries nitrogen into the groundp when it melts, and is as good as fertilizer. It also makes the ground easy to handle.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 24 degrees; 11 a. m., 28 degrees; 1 p. m., 31 degrees.

HOLY CROSS PREACHER.

Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Bridges, of New York, will preach at Holy Cross church at 7:45 this evening.

ASSAILANTS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Wills Warneck and Jeremiah Hefferan Found Guilty of Assault in Boro Court.

Arraigned before Recorder Hand in the borough court this morning on charges of assault and battery on John Conshay and Wells Creager while a wedding reception was in progress at the home of Aaron Reed, 10 Fritz place, Thursday evening, Wilbur Warneck, 20 years old, of 163 Duer street, and Jeremiah Hefferan, 19 years old, of 30 Howard street, were placed under bonds of $1,000 and $300 respectively to await the action of the Somerset County Grand Jury. Nobody offered to go Warneck's bail and he will probably be taken to the Somerset county jail tomorrow. It is said that Hefferan's folks will furnish his bail this afternoon.

The defendants were represented by Francis J. Blatz, while Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., prosecuted the case for the borough. The witnesses for the borough and Wells Creager, William Emmons, Jr., John Conshay, Charles Hewitt, Jr., Charles Van Winkle and Edward and Joseph Jackson.

According to the testimony in court this morning Warneck and Hefferan, who had not been invited to the reception, were standing outside the house. Later they were invited to partake of some refreshments, which they accepted. After entering the house, it is said, they felt as free as any of the invited guests and asked some of the young women to dance with them.

Their invitation was declined and the pair is then said to have made themselves very obnoxious, which led to their being put out of the house, when they started a rumpus.

Creager went to the kitchen door to quell the disturbers, but is said to have been greeted with a beer bottle which struck him on the head. He then decided to remain indoors. Later Conshay ventured out when, it is said, that Hefferan and Warneck jumped on him and assaulted him. He was rescued by other guests and taken in the house. It was asserted by Conshay that one of his assailants chewed one of his fingers. As a result Conshay was detained at home for several days. Warneck was held in heavier bail than Hefferan because of his past reputation and the fact that he appeared to play the biggest part in the assault. The court room was crowded while the hearing was in progress.

HEARING ON ARMORY BILL NEXT MONDAY

Senate Committee Will Consider Appropriation for Plainfield.

A hearing on the Plainfield armory bill will be held by the appropriations committee of the New Jersey Senate between 3 and 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, according to advices received in this city this morning. This bill is one of much interest locally and many Plainfielders will go to Trenton to urge favorable action at the hands of the committee.

Through the efforts of Assemblyman William N. Runyon an appropriation of $25,000 was secured at the last session of the Legislature for an armory for Company K, in Plainfield. This bill has been in effect since then, but because of prior appropriations of this nature the money has not been available. The Senate committee is to decide whether or not the money shall be allowed this year.

DENTAL SOCIETY DINNER.

The Plainfield Dental Society held its monthly meeting and dinner at The Homestead on Washington avenue last night. There were about twelve members present. Dr. Gray, the intern at Muhlenberg Hospital, was present as a guest. The business of the evening was chiefly routine. There was no special paper. The society will hold its next meeting on Monday evening, April 10.

MRS. MARTHA VIRGINIA HOPES.

Mrs. Martha Virginia Hopes, colored, died yesterday afternoon at her home at 537 South Second street, following a long illness. She was a native of Frederick Hall, Louisa county, Va., and had resided in Plainfield for the past fifteen years. Beside her husband, who is at present in Charlestown, Mass., she is survived by two daughters, both living at the South Second street address. The funeral will be held in Mt. Olive Baptist church tomorrow afternoon and burial will be at Frederick Hall, Va.

DEATH OF LITTLE DAUGHTER.

Louise DeHart, the five-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip DeHart, of 1635 Mabel street, died in Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon. The child had been at the institution for several months undergoing treatment for a complication of troubles. The funeral will be held at the parents' home, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

REV. MR. GILLESPIE CALLED WEST BY FATHER'S ILLNESS

Rev. C. E Gillespie, pastor of Grace M. E. church, left this afternoon for Blanchard, Iowa, where he was called by the serious illness of his father, A. M. Gillespie, who is 75 years old.

Mr. Gillespie was informed of the critical condition of his father by a letter which he received from his mother this morning. Mr. Gillespie had been ill for the past two weeks with the grip, which has now settled on his lungs. He has had asthma for the past fifteen years, and his recovery is considered doubtful. In addition to the critical condition of his father, Mr. Gillespie's great- grandmother, 90 years old, is ill in the same house.

Blanchard is located near Omaha, Nebraska, and Mr. Gillespie will not arrive there until Saturday. District Superintendent F. J. Hubach will assign a clergyman to fill Mr. Gillespie's pulpit Sunday.

BAPTISTS WILL CONDUCT SOUL-WINNING CAMPAIGN

In preparation for a great soul-winning campaign in the weeks prior to and at Easter the Baptist State committee and the evangelistic committees of the various Baptist associations of the State are holding soul-winning conferences in all parts of the State for prayer and consultation. Those already held have been largely attended and filled with inspiration and power. The plan of the campaign is to elicit the co-operation of every department in the church, embracing the fact that "Every disciple is a discipler," individuals working for individuals in special meetings or otherwise, and bringing all to a crowning victory at Easter. Among the pastors who will assist in evangelistic meetings are Rev. B. S. Hudson, pastor of the Park Avenue church, this city, and Rev. J. J. Allen, pastor of the Baptist church of South Plainfield.

NUMBERS OF PERSONAL WORKERS' CLASS EXCUSED

The members of the Biederwolf Campaign choir who are members of the personal workers' class which is conducted by Rev. Dr. B. S. Hudson on Monday evenings, will be excused from rehearsal on Monday evening, March 13, provided they will meet with choir unit number two on Tuesday evening, March 14, in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church.

VILLA INVADES U. S.—SEVEN AMERICANS KILLED WHEN HIS BANDITS SURPRISE SOLDIERS

ATTACK MADE ON CAMP OF 13TH U. S. CAVALRY AT 4 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING PRECIPITATED PITCHED BATTLE.

FIVE HUNDRED MEN UNDER MEXICAN BRIGAND

Four of Those Dead Were Civilians, According to Meagre Stories of Fight—Rancher and Wife Murdered Days Ago —Official Washington Silent Until Formal Reports Are Received.

El Paso, Texas, March 9.—Four American civilians and three American soldiers have been killed in battle with Villista soldiers at Columbus, New Mexico. Columbus is 73 miles west of El Paso. The fight was between members of the 13th U. S. Cavalry and Villa forces, who attempted to cross the border by a surprise attack.

Advices received here said that the attack was made a little after 4 o'clock this morning. Four of the principal buildings of Columbus were fired and destroyed by the Mexicans. Brigadier-General Pershing received an account of the fighting from Col. Slocum, commanding at Columbus. A number of Mexicans were killed, according to the advices.

The bandits were finally driven off by three troops of the 13th Cavalry. The attack was a complete surprise. It was estimated that there were 500 in the attacking crowd.

Washington Withholds Comment.

Washington, March 9.—Washington received reports of the latest Mexican outrage today with ill-concealed interest. While no official report has been received from officers commanding troops engaged in the battle, there is no doubt but that stories from El Paso are true, as unofficial, but authenic, despatches have corroborated press statements.

The attack was expected by many students of the Mexican situation. In fact many American newspapers carried stories a week ago that Villa would shortly attempt to invade the United States in hope of forcing American intervention and bringing about a hastay overthrowal of the crumbling Carranza government. It is believed the early morning attack on the Columbus camp was but a step in this bloody plan of revenge. It is freely stated that American intervention is no nearer, no matter what the number of American lives lost in the battle. The administration is not disposed to treat the acts of Villa as those of a responsible part of the Mexican government and recognizes the absolute helplessness of Carranza to protect even citizens of his own country from the "bandit attacks."

The only orders issued to troops along the border that can result in fighting are those to resist with arms any attempt to invade American soil.

American Couple Murdered.

The State Department today received despatches from its consular agent at El Paso tending to confirm the reported killing of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, Americans, by Villista bandits near Pachuchaco, Mexico. While the department declined to make public the despatches it was admitted that it was officially certain that the Americans were murdered.

SOMERSET G. O. P. TO GIVE DOLLAR DINNER

Committees for Affair Are Named at a Meeting in Somerville Last Night.

Somerville, March 9.—The various committees appointed last evening at a meeting held in Foresters' Hall, to arrange with the committee acting in conjunction with the Republican Club and county committee for the "dollar dinner," to be held in March or April:

Music: Samuel Davenport, Charles W. Hoffman, F. B. Clark, Joseph Lambruskin, Barney Levin, Charles Mitchell. Hall: George Ringleman, Hyman Kline. Program: Dayton Hoagland, F. A. Pope, T. G. Windsor, W. S. Vroom. Ushers: Judson Galpin, E. L. Keenan, G. R. Nolan, Jr., L. W. Hoagland, J. D. Brandt, Jr. Decoration: Dr. F. S. McConnell, O. Lance, S. B. Hope, Clark Alvord, C. C. Holcombe. Meeting of all committees will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Foresters' Hall.

ASH WEDNESDAY SERVICES ARE LARGELY ATTENDED

Catholic and Episcopal churches in the city and borough were largely attended at all services yesterday, Ash Wednesday. The Lenten season, which is one of fasting, abstinence and self-mortification, was ushered in with the celebration of early masses in all the Catholic churches. Ashes were distributed after the last mass in St. Mary's, St. Joseph's and St. Bernard's. Services appropriate to the feast were also conducted last evening, when ashes were again placed on the foreheads of the faithful. All were exhorted to enter into the spirit of the holy season, which is a special time for prayer, sorrow, for sin, almsgiving and mortification. Those particularly who cannot fast are recommended to make suitable compensation by the more liberal alms to the poor and other good works.

MISS CADMUS' FUNERAL HELD THIS AFTERNOON

The funeral of Miss Rachel L. Cadmus, who died at her home on East Front street, Tuesday morning, was held at the late residence this afternoon. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, of which Miss Cadmus was the oldest member, was the officiating clergyman. Many relatives and friends were in the attendant gathering. Numerous floral tributes were extended by friends who had known Miss Cadmus during her long residence in Plainfield.

Burial was in the North Plainfield cemetery, six grandnephews acting as pall bearers. These were Postmaster A. E. Hoagland, Charles Cook and Harry Coward, of Plainfield; A. W. Morley, of Brooklyn; and Lloyd Rockell and William Young, of Trenton.

HITCHED HORSE IN FRONT OF FIRE HALL—IS WARNED

Ralph Delibro was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of hitching a horse in front of fire headquarters. He was arrested shortly before noon yesterday by Patrolman Welsh. Judge De Meza suspended sentence over him, after a warning.

FRIENDS OF JUNIOR CLUB ENJOY PINOCHLE PARTY

In connection with the winter series of monthly social events, the Junior Club conducted a progressive pinochle party in the Junior clubhouse, on East Front street, last night. A gathering of fifty persons enjoyed the games. Prizes were awarded the successful players as follows: First women's, Miss Jessie Hummer; second women's, Miss Davie; first men's, Charles Beresford; second men's, John Kliner. At the conclusion of the pinochle playing the gathering enjoyed an informal program of music, and refreshments were served.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair was composed of Clinton Firstbrook, chairman; Frank Farnham, George Townley and Thomas Leacock.

DEATH OF INFANT.

Rose Pediocelli, the one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pediocelli, of 325 East Third street, died in Muhlenberg Hospital this morning. The funeral will be held at the parents' home and the burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

FRANK NEIDIG MOVES.

Frank Neidig, proprietor of the Lincoln Market, on Somerset street, is moving today from 17 Manning avenue to a house at the corner of Vine street and Lincoln place.

FUNERAL OF INFANT.

The funeral of Dorothy, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams, of 304 Grove street, who died Tuesday, was held this afternoon from the home of the parents. Burial was at Hillside Cemetery.

IDENTIFY AUTO DRIVER THROUGH STATE RECORDS

Following word received from the State Department of Motor Vehicles at Trenton, it has been found that Walter H. Taverner, of Embree crescent, Westfield, is the owner of the automobile that ran into a rig driven by Louis Suttaline, of this place, on Martine avenue, Saturday night, and Borough Recorder Sheelen will hold a hearing some night this week.

The accident occurred shortly after dark, as Mr. Suttaline was driving toward Fanwood from Scotch Plains. In trying to pass without giving warning, it is said, Taverner struck the carriage in which the Plains man was riding, throwing him out and wrecking the vehicle. Instead of stopping to see how serious the accident might be, the police say that Taverner speeded up his car and made a getaway. With the car number, furnished by a witness, to work on, the borough authorities got busy and found their man in three days.

BELGIAN RELIEF ACTIVITIES.

A regular meeting of the local workers for the relief of the Belgians is being held this afternoon at the home of the Misses Kyte, of Martine avenue. As much, if not more, good is being done this winter than was done last, and already a number of cases of various articles made at the meetings have been shipped to the war-stricken country. The last one was sent following the last meeting, and, beginning with today, the twenty odd women that meet every week will devote their time to working for the Belgian babies.

TAKES IN A PARTNER.

Charles Michaels, the Park avenue butcher, has taken in William Curtis, of Plainfield, as a partner, the latter having already entered upon his new duties. The steady increase in Mr. Michael's business made it necessary for him to engage an assistant, and he took advantage of the opportunity to divide his meat interests with another. Both have had considerable experience in this line of work and are prepared to furnish their patrons with the best grades of meat at reasonable prices.

FIRST LENTEN SERVICE.

The first of the Lenten services at the All Saints Episcopal church was held last night and was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Oscar S. Michaels. Continuing through the remainder of the Lenton season services will be conducted by the pastor in the church every Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Catherine Hann and Mildred Kaufman, two local girls attending the Westfield High School, have been elected bookkeepers in the savings bank conducted at the school.

SCOTCH PLAINS NURSERY A MODERN FLOWER SHOP

One of the most modernly equipped greenhousese in this vicinity is that owned by the Plainfield Nursery in Scotch Plains, the owners having made many improvements that enable them to supply the best products at reasonable prices. Every effort is being made to place the nursery on a metropolitan basis, and the experts in charge of work are well qualified to advise prospective planters of trees and shrubbery.

The nursery owners plan, plant and deliver everywhere and get the best results through their careful work. Lawn grass seed, fertilizers and cut flowers are in stock at all times, as well as everything available from the modern nursery.

RECOVERED FROM HURT.

After suffering for several weeks from a wrenched leg, Charles Michaels, of Park avenue, is able to use the injured member to a certain extent now. He has been under the care of Dr. Westcott, and entertains hopes of complete recovery from the hurt, in the near future. He has been able to attend to his store management, however, for a week past.

WILL SEW FOR CHARITY.

The weekly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the All Saints Episcopal church was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs Albert I. Riblet, of Russell road. Starting with yesterday's meeting and continuing through Lent, the meetings will be devoted to sewing for the various charities. The meeting next week will be held at the home of Mrs. James Carter, of North avenue.

WILL ADDRESS FORUM.

Another very interesting meeting of the Men's Forum of the Parish House is scheduled for next Sunday afternoon, when John M. Moore, of New York city, will speak on "Socialism." Mr. Moore is widely known as a speaker of ability, and that alone should insure a large attendance.

NO DANCES IN LENT.

Following the usual custom, there will be no dances held at Stony Hill during the Lenten season, which will bring the next one about the latter part of April.

EXPECT A GOOD TIME.

A social, arranged for by the younger people of the Willow Grove chapel, will be held tonight in that edifice. An entertaining program of games and music, to be followed by refreshments, has been arranged, and an enjoyable time is assured.

PARENTS OF A DAUGHTER.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frowery, of Front street, are the proud parents of a young daughter.

MEETING CENTER RESTORED TO USE

Efforts of Rev. J. Madison Hare to Reopen Parish House Successful.

HAS BEEN REMODELED

Community Making Good Use of Rendezvous That Has Been Closed for Two Years—Activities Along Many Lines.

On Grand street, near Stout avenue, stands a magnificent building of colonial structure that will be a hundred years old in 1917. It was the second meeting house of the Baptist church, and was erected in 1817 at the southeast corner of Park avenue and Plainfield road. In 1871, when the present church structure was built, it was moved to its present site and used as a school house for a number of years. It was later purchased by Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, and used as an industrial center. In 1912, after extensive alterations, it was given to the Baptist church by Dr. Coles and Miss Emmelie Coles as "The Scotch Plains Parish House, for the promotion of the Christian Religion and the welfare of the people irrespective of denominational affiliation."

The above is the inscription on a large tablet in the main room of the building. It was given in memory of their father, Abraham Coles, 1813-1891, M.D., Ph.D., LL.D., and their grandfather, Dennis Coles, 1778-1844.

The structure was equipped for a modern recreation centre with bowling alleys, reading rooms, meeting rooms, shuffle board court and gymnasium, with locker rooms and apparatus. It was at first put in charge of a committee of thirty citizens that had full power in running the place. After two years of success, the financial conditions became so that the committee relinquished its charge to the board of trustees of the Baptist church.

Closed shortly atfer, the place was not used again until a short time ago, when the Rev. J. Madison Hare, after making a careful study of the affair since becoming pastor of the church in July, 1914, got the consent of the Board of Trustees to take charge of the place. Since December 27 last, Mr. Hare has taken active supervision of matters, and on that date opened the parish house again for certain days every week, at present Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays in the afternoon and evening. Several hundred dollars have been spent by the original donors to again put the edifice in excellent condition and once more it is the gathering place of the community. With no dues charged and the bowling alleys the only source of revenue, Pastor Hare is ably running the place.

Incidental to the re-opening of the Parish House, then, has come into existence a men's forum that now includes about fifty of the men, of all creeds and age, in the community. Mr. Hare felt that such a body of men would help him in his work for the good of the community, and his effort has met with hearty response. Meetings are held in the Parish House every Sunday afternoon, when some subject of general interest is discussed. The birthdays of great men are observed in an appropriate way, and interesting questions such as "Borough Incorporation," "Is War Necessary?" and "Sidewalks" have been up for discussion at meetings. It is modeled somewhat after Cooper Union, in New York, and is already beginning to make itself felt in the community. Men are free to express their views on the questions under discussion, and whenever possible, as on two occasions already, able speakers have been present and made addresses.

Pastor Hare has done a great deal for the Baptist church and community at large in the two years he has occupied a local pastorate, and during the coming year he is planning to, if possible, do even more.

BAPTIST BIBLE SCHOOL ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The Scotch Plains Baptist Bible School held its annual meeting last evening and the following officers were elected: Superintendents, H B. Saunders and Willard V. Marston; secretary, Chester Palmer; assistant secretary, Horace Daniels; treasurer, Edward L. Hatfield; pianist, Miss Hargraves; assistant pianist, Miss Drake; superintendent, primary department, Miss Hannah Hayes; superintendent home department, Mrs. John Z. Hatfield; superintendent, missionary department, Miss Lydia Hayes; superintendent, temperance department, Mrs. William Archibold; superintendent, cradle roll, Mrs. Walter Brown.

Reports showed the school to be in a flourishing condition, with an enrollment of about 250 in all departments. The consolidated treasurer's report will show nearly $350 raised during the year. Plans are under way for some aggressive work.

Edmund Garrabrandt, who has been a patient at Muhlenberg hospital for several weeys, has recovered sufficiently to be able to be removed to his home on Westfield avenue.

TOWN TOPICS

Today's special Scotch Plains and Fanwood edition is the first of a weekly series the Plainfield Daily Press has planned for the people of these suburbs, and indications are that it will become a permanent feature dedicated to the interests of the two municipalities. It is the object of the Plainfield Daily Press to supply reading matter of quantity and quality to residents of Scotch Plains and Fanwood and special arrangements have been made to handle everything pertaining to the municipal interests of the two places. The edition will be a weekly news feature and an advertising medium that no business man can well afford to neglect. Thursday has been selected as the day for each week's publication and during the other five days of the week the Plainfield Daily Press will carry its column of Scotch Plains and Fanwood news as usual. Those who have long been advocates of a suburban booster of this nature will now have an opportunity to do their share in assuring its appearance regularly, and the Plainfield Daily Press invites the co-operation of every resident of the two places. Sample copies are being distributed this afternoon and it is hoped to reach every household in Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

Considerable favorable comment has followed the re-opening of the Scotch Plains Memorial Parish House and those interested should do everything possible to induce the trustees to prevent another such shutdown as occurred two years ago. Because certain thoughtless individuals sought to abuse the recreative advantages they were supplied with at this rendezvous, it became necessary to close the doors of the parish house, and the re-opening has been greeted by a general burst of enthusiasm. The history of the parish house is a unique one, and all local residents well know the facilities it has for the entertainment of old and young. Supervised gymnasium work for the juvenile class and afternoon clubs and sewing bees for the older generation are among the well-patronized features; and the trustees should receive the hearty support and co-operation of the citizens in general in promoting the good work to which the place was dedicated.

Negligence on the part of certain Fanwood and Scotch Plains property owners during the past week has caused a mild epidemic of chronic grumbling among those who have had occasion to leave the fireside these snowy mornings. Many residents have neglected to clear the snow from their walks for hours after the storms have abated, and as a result, pedestrians have been forced to wade through slush and water which is in some cases ankle deep. A little thoughtfulness on the part of each householder would prove a great convenience to the commuter and early morning shopper, and the grumblers have a right to expect that the snow should be cleared from the walks within a reasonable length of time after the storm stops. Do your part by cleaning your own walk, and your neighbor will probably take the tip.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood is today supplied with its first business directory by the Plainfield Daily Press, every business enterprise of any importance and community standing being represented on this page. These are the merchants who solicit your patronage, and you should see that they get it. Home trade has been drummed into the heads of residents of every community on the face of the globe, but up to this time, Scotch Plains and Fanwood people have had a fair excuse for they have never before been given the opportunity to get acquainted with their business houses. The Plainfield Daily Press business directory on this page supplies the information needed, and is for you to refer to when buying.

That Scotch Plains will again be represented in semi-professional baseball is the opinion of certain local enthusiasts who have been in close touch with the pastime here in years gone past. It is the general belief that the time is ripe for a revival of interest and it is a well-known fact that a movement is on foot to organize a local team. Eugene Lidgate, who plays Sunday ball with the Delaware River League, will be around Saturday afternoons, as will also "Nibs" Hand, who recently turned down Connie Mack's offer. Then we still have with us that tried and true collection of veterans.

Indications are that these two suburbs will enjoy a building boom during the coming spring that may set a record. At least, this is the opinion of a number of the "old-timers" who have been giving the situation the "once-over," and tradesmen are anticipating plenty of work on new dwellings and extensive alterations. Scotch Plains and Fanwood have grown rapidly during the past few years and although many new homes have been erected, it is a well-known fact that there is a demand for more and that this demand will have to be met in the immediate future. Those persons contemplating building or remodelling should consult local contractors before letting plans, for this is one of the surest ways to boom the municipalities and usually proves a mutual benefit.

The members of the Lend-a-Hand Society of the Baptist church will hold their weekly meeting in the lecture room tomorrow afternoon.

ANNUAL REPORTS ARE ENCOURAGING

Resume for 1915 Shows Fanwood Township to Be in Excellent Condition.

FULL RETURNS GIVEN

Borough Also Has Good Report to Make—Money All Well Spent—Pamphlet Contains and Explains All Expenditures.

The annual report of the various departments of Fanwood Township has just made its appearance in pamphlet form and includes the returns of the collector, treasurer and custodian of the school funds. The expenses of the township are given according to districts, there being three districts in all, with a committeeman in charge of each.

John Z. Hatfield, in presenting his collector's report, places the receipts received from all sources at $36,578.31. The disbursements, including the state school tax and county tax, were $32,912.75, leaving a balance on hand, February 1, of $3,665.56. The report of the township treasurer, William Ward, gives the receipts of that department as $19,198.81. The expenditures were $11,607.87, while the balance on hand is $7,590.94. The itemized township expenses are given at $3,143.85.

The expenditures in the three districts is given as follows: District No. 1—for labor on roads and sidewalks, $980.29; crushed stone and other material, $749.52. District No. 2—for labor on streets and sidewalks, $337.91; crushed stone and other material, $343.04. District No. 3—for labor on streets and sidewalks, $446.29; crushed stone and other material, $256.59. The expense of street lights for the year was $2,812.18, and the supplies for the poor, $612.32. The expenses of the police department, including pay to marshals, upkeep of jail and other items, figures up to $854.35, while that of the Board of Health was $211.40. The upkeep of the fire department cost $235.03, and the rental of the fire hydrants was $615.35. The amount of the dog license account is $1,043.55, and the total amount of unpaid taxes is placed at $4,480.27.

As custodian of the school funds, John Z. Hatfield gives the receipts for the year as $31,159.32, including the state and county appropriations, tax from borough and township, and tuition from North Plainfield and New Providence Townships. The expenditures, with tuition to Plainfield and Westfield, teachers' and janitors' salaries, medical inspector's salary, supplies, water rental, telephone and other items included, is placed at $23,111.06, leaving a balance on hand of $8,048.26. The building account, warranted by the erection of School No. 3, gives the receipts received from the sales of bonds and other sources at $17,536.50. The purchase of land, awarding of contract to general contractor, furnishing of building, architect's fee, grading and extras, brings the amount of expenditures to $16,945.78, leaving a balance of $590.72.

Fanwood Borough's annual report for the year ending December 31, 1915, shows that place to still be in excellent financial condition. Collector Sheelen's receipts from all sources were $13,959.26. This amount includes the delinquent taxes from the preceding year, railroad and canal taxes and franchise taxes, besides miscellaneous receipts such as fines, licenses, rent of tools and interest on deposits.

The total expenditures, $13,434.60, included the expenses of the various borough departments. The Board of Health expense account was $36.24, and the poor account, $39.70. The borough's printing and stationery cost $60.57, while the material on streets amounted to $864.82. The rent of the council rooms for the year was $25, and the salaries of the various officers, including the clerk, collector, assessor and attorney, figured up to $573.35. The police department, including the salary and expense of the marshal and the salary of the recorder, cost $940.50. An appropriation of $208 was made for the running of the public library, and the rental of water hydrants for the year was $437.50. The street lights for the year cost $1,315.80. The county and school taxes, including $3,936.91 for the former, and $3,425.57 for the state, totaled $7,362.48 paid by the collector. The miscellaneous account reached $818.50, while labor on streets was $752.14. At the first of the year, the delinquent taxes for the present year amounted to $1,922.10, but at the present time, Collector Sheelen has reduced the account to slightly under $500.

AGAIN HE QUITS.

Queried by a Plainfield Daily Press reporter the other day concerning his possible connection with the movement to reorganize week-end baseball in Scotch Plains, Joe Alberts was emphatic in his denial of any affiliation with the reorganization party. Joe, who weathered a number of seasons in great style as manager and star player on the Plains outfit, says he is through with the managing end of the game, but admits that he's not too old to discard the glove and willow. As a manager of Scotch Plains baseball interest, Joe hasn't a peer, and his determination to retire is a cause for keen regret among his many followers.

MAKE SURE YOU GET THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS

This special edition is only one of the many treats the Plainfield Daily Press has in store for the people of Scotch Plains and Fanwood, and you should insure a personal acquaintance with town topics by placing your order for the Plainfield Daily Press with T. E. Weller, Joseph Alberts or directly with the office of the paper in Plainfield. Alberts and Weller both have telephones and are prepared to supply you with the publication each afternoon. All the news of interest to both municipalities will be published each afternoon and the weekly suburban edition will make its appearance every Thursday.

Walter VanHoesen, of Fanwood, is our news correspondent for Scotch Plains and Fanwood, and he may also be reached by telephone. News items may be submitted to him or sent directly to the Press office in Plainfield for publication.

Sample copies of this edition are being distributed throughout the two municipalities this afternoon, and to make sure that every person is supplied with the publication, a supply of the papers has been placed on the newsstands of Alberts and Weller, on Park avenue, Scotch Plains, which may be had free.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

William Hull, of Westfield avenue, announces the engagement of his daughter, Hattie B., to Harry F. Wilson, of Ten Mile lock, near Bound Brook. No date for the wedding has been set.

SUNSHINE WEAVERS.

There will be a regular meeting of the Sunshine Weavers in the Parish House tonight. Mrs. John Hatfield and other women interested in the welfare of the organization will be present.

There will be a sale of cake, bread and other pastries held at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wescott, of Martine avenue, Saturday afternoon, conducted by the women of the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ward, of Grand street, have returned after a visit in Brooklyn.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. A easier way is to get a 50 cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

It Pays to Secure a Tenant Who Pays.

The uncertain sort of tenant is easy to find. He is always answering the call of the window sign of "To Let." He is easy to please. Even a rather high rental does not frighten him away.

But the Stay-and-Pay tenant is not so easy to secure. He is surer of what he wants. He does not take the first house, or apartment, or store that he finds. He watches and answers "To Let" Ads.

And to secure him for your tenant is a good day's work—a good week's work.

Property that is advertised adequately in the Plainfield Daily Press is rarely rented injudiciously.

POOR SHOWING IN SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

Falling Off is Due to Sickness, Bad Weather and Various Other Reasons.

A total of 1,324 days was lost last month by the pupils of the local schools, and the average of attendance for the month was only 85 per cent. This poor showing was largely due to sickness, 903 days being lost for this reason. The balance of days lost is accounted for as follows: 168½, bad weather; 113½ at work or helping at home; 33 quarantined; 25, unfit clothing; 61 pleasure, and 19½, other reasons. The total enrollment of the schools, including the pupils in attendance at Plainfield High School, is 548. This is an increase of 29 over last year.

Superintendent Rentschler called the attention of the Board at the meeting this week to the fact that three out-of-town parents, who have children in the schools, have not paid tuition dues for the first half of the year, although billed the second time, and the Board authorized that the children be excluded until payment is made. Attendance Officer Tarpey was busy during the past month, and he reported on seven delinquent attendants Tuesday evening.

The pupils of the Whittier school made $35 by selling chocolate. This money will be used to make a payment on a Victrola and to purchase additional records.

The result of the mid-year tests was as follows:

| Grade | Number taking tests | Number successful |
|---|---|---|
| 8 | 29 | 25 |
| 7 | 36 | 26 |
| 6 | 47 | 44 |
| 5 | 52 | 45 |
| 4 | 52 | 46 |

The reason for the poor showing of the seventh grade is that, owing to the crowded condition of the sixth grade room, a number of pupils were promoted prematurely into the seventh grade.

The Parent-Teacher Association recommended by letter that the Board engage a visiting nurse to follow up work of the medical inspector by visiting the homes, especially of the foreign element, and give needed advice and assistance. The matter was referred back to the association with request that they investigate more carefully the actual needs of a nurse in this community.

The annual meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the Whittier school on Tuesday evening, March 21. The amount of the annual budget which will be voted on at that time is $14,050. This is an increase of $1,325 over last year. A new class room will be opened next year and $600 of this increase is for the services of a new teacher. Of the balance of increase, $725, $450 provides for the additional number attending Plainfield High School; $200 for the appropriation to readjust the fire escape of the Whittier school, as per recommendation of the Board of Trade, and the balance for miscellaneous purposes.

Among the bills presented at Monday evening's council meeting, was that of J. H. Reid, overseer of the poor of Whitehouse, for $12.91. This bill was for assistance rendered by Mr. Reid to the mother of four children, whose husband is in a reformatory. This family moved away from the borough five years ago, and Overseer of the Poor Lewis Schneider, in reporting on the bill, said that when he received the bill he didn't think it was up to the borough to pay it. Upon investigating, however, he said that he had found that the family had lived in seven places since moving away from Dunellen, and that this borough was the last legal place of residence. The bill was ordered paid.

MICHAEL GALLAGHER HAS NARROW ESCAPE AT LEVGAR'S

Michael Gallagher, who had a narrow escape from injury, if not death, at the plant of the Levgar Structural Company this week, when his left wrist was caught in a drill press and was badly torn, is getting along nicely. The only thing which saved Mr. Gallagher was that he had the presence of mind to grab a lever with his free hand and stop the press. Two years ago, Henry Lund, another employee of the Levgar Company, had his arm caught in the same manner and broken in three places.

COUNCIL CONFERS WITH P. S. C. ABOUT STREET WORK

The Borough Council is negotiating with the Public Service Railway Company over the matter of permitting the company to drain the ground covered by its tracks into the storm drainage system now in the process of construction. It is believed that the Council will permit the Public Service Company to do this free of charge, as it is estimated that it would save the borough $250 a year in maintaining the thoroughfare.

Mrs. Charles Fuchs is ill at her home on First street with the grip.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Longbothum have returned from a sojourn of several weeks at Daytona, Fla.

FATHER OF MISS NOYES DIES AT COPENHAGEN, N. Y.

Miss Mabel Noyes, teacher of manual training in the borough schools, who was called to Northville, N. Y., recently, by the critical illness of her sister, had not been in that place more than several hours when she received a telegram telling her of the death of her father at Copenhagen, N. Y.

Watchung.

An interesting lecture was held Tuesday evening in the Watchung School, under the auspices of the Parent Teacher Association. Victor G. Aubry, extension specialist in poultry husbandry from the State Experiment Stations, lectured on "Incubation and Brooding."

The North Plainfield Township Committee will hold its monthly meeting tonight.

The Watchung Public School will open Monday morning, March 13, which has been closed for two weeks on account of illness.

An informal dance was given in the Improvement Hall, Tuesday evening, by Mrs. Moore and Miss Marie Texier. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all present and at a late hour refreshments were served. Squire's orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Oliphant, of New York, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William de la R. Anderson, of the "Wilds."

Arthur Winn, of Mountain Boulevard, has taken up his residence in Plainfield.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting this afternoon at the home of Miss Mariett Cass.

Mrs. Sweeny, of Homesdale, Pennsylvania, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Harry Macwade.

The epidemic of measles which has been prevalent through this district has somewhat decreased.

Clarence B. Schmidt will lead the Christian Endeavor meeting Friday evening in the Wilson chapel. The topic is "Consecration of Strength." It will be a consecration meeting.

Rev. G. Montgomery will preach at both services on Sunday in the Wilson Memorial church.

The Misses Holt, of Westfield, have been the guests of the Misses Texier.

C. B. Schmidt has been visiting in Trenton.

Somerville

Miss R. Sacks, while enjoying a straw ride with a party of friends last night, fell from the sleigh and was slightly shaken up. A few minutes later she got into the sleigh again, when the rear of the vehicle gave way, throwing six young women, including Miss Sacks, into the street. Miss Bessie Shapiro, who was responsible for the straw ride, began to fear that a successful start would not be made, but all went well. The party left Main street amid a shower of snowballs, which were thrown by a crowd of young men who had gathered to see the result of the two accidents.

Letters of administration were granted yesterday to Rachel M. T. Mason, only child and heir-at-law of David Townsend, late of Bound Brook. The estate is said to amount to $8,000. William B. R. Mason and Frederick N. Voorhees gave bond in the sum of $16,000.

Mrs. Nellie Whalen, aged 36, died at her home on Henderson road, Bernardsville, last Tuesday evening. Services will be held from her late residence at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Interment will be at Basking Ridge. Rev. Howard E. Clarke will officiate. The deceased is survived by one son, John Whalen.

HANEL'S CONVICTION PRAISED BY COURT

Husband of Slain Woman Would Execute Prisoner.

New York, March 9.—"I would not have been satisfied with any other verdict. I would like to be his executioner, the man to touch the button that will send him into eternity."

That was the statement of Selig Heilner, husband of Mrs. Julia Heilner, who was murdered in her Flatbush home, 217 Albemarle road, on April 23 last, when a jury in the supreme court, Brooklyn, brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree against Joseph Hanel.

The jury, to the surprise of the throng attending the trial, took five hours to reach a verdict. They came into court and requested Justice Crane to instruct them further on some of the points they were having difficulty in agreeing on.

After the judge enlightened them they came back in ten minutes with the verdict. The murderer showed no trace of emotion at the foreman's words. He will be sentenced on Monday morning.

"Before dismissing you, gentlemen, I wish to say to you that this conviction is a wholesome thing for the community," Justice Crane told the jury. It is a wholesome thing for men who shoot and kill in connection with burglary and larceny. The death penalty is right for men who shoot to rob."

Skipper of Fishing Boat Sees Twenty-nine Warships.

The Hague, March 9.—The Vaderland stated that the captain of a Dutch fishing lugger, which arrived in Scheveningen, reported that while thirty-five miles north of Ymuiden he was hailed by a German battleship forming part of a flotilla of twenty-nine warships.

The skipper declared that the officers of the warship asked him if he had seen anything of the English fleet and sailed in a northeast direction.

INTEREST INCREASES IN PRAYER SERVICES

Cottage and Union Meetings Throughout City Marked by Large Attendance.

Great interest is being manifested in the cottage and union prayer meetings now being held in preparation for the Biederwolf campaign. In each of the seventeen districts at least one cottage meeting is being held every Tuesday and Friday night and in several cases more than one a week, with an attendance in many cases from twenty to fifty-three. While some show smaller numbers, the spirit of prayer and helpfulness is most prevalent.

For instance last Tuesday night in one home where only nine were in attendance, one of the members of the family said that those of her family who were privileged to be in the meeting received a great blessing and she was so glad because of it. In another case one of Plainfield's prominent men stated that he had been converted years ago in a meeting similar to the one he was conducting.

This same spirit expressed itself in one of the meetings where fifty-three attended in that everyone present took part. It is earnestly hoped that more people will open their homes and increase the volume of prayer which is being offered for the success of the Biederwolf meetings.

Three union prayer meetings were held last night, Rev. E. C. Conover leading the meeting in the Vincent chapel of the First Methodist church. This prayer meeting was from the group of the First, Baptist, the First Methodist, the First Presbyterian, the Trinity Reformed, the Temple Baptist and the Netherwood Reformed churches. The Rev. J. O. McKelvey lead the meeting in the Grace Methodist Episcopal church representing the group of the Grace Methodist Episcopal, the Warren chapel and the Wilson Memorial church. The Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie and the Rev. Dr. B. S. Hudson, at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, led the meeting which represented the Park Avenue Baptist, the Crescent Avenue, the Congregational and the Seventh-Day Baptist churches.

In every case the attendance was large. These union prayer meetings will be continued right along every Wednesday night until the arrival of Dr. Biederwolf.

Mme. Melba's name was Nellie Mitchell until her marriage, when it became Mrs. C. N. F. Armstrong. At the time of her debut into opera she decided to adopt a stage name, and her intense loyalty to the land of her birth moved her to combine the first four letters of Melbourne, her native town, and the last letter of Victoria, the reigning queen of that time, together making Melba.—New York Telegraph.

Alaska's Verdant Islands.

The island of Attu, at the end of the Aleutian chain, is not far from Asia. From north to south Alaska reaches almost as far as from Canada to Mexico.

This mighty territory is a world in the variety of its lands and waters. It is a country of seas, lakes and rivers and of almost as many islands as the empire of Japan. It has a vast continental mainland, with mountains and valleys, rolling plateaus and great lowland plains. I traveled a thousand miles through rocky islands in going from Seattle to Skagway and later passed through the Aleutian archipelago, which extends from the end of the Alaskan peninsula about as far westward as the distance from the Atlantic ocean to the Mississippi river. The island of Kodiak is as big as Porto Rico, and Prince of Wales island is as large as Connecticut. All of these islands are green from one year's end to the other, and some have a vegetation as dense as that of Hawaii.—Christian Herald.

Novel Use For Gunpowder.

"Early in the sixties of the last century," writes Rev. Fuller Mills, a Welsh clergyman, "I was a boy behind the counter of what was known as the company's shop at Abertillery. Among the collier customers who came to the shop was a tall, well developed man known as Dick Stevens or Stephens.

"He was a member of the prize ring or the pugilistic fraternity, which was very popular in those days. * * * Dick Stevens was matched to fight Ianto Catcham and was preparing for the fight when he came to the shop for his weekly requirements. * * * He generally asked for an ounce or two of gunpowder. I wondered at this, and my curiosity was aroused.

"I asked what he used it for. His reply was: 'I mix it with my gravy when I have my dinner and swallow it. It prevents the flesh from easily puffing under the hard blows of an opponent. The cuts and bruises are not so hurtful and heal more easily."

The Gentle Art of Smiling.

A mother had a little girl, her first child, who seemed to have been born with a scowl. Perfectly well, still she had a morose disposition which it seemed as though nothing could alter. When a second child was born the mother made a rule that no one should look at the baby without a smile. With the imitation of childhood the baby at once began, even in her early weeks, to smile back, and as she grew, and the rule still held in the home, she developed into what every one who knew her called "the smiling baby" and grew up with the sunniest disposition, a joy to every one. Now, what that mother did any mother can do. A child may actually inherit a serious, even a sullen disposition, yet these may be crowded out while they are undeveloped by the habit of cheerfulness.—Woman's Home Companion.

Awry.

"W'at ees eet zat means your English word 'awry?'" asked the French girl, newly landed on these shores.

"Why," replied the walking dictionary, "it means crooked, disheveled. If my hat is awry it's tipped on one side, or if you apply it to my necktie it means mussed up. In what connection did you hear it?"

But she was frowning violently and muttering: "Ah-h-h! Zat beast! I was sure he meant to insult, but nevair did I believe eet was so bad!"

"Why, what on earth happened to you?"

"I ride in ze tram. I say to ze conductaire, 'Please to say to me w'en we stop at ze Forty-second street.' And he smile at me—so—and he say to me, 'A' ri'!'"—New York Post.

ARMY TRAINING FOR COLLEGE BOY

President of University of Illinois Before House Committee.

POINTS TO MUTUAL BENEFIT

Asserts That Plan Would Secure Large Number of Well Trained Officers Who Would Remain on Active List For Years—Would Be Under Federal Control.

Dr. Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, appeared before the committee of the house on military affairs the other day and urged the adoption of his plan for securing a sufficient supply of adequately trained officers for the enlarged military force of the nation.

This consists, in brief, of the establishment of a four years' military course in each of the land grant colleges, now more than fifty in number, at least one in each state and one in Hawaii and Porto Rico.

The advantages of such a plan as that, according to Dr. James, are:

First.—It would secure a large number of officers, running into thousands per year, instead of scores now turned out by West Point, even should it be doubled or even trebled in size.

Second.—It would secure a well distributed corps of officers, corresponding in number, roughly speaking, to the population.

Third.—It would secure well trained officers, combining military and civil training.

Fourth.—The officers would be trained in schools in which the civil rather than military ideas prevailed, and this is the kind of training especially suited to the reserve officers of our national force.

Asks Aid For University.

The specific requests presented by President James on behalf of the trustees of the University of Illinois are:

First.—That more officers be detailed for the military work now carried on by the institution.

Second.—That these should be officers in active service and not those on the retired list.

Third.—That officers detailed for such work should be in sound physical and moral condition.

Fourth.—That the federal government should be authorized to furnish proper supplies and equipment for the use of the cadet regiments as in the opinion of the war department should be used.

Fifth.—That these cadet regiments should be regenerated into national reserve through a special organization of land grant colleges and in which the federal authorities should deal directly with the authorities of these institutions.

THERE ARE 101,208,315 OF US

Census bureau experts estimate that the population of the United States on Jan. 1 last was 101,208,315 and that by July 1 next it would be 102,017,302. On July 1 last year they figured the population at 100,390,318.

Western states have led in growth, Washington heading the list, with Oklahoma, Nevada, North Dakota and New Mexico following in the order named.

The bureau's estimates are based on the rate of increase between the 1900 and 1910 censuses.

The population of New York state will be 10,273,375 on July 1 next, according to the estimate. The bureau gives the following estimates for the state: July 1, 1915, 10,086,568; Jan. 1, 1916, 10,179,971; July 1, 1916, 10,273,375.

Based on the average annual increase in New York state between 1900 and 1910, it is assumed that the increase in population is 93,403 every six months. According to this computation, the population of the state will be 10,927,203 on Jan. 1, 1920.

It is estimated by the bureau that there is an increase of 808,997 in the population of the United States every six months, or an annual increase of 1,617,994. The census estimate is that the population of the country is increasing at the rate of 4,433 a day, 184 every hour and 3 1-15 persons every minute.

ENGLAND CALLS ON WOMEN.

Four Hundred Thousand to Mobilize and Take Men's Places on the Farms.

The London Daily News announces the government has decided to organize a recruiting campaign for women to work on land. It is proposed armlets be issued to women willing to undertake farm work and that they be entitled to wear especial uniforms.

Every village will be canvassed by women's committees, as it is considered essential that an army of at least 400,000 women be mobilized. All who volunteer will be registered and given armlets and uniforms which will consist of coat, skirt, stout boots and gaiters.

Already more than 250,000 men have been withdrawn from agriculture, and it is anticipated 100,000 more will be called. Practically only shepherds, plowmen and others indispensable will remain.

"TIZ" FOR SORE, TIRED FEET--AH!

"Tiz" is grand for aching, swollen, tender, calloused feet or corns.

Ah! what relief! No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, aching, tender, sweaty feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions.

No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "Tiz." is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. "Tiz" cures your foot trouble so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never, hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25-cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear smaller shoes. Just once try "Tiz." Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it.—Adv.

PROGRESSIVES TO MEET IN TRENTON

Delegates From Plainfield to State Convention Are Named.

The coming state convention of Progressives was discussed at a conference held last night at the residence of former Councilman Frank L. Holt, on Kensington avenue. Six leaders in the Progressive movement in Plainfield attended the conference on invitation of Mr. Holt. All will attend the State convention as delegates from this city, and more will be named later, it is said. Those at the conference of last night were Frank L. Holt, A. B. Jones, Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, John S. Dahl, H. W. Herman and G. W. V. Moy. Local Progressives are not prepared to forecast the action of the State convention. A meeting of the Progressives of Union county will be held in Elizabeth Friday night to name delegates from the county.

No steps have been taken to form an organization in Plainfield for the coming campaign, and there is little possibility of action on this until after the State convention, or even until a Presidential candidate has been definitely chosen.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Moraller, of 1101 West Eighth street, are the parents of a daughter, born to them yesterday.

PREMIER SALANDRA.

Upheld In His War Policy In Italian Chamber of Deputies.

Premier wins vote of confidence after threat to dissolve body in a stormy session. The crisis point was nearly reached when the Radical and Socialist factions demanded an open discussion of the conduct of the war.

VILLA ANXIOUS TO CROSS U. S. BORDER

Three More Americans Killed by Bandit Bands.

El Paso, Tex., March 9.—Arrangements are being made on the New Mexico-Mexico border southwest of Columbus, N. M., seventy-five miles west of El Paso, for a meeting between General Francisco Villa and United States army officers.

The news leaked out here that the arrangements were in progress. Whether Villa asked for the conference or whether the officers are making the plans on the assumption that Villa is coming to the border is not stated. However, it is believed likely that Villa asked for the conference and that it is to precede his entry into the United States for asylum.

Two American men, one American woman and a little American boy were captured by Francisco Villa, or men under him, near Colonia Pacheco, in the Galena district, and the men and women were put to death, according to a report received by General Gabriel Gavira in Juarez. The child, the report said, escaped with his Mexican nurse, who shielded him and hid out with him.

The names of the two American men sent to General Gavira are Wright and Franklin. The murdered woman was the wife of Franklin, and the little boy was their child. General Gavira is having a search of the district made for the bodies of the Americans and to find the little boy and his nurse. Americans in the Galena district had been warned by General Gavira to congregate for safety in Casas Grandes, or Pearson, where there are strong Carranza garrisons.

CAT LICENSE BILL PASSES.

Vote's Result In New Jersey Assembly Greeted With "Me-ou-ws."

Trenton, N. J., March 9.—The assembly spent considerable time in determining the legal status of the cat when a bill by Assemblyman Simpson of Hudson county imposing a license fee on all cats came up for consideration. The bill, backed by the Audubon society, provides that all the money raised through cat licenses shall go to the overseer of the poor of municipalities. The measure was passed amid loud "me-ou-ws."

400,000 CROSS ATLANTIC.

250,000 Passengers on Ships Owned by Belligerents.

Washington, March 9.—Despite the perils of submarine warfare, 400,000 persons crossed the Atlantic between American and European ports as passengers last year. Figures assembled in the bureau of navigation show that 250,000 of them traveled on vessels owned by the belligerents. One hundred and fifty thousand took passage on neutral ships.

MARY ANDERSON ACTS AGAIN

Appears In Old Role In Gilbert Play to Help Soldiers' Fund.

London, March 9.—Mary Anderson appeared on the stage of the Theater Royal at Worcester in behalf of a fund for disabled soldiers of a Worcestershire regiment.

The theater was packed and the performance netted £500 ($2,500).

TWO MOHR WITNESSES HELD

Wife and Sister of Convicted Slayer Accused of Perjury.

Providence, R. I., March 9.—Bessie Spellman and Gertrude May Dailey, wife and sister of Henry H. Spellman, who with Victor Brown was convicted of the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, were held on charges of perjury.

STATE'S OLDEST MAN DEAD.

First Illness Proves Fatal at 108 Years of Age.

Stanhope, March 9.—George Niper, 108 years old, New Jersey's oldest resident, is dead.

A few days ago he contracted a severe cold and pneumonia developed. He was active until stricken. His greatest delight was in making ax handles. He really never had known a day's illness. He often attributed his longevity to use of tobacco. He was an ardent church member. His father died in his ninety-ninth year, and his mother lived until she was ninety-seven.

JUDGE GARY SCORES STEEL INDICTMENTS

"Outrage and Travesty," Comment on Jury's Action.

New York, March 9.—When the attention of Judge Elbert H. Gary was called to the indictments against him he dictated this statement:

"There are no facts to justify the indictment returned by the Mahoning county grand jury against the United States Steel corporation or the Carnegie Steel company or any of the officers or, so far as I know, against any of the other companies.

"The indictment is an outrage—a travesty."

Youngstown, O., March 8.—Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, and six large steel companies with plants in East Youngstown were indicted by a Mahoning county grand jury, which charges them with having conspired to keep down the wage of laborers.

One hundred and fourteen persons and corporations were indicted. There are sixty-two counts in the bills against Judge Gary and the steel corporations.

The whole matter revolves around the riot in East Youngstown on Jan. 7, when four lives were lost, thirty-seven persons injured and property damaged by fire to the amount of $1,000,000.

The principal corporations indicted were the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, the Republic Iron and Steel company, the Briar Hill Steel company, the Youngstown Iron and Steel company, the United States Steel corporation and the Carnegie Steel company.

BLIZZARD HALTS DESTROYER.

Vessel on Speed Trials Forced to Put Back to Port.

Rockland, Me., March 9.—Blizzard conditions forced the torpedo boat destroyer Porter, which started on the first of her standardization trials, to return to this harbor before the completion of the tests.

Ecuador Volcano Erupts.

Ambato, Ecuador, March 9.—Tungurагua volcano, in this province, has been in eruption several days. The city of Ambato and the surrounding region are almost in darkness on account of falling ashes.

A Want Ad Is Often the First Link in a Chain of Consequences

It initiates something of far-reaching importance to you. You meet someone with whom you will do business for years—or you buy or sell property that changes the currents of your daily affairs. Many a want ad is of but transient importance of course. But others influence your life for years and years.

HAVE THE INVESTIGATION.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, does not fear an investigation. His letter, sent to Chairman John H. Cose, of the fire committee, which was printed in the Daily Press last night, indicates that Mr. Doane feels that there is nothing to be ashamed of in his conduct and he doesn't care who knows it.

There may be faults in the Plainfield fire department. We would be surprised if there were not. If there is anything wrong, as the proposed investigation would soon show, it would not necessarily be the fault of the chief, for he is by no means entirely responsible for the conduct of the department. The fault would lie with fire boards, which in the past have failed to see that things have been kept up to date, and the men properly trained.

To the charge of inefficiency made by Mr. Lyle, in his letter to the Council demanding an investigation, we do not believe that many men familiar with affairs will agree. If Mr. Doane is inefficient it would have been discovered long ago, for the chief has been at the head of the department for thirty years, and among the scores of able men who have been in the Council and on the fire committee in that time, there surely would have been some bright and capable enough to have made the discovery long before this.

The Daily Press hopes that the investigation will take place, and that it will be a thorough one, from every point of view. If anyone in the department is incompetent, that person should be immediately removed from office. If the men are not properly drilled, and the city is not getting the best service from them, the people want to know it, for they are paying the bill. It is a significant fact, however, that Plainfield has not had a serious fire in recent years, and there have been plenty of times when the firemen have arrived on the scene of a blaze when things looked mighty bad until they went to work.

That the fire department is above criticism no one maintains. It has its faults, undoubtedly, but what city, county, State or national branch of the government has not? Rumors about the local department have been heard from time to time during recent years. The proposed investigation will afford an opportunity to prove whether or not they are well founded. We believe that Chief Doane is man enough to admit that if any of the serious things charged against him is true, he should retire, but if the charges are based on minor considerations, largely due to the action of fire committees in the past, we do not believe that the Chief should be made the "goat." And that belief we know, is shared by scores of the men of the city, who are familiar with what the Chief does to earn his salary.

DENTISTS AT ODDS.

Last year Governor Fielder refused to respect the law of the State, by appointing to the New Jersey Dental Board the man recommended by the State Dental Society. Therein he did wrong, as the Trenton Times says, because that had been the requirement for years, and not only had no attempt been made to change the law, but the Governor last year signed a bill which re-enacted the (to him) objectionable provision.

Assemblyman Berry has introduced a bill to correct the situation and give to the Governor the full power of appointment, unhampered by the dentists' organization. The bill ought to be passed, for there is no more reason for permitting the members of the State Dental Society to select the members of the Board of Examination and Registration in Dentistry than there is for allowing the State Bar Association to pick the judges, or the State Prison inmates to choose the keeper.

It is a well known fact that the dentists have been divided among themselves, and an effort has been made to dislodge from control a small faction that had successfully entrenched itself. There have been charges that the packed State Board of Examination has not dealt fairly and honestly with candidates who applied for the right to practice, after having been graduated from dental colleges of approved standing.

Any Governor will be glad to get the recommendation of reputable dentists when making appointments, but he should not be forced to accept the choice of a coterie of practitioners who are influenced by personal selfishness and prejudice. Another reason why the Berry bill should be passed is that when a board has been discredited by a considerable number of members of a profession it is intended to protect, it should be reorganized.

* * * * * *

The contention by Edmund Rushmore that he should not be advertised as a delinquent taxpayer because he has appealed his assessments to the State Board, is well taken. He stands ready to pay his taxes the minute that the case is decided, and is even willing to pay into the hands of the collector the amount assessed against him pending his appeal, to show his good faith and as a bond for the money he owes. The law should be amended so that persons who take appeals such as that of Mr. Rushmore, should be permitted to put up a bond to cover all possible taxes, in case the appeal is lost, and not be put in the embarrassing position of being advertised as delinquent, when the cause is due to the slow working of a State board.

$25,000 is asked of the Legislature for the purpose of exterminating mosquitoes along the New Jersey coast. Judging from the results accomplished in the mosquito extermination work around Plainfield last year, all the money that has been spent for the purpose in the past was wasted, and the money would have been better spent if it had been used to convert the heathen somewhere in darkest Africa. Instead of appropriating more money for the work, the Legislators would do a more popular thing if they repealed the act which makes it mandatory upon the Board of Freeholders to defray the cost of fighting the pests, when the money is asked for by various mosquito commissions. The only thing that has surely been accomplished is the payment of salaries to a group of retainers of the commissioners.

The Daily Press begins tonight the publication of a new page, devoted to Scotch Plains and Fanwood. These two towns, so closely identified with this city, have been more or less neglected, so far as newspaper service is concerned, and it is to supply a page devoted to more than the usual daily notes about the two towns that the Daily Press has set aside each Thursday to the printing of a page of timely news about activities there, and to give the merchants a chance to reach their home people through a wide circulation of the paper there each Thursday.

"Mosquito Day to Be Observed May 3," says a headline. Why start so early in the season? By June every day will be mosquito day, and we see no need for a special observance before the pests arrive. Perhaps it will be in the form of a "welcome back," or "home coming week."

- Proctor's Theatre -

The picture that has been the talk of the town appears at Proctor's today. It is a filmization of Henry W. Savage's most successful dramatic spectacle, "Madame X." The Pathe company has adapated this play to the screen and but recently released it as a six part photoplay feature. Dorothy Donnelly, the star of the original stage productions, appears in the leading role, with the result that a tensely dramatic picture has been made out of this notable success. Miss Donnelly is supported by a specially selected cast of talented artists. The story deals with the wife of a young Paris attorney who is cast off by her husband when he finds her in a compromising position. She goes to her lover, and when he tires of her, she wanders about the world, sinking lower and lower, until twenty years later she is a creature of the streets, in the grip of absinthe and drugs. An added attraction will be the appearance of Charlie Chaplin in a mammoth four reel revue of his best comic capers entitled, "Ambition," a production that will have all the spectators holding their sides from continual laughter. Another attraction at each performance is the singing of Gilletti, the noted Italian tenor, whose sweet, mellow tenor strikes a vibrant chord in the hearts of the majority of the spectators. His rendition of both operatic and popular selections deserves the highest commendation, and the management are to be complimented on providing such a high class entertainer. Among a notable list of photoplay attractions to appear next week are two that will no doubt be greeted with a tremendous ovation. They are Elinor Glyn's most famous novels, adapted to the screen, "Three Weeks" and its sequel, "One Day."

TUBERCULOSIS DEATH RATE IS DECLINING

Ten Year Drop Due to Activities of Anti-Tuberculosis Societies.

While the latest report of the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1914 tuberculosis caused over 10.5 per cent. of all deaths in the registration area of the United States, The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis points out in a statement issued today that the death-rate from this disease is steadily decreasing, having declined from 200.7 per 100,000 population in 1904 to 146.8 in 1914. This would indicate, the Association claims, that the anti-tuberculosis movement organized in the last ten years is having a marked effect on the mortality of tuberculosis, especially since the death-rate from this disease seems to be declining more rapidly than the general death-rate from all causes.

Commenting on this decrease in the rate from tuberculosis, the Bureau of the Census says: "As a result of a more general understanding of the laws of health, the importance of fresh air, etc., due in part, no doubt, to the efforts of the various societies for the prevention of tuberculosis, there has been a most marked and gratifying decrease during recent years in the mortality from this scourge of civilization. In only a decade—from 1904 to 1914—the death-rate from tuberculosis in all its forms fell from 200.7 to 146.8 per 100,000, the decline being continuous from year to year. This is a drop of more than 25 per cent."

As an indication of the growth of the campaign against tuberculosis, The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis shows that in 1905, when the campaign was definitely started, there were in the United States only thirty-nine anti-tuberculosis associations, 115 sanatoria and hospitals, twenty special clinics, no open air schools, and not more than 5,000 people actively interested in the prevention of this disease. At the close of the year 1915 there were over 1,500 anti-tuberculosis associations, 600 sanatoria and hospitals, 450 dispensaries, 800 open air schools, and over 100,000 people actively interested in the prevention of tuberculosis. Besides this, the fundamental truths that tuberculosis is a communicable, preventable and curable disease have been carried into almost every village and hamlet and to millions of men, women and children in a great variety of ways.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 105 East 22nd street, New York city, will gladly send literature on tuberculosis to those who wish it.

.·. Plainfield Theatre .·.

An offering that is described as "the funniest vaudeville act in the world" will be the headline feature of the new program at the Plainfield Theatre for the last half of the week, commencing today. It is presented by the four Slickers, a quartet of artists whose business is funmaking, and they do it as nobdy else can. The four Slickers are a riot from start to finish, and in all the years of their stage work they have never yet discovered a case of the blues they could not assassinate. The act is distinctly original and one that will linger in the memory long after contemporaries have been forgotten.

Beside the four Slickers the new bill will include Ed. Estus, known to Plainfielders through his appearances here as an equilibrist, presenting his new conception, "A Day With the Dummies;" Jaeger and Jaeger, comedians; a novelty sketch, "Clothes Make the Woman," presented by Steven Elne and a metropolitan cast; Nina Seamon and Vernon Bester, in their odd fantasy, "A Night With the Poets," and Dave Schaefer, comedian extraordinary.

The serial film, "The Iron Claw," featuring Miss Pearl White, is shown at the Plainfield Theatre every Thursday. Every Friday marks the presentation of the sensational Essanay continued film, "The Strange Case of Mary Page," which already has the following of hundreds of Plainfield Theatre patrons. In addition to these photo features, the Pathe semi-weekly is shown Tuesday and Saturdays, and every program has enough variety of movies to please the most fastidious fan.

When Bert Baker and "The Bon Tons" come to the Plainfield Theatre Monday, matinee and night, March 13, it is not at all unlikely that the patrons of that house will get the impression that they are in the wrong place, for according to advance announcement the popular comedian has gone the limit in producing a show that will measure up with the best standard set in the higher priced theatres of the country. "The Bon Tons" is entirely new and is produced with two superb sets of scenery, of the kind that hitherto has been seen only at the big Broadway productions. It consists of a promoting office in Wall street which then changes to seven different scenes and ends in a beautiful Japanese garden. This scene has been produced with remarkable fidelity, actual photographs of the place having been used by the painter in his work of reproduction. The furnishments of the scene according to those who have seen it includes every detail of decoration. The costuming of the show is described as the limit in expensive finery, gowns of every known country from the dignified train to the chic saucy apparel of the Boulevards in Paris. The cast heads with Bert Baker as the star, Babe La Tour is one of the big fetures of "The Bon Tons" and is described as one of the most beautiful women on the stage.

RAE TANZER BEFORE CONGRESS COMMITTEE

Gives Judiciary Body Light on the Famous "Oliver" Case.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Rae Tanzer, principal figure in the Osborne breach of promise case, was a witness yesterday before the sub-committee of the House Committee on Judiciary, which is investigating the official conduct of H. Snowden Marshall, United States District Attorney for the Southern district of New York. She was examined by the sub-committee for the greater part of the day. She appeared to be greatly affected by the story that she was compelled to tell and was described as tearful and hysterical part of the time. The session was behind closed doors.

The chief development was the production of a letter from Harold Spielburg, her lawyer, to Miss Tanzer. The sub-committee will make a report to the full committee today regarding this letter, which, it is said, shows that Miss Tanzer conducted certain negotiations for herself and her friends, who believed they were in danger of prosecution. It was stated an agreement was suggested which was to include the statement that Miss Tanzer was mistaken when she said that James W. Osborne, special United States attorney, was the man she had said he was.

A meeting of the entire Judiciary Committee will be held today to consider the letter.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Mother Nature Clothes Trees of The Northlands.

Mother Nature Looked Over Her Trees.

"WHEN Mother Nature took up her task of clothing the earth with green things," daddy began the bedtime story, "she had a hard time to get trees that fitted all sorts of different climates and lands. She soon learned that mountains need trees quite different from what valleys do, that what will beautifully grow in hot countries will die in icelands and that winds have a great deal to do with green things. Along with her wish to make the kind of trees that would be useful to animals and man she also wanted to put beauty in her plan."

"Aren't all trees beautiful, daddy?" asked Jack.

"Yes, but Mother Nature felt that she must place them in the landscape just right, so that harmony would happen. When you and Evelyn draw pictures you always try to make objects agree with one another, do you not?"

The children looked at one another knowingly and grinned. It may just be that neither of them had ever thought of harmony.

"For hot lands like Italy and Africa Mother Nature remembers that sunshine and not much water will destroy trees with juicy leaves. So she makes tough, fibery kinds of greenery that will live in spite of drought. Some of these tropical leaves she builds like little umbrellas to protect roots from broiling sunshine, except in the swamps. Here she lavishes pulpy, rich, juicy green things that love both heat and moisture.

"It is great fun to watch the Alps in Switzerland, where the trees try to climb the mountain sides, staggering up the heights to 'tree line,' which means the last inch that Mother Nature will let them grow on the rocky, bleak mountain tops all torn with winds and ice. The hemlocks and stunted pines look like a ragged army of men trying to capture the mountain top. But Mother Nature kills them when they go one foot beyond where she intended them to live. Being a great artist, Mother Nature looked over her trees in the north and said: 'Good! These pointed tops and close limbs are fine for meeting wind blasts and carrying weights of snow. But when I look at their rugged lines along my mountain tops they seem too severe. Even the poplars and birches and willows which I put among them do not soften their outlines. What shall I do to beautify them?'

"Then along came the moss fairy. 'Dear Mother Nature,' she said, 'you have been good to me. You have made my way in life easy, and now I will repay your kindness by spreading my softest, gray-green mosses over all the harsh limbs of all your ranks of pointed firs along all your mountain tops.' And this is why tree trunks all blend into green things so beautifully," daddy ended.

Household Hints

THE TABLE

Steamed Eggs — Butter small molds or tiny cups. Sprinkle each with chopped parsley. Break an egg into each and place in sauce pan with boiling water to come half way up. Put lid on pan and let eggs steam until set. Have toast hot and buttered and slip an egg carefully on each.

Baked Cabbage—Cabbage, cream sauce, bread crumbs, butter. Chop cabbage fine, boil to tenderness in hot water, salted. Drain and pour over cream sauce in a baking dish. Sprinkle bread crumbs over all and also dots of butter. Bake in oven about fifteen minutes or until it is browned.

Pepper Salad—Peppers cut in rings with dull scissors. Mix with lettuce and French dressing.

Prune Tart—One pound of prunes soaked over night; two eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately; half teaspoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful sugar, half pound English walnuts chopped. Bake twenty-five minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Devil's Food—Grate one-fourth cake of unsweetened chocolate in a bowl; add one-half cup of boiling water and a teaspoonful of soda and let stand until you get the following ready: Take two cups of sugar, one-half cup butter, two eggs, one-half cup sour milk and two and one-half cups of flour. Mix with chocolate and bake in layers. For frosting, take one cup of pulverized sugar, butter size of an egg, and cream. Flavor with vanilla.

"Hop-in-John" (southern dish)—Soak one pint red beans overnight; drain, cover with cold water and cook slowly. After two hours add half pound fat bacon, a chopped sweet pepper, salt if needed and one pint rice. Cook two hours longer, or until all is tender and nearly dry. Serve on platter, bacon in the center.

Veal Loaf—Three pounds lean beef, one-half pound veal, six soda crackers, four teaspoons poultry seasoning, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, few drops of onion juice. Put meat through chopper and add other ingredients. Mix well and pack in bread pan. Smooth evenly on the top. Brush with white of egg. Bake slowly three hours, basting with one-fourth cup fat. Prick frequently while cooking.

Charlotte Russe—One-fourth box gelatine, one-half cup cold water, one teaspoon vanilla, whites of two eggs, speck of salt, one-half cup hot milk, four tablespoons of sugar, one cup of cream, two cups of whipped creap, four tablespoons powdered sugar. Soak gelatine in cold water one-half hour, add hot milk, vanilla and four tablespoons sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved, add cream and put on ice. When it begins to stiffen beat with an egg beater until very light, then add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, to which the powdered sugar and salt has been added. Beat well and add whipped cream. Pour into wet mold lined with ladyfingers or sponge cake and put on the ice to stiffen.

Fried Cream—Milk, one pint; sugar, one-half cup; butter the size of a hickory nut; yolks of eggs, three; cornstarch, four tablespoons; flour, one tablespoon; vanilla, one-half teaspoon. Let milk come to a boil, add sugar and flour wet with a little extra milk; stir over fire for fully two minutes. Stir in beaten yolks and let cook long enough to set. Take from fire and add butter and vanilla, pour on a buttered platter to the depth of one-half inch. When cold and stiff cut into squares, roll in beaten egg and cracker crumbs, fry a delicate brown in deep fat, place in oven a few minutes and sprinkle with sugar.

Stuffed Egg Plant—Boil until soft one egg plant, make a dressing of one egg, two cups crumbs, one-half cup celery, one-half cup nuts, one-half cup cream, two tablespoonfuls of butter; cut egg plant in half and scrape out center; separate seeds fro mpulp; add pulp to dressing and place all in the halves of the egg plant again. Bake for thirty minutes in buttered dish. Baste with milk.

Creamed Cauliflower—Two cups cooked cauliflower, two cups milk, one teaspoon salt, one-third teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon butter, one-half tablespoon flour. Break cauliflower into branches and season with half the salt and pepper. Put the butter in a saucepan. When hot, add the flour, and stir until smooth, then add the milk, stirring all the time—when sauce boils, add salt, pepper and cauliflower. Cook ten minutes.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

The Younger Townsends Wonder What Their Visitor Will be Like.

"Well, I have good news," announced Ortrude Townsend at the dinner table. Her husband looked up politely to indicate his interest in her conversation. "I have a letter from a very attractive young cousin of mine, and she says she is coming to make me a visit next month."

"You will enjoy that," was Jacob's only remark. Marian and Dudley exchanged glances.

"I do hope there will be something going on while she is here," continued Ortrude. "I should like to give her a good time. She is not much older than Marian. I am sure you will enjoy her," she added, turning to the girl.

Marian indicated, with a toss of the head that she could forego that pleasure.

"I shall give a party to introduce her to the young people of the town——"

"School begins next week and everybody will be busy," blurted out Marian.

"Oh, there will be time on Friday and Saturday nights for some gayety." Ortrude looked at Marian with a slight sneer on her face. [illegible] rushed that [illegible] in the young [illegible] de looked inquiringly at the young man.

"You must remember that I am a business man and have few evenings to myself," replied Dudley, and Marian telegraphed her gratitude to her brother for following her lead.

"I think when you see her you will be willing to devote some time to making her visit pleasant." Ortrude realized that her only chance of obtaining the help of the young people was through conciliatory means, so she produced her best manner and most ingratiating smile.

Jacob's heart died within him as he realized that here was a fine chance for more friction. The meal was finished in silence.

"Well, if my lady imagines that I I am going to help her entertain her fair cousin she is very much mistaken," said Marian angrily when they were alone. "My crop is just as full of the Blakely tribe as it will hold as it is. I wonder if this is the daughter of the bankrupt. I understand her father's brother failed in business."

"I should think bankrupts would be rather plentiful in their family if all the members could make the money fly like the speciment we had foisted on us." Dudley's tone was bitter.

"I shall spend my time down at the den over the store, and she will not see me except at meal time." Marian bobbed her head with emphasis.

"I wonder if she is as much of a dresser as our member of the family," remarked Dudley.

"If she isn't, she will be before she goes," answered Marian savagely.

"Meaning?"

"Meaning that poor Daddy will be called upon to foot the bills for an elaborate wardrobe for her." Fierce resentment was in her tone.

"Surely not," exclaimed Dudley; but he looked worried.

"You see if I am not right. Why not? It costs her nothing, and anything she can wring from that husband of ners is clear gain." Marian caught her hat and followed Dudley down the walk.

"I know why she has sent for her." She looked slyly into her brother's face.

"Why?"

"She thinks she can fix her talons into you; that all the Townsends are are easy; at least those of the masculine gender."

Dudley put back his head and laughed. "My, but you have an imagination." He pinched her cheek.

RUSSIANS SEIZE TURK SEAPORT

Rizeh, on Black Sea Coast, Is Captured.

TREBIZOND IS BOMBARDED

Ottoman Ports Weakening Under Terrific Shelling by Fleet—French Check Germans In Advance West of Verdun — Twenty Thousand Prisoners Taken by the German Invaders.

Petrograd, March 9.—The Turkish seaport town of Rizeh, thirty-five miles east of Trebizond, was captured by the czar's forces. Announcement was made in the following official statement by the war department:

Caucasus Front.—In the coastal district our troops continue to press the Turks closely. We captured the town of Rizeh on the 17th.

Persian Front.—We have occupied the town of Sehna, fifty versts northward of Kermanshah.

According to recent dispatches from Sevastopol, the Turkish coast defenses along the Black sea are crumbling up before the intensity of the bombardment of the Russian warships.

There is apparently a growing disposition on the part of the Turks along the Anatolian shore to surrender without fighting. In many cases, according to reports received here, the Turkish population have sent out emissaries in boats to the Russian fleet offering submission to Russia. Russian cruisers continue to bombard Trebizond.

Rumors of Turkey's willingness to enter into peace negotiations with Russia are increasingly current here, but there is no official confirmation that Turkey has up to the present made actual overtures to the Russian government.

French Check Germans.

London, March 9.—The German attempt to prosecute the flanking movement to the northwest of Verdun, on the west bank of the Meuse, met a check when the French drove the Germans from the positions in the Bois des Corbeaux.

The part which is still in German hands lies between Le Mort Homme and Cote de l'Ole and is apparently of no great strategic importance. The Germans have, however, occupied Regneville, on the river bank.

A violent bombardment was again in progress east of the Meuse, in the neighborhood of Douaumont, where German assaults to the east of the fort failed. German infantry, however, reoccupied the Hardaumont redoubt that was captured by the French.

There was brisk artillery fighting in the Woevre, the French batteries on the Meuse hills counter shelling the German positions on the plain.

In an attempt to hamper the Germans in forwarding men and munitions from the rear a French squadron of sixteen aeroplanes dropped 124 shells on the Sablons station at Metz, where several trains were standing.

London, March 9.—The number of French prisoners taken by the Germans in the actions around Verdun now is approaching 20,000.

The stories told by French prisoners of the havoc caused by the artillery bombardments are easily verified by what the correspondent has seen of the French trenches. He saw miles of them so pulverized that no earthquake could have razed them more thoroughly. Trenches, bombproof dugouts and barbed wire barricades are one indescribable mass.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The association wishes to announce to the public that lunches are served daily at the West Front street building from 12 to 1 o'clock. Hot soup, cocoa and tea can be secured and business girls are especially welcome to take advantage of this luncheon.

A cake sale will be held at the association on Saturday for the benefit of the athletic fund. Home made cakes will be on sale from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m.

A class in millinery will be started at the association on Thursday, March 16. All who wish to join are requested to register at the office of the association. On the same date a class in cooking will be started under the direction of Miss Beatrice Gardner. The course will include six lessons.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also is the most effective way to break a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

GERMANY'S U-BOAT STAND

Bernstorff's New Note Explains In Detail Berlin's Position on Armed Liners—Willing to Observe Law on Undersea Warfare if England Will Agree to Do the Same.

Washington, March 9.—Washington officials heard, though not from the British government direct, that Great Britain has decided to disarm all passenger ships. The report could not be confirmed at the British embassy.

The United States government, it was learned on high authority, is considering the advisability of questioning the character of armament used on British merchantmen.

Such action, if taken, will be based on the nature of the "secret orders" issued by the British admiralty to English merchantmen, directing them to fire on German and Austrian submarines on sight.

While no decision has been reached yet, it is said that close examination of these orders, together with other data submitted by the German government in the appendices to the German submarine declaration of March 1, impressed administration officials to some extent with the reasonableness of the German contention that the British merchantmen are not armed for defensive, but for offensive purposes.

Because of this impression it is the intention of the state department to submit the appendices to the British government for verification and comment.

Berlin's U-Boat Stand

Germany made a further explanation to the United States of the position it has taken in regard to armed merchant vessels of the entente allies.

Count von Bernstorff handed to Secretary Lansing a formal memorandum which, after reviewing the events leading up to Germany's recent decision to treat armed merchant ships as auxiliary cruisers, conceded that existing international law did not regulate the use of submarines and indicated a willingness to conduct under sea warfare in accordance with the law prevailing at the outbreak of the war provided Great Britain and her allies would regard the same laws.

The memorandum also expresses the hope that the people of the United States, remembering the long existing friendly relations between the two nations, will appreciate the German position.

The memorandum was submitted to President Wilson. It will be considered, together with other documents from the German government, in determining what shall be the next step of the United States in the submarine negotiations.

There was every indication that the administration would be in no hurry to announce a stand as to the new policy of the central European powers or to pass finally upon Germany's latest proposal for a settlement of the Lusitania case.

Won't Warn Americans.

From both the White House and the state department there came emphatic denials of a rumor that the administration intended to warn American citizens off armed ships. At the state department it was explained that it was for the citizens themselves who took passage on armed ships not entering American waters to determine whether they were boarding vessels armed defensively or offensively and the nature of the instructions under which ship captains would act in the presence of a submarine. An offensively armed ship which entered American waters, it was said, would be regarded as a war vessel and would not be allowed to remain more than twenty-four hours. In foreign waters, however, it is no concern of this government how ships are armed.

Does Not Expect War.

A statement designed to reassure the country that President Wilson does not look for war with Germany was made in the senate by Senator William J. Stone of Missouri, chairman of the committee on foreign relations.

In a speech that forced votes in congress on the armed merchantmen issue Senator Gore declared a week ago that President Wilson had told Senator Stone and others that if a German submarine again fired on a belligerent merchantman and American lives were lost as a result war with Germany would undoubtedly follow.

It was this statement by Mr. Gore that brought to a head the dispute between congress and the president over Mr. Wilson's foreign policy.

In his statement to the senate Senator Stone made this observation:

"I am sure I will not offend if I say that so far from the president desiring to involve the country in this disastrous European war his supreme wish is to avoid this calamity."

Much significance was attached to Mr. Stone's statement in view of the fact that it was obviously inspired by the White House. Chairman Stone took pains to say that he discussed the subject with the president. He added that he had decided to defer for a time the delivery of a speech he had prepared on the armed merchantmen issue.

Aside from the remarks made by Mr. Stone, there was no reference in the senate debate to the armed merchantmen dispute. Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, who was scheduled to speak, postponed his address until later in the week.

As an aftermath of the spectacular struggle to table the McLemore resolution the Democrats of the house brought their scattered forces together with a general outpouring of harmony talk.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Care of the Special Organs.

Eyes.—Whether the young baby is awake or asleep, his eyes should always be shielded from strong light, either sunlight or artificial, and from dust and wind. Care should be taken not to allow any soapy water to enter the baby's eyes in bathing. Swelling or redness or any discharge should have medical attention at once.

Mouth.—A healthy baby's mouth needs no cleaning before the teeth come. The saliva is a sterilizing fluid, intended to keep the mouth healthy, and it is possible to injure the delicate tissues by attempting to clean them with a cloth. If the mouth must be washed, a swab made by twisting a piece of sterile absorbent cotton on the end of a clean stick should be used. Dip this in warm boiled water and wipe the gums very carefully. Never put a finger inside the baby's mouth unless in an emergency.

Ears.—Wash the external ear with a soft rag, but never attempt to introduce any hard instrument inside the ear to clean it. Always dry the ears and creases back of them very carefully.

Nose.—The baby's nose should be cleaned as a part of the daily toilet in the same way as the ears. When the baby has an infectious cold he should have special attention.

Winter and Spring Care.

The Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, has issued a helpful pamphlet about the winter and early spring care of babies.

The winter diseases of babies—bronchitis, pneumonia, "colds" and the like—are, like the summer diarrhoea, to a large extent preventable by the intelligent care of the baby and proper living conditions. These consist in winter and the first spring month, as well as summer, of suitable food, in the right amounts and at the right times; cleanliness, sufficient sleep, plenty of fresh, clean air to breathe and protection from exposure to infectious diseases. Lack of the two latter requirements causes the winter illnesses among babies.

Ordinarily it is not the cold of winter, but the stale, overheated air inside our houses and public buildings, breathed and rebreathed, thus passing the germs from one to another, that causes illness.

Feed the Babies Clean Milk.

During the past year 609 babies were born in Plainfield. Sixty of these babies died. Statistics show that three-fourths of the babies die from preventable diseases, and a large per cent. of these deaths is caused by improper feeding. All over our country great efforts are being made to save these babies, and the most important element in this enormous saving of child life consists in a better understanding of the dangers attending the use of unclean milk.

Consumers are more and more demanding milk which is produced on clean premises by clean persons, and which is collected and sold under conditions which protect it against contamination. In order to produce clean milk, the dairy must use pure water, ice cut from water which is fit to drink, healthy cattle, clean, well-ventilated stables, and clean utensils. The dairy must exclude flies and employ only those persons to handle the milk who are free from infectious diseases. Milk produced and sold under these conditions is clean milk. Milk produced under these conditions and handled under the supervision of a medical milk commission is called certified milk. Certified milk costs more than clean milk.

The natural and best food for babies is the milk of the mother. But when breast feeding is not possible, or when the mother's milk is not normal, the best food for "bottle babies" is clean or certified milk, "modified," that is, prepared according to the directions given by the physician.

How many of you mothers reading this column have visited the dairy from which you receive your milk supply? Do you know if the stables are clean? Is the atmosphere comparatively free from dust? Are the cattle tuberculin tested, well fed and cared for? Are the flanks and udders carefully washed before each milking? Are all of the utensils thoroughly sterilized before using? Is each milker dressed in a clean suit and does he wear a cap? Does he wash his hands before milking? Is the warm milk cooled and bottled at once? Is it kept on ice and delivered in this way to you? Is the milk bottle immediately put into your ice box and kept there?

You smile and say, "Why, all of this investigation is unnecessary. I cannot go to all of this trouble. The milk I take looks good and tastes good, so I am sure it must be clean."

"Looks good and tastes good!" Herein lies the fatal mistake; but this is the answer too often received when a mother is asked if she knows about the source of her milk supply. The milk may "look good and taste good" and yet there may be lurking within it hundreds of thousands of harmful bacteria which are a menace to your child's health.

Ten years ago a strong, healthy baby was born in a New Jersey town. In a few months he was taken to a town near Plainfield, where he was reared. After nursing the baby for six months the mother was obliged to wean him. She inquired about the different milks delivered in the town and was told of one which was said to be the "best in town." The mother sought the dairyman and from him learned that his milk was "certified." The milk was delivered and the baby was fed this "certified" milk "modified." After a few months the baby became very ill with vomiting, and a rash appeared upon the face and neck. Food was taken away, the baby watched, and in a few days he recovered. Not many months passed before another illness, more severe than he first, came to the baby. Several of these attacks followed during a year, each attack becoming more severe, until the baby showed signs of decline. Then it was that the father suggested that the "food supply" be examined. As this "certified" milk was the principal article of the "food supply," a bottle of it was sent to the Plainfield Board of Health, where it was analyzed. The report received was: "The milk contains 450,000 bacteria; it is unfit for use." Think of it! This baby had been fed a filthy food because this mother had accepted, without careful investigation, the "best milk in town." She had endangered her child's life, and might have lost him but for that timely analysis of the milk. And had this mother known what clean milk and certified milk really is and been governed accordingly, she could have saved the baby those severe illnesses.

Mothers, can you afford to remain in ignorance about your milk supply? Can you afford to accept the fact that because your milk "looks good and tastes good" it must be clean. If you cannot visit your dairy you can learn from your Board of Health the exact condition of your milk supply. And if you are so fortunate as to live in Plainfield, where the milk is rigidly inspected and a careful record kept at the office of the Board of Health, you can easily obtain all the data you desire.

Is it not worth while to investigate the matter right now, and after investigation is it not worth while to feed these children entrusted to your care a milk which you know is absolutely clean or certified?

GRACE W. SEAMAN.

RECREATION NOTES

The singers of the West End are to band together and organize a neighborhood choral. Rehearsal will be held in the kindergarten room of the Washington School tonight. Those who sing because they love to sing will be welcome.

The dressmaking class will be held tonight in the Washington School under the direction of Miss Scarborough. The faithful workers in this class are progressing marvelously.

Other activities in the school tonight are as follows: Roller skating in the basement; dancing in the auditorium and games in the library.

Tomorrow night the Dunbar dance will be held and the Dramatic Club will hold a rehearsal.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv

TILE-LIKE FINISH

FLOORS—It makes the best and most durable finish on floors. Can be used on hard or soft wood.

OLD FURNITURE—It erases all scratches and mars.

WICKER FURNITURE—Coated with Tile-Like gives it an appearance as if new.

PORCH CHAIRS Coated with Tile-Like makes a beautiful finish.

LINOLEUM or OIL CLOTH Coated with Tile-Like adds to wear. Will resist water and never turns white.

All old work should be washed with scouring soap before applying Tile-Like.

Be sure the work is thoroughly dry.

Where you wish to obtain aan imitation of natural wood, a coat of Yellow Ground Color should be first applied. After the Ground Color has thoroughly dried, apply a coat of shade desired.

P. H. S. DROPS ITS LAST HOME GAME

Battin High School Passers Victors in Local Gym, by 25-15 Score.

LOSERS PASSING BAD

Tomlinson, Crack Elizabeth Pivot, Not in His Best Form, Else Score of Winners Would Have Been Larger.

Plainfield High School's court warriors lost their last home game of the season yesterday afternoon when they succumbed to the fast going Battin High School five of Elizabeth in a rather exciting game by a 25 to 15 score. Inaccurate passing helped the P. H. S. boys to their downfall and they were also a little off in their shooting.

Although he did not pile up his usual score, Tomlinson, the Battin centre, did some good work and caged the first basket of the game from a shot close under the basket. Play shifted from one end of the floor to the other, and fast playing under the baskets resulted before practically every goal. The visitors had about the same lead in scoring in the second half as they did in the first, although it was not until near the end of the game that they did most of their scoring. Both the Battin guards made pretty shots in the last period from near the center of the floor. The foul shooting of the sharpshooters of both quintets was very ragged, and many stray points were lost on free throws.

The nearness of the end of the season seemed to effect the crowd as well as the players, because there was only about a dozen spectators present. Tomlinson was high point man for the game, although he did not make his customary number of baskets. He is generally the whole show, but yesterday every man that got in the game for the visitors broke into the scoring column. Kyle did his share for the P. H. S. cohorts but that was not enough to win.

DOUBLES PLAY OF WOMEN'S INDOOR TENNIS UNDER WAY

In addition to the women's singles being played on the Heights Casino courts in New York, the doubles were started yesterday, Miss Molla Bjurstedt winning her opening match, with Mrs. F. C. Schmitz as her partner.

The summaries:

Heights Casino Invitation Tennis Tournament, Women's Doubles.—First Round—Miss Caroma Winn and Mrs. Percy Wilbourne defeated Miss Mararet Taylor and Miss Abbie Morrison, 6—2, 6—3; Miss Adele Bull and Miss Cornelia Cousins won by default.

Second round—Miss Florence Ballin and Mrs. S. F. Weaver defeated Mrs. David C. Mills and Mrs. Albert Humphries, 6—4, 6—4; Miss Ina Kissell and Miss Helen Alexander defeated Miss Adele Bull and Miss C. Cousins, 6—4, 6—2; Miss Molla Bjurstedt and Mrs. Frederick C. Schmitz defeated Miss Gertrude Della Torre and Mrs. Theodore K. Cassebeer, 7—5, 6—3.

FORMER HOPE CHAPEL MEN TO PLAY PRESENT QUINTET

The basketball attraction at Hope Chapel, Saturday night, will be a game between the old Hope players, who represented the Chapel on the court a few years ago, and the present team. Of the old guard, it is expected that Tommy Heron, who captained the Hope team, while Snyder was championship in 1913-1914; Arthur Walls, Dave Wardrop, George Leighs and Allan Snyder will be back. Leighs for five years was manager of the Hoppe team, while Snyder was one of the best athletes ever turned out of Plainfield High School.

NEWARK EAGLES RETAIN TITLE

Win Close Roll-off on Local Eagles' Alleys From the Elizabeth Pinners.

THREE GAMES NEEDED

Extra Series Goes the Limit, Newark Taking Rubber by Eight Pins, 919 to 911—Bleicker and Bowkett Keep Losers in the Running.

Newark Aerie retained the bowling championship of the Fraternal Order of Eagles' League, winning the roll-off on the Plainfield Eagles' alleys last night from Elizabeth. The extra series was very close, the limit of three games being required to decide the championship. The rubber game was won by the puny margin of eight pins, the champions totaling 919 and their rivals stopping at 911.

The deciding game was a thrill from start to finish. Only three pins separated the rival contingents in the sixth frame. Dave Maloney's holes in the eighth and tenth cost Elizabeth a couple dozen pins. The other members of both teams had clean frames. Ernie Bleicker and Bert Bowkett made valiant attempts to pull their side out a winner, the Elizabeth captain piling up strikes and spares for a total of 230, and the veteran finishing with a double; but their mates could not hold the pace.

Elizabeth took the opener with 916. The Bocks led all the way, Newark, with a modest 766, being 150 pins behind at the finish. The title-holders evened matters in the second struggle, which was closer. Newark was only three pins to the good going into the fourth, but gradually increased the advantage, and wound up with 871 to Elizabeth's 827, a difference of 44 pins.

BASEBALL NOTES

International League players are said to be very backward in returning signed contracts this year.

President Edward G. Barrow is going right ahead with the schedule despite the fact that many players have stated that they will not accept a salary cut.

Listen to Bennie Kauff. Bennie insists that Harry Hempstead offered a bonus to the former Fed. outfielder to report to Manager McGraw in Marlin. Bennie wants a like amount from Harry Sinclair.

Jimmie Callahan's Pittsburgh Pirates were given a short workout yesterday at Dawson Springs, Ky.

Miller Huggins, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, worked two infields yesterday at San Antonio, Tex. Dots Miller, captain of the club, landed in camp and took charge of the regulars.

Manager Wilbert Robinson, of the Superbas, has announced that his players are fit for battle.

A cool wave which swept Marlin yesterday was welcomed by the Giants.

After learning how to pronounce the name of the town where the training camp is located, the young Tigers were given a work-out yesterday at Waxahachie, Tex.

The Boston Red Sox will leave Boston tomorrow for Hot Springs.

Walter Johnson is due to arrive at the camp of the Washington Senators today. Manager Clark Griffith expects things to hum around Charlottesville after the speed artist hits camp.

Frank Baker has arrived at the camp of the Yankees at Macon. Baker lost the nail of a finger of his right hand as the result of an accident, but the home "home run" king expects to be able to get down to hard work in a day or two. Now that all of the players are on hand, the only thing that troubles Donovan is the weather.

Followers of the Giants will hardly recognize Cole, Farrell, Sharman, Fish, Jacobson and Thorpe. These are the candidates Manager McGraw has on hand for outfield positions. Among the missing are Bennie Kauff, Eddie Roush and George Burns

Beals Becker, former Giant and Phillie, has been signed by Kansas City.

NEWARK ELKS ASKED FOR AN EXPLANATION

Team Violated Rules by Not Consulting Committee About Postponement.

It is understood that the right of the Newark Elks to postpone indefinitely their match scheduled with Paterson for Tuesday night of this week will be seriously questioned by the executive committee of the league. Because it is desired to have the schedule end by March 10, the league has a rule that no dates for postponed games can be set after March 10 without permission from the executive committee, and the Newark team, it is said, laid over the Paterson series without consulting the committee. George L. Hirtzel, Jr., a member of the executive committee has written William Weingarth, captain of the Newark team, asking for an explanation.

Any action taken by the league to penalize the offending team will have an important bearing on the race, for the Newark team is leading for the championship now, and looks to be a sure winner. Both the Newark and Elizabeth teams, which have been close rivals for leading honors all season, have one more series to roll, and as Newark is only two games ahead of Elizabeth, the latter team still has a chance.

The executive committee has already given permission to extend the schedule. It has allowed the Rutherford-New Brunswick games to be set for March 18, and has allowed Elizabeth to postpone indefinitely its match scheduled for tonight with New Brunswick, because Heinie Clauss, the star of the Betsytown team, is still laid up with rheumatism. Heinie is stiff in the left knee, and his bowling hand is sore, his old complaint being worse now than it was when he recently tried to roll at Jersey City. The New Brunswick-Elizabeth match, which will be the last of the season for the county seaters, will probably be decided some night next week.

CITY BOWLERS RESPONDING FOR WASHINGTON TOURNEY

Washington, D. C., March 9.—With bearly a month separating the present time from the closing of the entries for the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association Tournament, to be held in Washington commencing April 3, indications are that it will be one of the largest tournaments that has ever been held in the East. Washington, of course, is expected to be the largest patron of the tournament, having fifty odd leagues that should furnish at least one hundred and fifty to two hundred five-men teams.

Baltimore has already fallen into line, and the bowling enthusiasts have signified their intention of sending not less than fifty teams to the Capitol.

Philadelphia, a ten pin center, has promised to be well represented, and during the booster meeting held in New York, Mr. Jones, the representative of the local association of that city, furnished the names of twenty-six teams that have already forwarded their entries, which no doubt will be increased from ten to fifteen teams.

New York city will doubtless be represented by not less than fifty teams, and if all indications prove true, that number will be exceeded by twenty-five teams, as great interest is shown on behalf of the tournament, and great rivalry exists between some of the largest leagues that will journey to the Capitol with their families, who will take advantage of the special railroad rates that will be offered for the excursionists that want to combine the Bowling Tournament with a sight seeing trip.

Boston, of course, where the tournament was held last year, will furnish one of the heaviest entry lists, while other New England entries have promised to support the Washington Tournament with large delegations.

Syracuse is making a strong effort to secure the tournament for 1917, and will send a delegation greater than any city outside of Washington, and judging from reports of the different localities, the entry list for this tournament will far exceed three hundred and fifty five-men teams that will furnish cash prizes amounting to about $35,000.

ENTRY BLANKS OUT.

Entry blanks are out for the big Irvington-Millburn 25-mile road race, which will be run over the original course, near Newark, on Decoration Day, May 30. The Cycle Racing Association of Newark is reviving the famous cycling classic after a lapse of eight years, and the association will donate a number of high-class prizes for the event, the first prize being an automobile valued at $1,000, while another high-class automobile will be the award to the rider making the fastest time for the course. Over a hundred prizes will be up for the amateurs on that day. Blanks and other information in connection with the coming event may be secured from the Cycle Racing Association, 152 Market street, Newark.

LEONARD OUTPOINTS DUNDEE.

Benny Leonard won over Johnny Dundee at Madison Square Garden, New York, last night in a bout that was as desperate as any that was ever waged under the roof of the famous old show house.

EDDIE FEIHL ROLLS 300 AND AVERAGES 254.6 FOR 9 GAMES

Eddie Feihl, the creck Elizabeth bowler, gave one of the greatest exhibitions of bowling ever seen in a match in this state, when he opposed Ben Barber, of Westfield, in a match on Jay Eaton's alleys in Newark last night. Feihl averaged 254.6 for nine games, and in the seventh game rolled a perfect score, the first he has ever made.

Feihl, who gave the Westfield pinner a handicap of fifty pins a game, rolled the following scores: 259, 234, 245, 224, 258, 256, 300, 258 and 256. He totaled 2,290 pins, and won seven out of the nine games.

Feihl has been murdering the pins on the Eaton alleys, which were formerly owned by Jackie Clark. The Elizabeth boy, who rolls with the Elizabeth team of the Elks' Senior League, and in several other leagues, defeated Jimmy Smith, the world's champion bowler, in a match in Newark last week.

LEAL'S FIVE THROUGH; MAY NOT HAVE SCHOOL BALL TEAM

The Leal's School basketball team is through for the season. No more games will be played. The players neglected practice in order to go to the theatres and attend to their social duties, and Coach Wardlaw decided to call off the remaining games. On account of the dearth of baseball material, there probably will be no nine to represent the school on the diamond this year.

WESTFIELD PINNERS TO START TWO MAN EVENT

Twenty pairs are entered in a two-man tournament which will start tomorrow night on the Westfield playhouse alleys. The forty competitors will all be members of the two Westfield leagues. Only one Plainfielder is entered. Each team will play nineteen matches, one against each rival.

At the close of the Westfield Sunday School League an individual tourney wil start. The league will end next Thursday night. The Episcopal and Presbyterian teams will clash tonight.

RALPH, JERSEY CUEIST, WINS.

Chicago, March 9.—In a brilliant exhibition, "Ed" Ralph, of Trenton, N. J., piled up a score of 100 to Charles Weston's 37 in the pocket billiard championship meet yesterday. Safety play kept the count down in the early part of the match, but in missing an easy combination in the tenth inning the Chicagoan left a set-up for Ralph on which he ran 25, the best run of the game. The match lasted twenty-one innings.

In a contest as remarkable for the number of scratches as for any other feature, Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, won from J. L. Chapman, of Chicago, 100 to 80, the match stringing out over forty-six innings. Taberski scratched eleven times, and Chapman ten. Each had a high run of 17.

M. G. A. Handicaps Ready.

According to James A. Tyng, chairman of the Metropolitan Golf Association handicap committee, returns have been received from all but thirteen clubs. Most of the delinquents are small organizations. The 1916 ratings will be out by the latter part of the month.

SCHEDULE FOR TWO-MAN EVENT

ELKS AT NEW YORK.

Plainfield's team in the Elks' Senior League will go to New York tomorrow night to roll on the Manhattan Bills' lanes.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Mary Pickford, America's greatest film star, will be the principal attraction at the U. S. Astor theatre today and tomorrow in "Mme. Butterfly," produced by the Famous Players Film Company from the opera of the same name. Most of the scenes in this unusual film were taken in Plainfield, and no doubt hundreds of local folk will visit the Astor to see their own town depicted on the screen.

Never before has there been a more beautiful picture than "Mme. Butterfly." The scenes reveal remarkable beauties, and all the photographed with the rare artistry for which the Famous Players are noted. The photoplay, like the opera, teems with heart interest, and although it lacks the beautiful score of the opera, the screen permits the use of many scenes which in the stage version had to be left to the imagination owing to the lack of room. Miss Pickford needs no introduction to Plainfielders. She is as famous as President Wilson, and draws even a bigger salary than he. And she has such rare talents that the most blase theatregoers, who prefer Shaw and Pinero to photoplays, like to see her on the screen. She will appeal to everybody in Plainfield and, with the added interest occasioned by the fact that many of the beautiful exterior scenes were taken in this town, "Mme. Butterfly" ought surely to prove a success at the Astor.

Weather Forecast.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of the United States weather bureau taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

| | Temp. | Weather. |
|---|---|---|
| Albany | 30 | Snow |
| Atlantic City | 32 | Clear |
| Boston | 26 | Snow |
| Buffalo | 16 | Snow |
| Chicago | 24 | Clear |
| New Orleans | 54 | Clear |
| New York | 30 | Cloudy |

The Misses Lillian and Fanny Chandler, of Madison avenue, will remove to Asbury Park, April 1, where they will make their home.

Local Sport News, Views, Reviews and Interviews

SPEEDY BASKETBALL FIVES HERE.

No quartet of male basketball teams have appeared on one court in Plainfield all winter that compare to the four quintets which are billed to show on the Tabs' court tomorrow night. Three of the four teams are colored aggregations, and as their admirers pun about them, "they are fast blacks." The Athenians and Plainfield A. A., the home teams that will be seen in action, are among the best combinations in town, while their respective opponents, the Montclair Y. M. C. A. and the St. Christopher's, of New York, are two of the best colored teams in the Metropolitan district.

JACK MARTIN WILL LEAVE ON MARCH 20.

In less than a fortnight, Jack Martin will leave Plainfield for Pine Bluff, Ark., for the spring training spell of the Milwaukee club. Jack needs less conditioning than the average athlete. He is seldom overweight, and generally reports in prime shape. Martin looks to be in perfect condition, despite the fact that he has not been entirely well during the last two months. Stomach trouble, which kept him out of the game a couple of times last season, has been bothering the Brewers' shortstop, but barring this, Martin is in excellent fettle.

• • • • • •

N. P. H. S. basketballers chose wisely when they picked Ronny Conroy to lead the quintet that next year will attempt to wrest the scholastic championship from Plainfield High School. The small margin by which N. P. H. S. lost the title this season may represent how much the borough outfit missed Conroy, who was kept out of the games by an attack of appendicitis.

• • • • • •

The Plainfield Kennel Club, at its indoor show last Saturday, had a splendid prize list, but no award was provided for the exhibitor making the largest entry. The local club, at its first shows, used to offer $25 for the largest exhibitor and $15 for the second largest, and it ought to encourage entries by reviving the idea.

• • • • • •

Bowlers are making it harder than ever for their already overworked secretaries. Teams used to finish their weeks on Friday night, giving the secretaries two days to figure the weekly averages announced on Mondays. This year the habit of bowling Saturday nights became popular, and now they are beginning to roll on Sundays.

• • • • • •

Marty O'Loughlin watched Jess Willard train one day this week. Marty declares Jess looks to be in good physical condition, and the Plainfielder has had enough experience in athletics to know the w. k. pink when he sees it.

JUSTICE DENIES GRAFT CHARGES

"Terror to Motorists" Held In $5,000 Bail.

EX-CONSTABLE IS ACCUSER

Pleasantville "Squire" Declares His Arrest Is Due to Political Conspiracy. Former Associate Acted Because of Old Grudge, He Says, After Arrest In Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, March 9.—Justice of the Peace Joseph F. Weeks of Pleasantville, for years a terror to speeding automobilists on the Atlantic City boulevard, was arrested on a charge of extortion, preferred by W. D. Speece, his former constable. He was arraigned before Magistrate Haughey and held in $5,000 bail for a further hearing next Monday.

Squire Weeks denounced his arrest as a political conspiracy. "I intend to waive the hearing and lay my troubles before the judge," he declared. "Speece and his followers have an old grudge against me, and they are trying to put me in jail. I have a clean record and I will turn the tables before the good old summer time rolls around."

Squire Weeks and Speece are indicted on a charge preferred by Mrs. Imogene Boss of Baltimore, who last summer eloped to Pleasantville with the son of a Philadelphia contractor. Their trial will come up within a month. According to friends of the justice, Speece has turned state's evidence.

The arrest of Weeks was a surprise. He is accused with having illegally demanded money from Italians arraigned before him. Bail first was set at $10,000 by Magistrate Haughey, but on the advice of County Judge Shinn it was reduced to $5,000.

Following their indictment, Weeks and Speece severed relations, it is believed, and afterward the constable was accused with the larceny of an overcoat. The warrant for his arrest was sworn out before Squire Weeks.

Before Justice Weeks and Constable Speece parted they were instrumental in causing the arrest of scores of autoists for alleged infractions of the New Jersey automobile laws. There were many complaints over the justice of the prosecutions.

PROSPERITY OF PLAINFIELD PROVEN BY BUSINESS MEN WHO ATTENDED ANNUAL DINNER

EVENT OF LAST NIGHT, HELD IN COLUMBUS HALL, PARTICIPATED IN BY 140 OF CITY'S LEADING MERCHANTS.

RICHARD A. CLAYBROOK ACTS AS TOASTMASTER

Association on Record as Favoring Prompt Action in Giving of Adequate Transportation Facilities to South Plainfield—Former Governor Stokes Among Prominent Speakers—Spicer's to Spend $1,000,000 to Enlarge.

More than 140 of the leading merchants and manufacturers of Plainfield attended the dinner of the Business Men's Association held in Columbus Hall last night, and attested by voice, appearance and spirit to the abundant prosperity that this city and this community is enjoying.

The dinner was one of the most successful events of its kind ever attempted by the Business Men's Association, or any other similar one in this city, and if any member entered the dining hall doubting the prosperity of Plainfield business men as a while he was soon awakened to real conditions by the optimism and cheerfulness that dominated every utterance, and every minute of the evening.

Former Councilman Richard A. Claybrook acted as toastmaster, in the absence of Mayor Calkins. The principal speakers of the evening were the Hon. E. C. Stokes, former governor of New Jersey; E. R. Carhart, president of the Battery Park National Bank, of New York; C. A. Dana, vice-president of the Spicer Manufacturing Company; L. D. Albin, sales manager of the Ingersoll-Rand Company, and Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

During the evening the proposition to extend the trolley service from Plainfield to South Plainfield was brought up by Charles A. Dana, vice-president of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, and this subject came in for considerable discussion and unanimous approval. As a result, it is likely that the association will take the matter under consideration and endeavor to present it again to the State Board of Public Utilities.

Regrets of Mayor Calkins.

Because of an engagement that called him to Washington, Mayor Calkins, who was to have been toastmaster, was unable to attend. He sent the following letter to A. H. Osmun, and it was read by Toastmaster Claybrook:

"Dear Mr. Osmun: As I telephoned you this morning, I regret exceedingly that I shall not be able to be with you at your banquet on Thursday evening. I am sure that this is more of a disappointment to me than it can possibly be to your association, for I still retain very pleasant recollections of your dinner about a year ago; and I have a very high regard for the standing of the Business Men's Association ,and for its influence in the direction of the cultivation of civic pride and the advancement of community welfare. I particularly regret my absence on account of the speakers that it would otherwise be my privilege to introduce, and hear. I commend your purpose to lay the foundation for greater and better things, commercially, for our city. We are a favored community. We maintain a high standard of citizenship. We enjoy our individual political preferences, but maintain a sort of community loyalty, which is insistent in its demand in all things, and at all times, for that which is best for the community as a whole—for Plainfield, our home city. I think there is a good deal of substantial civic pride in Plainfield, of which we have as yet seen little, and heard little, merely because it has not been aroused; potential civic pride, we will call it. All that is needed is leadership, enthusiasm, and it will immediately become kinetic. I look to you, and to organizations like yours, to supply just this initiative. In fact, this is what you are doing, and have been doing. If we can but get together, and pull together, there is no limit to what the civic pride of our people, tempered by civic righteousness, may not accomplish for the welfare, the happiness, and the honor of ourselves and those for whom it should be our aim and ambition to build.

"Yours very truly,
"LEIGHTON CALKINS."

During the banquet hours, Samuel Rothberg circulated a petition endorsing the move to erect a national guard armory in Plainfield, and this came in for unanimous endorsement by the 140 persons present. This is a matter that came before the State legislature last year and the appropriation was authorized, but the funds were not made available. There is to be a hearing before the Senate committee Monday, when the petition will be presented.

Best City, says Claybrook.

"Plainfield has the best business men in the state," said Toastmaster Claybrook in explaining why it was the best city in all of New Jersey. He declared that the local government was by far the best in all of New Jersey, and that the Mayor who now handles the affairs of Plainfield was equal to any in all the country. Mr. Claybrook was roundly applauded when he said that he had been a member of the Common Council for years, and now that he was no longer associated with it he felt that it was proper to voice the opinion that in efficiency and consciousness of civic responsibility it had no superior in the United States. He added that this was praise indeed for a Republican Council coming from a Virginia Democrat, or a Democrat and a former Virginian. He called attention to the fact that Plainfield has a surplus of $75,000, and does not have to borrow money in anticipation of taxes, which alone entitles it to distinction among American municipalities, and gave credit for this not only to the Mayor and Council, but to Treasurer William F. Arnold. Upon the merchants and other business men of Plainfield rests the duty of advertising to all the world the many advantages that are peculiar to this city, said the speaker, and he urged that each individual become a publicity man for Plainfield. Mr. Claybrook advocated a training school for salesmen and clerks, saying that with the proper co-operation, such a school could be maintained at very little expense to each merchant.

The address of the Hon. E. C. Stokes, former governor, was easily the most popular of the evening. Mr. Stokes said that he was sorry reference was made to his candidacy for the United States Senate, as there were so many candidates in this part of New Jersey, this robbed him of the right to distinction in Plainfield. He made no further reference to any political subject.

"Not to know Plainfield is not to be a Jerseyman," he declared, and added that he knew New Jersey from the "rocky hills of Sussex to the shifting sands of Cape May," and knew of no better business men, no better government, no better mayor in all the state, or in all the states. Gov. Stokes was of the opinion, after listening to Mr. Claybrook, that Plainfield business men made their money here and commuted to New York, and that Gotham was only a suburb. He gave credit for the good government this city enjoys to the men in charge of its public affairs. To have a surplus in a municipal treasury is unusual, he said, but to have a Democrat testify to the efficiency of a Republican government is more unusual and attests the patriotism and honesty of those in charge of the government. Gov. Stokes called attention to the fact that Mr. Claybrook had mentioned most of Plainfield's stars excepting one—William N. Runyon, "of whom we think most highly in my part of the state." The name of Judge Runyon was warmly applauded.

What Prosperity Means.

This country is on a wave of prosperity, declared the speaker. It began but little more than a year ago. At that time America was a debtor nation, and its financiers were worried over the debts owed foreign countries; but only a few months later they witnessed the unusual spectacle of English and French financiers coming here on bended knees to beg loans. He referred to America as a "billion dollar a year country," and to impress on his hearers the extent of a million dollars, explained that if Adam had gone to work at $1 a minute, working ten hours a day, with no wife to support, no board bill to pay, no clothing to buy and no expenses, either necessary or extravagant, he would be putting away his billionth dollar just about now. As an evidence of the wonderful opportunities of America that gave a kingdom to a railsplitter and an illiterate tailor, he said that one man had saved one billion dollars in the short space of a lifetime.

"Wealth is not real," declared the speaker. "It is personal. It is manhood that counts; not physical valuation. Character is always back of prosperity. No railroad ever earned a dollar on its physical valuation, but its earning capacity is measured by the brains and the service that its men give to the public."

He said that the lawmakers, the politicians, the judiciary, were giving a greater part of their time to work that rightly belonged to the church, pointing out that a corporation could do no good or evil, but that it could be a force for good or evil, according to the character of the men who man-

TROOP ASSOCIATION WILL GIVE A DANCE

Local Cavalry Organization is Also Preparing for the Annual Inspection.

Walter L. Righter, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Watchung Troop Association, announced last night, at the weekly drill of the troop, that a subscription dance under its auspices would be held Friday night, April 28. The proceeds will be turned over to the Muhlenberg Hospital. The committee, which also includes J. Hartley Mellick and Lewis D. Williams, has engaged Frantzen's orchestra, one of the finest in New York city. A new name was added to the role of the troop by the enlistment of Arthur T. Goodenough, of this city.

The deep-crusted snow made the drilling last night very heavy. It consisted in preparation for the annual inspection, which is to be held next week. The inspecting officers are to be Captain Rockwell, of the regular army, and an officer detailed from the InspectorGeneral's department. The inspection will be dismounted.

MANY PLAINFIELDERS TO JOIN TOUR OF THE ORIENT

There will be a grand tour of the Orient during the month, when a personally-conducted trip will be taken to several of the larger cities of the state. This tour will lead to Elizabeth on Wednesday night, March 15, participated in by the Most High Grand Officers and Princes from the Oasis of Crescent and Oasis of Mecca, with all the royal camels escorted by the royal guard in gorgeous array.

The meeting place will be at the Court House in Elizabeth at 7:45 o'clock in the evening, from which place the procession will proceed to the Second Regiment armory, where a class of more than 200 candidates will be initiated into the mysteries of the order, traveling the hot sands of the desert under the personal escort of the Princes of Crescent Oasis. A corps of eloquent and able lecturers will accompany the caravan, explaining the wonders and mysteries of the Orient. A banquet will follow the trip over the desert. Among the many candidates will be a number from this city. E. R. Honeyman, of Plainfield, is the grand orient, and C. W. Woodruff, of Roselle, scribe.

LIGHT IN VACANT HOUSE VANISHED BEFORE POLICE

What neighbors thought was a light in the residence of William Stillman, 426 West Seventh street, now vacant, must have been a "jack o' lantern," according to Sergt. O'Keefe and Officer Bader, who investigated at 8 o'clock last night. Dr. David G. Atwood, of 245 East Ninth street, reported that a light had been seen in the Stillman house and suspecting burglary or fire the police investigated at once. They found nothing.

THEO. MASON BREAKS A LEG.

Theodore Mason, of 87 Jackson avenue, the borough, was received at Muhlenberg Hospital as a patient yesterday, suffering from a broken leg. The injury was sustained in a fall at his home. He was reported at noon today as resting easy.

PORTUGAL IS READY TO ENTER THE WAR

Her Troops Mobilized—All Quiet Last Night in Front of Verdun.

Lisbon, March 10.—All Portuguese reservists, military and naval, were called to the colors today. Germany's declaration of war has caused no excitement in the republic. It is expected that Portuguese troops will take an active part in the military operations.

French Report No Attacks.

Paris, March 10.—French war statement:

"In the Argonne our artillery has shelled enemy convoys observed on the Montfaucon-Avocourt road. West and east of the Meuse the situation is unchanged. During the night the enemy launched no infantry attack against our position. Both sides continued the bombardment on most of the front. This was violent on the right and left banks of the Meuse but intermittent in the Woevre region. In Alsace our batteries shattered German trenches on hill No. 425.

London Bars Adopted Sons.

London, March 10.—At an overnight mass meeting of the members of the Lonoon stock exchange a resolution was passed requesting the committee to refuse the re-election of naturalized members. The vote was unanimous.

Torpedo Boat a Victim.

Announcement is made that torpedo boat No. 11 has struck a mine and sunk.

The Coquette Hits Mine.

It was officially announced today in a communication from the British admiralty that the torpedo boat destroyer Coquette had struck a mine on the east coast and sank. Forty-five of her crew were lost.

French Steamer Torpedoed.

Havre, March 10.—When bound from an American port to Havre, the French steamer Louisiane was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine, Thursday, in the Atlantic Ocean, off the French coast. The crew was rescued. The Louisiane was owned by the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique and displaced 5,109 tons. It sailed from New Orleans on February 11 with an 11,000 ton cargo of American goods for the French government.

DR. TEUSLER TELLS OF WORK IN JAPAN

Addresses the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies at Grace Church.

The meeting of the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies in Plainfield, held in the Grace Episcopal church last night, was largely attended Rev. Dr. E. Vicar Stevenson, the rector of the church, conducting the religious devotions, after which the speaker of the evening, Dr. Rudolf B. Teusler, head of St. Luke's International hospital, Tokio, Japan, gave the address. Dr. Teusler has been in this country about three months, raising funds for the new St. Luke's Hospital, which he founded, and, all told, he has raised thus far about $400,000 of the $500,000 needed.

Beside giving an account of his work in the hospital in the Far East, he told an interesting story of the political situation in Japan. During his talk he also told of the contributions made by the Emperor of Japan, who gave $25,000 toward the project and his cabinet gave $50,000.

The hospital, which is described as "An American Institution in the Far East," is open to all, irrespective of creed or nationality. It is entirely non-denominational, and its object is to provide a modern hospital for foreign residents and travelers in the Far East, to give aid to the sick and suffering poor of Tokio, and to furnish a modern hospital and establish a central point for the study of Oriental diseases and scientific research.

GRACE CHURCH PREACHERS.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector, will preach at Grace church, Sunday mornings, March 12 and 19 and April 2, and on March 26, Rev. Winfield Scott Baer will be the preacher. On April 9 the Venerable Archdeacon Stuck will preach, and Rev. Dr. William Sheafe Chase, of Brooklyn, will be the special preacher on Sunday, April 16. The addresses on Sunday afternoons during Lent will be given by Rev. Mr. Stevenson and Rev. William N. Bailey.

MRS. H. E. GAYLE SURPRISED.

Mrs. H. E. Gayle, of Vine street, the borough, was given a surprise party at her home last night, guests being present from Roselle Park, Dunellen, Plainfield and the borough. Games and dancing were enjoyed by the younger people and refreshments were served.

"FOUND" VALUABLE MAGNETO POINTS

Plainfielder Sold Them for $12 Although They Were Worth $240.

Thomas J. Reardon, who boards at Madison and West Sixth streets, was arrested by Lieut. Higgins late yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny made against him in Newark. The circumstances that led to the arrest of Reardon connected him with the disappearance of eighty valuable magneto points from the Bosch factory. A short time ago the Newark police found these points in the hands of a second-hand dealer in Newark. They were unable to get the name of the man who sold them, but notified Police Chief Kiely that he was from Plainfield, and a number of circumstances given to the chief caused him to fasten upon Reardon by a process of deduction. The points are worth about $3 each, making their total value $240. They were sold for $12 and Reardon took a check dated ahead. This check he gave to his landlady here, and she in turn gave it to a groceryman. The check was held up and cancelled. Reardon insisted that he found the points on the ground near the Bosch plant.

They are very delicate, both ends being made of platinum, and would have rusted easily. The points are not made at the local plant, but at a factory in Springfield, Mass. A short time ago, Reardon visited Hartford and other points in that vicinity. Instead of charging him with larceny of the points, he was turned over to Newark authorities, who want him on a complaint of the larceny of some jewelry from a woman.

"THE MENACE OF THE MENTALLY DEFECTIVE"

"The Menace of the Mentally Defective" will be the subject of the lecture to be given in the Parish House of the Congregational church on Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon club. Alexander Johnson, director of the extension department of the training school at Vineland, will be the speaker for the occasion, and will illustrate his talk with stereopticons. Preceding the lecture, a discussion will take place on "the responsibility of club women in securing a workhouse for Union county." Miss Townsend, executive secretary of the Charity Organization Society of Elizabeth, will lead the discussion.

HOUSE FILLED WITH SMOKE.

Mrs. George Herst, of 186 Grove street, placed a kettle of fat on the gas range in her kitchen yesterday afternoon, and during the course of the afternoon the fat became ignited and filled the room with smoke. Thinking that her place was on fire, Mrs. Herst ran to a neighbour's and telephoned the borough fire department. Chief McCullough and his men responded with the combination truck, but the contents of the kettle had been consumed by the time they arrived, and all they had to do was to turn around and go back.

LICENSE NO. 70219 FOUND.

New Jersey automobile license No. 70,219, issued for 1916, has been found, together with a tail lamp. It is at the office of the Green Taxicab Company, on North avenue, and owner can have same by proving his claim.

FIRST LENTEN SERVICE.

The first of the Lenten services at the Church of the Holy Cross, held last night, was largely attended. Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Bridges, rector of the Church of the Incarnation of New York, occupied the pulpit.

GET VILLA DEAD OR ALIVE, IS ORDER ON WHICH U. S. TROOPS INVADE MEXICO

FIGHTING FRED FUNSTON IS LOOSED BY WASHINGTON TO PUNISH BANDITS GUILTY OF YESTERDAY'S ATTACK.

CABINET AGREES TO ISSUSE ORDER FOR ACTION

Death of Nineteen Americans at Hands of Border Raiders Led by Robber Chief Will Be Avenged in Blood—Watchful Waiting Gives Way to War on Outlaws—Col. Slocum's Troops Have Returned Without a Corporal.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Get Villa, dead or alive!

Americans troops have been loosed today with this order from President Wilson to Fighting Fred Funston, and the invasion of Mexico has begun. The patient policy of watchful waiting has given way to one of aggression, and Funston, "America's greatest fighter," is hampered by no official orders except that he must return with the head of Villa, the bandit chief, who invaded American soil yesterday morning and murdered 19 American civilians and soldiers.

An armed invasion of Mexico for the purpose of arresting and punishing the outlaw and his men was decided upon today at a Cabinet meeting, when the newly appointed Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker, presented the recommendation of Brigadier-General Scott, and reports from the scene of Thursday's battle on the border. He also read to President Wilson and members of the Cabinet a personal appeal from General Funston. This appeal urged that he be given authority to invade Mexico and wipe out the raiding bandits along the border. His message read:

"Urgently recommend that American troops be given authority to pursue into Mexican territory hostile Mexican bandits who raid American teritory. So long as the border is a shelter for them they will continue to harass our ranches and towns to our chagrin."

An adequate force will be sent at once in pursuit of Villa, with the single object of capturing him and putting a stop to forays. The White House announcement sets forth this can and will be done with the entirely friendly aid of constituted authorities in Mexico and with scrupulous respect for the sovereignty of that republic. Arrangements for the invasion are left to General Funston, and that officer has probably already started to carry out the orders, as he has been impatiently awaiting authority to act since the fight of yesterday.

Three troops of the Thirteenth United States Cavalry that followed Villa and his bandits across the border after the attack on Columbus, New Mexico returned yesterday afternoon. They followed the raiders five miles into Mexican territory, where Villa made a desperate stand, and as his men outnumbered the Americans more than twelve to one, the advance of the troopers was halted. One corporal was lost in this engagement, and several men were wounded. It is believed that the Mexican loss was very large.

Villa troops are reported to be nearing Nacita, N. M., with the intention of attacking that town. It is forty-two miles west of Columbus. General Funston has located the bandit bands and expects to engage them some time tomorrow at the latest, although Villa's men are said to be superbly mounted, having two horses for each soldier. The battle will not be fought on American soil, however, as action on the part of the United soldiers will result in an immediate withdrawal of the Villa troops, and it will be necessary to pursue them to the mountains of Northern Mexico, where they are at home.

It was officially announced in Washington this morning that General Carranza had not been requested to allow troops to enter Mexican territory. This was at first believed to mean that there would be no invasion, but it later developed that the troops were to be sent without official permission from the Carranza government. The present President of that Republic will simply be notified that the capture of Villa is to be undertaken by American troops, and that he is expected to aid in this attempt. If he refuses he will be forced to align himself with the bandit chief, and to resist American invasion with armed force.

Colonel Slocum violated ironclad orders when he followed Villa troops across the border yesterday, but there is little possibility of an official reprimand, as the occasion is officially designated as one of special provocation. General Scott, chief of staff, has inquired of General Funston as to his authority in sending troops across the border, but the inquiry is supposed to be of no importance.

Secretary Baker, the new head of the War Department, finds himself confronted with actual hostility on the second day of his incumbency. He was in conference with General Scott for an hour before the Cabinet meeting today, and, following a two-hour session of that body, he hurriedly returned to the department headquarters and renewed his conference with the chief of staff. Secretary Baker is in charge of the situation, although President Wilson is in close touch with all movements.

UNITED STATES SOLDIERS AND CIVILIANS KILLED.

Columbus, N. M., March 10.—The list of Americans killed in the Villa raid and battle here is as follows:

Soldiers of Thirteenth Cavalry—Thomas Butler, private, Troop F; Mark A. Dobbs, sergeant, Troop K; Fred A. Griffen, private, Troop K; Frank Kedvail, private, Troop K; Paul Simon, corporal, Troop K; John Vievergelt, sergeant, Troop K; Harry Wiswall, corporal, Troop K.

United States Civilians—James S. Dean, merchant; Milton James, tender railroad pump house; Mrs. Milton James, C. C. Miller, druggist; J. J. Moore, merchant; A. L. Ritchie, proprietor Central hotel; unidentified man, a chauffeur; Walton Walker, United States customs rider; W. R. Walker, delegate to New Mexico state convention of Sunday schools.

May Call For Volunteers.

Realizing the possibilities of the situation and the grave prospect that before many hours the United States might find all factions in Mexico arrayed against it, there is serious talk in official circles that the president may go before congress in the next day or two and ask for authority to raise volunteers.

At the present time there are but 19,000 regular army troops on the border. Should a general invasion become necessary, army officers estimate that a force of at least 50,000 regular army troops would be necessary for the purpose and that probably 100,000 state militia and volunteer forces would be necessary to guard the border and act as a second line of defense.

What effect the developments will have throughout Mexico generally is a matter of serious concern. Fears are expressed that Carranza will be forced by Mexican public opinion to take sides against the invasion. The least that is expected is a formal protest from him.

In advising Mr. Arredondo of the American government's intentions, Secretary Lansing informed him that it is not the purpose of this government to occupy any territory or to extend its operations beyond a determined effort to capture Villa and his horde of bandits. The Mexican representative was informed that under no circumstances could the United States permit the Columbus attack to go unpunished.

Fletcher Held Back.

From highly authentic sources it was learned that as a result of recent developments the United States has reached a point in its dealings with the Carranza government whereby that government must prove its ability to stand the test of stability and meet its foreign obligations. For that reason until the present situation clears up there is no intention of sending to Mexico Henry P. Fletcher, the new ambassador to that country, or of accepting the credentials of Mr. Arredondo.

At the war department Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army, is in full control of the situation. Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, the new secretary of war, who was sworn in, stated that on account of his unfamiliarity with the situation he had asked General Scott to take full charge.

ORDERS TO MOBILIZE ALL U. S. SOLDIERS

Washington, March 10.—Orders were issued from the War Department as soon as Secretary Baker returned to his office from the cabinet meeting for the immediate despatch of a force of 5,000 troops to take up the pursuit of Villa and his band. The greater portion of this force will be cavalry, it was said. The mobilization and handling of the troops will be left entirely to the discretion of Gen. Funston. Gen. Funston, commanding on the border, has been designated as the commander in chief of the expedition. At the same time orders were telegraphed to all units of the regular army in the United States to be ready to move at a moment's notice. The Quarter Master's Department was to arrange for transportation and the like. There is no intention as yet of using the National Guard. The coast artillery will be utilized as infantry if necessary. This will give 3,000 addition men for the work on the border and in Old Mexico.

Councilman Richard M. Ryan has purchased a touring car.

Helene Osmun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Osmun, is ill with the measles.

Nancy Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Johnson, of Walnut street, has returned to school after a brief illness.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Edith Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, of Front street, was given a party yesterday afternoon in honor of her fifth birthday by her mother. The home was prettily decorated in pink. Games were played and refreshments served, and everybody had a glorious time. The little hostess received many nice presents. Those present were: Grace Myers, of Scotch Plains; Edith Debele, of Plainfield; Katherine Heaume, Zella Noble, Edna Jennings and William Stanley Myers, of Scotch Plains.

INJURES HIS FINGER.

Joseph Fisher, who fires a drill engine for the Central Railroad, at Communipaw, has been incapacitated since Monday, when he smashed one of his fingers while performing his duties.

Alexander Wolf has given up his position at Levgar's and taken a position under Street Commissioner I. V. Smalley.

Miss Mabel Margentino will entertain Miss Elizabeth Lahan, of Raritan, tomorrow afternoon.

Frank Mohan, who is employed as engineer by the Central Railroad, is detained at home by illness.

BUELICK FINED $5.

Michael Buelick, one of the local sewer laborers who answers to the number 1332, was finde $5 by Recorder David S. Campell in the borough court yesterday morning for being drunk. He was arrested by Isaac V. Smalley as he lay in a stupor on the snow in front of the residence of J. W. Moynihan.

Scotch Plains, Fanwood

WEEKLY PAGE FEATURE PLEASES PRESS READERS

Now that the first weekly page has appearel Scotch Plains and Fanwood readers of the Plainfield Daily Press have an idea of what they are going to get from now on in the way of local news. Although a full page of advertisements and news will be a weekly feature, it does not mean that the daily column is going to be slighted, on the contrary it is going to be even better. Next Thursday the page is going to be better than yesterday with more advertisements and lots of breezy news. Feature stories on the building prospects and along other lines, with occasional editorials be residents prominent in local affairs, will be given space and the column of snappy "Town Topics" is going to be a regular thing.

BUILDING OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

Building operations for what is predicted by local contracts to be the best year in local realty history will start early next week when Anthony Albert, the contractor, will begin the erection of a modern dwelling on Paterson road, the borough, for George Moore, who is at present residing at Scotch Plains.

SEW FOR THE BELGIANS.

Upward of thirty women were present at the meeting of the local Belgian Relief Workers held yesterday afternoon at the home of the Misses Kyte, of Martine avenue. Work was started at the meeting to help the babies of Belgium and in a short time a case of goods will be shipped to the war stricken country for sufferers.

Preceding the meeting of the Belgian workers yesterday the weekly meeting of the Bible Training Class of Fanwood and Scotch Plains was held with Miss Elizabeth Hopkins in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Keib and Mrs. Ernest Keib, of North avenue, are spending a few weeks in Brooklyn.

A prayer meeting will be held in the Methodist church tonight.

SOCIAL CLUB MEETING.

The first meeting of the Saturday night club in two years will be held in the Fanwood firehouse tomorrow night. It is pretty certain that the larger part of the seventy odd members of two seasons ago will again be glad to enjoy the social evenings.

OLD FASHIONED SOCIAL.

Nearly fifty residents of the Willow Grove end of the township, both young and old, gathered in the Willow Grove chapel last night and enjoyed an old-fashioned sociable. Games, music and a general good cheer helped the evening pass quickly and later refreshments were served as the termination to the evening's program.

A largely attended meeting of the Sunshine Weavers was held in the Parish House last night, when the business of a routine nature, including the reading of monthly reports, was transacted.

REPRESENTED ON TEAMS.

This place is fairly well represented on neighboring High School girls' basketball teams considering the small number attending those institutions. Miss Gertrude Head and Miss Elsa Palmer sport the red and blue of Plainfield High School, and Miss Helen Pomeroy is playing guard for the Westfield High School sextet.

South Plainfield.

John Gorber, who has been employed by the Lehigh Valley Coal Sales Co. at their storage plant at this place for some time, has resigned and accepted a position tendered to him by the Spicer Manufacturing Co.

Miss Anna Fullerton, of Perth Amboy, has returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton.

A valuable black horse owned by Samuel Johnson, of this place, died on Wednesday.

Work on the big water tank which is now being erected at Spicer's is progressing very rapidly. The tank is of a very large type and when completed can be seen a number of miles away.

Harry Randolph has accepted a position with the Spicer Co. and at present is employed with the night force.

Mrs. Louis Wenzel is confined to her home owing to a bad fall which she had a few days ago.

Miss Isabel Delaney has returned to her home in Plainfield after a visit with her father, Daniel Delaney.

The Mixture in Havana.

"Havana has just the right mixture of old and new," said one traveler. "I like medieval forts and sixteenth century cathedrals as well as anybody, but when night comes around it is pleasant to return to a cool, up to date hotel, enjoy a well cooked supper and spend the evening walking on the electrically lighted Prado, dancing at the Plaza or Miramar or watching the roof garden movies."—New York Post.

Polishing a Steel Knife.

If a steel knife is much stained take a piece of raw potato and dip it in powdered bath brick, advises the Scientific American. Rub the blade of the knife well with this and then dip it in hot water and wipe dry. You will be surprised at the brilliancy of the steel.

Got a Perfectly Good Camera That You Don't Use Any More?

One of the ways in which want ads can be useful to you is in selling, for fair prices in cash, any "second hand" articles you own. They must be good, of course—and priced so that the buyers secure bargains. You can sell any article of furniture, any piece of machinery—anything that still has usefulness for the man who has use for it—through want advertising.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS MUST BE REPORTED

In Case of Failure the State Department of Health Recommends Prosecution.

Trenton, March 10.—The State Department of Health has taken action which means that New Jersey will be placed in the registration area for births as well as for deaths. It was decided by the Department that in case of failure to report births, deaths and marriages, as required by law, prosecution should be begun at once against those responsible for such failure.

The action taken by the Department was embodied in a resolution which reads as follows:

Resolved, That the director of the State Deparment of Health with the aid of the Chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics shall take prompt and vigorous measures to enforce the laws of the State relating to the reporting of births, marriages and deaths, and that in any and every case of failure of the responsible party to properly report a birth or marriage within five days and to exchange a certificate of death for a burial permit before burial, the said director and bureau chief, shall, as soon as that failure becomes known to them, mail a notice of such failure to the local board of health and to each member thereof in whose jurisdiction the violation of the law occurs, accompanied by a warning that if said board does not order prosecution and submit to the State Department of Health proof of such prosecution of said delinquent person or an excuse for the delinquency acceptable to the Director of the State Department of Health, then the said State Department of Health will sue, in cases of failure to report births, under chapter 389 of the laws of 1915, to recover penalty from each member of the local board except any member who may have voted to prosecute the violator of the law. For failure to report marriages prosecution will be ordered under chapter 199, laws of 1912; and for failure to exchange a certificate of death for a burial or transit permit before burial takes place prosecution will be ordered under chapter 109, laws of 1909.
